LEVENTH-HOUR ELECTION CONTEST INTENSE

SIRE FOR HANGE WAS CONTROLLING

rence Sees Harding lected on Issues of Domestic Nature.

cult to Interest Far- rs and Business Men in League.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

opyright, 1920, by The Duluth Herald.)

s is the last of a series of three s analyzing the political situ- throughout the country based personal visit by the writer to f the states from coast to coast the last two months.)

ington, Nov. 1.—(Special to The)—Just why the Democrats will presidency may be hard for the advocates of the League of s to understand, but anyone who eneath the veneer of political and propaganda of either party s campaign and mingled with folks everywhere must have learned that, after watching the wearisome debate in the United States senate for more than a year, the country bestirred itself only with difficulty in the last few weeks of the campaign on the league issue. For the experiment of a referendum on the League of Nations question as a controlling influence with the voter has worked only in spots. The result in a few states will be attributable to feeling for or against the league, but not many electoral votes will have been cast on account of the league. Massachusetts, with its large number of defections of Irish Democrats, would have been Republican for other reasons. New York may be classed in the same category, and similarly New Jersey. As for the losses to the Democrats of the German and Italian votes, these are not so much the effect of the league issue as the whole Wilson foreign policy in Europe. The groups of foreign born did take an interest in foreign questions. But the American people as a whole have too recently been plunged into the maelstrom of world politics to give preference to international affairs over home issues.

Difficult to Interest Them.

It has been found difficult in this campaign to interest the average farmer, who is grieved over the fall in the price of wheat, in the merits of Article 10. It is difficult to interest the business man in the possibilities of foreign ade under the League of Nations n he is worrying about the excess- f the excess profits tax at home. It

Anti-Socialists Victorious.

Rome, Oct. 31.—Anti-Socialist candidates were victorious in the municipal elections held here today, being given large majorities.

WOMEN WILL SAVE LEAGUE

League for Peace and Not War, Says Mrs. George Bass.

New York, Nov 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Women of America will rescue the League of Nations at the polls on Tuesday," is the prediction of Mrs. George Bass, chairman of the woman's bureau, Democratic national committee.

"The morality of the United States is on the side of the Democratic party which has campaigned for the preservation of peace and the abolition of ar. To the Democratic party, therefore, will come the support of that great silent vote—the vote of 26,000,000 women who stand for decency, national honor, righteousness and truth. I thank God from the bottom of my heart that America is awake."

Ex-President Taft's "valuable contribution to the Democratic party" is ascribed by Mrs. Bass "as first aid in convincing the voters of America that they should cast their ballots for Cox and Roosevelt."

What Will You Tell Him?

"Only last summer he asked his fellow lawyers and jurists, 'What will you tell your grandson when he asks you why you didn't vote for the League of Nations?'

"Since 1776, the United States has engaged in seven wars. Seven wars in 144 years means a war every twenty years. We went to war against Germany in 1917, therefore, if history repeats itself, on or before the year 1937, we shall have entered another conflict.

"Every war must have its cannon fodder,' the crop of fodder that will feed the guns of the enemy in the next war, that will wither and go down like mown wheat before clouds of hellish poison gas. Where is it coming from?

"Seventeen years from now, these little boys of yours, who have just started to school, will be 23 years old. They will make the finest cannon fodder in the world.

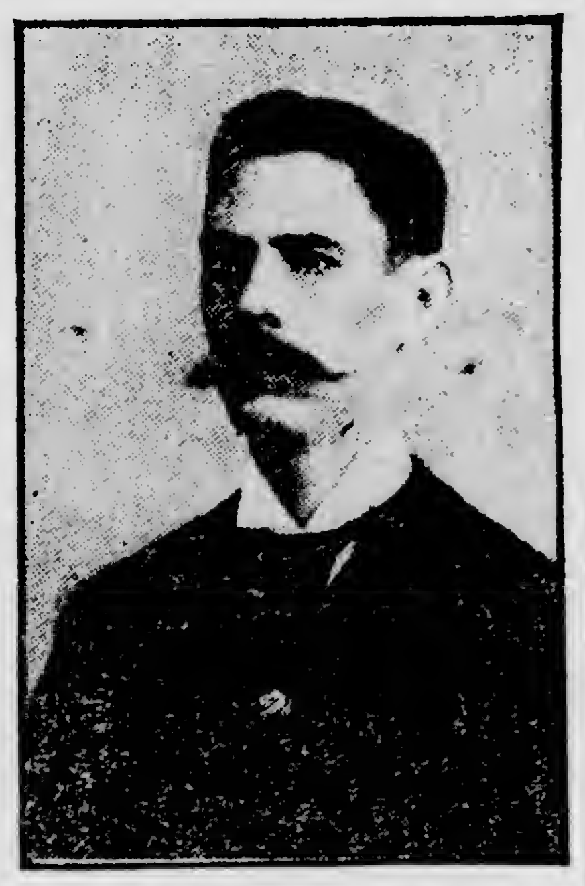
Can You See Him?

"The little chap sitting on your knees, mothers and grandmothers, happy in the home nest—can you see him marching away with a rifle over his shoulder? Can you see him in his gas mask as he crosses no man's land—while you wait with prayers on your lips and agony in your hearts? May there never again come that message to millions of fathers and mothers, 'killed in action.'

"And if it does, how are you going to square yourself with your conscience?

"How are you going to console the mothers of those boys if, when you had the opportunity to stop all war, you failed to act? The League of Nations is eague for peace and not a league for women of America will not let cal bosses and bigots lie to them ut it women know that the League Nations does not take away from gress the right to declare ware. Again I say, America is awake. God. The silent vote, the vote of men and many men, will guarantee peace of the world. They will vote Cox and Roosevelt on Tuesday."

CONSERVATIVE CANDIDATE FOR CUBAN PRESIDENCY



DR. ALFRED ZAYAS.

HARDING RESTS AFTER LABORS

Declares He Has Fought to Best of His Ability.

Marion, Ohio, Nov. 1.—His campaigning over and his final analysis of campaign issues laid before the people on a pre-election statement, Senator Harding took a rest today from the long and arduous labors of the presidential contest. A smile answered those who asked for his prediction of the outcome of tomorrow's balloting and in place of any special pre-election claim, he called attention to his public utterances of the past few weeks, in which he has declared many times that he fully expected to be inaugurated next March as the nation's chief executive.

Detailed forecast of the result the nominee left to his party managers, saying that he had made his fight to the best of his ability and was ready to abide by the result.

In a precinct where he has voted for more than thirty years the senator will record tomorrow his one vote among the millions that are to decide the complexion of the next administration. He and Mrs. Harding, who has been his constant companion throughout his campaigning, plan to go to the polls early in the afternoon and to spend the remainder of the day quietly at his home.

Straight Ticket Recommended.

A straight Republican ticket has been recommended to the voters by the candidate repeatedly in his public addresses. Several times he has declared that he did not want to be elected president unless a Republican congress were chosen to translate the party's legislative promises into performance, and in every state where he has spoken he has made an appeal for selection of a Republican senate to "advise and consent" in the formulation of a foreign policy.

At present the party has a majority of only two in the senate and, as a particular spur to Republican success in senatorial contests, Mr. Harding sent to each senatorial nominee last night a telegram declaring that the people would be promoting American leadership in world affairs by increasing the Republican margin in the upper house.

Tomorrow night the senator and Mrs. Harding will receive the election returns at their home, bulletins compiled by the Associated Press keeping them advised during the evening of the latest totals reported from each of the forty-eight states. Throughout the campaign the Associated Press has been the only news organization maintaining a leased telegraph wire in Harding newspaper headquarters, a few steps away from the famous "front porch," and as the results of the balloting are made known in distant parts of the country they will be flashed immediately to Marion.

OHIOANS TRYING TO PICK WINNER

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 1.—Ohio voters today were turning to the speculative and trying to pick the winner in tomorrow's election in which one of two natives of the Buckeye state—Senator Warren G. Harding of Marion, or Governor James M. Cox of Dayton—will be elected president.

During the campaign, which practically closed last Saturday, Ohioans have received a literal avalanche of political arguments with Senator Harding conducting many "front porch" meetings at Marion and Governor Cox delivering fifty-six speeches on his stumping tour of the state, there has been no lack of stimulus and never before has there been so much interest and stir over politics.

GETTING DOWN TO A PRE-WAR PRICE BASIS

Process of Readjustment Is Going On in All Quarters.

Profit Sacrifice Necessary to Keep Wheels of Industry Turning.

By THEODORE H. PRICE.

Editor, Commerce and Finance.

(Copyright, Theodore H. Price Publishing Corp.)

Washington, Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The process of readjustment goes on impeded by the natural resistence of those who are reluctant to sell their property for less than they had hoped to get for it. In the West the farmers are holding their wheat, in the South they are refusing to sell their cotton. The average retailer is fighting against the price reductions which show a heavy loss on cost. Sales are restricted in consequence, and manufacturers and jobbers find it hard to move goods. These are conditions which try commercial patience, but we all expected them. We know that they cannot last indefinitely, and the more philosophically we accept them the less irritation we shall feel. Some commodities, notably coffee, rubber and hides, are down to prewar prices, but a large proportion of these articles of our consumption comes from abroad and their cost to us is reduced by the existing premium on the dollar in foreign markets. In so far as our American crops this year are concerned it seems unlikely that they will decline much more. At all events any farther fall in prices will probably be very gradual, and when retailers have succeeded in working off the fall stocks for which they contracted last spring business ought to be on a more stable basis.

Heroic Measures Necessary.

Too many retailers, and some middlemen also, fear price cutting and their attendant losses as a hospital patient fears the amputation of a limb. Yet heroic measures are at times necessary to assure future health. When the patient decides to undergo the operation he does not have the limb amputated joint by joint, which would unnecessarily increase his pain and prolong his recovery. So in retail trade. Where dealers have cut heroically to the sound basis of replacement values the great buying power of the public has been quickly made apparent, and cheap goods

SUBTREASURY AT CHICAGO TO CLOSE

Washington, Nov 1.—Discontinuance of the subtreasury at Chicago at the close of business Wednesday, Nov 3, was ordered today by Secretary Houston.

Mr. Houston also announced that the Federal reserve bank at Chicago would be prepared on that date to handle all exchanges of paper, currency and United States moneys. All outstanding gold certificates issued by the assistant treasurer of the United States in charge of the Chicago subtreasury will be received for payment by the reserve bank or by the treasurer of the United States.

The Chicago subtreasury is the second ordered closed by Secretary Houston, the subtreasury at Boston having been closed two weeks ago pursuant to legislation passed by congress.

While all of the nine subtreasuries are to be closed under the law, there was no indication today when discontinuance of the others would be ordered. They are located at New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, New Orleans, St. Louis, San Francisco and Cincinnati.

As each subtreasury is closed the office of assistant treasurer of the United States at the particular point is abolished and officers and other employes assigned to duty there are summarily dismissed.

TORCHLIGHT PARADE TO END FARGO CAMPAIGN

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 1.—With the last tense week of the campaign over, Nonpartisan leaguers and their opponents of the Independent Voters' association today made their final pre-election claims. In addition the league workers were preparing, in the face of an overcast sky and a raw northeast wind, for a big open-air rally tonight which is to wind up their campaign. A torchlight parade and a speaking program on Saturday night was the last big demonstration for the I. V. A.

"It looks like about 10,000 majority for us," said Theodore G. Nelson, secretary of the I. V. A., this morning. "There will be an almost straight vote for candidates and laws."

"If the weather is fair we will win by a 15,000 to 20,000 majority," said R. C. Feiver, state secretary of the league. "If it is stormy and bad we will be defeated. Our vote is largely a farmer vote and a very bad day would keep many farmers from the polls."

WHISTLES REMIND VOTERS TO SUPPORT GOOD ROADS MEASURE

Vote for Amendment No. 1. That was the message of the whistles this morning.

Whistles of the big industrial plants in the city united at 10 a. m. today in sending out a call to the absent-minded voter that tomorrow he will have the opportunity of voting on Good Roads Amendment No. 1 and urging everyone to be sure and vote. This was arranged by C. H. Dunning, chairman of the good roads committee of the Commercial club.

The whistles will also be blown tomorrow every hour calling the attention of those who have not voted not to neglect their duty. Early in the morning the whistles on the Capitol elevator will be the signal for a general blast from all the big industries of the city. Later in the day a connected call will be sent up by every locomotive in the railway yards of the city and still later the big whistle of the Marshall-Wells company will be the signal for another blast from the factories and manufacturing plants around town.

ENDLESS CHAIN APPEAL BY PHONE FOR THE LEAGUE

New York, Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Word was received yesterday at Democratic national headquarters that after a woman's League of Nations meeting in Kansas City yesterday, attended by more than 10,000 people, a plan was devised to put an "endless chain" telephone appeal into every home in the state before the polls close Tuesday. Hundreds of women volunteers began the calling of their friends and they, in turn, took up the work, determined that no person within telephone reach would be overlooked in sending out the call for support of the League of Nations.

BAD WEATHER ELECTION DAY

Rain, Snow and Colder Predicted for Various Sections of Country.

Washington, Nov. 1.—Rains on election day in the Atlantic states, the Upper Ohio valley and the region of the Great Lakes with some probability of snow in Northern Michigan, Wisconsin, and Minnesota were forecast today by the weather bureau.

Clearing and much cooler was the forecast in the gulf states, Tennessee, the Lower Ohio and the Central Mississippi valleys. Fair and cool weather was promised over the plains states, the Rocky mountain states and all Far Western states.

The bureau's special forecast follows:

Wide Disturbances.

A disturbance of widespread influence is central this morning over Iowa, and moving east-northeastward. It has been attended during the last twenty-four hours by general cloudiness and rain in the gulf, lakes, New England and New York, by rains and snows in the plains states, Minnesota, Northern Wisconsin, Northern Michigan, extreme northeastern New York and Maine, and snows in the Rocky mountain region. The snowfall was heavy in parts of South Dakota, Nebraska and Wyoming.

Unsettled With Rains.

The western disturbance will advance east-northeastward and be attended by unsettled weather, and rains Tuesday, election day, in the Atlantic states, the Upper Ohio valley and the region of the Great Lakes, with some probability of snow in Northern Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

The weather will be clearing and much cooler Tuesday in the gulf states, Tennessee, the Lower Ohio and Central Mississippi valleys. Fair, cool weather will prevail Tuesday over the plains states, the Rocky mountain states and all far-western states."

GOLD STAR MOTHER PRAYS FOR LEAGUE

New York, Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eleventh-hour contributions to the Democratic national campaign fund from men and women of all political factions who wish to see the United States a member of the League of Nations continued to pour into national headquarters yesterday. Treasurer Wilbur W. Marsh of the Democratic national committee announced that $10,000—the largest amount of contributions yet received on Sunday during the campaign—had been tabulated by his department.

Among the hundreds of small contributions received was that of $5, the mite of a Gold Star mother who said that she has two sons who lie buried in Flanders fields. As she handed the worn $5 bill to Treasurer Marsh she closed her eyes and offered a prayer for the election of Governor Cox and the League of Nations, tears glistening on her cheeks.

LAST TALK AT TOLEDO

Governor Cox to Wind Up Campaign at Ohio City.

Dayton, Ohio, Nov. 1.—After a day of rest at his home here Governor Cox was to leave today for Toledo for the last speech of his campaign.

Though the campaign virtually ended at Chicago on Saturday, the governor said he had agreed to make the formal close in Toledo on election eve because party followers there, regarded his appearance as good luck, asserting his only chance of defeat was when he failed to end his speaking engagements in that city. The governor and his party were scheduled to reach Toledo early in the evening.

Preparations were made today at the governor's newspaper office for the receipt of the results on election night. Special telegraph instruments set up in the office included a receiving apparatus used in the election won by Grover Cleveland more than a quarter of a century ago.

Expects to Vote Early.

The governor will return here from Toledo early election morning, and expects to vote as he goes to his farm from the train. He plans to spend the day at home, coming to his newspaper plant in the evening.

Sunday was a quiet day for the candidate, spent at his home with his family, except for a short tramp through the woods. He issued a statement, asserting that his visits to thirty-six states convinced him that the sentiment of the country favored the League of Nations and adding that Senator Harding's election meant that the peace treaty, with the league Covenant, would not be sent to the senate for ratification.

AMBASSADOR FROM JAPAN REASSURED

State Department Makes Announcement Concerning California Movement.

Will Not Be Acceptable If It Does Not Accord With Laws.

Washington, Nov. 1.—Reassurances have been given to the Japanese ambassador by the state department, it was revealed in a formal statement today, that no anti-Japanese legislation in the state of California "will be acceptable to the country at large that does not accord with existing and applicable provisions of law and with the national instinct of justice."

The department's statement prepared by Under-Secretary Davis follows:

The movement in California to recast the state laws affecting alien land tenure has been receiving the close and interested attention of the department of state. The relation of certain treaty provisions to the proposed measure is being discussed clearly and ably in California and will doubtless prove an element in the state's decision as to the adoption or rejection of the proposed measure. In the meantime, the department has had numerous discussions of the most friendly and candid nature with the ambassador of Japan and it is believed he thoroughly realizes as we have sought to make clear, that no outcome of the California movement will be acceptable to the country at large that does not accord with existing and applicable provisions of law, and what is equally important, with the national instinct of justice.

THREE TRAINS IN WRECK; FOUR KILLED

Stanton, Iowa, Nov. 1.—Four persons were killed early this morning when three Burlington trains crashed 100 yards east of the depot at this place. The dead are:

CHARLES CONKLIN, engineer of train No. 1, westbound, Creston, Iowa.

——— TYNDALL, engineer, No. 10 eastbound, Lincoln, Neb.

Unidentified man.

Ran Past Automatic Signal.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 1.—According to reports received by G. W. Holdredge, general manager of the Burlington lines west of Omaha, the wreck occurred when extra train No. 10, running on the regular train's time, ran past an automatic signal and crashed into the freight train which was standing on the track. The force of the collision turned several cars over onto the westbound track with the result that train No. 1 westbound crashed into them.

TWELVE KILLED BY ELECTRIC EXPLOSION

North Tonawanda, N. Y., Nov. 1.—Twelve men were killed yesterday morning in an explosion and fire at the distributing tower of the Niagara Falls Power company here.

The explosion apparently was caused by a short circuit. The force of the blast burst a steel barrel of lubricating oil which formed part of the new equipment and the flash of the electricity ignited the oil, which was thrown over the men in the room.

As a result of the accident North Tonawanda, Tonawanda and a part of Buffalo were without electric lights and power last night.

MEDICAL STUDENT IS EXECUTED AT DUBLIN

Dublin, Nov. 1.—Keven Barry, a medical student, was executed at Mount Joy prison this morning for taking part in an attack on a military escort here during the last summer. Barry was charged with murder, as two British soldiers were killed during the fight.

When the hour of execution approached nearly 1,000 persons prayed outside the prison, continuing until after the young man had been pronounced dead. Armored cars guarded the street before the prison. Barry's mother declared last week she was proud her son was "dying for Ireland."

St. Cloud Girl Killed.

St. Cloud, Minn., Nov. 1.—The 7-year-old daughter of John Khopik was killed instantly at 6:30 last evening and a sister and mother seriously injured when struck by an automobile driven by Steven Tenvoorde, local garage man. Coroner Dunn is investigating to ascertain the blame of the accident.

PRINCE OF SIAM VISITS U. S. TO INSPECT RAILROADS

PRINCE PURACHATRA.

ESPERANTO VICTORIOUS

Wins Second Race and Championship From Canadian Craft.

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 1.—The dashing little schooner Esperanto, out of Gloucester, today won the second international fishermen's race and with it the championship.

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 1.—Sailing closer into the wind, the Gloucester schooner Esperanto cut the lead of her Canadian rival, Delawana, in half at the third turn in today's international fishermen's race and started the fourth leg only a few lengths behind.

At the end of the second leg, with 12½ miles covered the American was approximately 5 minutes behind, but at the third turn, with another ten miles behind her, Esperanto was only 2 minutes and 12 seconds astern, official time. The Gloucesterman gained when the Nova Scotian overstood his mark by about a quarter of a mile.

Delawana Increases Lead.

Running on a close reach to the inner automatic buoy, Delawana began to increase her lead over the American schooner. At 1:40 the distance between the two had been increased to about eleven boat lengths.

The wind was about four knots from the northeast, with a tendency to lull.

At 2:10 both vessels were headed far to the windward of the inner automatic buoy, the last turn before setting the course for the finish line. At this time the wind had increased to ten knots and the racers were slipping along at a seven-knot clip. Delawana was not only maintaining her lead, but appeared to be slightly increasing it.

At 2:30 the Gloucester boat had caught up to her rival.

Off on Second Race.

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 1.—Esperanto and Delawana, American and Canadian contestants for the racing championship of the international fishing fleets, romped off in the start of their second race today. Esperanto crossed the line about half a length ahead of her rival and slightly to leeward.

At 9:15 Delawana had caught and passed Esperanto and was leading by fifty yards. Both vessels were footing at a moderate pace. Official starting times were: Esperanto, 9:01:4½; Delawana, 9:01:37½.

Delawana eased past Esperanto by blanketing her about five minutes after the start.

The schooners travel today over the same course as Saturday.

Delawana, with about forty tons less ballast in her hold than in last Saturday's race, easily pulled away from Esperanto.

Both schooners were getting a better breeze and every inch of sail was drawing well. At the start there was only a seven mile southwest breeze but light clouds with a suggestion of more wind flecked the sky.

Wind Changes.

Delawana turned the second mark at 11:27:50, official time. The wind, which had hauled from west to north-northwest and then to north-northeast, gave the schooners a close reach instead of a run on the third leg. The second leg was run in a misty rain. The Gloucesterman rounded at 11:32:42, official time. Delawana rounded the third mark at 1:18, official time. Esperanto turned at 1:20:12, official time, having cut her rival's lead nearly in half by Capt. Himmelman overstanding his mark a quarter of a mile.

STRONG APPEAL MADE TO MOTHER HEART OF AMERICA

New York, Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. M. T. Scott of Bloomington, Ill., former president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, yesterday made public the following statement, appealing to the "mother heart of the nation" to assure world peace by voting for Governor Cox and America's membership in the League of Nations:

"When the nation's life is at stake, we give our husbands, brothers and sons proudly for the nation's defense, but that is a crucifixion of the mother heart which the women of America are determined to forestall.

"Any statesmanship that has not as its object the prevention of future wars is unworthy of the support of American womanhood. We women of America have faith that, through the instrumentality of the League of Nations—the one harbinger of a permanent world peace on the blood red horizon of history—the chances of future wars can be steadily diminished. I feel confident that the women of America are overwhelmingly behind the statement that any candidate of any party who asserts he is for peace, but rejects the league, which forty-three nations have joined because they felt it was the one and only hopeful and tangible instrumentality thus far created for achieving peace on earth, has forfeited the confidence of the mother heart of America!"

EFFORTS ARE CENTERED ON STATES HELD "DOUBTFUL"

Both Sides Striving Desperately to Secure Electoral Vote of Ohio.

Hard Work Going on in Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina and Elsewhere.

"What Will the Women Do" Is of Great Interest to All.

New York, Nov. 1.—With the opening of the polls less than twenty-four hours away, both Republican and Democratic headquarters early today took up the stride which will carry them in the final scene of the presidential contest tomorrow, either to victory or defeat.

Both major parties began their last day of campaigning by reasserting confidence in the election of their candidates.

"Cox and Roosevelt will win," declared George White, Democratic national chairman.

Will H. Hays, leader of the Republican forces, translated his expectations into figures, expressing the conviction that Harding will have no less than 386—probably 395—electoral votes out of the possible 531. The number required to elect is 266.

Interest in Last Day.

Interest in the last day of the great fight centers in the final, desperate attempt to bring over the "doubtful" states with large electoral votes to deliver, or to save United States senators in other doubtful states where the electoral vote is not large enough to be indispensable. The salient example of states in the first category is Ohio home state of the two principal candidates, with twenty-four votes, while the outstanding case of the second class is Nevada, with only three.

Other states where the eleventh-hour contest is intense, with both parties sanguine of success, are Arizona, Kentucky, Maryland, New Mexico, Tennessee, North Carolina and Oklahoma. All these, as well as the Buckeye state, are claimed by both Republicans and Democrats.

Woman Vote.

Second only in interest to the outcome of the voting is the subject, "What will the women do?"

Leaders of both major parties disclaim possession of advance information on what is to be expected of the new class of voters exercising their franchise in all the states for the first time.

Speculation in ordinarily well-informed political circles centered about the numerical proportion of women who will vote tomorrow in comparison with the male vote, section distribution

WILL PREVENT DEPRESSION

Leading Business Man Emphasizes the Value of the League.

New York, Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Edward A. Filene, prominent business man of Boston, and since 1915 the vice chairman of the executive committee and chairman of the finance committee of the League to Enforce Peace, in a letter to the editor of the Post, Boston, a copy of which was received here today, said:

"The real cause of the growing business depression and the increase of the number of people out of work is our country's inability to finance the export to Europe of our great surplus of manufactured goods and food [illegible] materials. The real cause why we cannot grant Europe the credits necessary to buy our surplus is that conditions in Europe are too dangerous. The real cause why conditions are too dangerous is because the United States took so important a part in making the peace terms and because the Allies relied on our help. The peace terms contain very important anti-war constructive provisions, that, as Europe's past years of experience have shown, cannot be carried out without the help of the United States. Because they cannot be carried out without our help, great masses of people in Europe are so short of food and work that revolution and Bolshevism threaten to ruin many nations and endanger the world.

Will Prevent Disaster.

"If we finish our splendid work in Europe and take our part in the League of Nations we will save Europe from famine and disaster by making it safe to sell her on credit our huge surpluses of goods and food.

"A vote for Cox is a vote for doing what we are in honor bound to do, and at the same time it is a vote for the prosperity of our country which now is threatened by a long period of hard times."

Mr. Filene led the movement which created the International Chamber of Commerce. He spent the major part of last year in France, England, Belgium and Italy, studying the business problems of those countries. His knowledge of European conditions, gained first hand in the four principal nations, makes him an authority whose word on business affairs is accepted by [illegible] of American business life. BEMIDJI HOTEL MAN IS GIVEN SIX MONTHS

Bemidji, Minn., Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Continuing his campaign against vice here, City Attorney H. L. Huffman secured three more convictions in municipal court Saturday. A. L. Dickenson, proprietor of the Park hotel, also editor of a radical paper, was convicted on a charge of demising or letting a portion of his premises to a common prostitute and was sentenced to ninety days in jail without the alternative of a fine. On a charge of having sexual intercourse with Dorothy Poole, a colored woman, he was sentenced to ninety days in jail or $100 fine. On a charge of operating a disorderly house he was convicted Friday and was given a jail sentence of ninety days without the opportunity to pay a fine. This makes jail sentences of six months and if he fails to pay the additional $100 fine he will spend nine months in jail. Dorothy Poole of the Park hotel was convicted on a charge of sexual intercourse with A. L. Dickenson and was sentenced to a fine of $100 or ninety days in jail. Andy Anderson, who was convicted on a charge of selling liquor at the Park hotel, was convicted and sentenced to ninety days in jail or a fine of $100 and sentence was suspended pending good behavior.

THREE KILLED IN RAILROAD WRECK

Los Angeles, Nov. 1.—Three persons were killed and thirty injured when Pacific Overland, eastbound, plunged from a bridge one mile east of Manix, Cal., 178 miles from Los Angeles on the Salt Lake railroad Saturday night, according to a corrected list given out at railroad offices here.

The dead:

REV. FRANCIS M. MOODY, Chicago.

JAMES F. KENEPP, train electrician, Los Angeles.

FRED REESE, Los Angeles.

The bodies of the killed were taken to Yermo, ten miles west of the scene of the wreck, where arrangements were made to send them to Barstow, the nearest division point.

According to unofficial reports, the wreck was caused by a spreading rail on the bridge. The engine, baggage car, smoker, chair car, a tourist car and diner left the rails.

Badger State Coal Prices.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 1.—Many state institutions are paying from $6 to $12 a ton for coal because of inability to contract early in the year, the power plant division of the state highway commission says in its quarterly report. It says that in a number of cases the high priced fuel is of an inferior quality, running as high as 30 per cent ash and of low heat value. Much of the time of the office has been taken up with problems of purchasing and securing coal, the report says.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES

Montgomery, Ala.—Two negroes were killed in a race riot outside Montgomery.

Havana, Cuba—A plea for peace and order in the Cuban presidential elections today was sent forth by party leaders. While no serious outbreaks are expected, it was believed there would be local clashes with more or less bloodshed.

Lucerne—Prince Paul declared he would not accept the Greek throne unless the people of Greece decided they do not desire the return of his father, former King Constantine, or his elder brother, Prince George. The Greek general elections were postponed from Nov. 7 to Nov. 14.

Pharr, Tex.—Nelson Demage died at his home of injuries sustained in a football game.

Professor's Body Found.

Peekskill, N. Y., Nov. 1.—The body of Prof. Hugo Schmitt, geologist of Hackley school, Tarrytown, who last Wednesday stumbled and fell down the 276-foot shaft of an abandoned copper mine near here, was recovered last night.

ANY KICK ON

ALEX FRASER?

"Not a kick," is the general reply to be heard throughout the First County Commissioner District. If there's no kick, then what's all the row about? There's no row, folks—simply a very interesting contest between Commissioner Fraser and another First District resident who would prefer to be county commissioner instead of continuing his official position in the Duluth City Hall, and in the filing of which not one word has been spoken in criticism by Alex Fraser or his host of friends.

No one can in fairness find fault with the desire of the City Hall official to become County Commissioner. The question for First District voters to consider, however, is what will they gain by voting to retire an efficient, always-on-the-job official and replacing him with another citizen who makes no claim to being qualified to do the work one bit better than Alexander Fraser.

There's no kick on Fraser by the people, and no real ground for criticism of him by his opponent, and there's certainly no kick by Fraser's friends against the commissioner's opponent. So, why not let Fraser stay where he is and his opponent stay where he is? That's fair enough, isn't it?

HERALD WILL GIVE CONCERT AND RETURNS ON ELECTION NIGHT

GLEN S. LOCKER.

Be The Herald's election night guests!

Ten thousand persons who will assemble on Postoffice square tomorrow night will enjoy the privilege of being the first in Duluth to obtain authoritative information on results of the election.

Bulletins from all sections of the country will be flashed onto a screen that will cover the front of The Herald office from 7 o'clock until after midnight. The Herald's wire service will maintain constant touch with every source of information in county, state, and nation.

A concert by the American Legion band will be only one of the entertainments planned to liven up lulls in the receipt of dispatches. The band will be led by Glen S. Locker. More music will also be furnished by the American Legion quartet consisting of Mr. Locker, C. P. Knott, Nels Gustafson and J. H. Conlon.

Bring along the entire family. It'll be the biggest night in four years.

NIGHT OF TERROR AT DUNGANNON, IRELAND

Dungannon, Ireland, Nov. 1.—This town, located in Central Ulster, spent a terrifying night as a result of reprisals following the wounding of a constable during an attack on a police patrol by civilians yesterday.

Policemen and then armed and disguised men visited the town and discharged bombs and firearms in many business houses owned by members of the Sinn Fein. A number of places were wrecked and many families fled to the country for safety.

Pennington Bankers Elect.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Pennington County Bankers' association meeting here discussed money, rates, exchange and general business conditions. Robert McGinn, president of the Farmers' and Merchants' State bank of Thief River Falls and former vice president of the organization, was elected president to succeed H. S. Dahlen. Nick Bundlund, cashier of the Farmers' State bank of Goodridge, was elected to succeed Mr. McGinn as vice president. Thomas H. Smith, cashier of the Farmers' State bank of Mavie, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

BODY OF MAJ. PRUDDEN ARRIVES FROM ENGLAND

MAJ. CLYDE EDWARD PRUDDEN.

Funeral arrangements for Maj. Clyde Edward Prudden son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Prudden, 3501 Minnesota avenue, whose body arrived from overseas Saturday evening, is pending word from his brother living in Montana. Maj. Prudden died on board a transport while en route from the United States to Liverpool on Oct. 7, 1918. The body is now at Stewart's undertaking rooms.

Maj. Prudden was born in Duluth in 1888. He graduated from local schools and was graduated by Demonstrative, class of 1909, from Northwestern university. In 1912 he became associated in the practice of medicine with Dr. C. A. Stewart of this city and later was associated with Drs. Bagley, Kohagen and Gillespie.

At the outbreak of the war Dr. Prudden enlisted in the National Guard and was commissioned major at Fort Snelling. In August, 1917, he was sent to Fort Deming, N. M., and started on his trip overseas in September, 1918, with the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth field artillery. While on board ship he contracted pneumonia and died shortly before the ship anchored in port.

Dr. Prudden was active in local civic organizations. He was a member of Ionic lodge, A. F. & A. M., the Commercial club, Duluth Boat club and the Duluth Curling club. He was a member of St. Paul's Episcopal church.

Maj. Prudden was married in Oklahoma City, Okla., in January, 1918. His widow and six months old son were drowned in the tidal wave which swept Corpus Christi on Sept. 14, 1919. He leaves, besides his parents, two sisters, Mrs. H. A. Eaton of Springfield, Mass., and Mrs. F. A. Leonard of Evanston, Ill., and a brother, Weston D. Prudden of Kalispell, Mont.

Distinction in Coats

is nothing but the difference between designers and tailors. To select new material—Fortuna, Duvet de Laine, Valdecygne, Corduvel, Veldyne and the tweeds is open to all.

But only the highly trained and the finely skilled tailors can depict and interpret the distinction of style line that gives your wraps or coats the touch of superiority. Such are the carefully selected coat modes offered here. The soft, luxurious fabrics of the season are accentuated by the profusion of embroidery invariably on the upper part of the coat. Rich furs, generally in the form of larger cape or shawl collars and cuffs, are also used for trimming. Prices astonishingly low.

Plaid Wool Skirts

That is a request that we hear many times a day in the Skirt Store, and we answer it by showing all the fashionable kinds of plaid wool skirts that Autumn is smiling upon.

Serges and flannels, Velours and Prunellas in plaids, somber or gay, they're all here in the lovely russet browns and reds, rich blues and greens that look so pretty with plain color coats or sweaters. They are box pleated, knife pleated or side pleated, and sometimes the pleats are manipulated so ingeniously that surprising color effects are produced.

Prices Range From $18.75 to $39.50

NO TREATY IF HARDING WINS

Governor Cox Says Candidate Will Not Submit It to Senate.

Dayton, Ohio, Nov. 1.—Governor Cox, the Democratic candidate for president, spend yesterday quietly resting at Trailsend, his home, near here, for the final speech of his campaign at Toledo tonight. Members of his family were with him most of the day, but late in the afternoon he tramped alone through the forest.

In a statement last night the governor asserted that the election of Senator Harding meant that the treaty would not be submitted to the senate for ratification, which, he added, would result in "controversy and confusion."

His visits to thirty-six states, the governor declared, convinced him that the sentiment of the country favored America's entry into the league.

"The events of the campaign are so clear in their significance," said his statement, "that the voter who is conscientious rather than prejudiced senses the difference between an election result which means the certain achievement of the nation's hopes on the one hand and continued uncertainty and confusion on the other.

Favors League.

"I am in favor of going into the league; Senator Harding is in favor of staying out. I am concerned about clarification; he is concerned about rejection. These are the oustanding words of the campaign.

"Senator Harding says he will not submit the treaty of peace to the senate as it is, but that he will change it. Since the president is without the right to make any alteration, this means that he will not submit it at all. This will result in one thing and one thing only—in controversy and confusion.

"When the men and women go into the voting booths it is their duty to remember the pledge that was given in the name of America, and it is proper at this time to ask whether we are going to maintain the nation's honor.

Happiness of People.

"The happiness of our people is dependent in part upon their oportunity to labor. Therefore, our prosperity, as it is to be affected in financial affairs, is a vital consideration. The chaotic state of things in a part of the world cannot go on much longer without the backwash striking the very foundations of our commercial institutions. Unless we go into the Lague of Nations, there is no guarantee against the waste of resources in the maintenance of armies and navies, and unless this waste is halted, national credit overseas is out of the question.

"I have faith in the conscience of America. It has given no pledge that it did not redeem and no moral question has ever failed when it was submitted to the judgment of the people. If we turn our thoughts to the graves of the 81,000 brave American boys who now sleep in Europe, our souls tell us what to do. The highway of civilization is lined with the maimed and disabled. If we assemble the philanthropic heart of the world and mold it into a concrete movement of helpfulness, our duty will have been done. Otherwise, the morality of nations has failed.

Waits Voice of America.

"Suffering humanity waits upon the voice of America. The verdict of Nov. 2 means joy or despair, world-wide."

The governor with his party, arrived here early yesterday from Chicago, where he virtually completed his campaign, speaking on Saturday with several addresses to thousands of voters. His last words of the campaign will be spoken at Toledo.

As soon as the election is over, Governor Cox plans a long vacation on a hunting trip in Mississippi as the guest of Senator Harrison of Mississippi, chairman of the Democratic speakers' bureau.

When the governor returns home from Toledo election morning, he will have travelled in his campaign, a total of 21,962 miles, according to an unofficial count. During his travels, which have been virtually continuous since his notification on Aug. 7, Governor Cox made 394 addresses, not including innumerable other brief talks, greetings and receptions.

MAYOR'S FUNERAL IS HELD AT CORK; THOUSANDS ATTEND

Cork, Nov. 1.—(By the Associated Press.)—In the presence of surpliced church dignitaries, scores of his former comrade volunteers and thousands of his countrymen, the body of Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, was lowered to its resting place in the "Republican plot" in St. Finbarr's cemetery just outside Cork yesterday afternoon.

Despite the splendor lent the scene by the attendance of the high church men, there was a simplicity marking the ceremonies that was impressive.

During the transfer of the body from the city hall through streets lined with crowds to St. Mary's cathedral and during the procession from the cathedral to the cemetery, there was not an incident of violence or disturbance.

The city of Cork and the whole countryside paid tribute to the memory of their "newest martyr."

The body was buried beside that of Former Lord Mayor MacCurtain, who was assassinated. A few yards away are the graves of Joseph Murphy, adorned with an American flag, and of two other Irish Republican soldiers. Murphy, like MacSwiney, died a hunger striker.

Archbishop Harty Presides.

Archbishop Harty of Cashel occupied the throne in presiding over the solemn requiem mass in St. Mary's cathedral. Monsignor Cohalan, bishop of Cork, was the celebrant.

The coffin, over which was draped the Irish Republican flag, rested on a catafalque covered with a pall with a skull and crossbones on either side, such as is used at the obsequies of high churchmen.

The cathedral was filled and thousands of persons were massed in the adjacent streets. Two armored cars and five lorries of troops kept in the background as the cortege moved to the church. The two-mile route of the procession from the cathedral in the cemetery was solidly flanked by thousands who bared their heads as the flag-draped casket, borne on the shoulders of the mayor's brothers and intimate friends, passed.

When the services at the cathedral ended and the procession, formed under the supervision of the Irish volunteers, moved off slowly, the cathedral bell began tolling. This was immediately echoed by the bells of the other churches in the city.

FEDERAL DRY HEAD SEEKS MORE HELP

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 1.—Paul D. Keller, supervising Federal prohibition agent for the Northwest, left Saturday night for Washington to ask more assistance. He said that in four months ending July 31 there were 360 arrests for liquor traffic in Minnesota, and only 125 in other Northwest states. The flood of liquor probably will increase within the next sixty days, he said, because of the approach of prohibition in Western Canada.

Montana Oil Strike.

Lewistown, Mont., Nov. 1.—The Elk Basin company's subsidiary, the Frantz, yesterday brought in a well with an initial flow of 2,000 barrels, this being the second largest gusher secured in the Mosby field, making five large producers in that district.

Gopher in N. D. Penitentiary.

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 1.—Harold Johnson of Albert Lea, Minn., sentenced by Judge A. T. Cole of the Cass county district court to serve fifteen years in the state penitentiary for the robbery of the Prosper State bank of Prosper, Cass county, began his commitment period Saturday, being taken to the state prison.

The Mother's Prayer

"Oh God, has my son died in vain?

"Has his sacrifice been all for naught?

"Must other mothers give their sons—as I gave mine—to no avail? Must they go through the grief that I went through—suffer as I suffered—and to no purpose?

"Will there be other wars?

"When he died, I tried to smile through my tears. I thought that he had died in the last war humanity would allow. And now—"

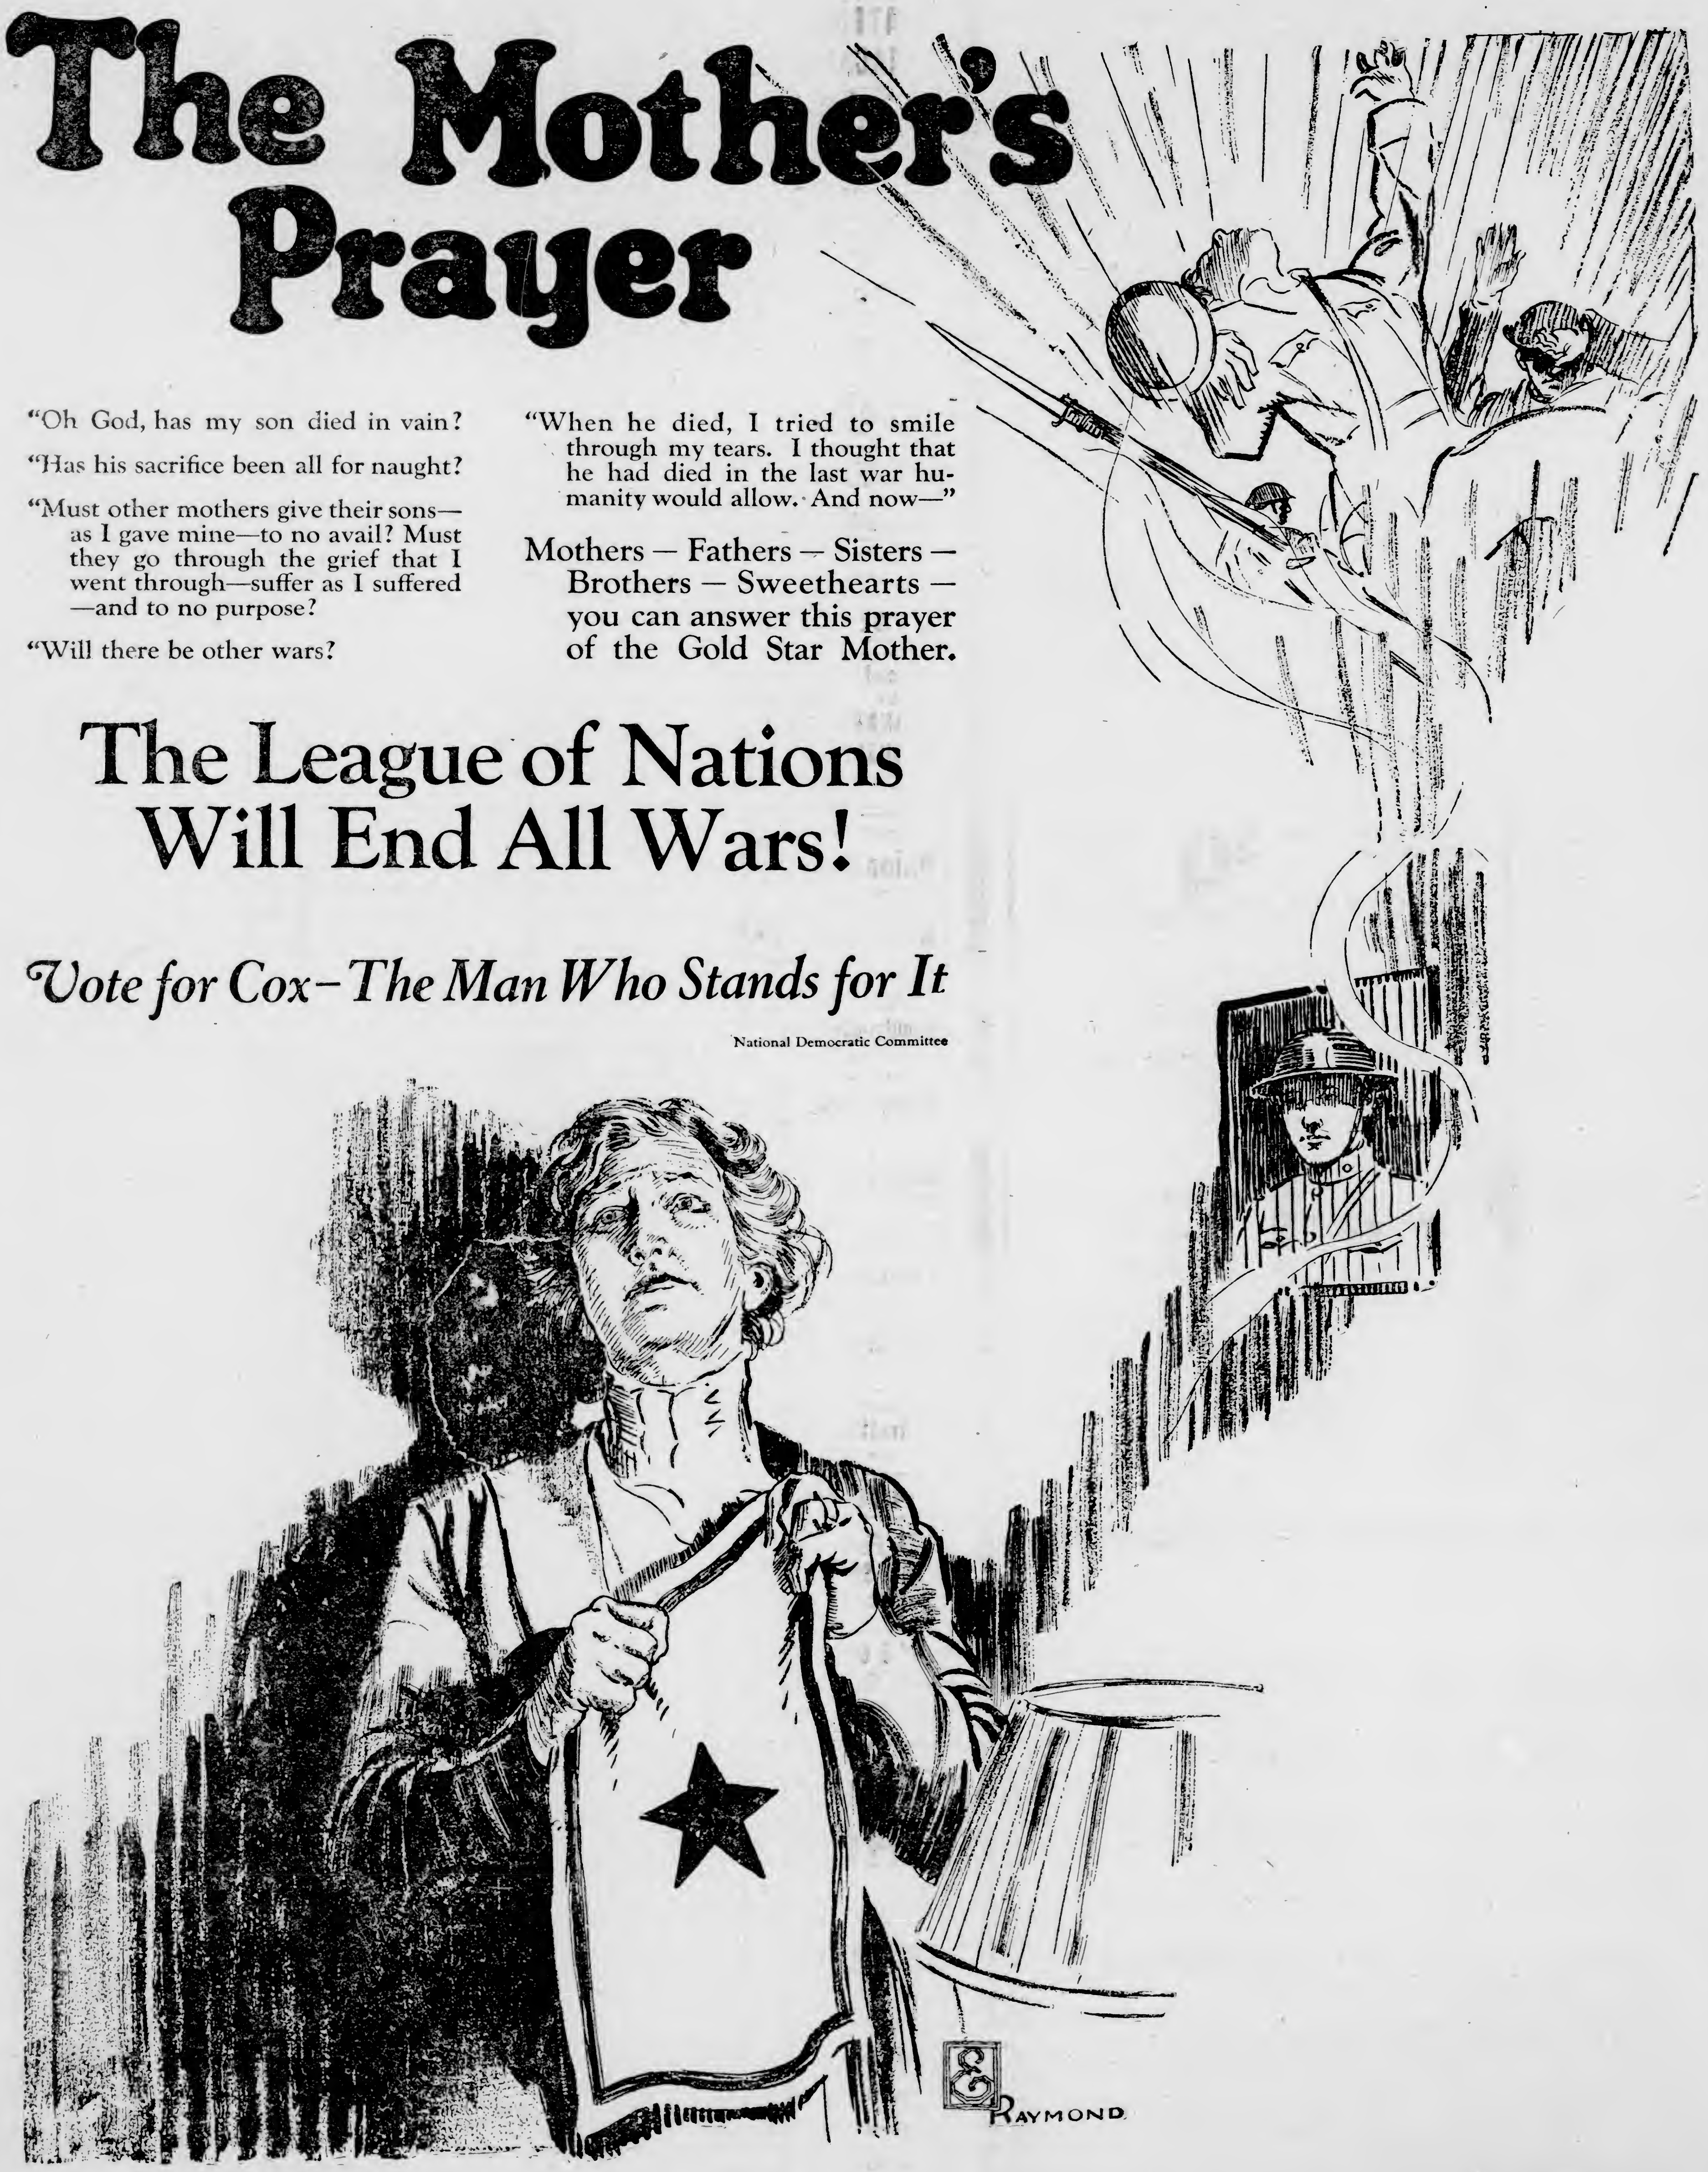
Vote for Cox–The Man Who Stands for It

National Democratic Committee



TUESDAY FATEFUL DAY FOR STATE AND NATION; TOWNLEYISM THREATENS FORMER, AND ISOLATION THE LATTER

Election, in Some Ways, Presents Most Important Problems in Nation's and State's Histories; Judgeship Fight Grows Spectacular and Bitter; Carss Gaining Ground Rapidly in Congressional Race; Legislative Fights Important as That for Governor.

When you go to the polls tomorrow and cast your vote in the national, state and county election, in some respects the most serious problems will be up to you to help decide that have ever presented themselves to the American public. This is especially true of the women, who are casting their first votes in a general election. Campaign orators always have it that "the greatest crisis in American history" is being dealt with. This happens in every campaign and no doubt the public, or that part of it which is not caught and excited by this claim, has grown tired of the superlative, but in this case the national and state problems are at least epochal in their effect, whatever the result.

Nationally the people must decide whether or not the nation shall take its place with the other nations of the world in a league to preserve peace, or remain isolated from the rest of the world and technically at war. That has become the main question of the campaign and it is so finely drawn as to become a moral one.

In the state, the people must decide whether or not they will be ruled by a Townley government, which has been a failure in the only state in which it has been tried, but by lavishness in promise and audacity of campaign bids fair to win even in this state—at least making the prospective result seem close enough so that sane people shudder at the danger.

In brief, those are the points that must be determined tomorrow—they are up to the voter.

At almost the eleventh hour the spectacular spot of the campaign happens to be the contest for district judge to succeed Judge J. D. Ensign, and the fight between County Attorney Warren E. Greene and Former Mayor Magney is reaching the bitter point. First Mr. Magney was given the indorsement of the Nonpartisan league. In his advertisement Saturday and yesterday Mr. Magney comes back with a slap at Mr. Greene, claiming that the latter is passing out circulars accusing the former mayor of being a Nonpartisan leaguer. In addition to this the Nonpartisan league's campaign committee, in an advertisement on the judgeship, claims that Mr. Greene pleaded with its committee to turn down Judge Funck before the June primaries and indorse him. It's a fine mixup and not at all in keeping with the dignity of the office to which these men aspire.

From street echoes today, however, it was apparent that the character of the last-minute fight that is being made against Clarence R. Magney was being translated into sympathy that is likely to make many votes for him.

Judges Cant and Fesler should be re-elected tomorrow with ridiculous ease, if all that is promised is performed. Technically they have three opponents, but actually they have none. At that, carelessness on the part of voters, or the feeling that "Oh, they'll be elected anyway," could beat them. Voters are warned to guard against this. Three men may be voted for, and it is urged that two of them be Judges Cant and Fesler.

In the congressional race, it may be said at the close of the campaign that, so far as learned, there has been little of anything in the way of mud-slinging. If either candidate has indulged in it, he has kept it pretty well covered.

And with this knowledge, Congressman Carss will, doubtless, feel doubly happy Wednesday when the returns show his election. It seems virtually certain now that he will succeed himself in the national house of representatives, for the tide which began turning his way about three weeks ago, appears to be in full flood. Labor is backing him to a man. Democracy is giving him its best support, and many Republicans, alienated from their party because of the anti-League of Nations attitude of Senator Harding, echoed by Candidate O. J. Larson of the Eighth district, are going to cast their ballots for the present congressman.

Little is heard of the contests for the legislature, and yet in view of the fact that the state is threatened by radicalism, the choice of proper men for the state house of representatives is fully as important as the choice for governor. The same Nonpartisan league danger lurks in every district, and certain candidates for the legislature have the indorsement of the league and are being backed in the election. Here is the list of those known to be so indorsed in this county:

Fifty-seventh, S. T. Skrove; Fifty-eighth, Charles Esse and George O. Lockhart; Fifty-ninth, John Goodwin and A. I. Jedlicka.

In the Fifty-seventh, Skrove's opponent is Former Mayor M. B. Cullum, the present representative, and with a record in the last legislature which is regarded as exceptionally good, for he put up one of the best fights for Duluth and St. Louis county in the important measures that came up there that has been seen in years. In the Fifty-eighth, R. E. Patterson and Frank G. Scribner will likely be elected, for they have the backing of that element which wishes to see sanity prevail—and that element is a large one in the Fifty-eighth district. William L. Bernard—"Old Bill" Bernard of many a hard-fought victory or defeat in the state house of representatives—is a candidate again in the Fifty-ninth, and hundreds in and out of the district would feel personally grieved were he beaten—which is unlikely. His is a record of valiant service for the city and county, and where the people's rights were at stake. In the Sixtieth, whoever else is elected, it is felt that a serious mistake would be committed were R. W. Hitchcock not returned; and the same thing is felt in the Sixty-first in regard to Charles T. Murphy.

So far as the county ticket is concerned, S. W. Gilpin has no opposition for judge of probate court, but there is a fight on for clerk of court. J. P. Johnson, incumbent, is being strongly opposed by William B. Shaver. The latter has been indorsed by the Nonpartisan league, and just what effect it will have on his candidacy is hard to forecast. It is believed that it will cut both ways, in which event, it is expected that Mr. Johnson should win. The latter's record is unusually good in office, and no good and valid reason has been advanced for turning him out, except that somebody else wants to get in.

Merry hades is being raised in connection with the battles for the four county commissionerships at stake. These are the First, Third, Fifth and Seventh districts, and each is being fought for hard. Alex Fraser, the present commissioner in the First, is quite likely to repeat his former victories, but John W. Schneider is certainly fighting hard for it. In his circular letter sent out to voters, Mr. Schneider's principal and almost only bid for the popular favor is that "I promise to dispense with the services of a chauffeur and eliminate this needless expense, amounting to more than $1,800 a year, by running the car myself." It seems to smack somewhat of peanut politics in the first place, and in addition to that, Mr. Schneider, if he makes good his promise if elected, will probably have to drive a car not only for himself, but for Commissioner Swanstrom and to deliver things for the county auditor, for the same car covers the three uses. Still the county might buy him another car, which would be additional expense.

In the Third district, Walter A. Swanstrom is asking that he be re-elected and E. W. Griffin is asking that he won't. Up to that point it's an even break. Commissioner Swanstrom has been making a clean, vigorous campaign on his excellent record in office, which his many friends believe entitles him to re-election without question.

In the Fifth district those tried and true opponents of many fights for the place, Commissioner Joseph Becks and Former Commissioner Charles Kauppi are at it again, and probably it will be about as close as usual one way or the other. These two have opposed each other so often that they must have the parts well rehearsed by this time.

Up in the Seventh district, A. E. Dyer and William L. Murphy are in deadly battle to decide which one will succeed Commissioner R. S. O'Neil, who was beaten in the primaries. The only news that seeps this far down the county is that the fight is a close one, and even that may be wrong.

Senator Harding may win tomorrow, but even his publicity men admit that the drift is toward Cox and has been ever since the senator made his Des Moines speech in which he declared for the rejection of the League of Nations Covenant. Since then he has taken to sneering at the slogan of the campaign of four years ago, "He kept us out of war." Some wit has said that the senator is apparently ambitious to have the opposite sentiment engraved on his political tombstone, "He kept us out of peace."

If Governor Cox is not elected, as one man was heard to observe yesterday, it will not be the fault of the Republican party leaders, for they have committed enough blunders in utterance and action to beat anybody but the favored of the gods. The Harvey cartoon, now wildly repudiated by the Republican leaders since they have found that it is doing fearful damage, is likened to the Burchard break in the Blaine campaign years ago when the reverend enthusiast referred to "rum, Romanism and rebellion," in connection with the Democratic party, and which utterance is credited with the defeat of the plumed knight. The Harvey cartoon may turn the same trick.

The big question is: How will the women vote? Many insists that women are idealists and, that being true, that they must of necessity be, in the main, for the League of Nations. If that is so, Cox will get the great majority of 27,000,000 new voters, and that could turn the trick. Are they idealists? Will he?

The Sample Case, monthly publication of the United Commercial Travelers, comes out in its latest issue with an apology to Governor Cox for a statement made editorially in its September issue to the effect that Governor Cox had established himself as unfriendly to traveling men by an editorial which appeared in the Dayton Daily News, owned by him, in August, 1914. The Sample Case editor now finds that the editorial was written without the knowledge of Governor Cox, who, upon learning of it, insisted on the writer of the editorial, Howard Bratton, apologizing to the commercial travelers over his own signature. Mr. Bratton did so and immediately after severed his connection with the Dayton News. Mr. Emerson, editor of the Sample Case, with unusual fairness and frankness, acknowledges his error and admits that his September article was published on inaccuracies furnished him and without confirming them.

The contest for governor of Minnesota grows more and more pronounced between Preus and Shipstead. It is virtually acknowledged now that Mayor Hodgson of St. Paul will run third. The question is: Which of the first two mentioned will run first? Third place concerns few. That it is a close race and the election of Preus will require the vote of every good citizen who wishes to see his or her state escape North Dakota's mistake is admitted. Tomorrow may tell a story that will bring a sigh of relief or a feeling akin to panic.

WAGE LEVEL DECLINING

Wisconsin Industrial Conditions Unsettled, Says State Commission.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 1.—Industrial conditions in Wisconsin are somewhat unsettled, the industrial commission announces. Preliminary estimates for September indicate that the number of employes will be between 3 and 4 per cent less than in August and that total wages paid will be at least 7 per cent less.

Wisconsin has not been hit as hard as Eastern states by the unsettled condition, the commission says, stability being due chiefly to her diversified industries.

The commission's tabulations for July and August, which have been completed, show an increase of 8 per cent in total wages and a falling off of eight-tenths of 1 per cent in total of employment in the state. This condition was due to a large increase in earnings of railroad repair shop employes for August and to higher earnings in August as a result of improvement in railroad facilities which enabled factories to work full time, the commission says, declaring at the same time that average earnings in September are certain to have declined.

Increase in Stone Work.

An increase is shown by the commission's figures in the number of employed in stone quarrying and crushing and in stone finishing, due to improvement of transportation. The woodworking industry is recovering from the strike which tied up work, as shown by the increase in the number of operatives in mills and box factories.

Tanning, hosiery and other knit goods and milk products showed considerably fewer workers. Demoralized market conditions have affected these industries. The commission says that Wisconsin shoe factories were not so affected by the break in the leather market as those in the East, due to the fact that most of them make a lower priced shoe.

A comparison of the total employes and of wages paid in the first quarter of 1915 with those during July and August, 1920, show that wages during that time jumped 257 per cent, while employment increased only 43 per cent. A chart prepared by months shows that there is a trend toward unemployment at the present time and that the wage level is declining.

MEAT PRICES SHOWED DECLINE IN OCTOBER

Washington, Nov. 1.—Wholesale prices of beef and pork declined substantially during October, said a statement issued last night by the Institute of American Meat Packers.

"Selling prices of carcass beef throughout the country showed an average decline of approximately 13 per cent at the end of October as compared with the first week in September," according to the statement.

"Fresh pork declined heavily when the wholesale prices of light pork loins, whence come pork chops, declined about 21 per cent."

Wreck Interior of Church.

Marshfield, Or., Nov. 1.—Unknown persons last night partially wrecked the interior of the local Catholic church, while the pastor, Father H. J. McDevitt, was absent. The greatest item of damage was the removal of statues from their places and breaking them in pieces on the floor.

Nature gave us natural cosmetics in Palm and Olive oils—a lotion as well as cleansers. Their action is gentle, they are mild and soothing, as Cleopatra knew.

A secret of the stage

Why you can buy it at the price of other soap

Because Palmolive is so popular that we make it in enormous volume. The Palmolive factories work day and night to supply the demand. The costly ingredients are bought in vast quantities.

The result is a moderate price which puts Palmolive within reach of all. Yet wealth can command nothing better.

Palmolive is sold by all dealers everywhere. It is supplied in guest room size by popular hotels the country over.

For years women of the stage have belied the theory that cosmetics injure the complexion. They use rouge and powder constantly, yet their skins are usually good. They look younger than other women. Actresses seem never to grow old.

The secret is simple—stage women know that cosmetics should not be left on. They keep their complexions so scrupulously clean that rouge and powder can't harm them.

How you can wash for beauty

By using your own two hands and a cake of Palmolive. Work up a thick, creamy lather and massage it thoroughly into the skin. Be sure every tiny pore and minute gland is cleansed from clogging accumulations.

Then rinse thoroughly—with your hands—until every trace of lather disappears. Apply plenty of Palmolive Cold Cream.

Do this every day and you needn't worry about a little rouge and powder. Your skin will be smooth and fine textured. Blackheads, blotches and pimples will never bother you.

A mild, gentle cleanser

Palmolive is the safe soap—the mild, gentle cleanser because it is made from Palm and Olive oils—the same precious oils Cleopatra used in the days of ancient Egypt.

These natural cleansers were a historic toilet luxury, adorning the sumptuous baths of classic days. Now their scientific combination in Palmolive achieves the greatest luxury of modern times.

The Cost of a Hole in the Ground

COMMENTING upon the rise in the price of gasoline, a man who is unfamiliar with petroleum production writes:

"The Lord, who put the oil in the earth, charges no more for it than he ever did. It comes for nothing out of the ground when you dig a hole."

This is true, if it comes out of the ground without help. The greatly increased cost lies in digging the hole, casing it, caring for the oil when it comes out, and transporting and handling it on its way to the refinery.

Petroleum Age in its September issue says: "The cost of drilling and equipping a well at the present scale of prices for material and labor runs from Five Thousand Dollars for a shallow sand pumper to Seventy-five Thousand Dollars for the deep wells. A general average covering the entire country would run about Twenty Thousand Dollars per well.

One item which is often overlooked is the cost of drilling wells which fail to produce oil. It is estimated that from 20 to 30 percent of all wells put down are dry holes.

Yet, in spite of all discouragements, which included shortage of casing, difficulties of transportation, and the increasing expense of labor, on July 31st, 1920, there were eleven thousand wells drilling or under way east of the Rocky Mountains, with completions averaging about three thousand wells a month. Probably thirty-six thousand wells will be completed during 1920.

The total expense, including investment in drilling tools, lease equipment and labor, is roughly estimated at one billion dollars.

Deducting two hundred fifty million dollars (25 percent) for salvage on equipment susceptible of further use, the net investment in new production for the year will be seven hundred fifty million dollars.

It is apparent that oil does now come "for nothing out of the ground."

Oil is usually discovered in spots remote from rail centers. The cost of pumping and transporting it to the refinery is a heavy charge. At the refinery charges begin to pile up, for refining oil is a true manufacturing process involving application of chemistry, the use of specialized machinery, and human labor.

All of these factors add to the cost of a product which Nature has given us.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been steadfastly applying the trained power of its organization to increasing the yield of gasoline from crude, and in achieving economies by large scale operations in refining and distributing its products.

STATE FIGHT IMPORTANT

Senator Kellogg at G. O. P. Rally Urges League With Reservations.

To Minnesota voters, the conflict raging for the control of the state government is a great battle of principle equal in importance to the nation-wide fight for the preservation of American rights, Senator Frank B. Kellogg advised an audience at the New Armory Saturday night in the last Republican rally of the campaign.

"The Nonpartisan league program is only another Socialistic panacea," said Mr. Kellogg. "It is impractical, burdensome and tyrannical. Nowhere have its proponents proved that it has obtained beneficent results in North Dakota. Mr. Preus, the candidate of the Republicans, on the other hand, offers a comprehensive program of co-operative marketing that will prove of inestimable value to producer and consumer alike."

Stand on Covenant.

The national political battle must turn largely on the League of Nations, the senator asserted. The Republicans, he stated, stand for the league with reservations; Cox and Roosevelt stand for the league as negotiated by Gen. Smuts, Leon Bourgeois, Lord Cecil and President Wilson. He explained the significance of the fourteen reservations adopted by the senate as necessary to uphold the honor, the sovereignty and the institutions of America.

"In Europe, kings make treaties but the Constitution of the United States vests the power in the president and senate," Mr. Kellogg asserted. "He wouldn't consult with us; so we consulted with him. I made the first speech, myself, on Dec. 4, when I outlined to the senate the sort of league I would be willing to ratify. I have never changed my opinion.

"When thirty-nine senators signed an agreement never to ratify the treaty without amending it, his answer was that the league and treaty would be so intertwined that separation would be impossible. He wanted to be the whole United States as he has been the whole Democratic party."

Quoting statements attributed to him in a Herald editorial, Senator Kellogg insisted that he has never changed his attitude of a year ago wherein he pleaded for immediate ratification of the treaty with reservations.

"Senate reservations," Mr. Kellogg [illegible] "have never altered the most vital portions of the treaty which provide for judicial settlement of justiciable questions. Whatever reservations were adopted were approved, not in a partisan spirit, but with the co-operation of a substantial number of Democrats.

Military Alliance.

"Article 10 is a military alliance," the speaker declared. "Only a few days ago the president of the council of the League of Nations said it was not important. When I was in England Lord Robert Cecil told me that he had never favored Article 10, solely because it was a military alliance.

"Reservations we adopted must be strictly differentiated from amendments which would have to be adopted by all other league members before becoming effective. The senate only provided that we should not consider ourselves bound by some of the more infamous sections of the treaty and that we shall not send our sons to settle every turbulent affair in Europe unless the American people approve of it beforehand."

Mr. Kellogg then proceeded to justify each reservation. Wilson's own economic advisers, he said, had advised against the adoption of the mandate of Armenia. Gen. Harbord's report had stated 200,000 men would be required for its enforcement. Another reservation asserted America's right to define domestic questions which were outside the scope of the league's power. The speaker also mentioned reservations on the Monroe Doctrine, the settlement of Shantung, and the voting power in the assembly of the league.

League With Reservations.

"I am for the league with reservations," the speaker repeated," and I deny that Cox is for the same program. He is for adoption of the league because only through its operation may we be able to look forward, at least, to the end of the sword and shield."

Following his discussion of national issues, the speaker reverted to the political fight in Minnesota between the Nonpartisan league and the Republican party.

"I do not abuse; I will argue this matter," Mr. Kellogg declared. "The league's program calls for the control of all means of production by the state. The constitution will not let them confiscate land without paying for it. And how are they going to pay for it without assessing the people of the state the heaviest taxes known to history?

"Why don't the Nonpartisan advocates show how much cheaper it is to live in North Dakota or how much more the people get for their work there? The truth is that government ownership always pays less than private capital. The miners on the range get more pay than the most efficient experts in Washington."

Urges Support for Larson.

The speaker also asked support for Oscar J. Larson, Republican candidate for congress in the Eighth district.

J. L. Washburn, presiding officer, also mentioned both the League of Nations and the political fight in Minnesota in his opening address. He characterized the Nonpartisan leaders as bad actors whose game it is to grab control of the dominant party in each state. Failing that, they emerge from their holes in an independent attempt to seize the main offices of the state, Mr. Washburn said.

Mr. Kellogg and Mr. Washburn have been friends since they were youths, both speakers said. When the future senator was a young lawyer practicing at Rochester, Mr. Washburn was a student in a law office at Mankato.

HALF DOZEN CONTESTS IN STATE OF GEORGIA

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 1.—Contests in a half dozen scattered congressional districts where the outcome is said to be in doubt continued today to stimulate interest among Southern voters in tomorrow's election.

While Democratic leaders in the various states expressed confidence that there would be no break in the "solid" South, the Republicans, who have conducted an unusually vigorous campaign, said they expected to make an unprecedented showing and predicted that the Republican nominees in several congressional districts would be elected.

The Republicans have waged a fight to capture seats in the lower house of congress, with particular vigor in the Third Louisiana district, the Third district of Arkansas, the Seventh Alabama district and in the Second and Ninth districts in Virginia.

Democrats claim Governor Cox will carry Tennessee by a 40,000 majority. Although Republican leaders have not been claiming the state for Senator Harding, they have been predicting victory for their gubernatorial nominee.

Normal Democratic majorities are claimed today for all of the party's candidates in it and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida and Mississippi.

WHY HAVE CATARRH?

So Disagreeable to Yourself and All About You.

Catarrh is generally conceded to be a constitutional disease. Therefore it requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which reaches every part of the system by thoroughly purifying and enriching the blood. This medicine removes the cause of the trouble, which if not checked may lead to more serious disease.

In 46 years of use and test Hood's Sarsaparilla has relieved many cases, as told by voluntary letters of commendation. Why not get a bottle today and give it a trial. It combines economy and efficiency. Keep Hood's Pills on hand as a family cathartic.—Advertisement.

are moving in considerably greater quantities than last year. The latest available reports of sales of chain store systems show increase of 20 to 45 per cent over 1919. The president of the Association of Retail Clothiers has advised its members to forget all about profits. A brand of muslin which every woman knows has been placed on sale by a New York department store at 1 cent above the present wholesale price, which is one half of the highest war figure, while a few blocks away another store is asking nearly double the price. The first store is jammed.

Averse to Paying High Prices.

Other examples of the efficacy of price cutting are numerous but most retailers still fail to appreciate the obvious fact that farmers whose cotton and wheat have declined severely are averse to paying high prices for goods. Farmers represent 40 per cent of the country's purchasing power. The industrial and commercial workers who represent the other 60 per cent are equally determined to get more for their money because they have generally followed the advice given them from all sides to reduce their spending in order to bring prices down. Their own ability to buy is also being gradually impaired by the increased unemployment and wage reductions reported from many centers, including the New England and Southern textile districts, Chicago machine shops and Nevada mines.

Wage reductions, however, are inevitable in many industries, notwithstanding labor's determination to oppose them vigorously. As long as they lag behind the decline in commodity prices they connote not less power to purchase goods, but more. Nor has unemployment reached alarming proportions. It undoubtedly will be checked when those who deal with the public realize that their hope for future prosperity lies in present sacrifice of profits to set the wheels of industry turning and keep the buying ability of the workers unimpaired. A few manufacturers meanwhile are planning to avert further curtailment by selling at retail themselves, an expedient which has been tried before in periods of depression. This should not be necesary, for it is a wasteful duplication of channels which carry ample goods to the consumer, except when unwisely blocked, as at present.

The Credit Stringency.

It is also becoming evident that trade duliness and the large stocks of goods in the hands of retailers and middlemen are increasing their demands on the banks and intensifying the credit stringency. Crop moving needs are at their peak and on the stock exchange call loans hung around 10 per cent nearly all last week. The continuing tightness of money, remarkable in view of declining prices and of the record amounts both of bank loans and of reserve notes in circulation, has many supplementary causes which are not generally realized. For one thing, nearly all the money circulating in Mexico at present is American currency. The old paper money of the Mexican republic is practically worthless and demonetized, and while the present government is endeavoring to coin gold and silver it is really too poor to buy it and most of the mine owners are dealing with American smelters and shipping their product to the United States. The amount of American money in circulation on the Canadian side of the border is also abnormally large, so that the very superiority of our currency cramps credit here.

Investment Strength.

There seems to be no limit to the amount of new bond and note issues the securities markets will absorb. In the last two months considerably more than $400,000,000 has been offered, and the total of new financing and foreign loans at present projected is around $200,000,000. Despite this evidence of investment strength the bond market has nevertheless only held its own. The stock market, a dull and mainly professional affair, has failed to realize expectations of an upward movement just as definitely as it failed to react to bad news last week. The same sluggishness has been apparent in the foreign exchanges, sterling appearing absolutely insensible to such favorable news as the termination of the miners' strike. Expectation of the outcome, however, and the hope for stimulation of our exports, was sufficient to bring about a recovery in cotton. Grains are also higher. The dry goods markets are slowly picking up in activity and merchants are distinctly more hopeful.

Bank clearings for the week, reported to Bradstreet's, bear out the current evidence of trade duliness, showing a loss of 6.5 per cent from this week last year, though outside of New York a gain of 2.1 per cent was reported. Failures totaled 219, against 249 last week and 104 in 1919. The report of the credit clearing house showed an increase of 2 per cent in wholesale purchases.

Railway Earnings.

Statements of railway earnings for the month of September, eagerly awaited because they are the first affected by the rate increase, in some instances show a smaller improvement than had been anticipated. Decreasing traffic is reported from the West, and a third of the states are still preventing the operation of the increase within their borders by intrastate regulation. Car movement continues to climb to greater heights, and fear of a coal shortage, virtually a thing of the past everywhere, finally has been laid to rest by the coal operators themselves. Coal prices are moving lower, as are iron and steel, and in the latter industry curtailment is steadily though not spectacularly increasing.

An interesting event this week is the opening of the first labor bank and the first co-operative commercial bank in the United States, in Cleveland, Nov. 1, by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. The potentialities of labor banks are enormous. There are between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 members of labor unions. If their savings were gathered into co-operative banks and expended into credits they could do much for labor. The sum available to invest in foreign credits and help maintain our export trade would be sufficient to keep many thousands of men at work who otherwise may feel the pinch of unemployment, which seems likely to come unless financial obstructions to our trade, both foreign and domestic, are removed.

BUILDING FRAUDS BEFORE GRAND JURY

New York, Nov. 1.—Hearing of evidence concerning the alleged fraud in building organizations here was before the November grand jury at its organization session today. Samuel Untermyer, associate counsel for the joint legislation committee on housing, was designated to present evidence brought out during recent hearings of the committee and to ask the grand jury to return indictments.

The committee will reconvene Thursday. Committee members said today that alleged fraud in the steel building trades will then be taken up.

ELEVENTH-HOUR ELECTION CONTEST INTENSE

of the woman's vote and the possibility of its being as a whole independent enough to overturn tables of election probabilities compiled over a period of years in which certain states have been "normally" inclined to one political faith or the other.

Maine No Criterion.

Most of the wiseacres declare that the recent Maine election, where the woman's vote was well under half that of the men, can be considered no criterion for predicating national election results. Women in states where universal suffrage has obtained for some years are expected to outdo their newly enfranchised sisters. And, on the other hand, the "experts" admit, this hypothesis also may be wrong.

The Socialist party has made claims for the largest proportionate women's vote. With the new voters properly belonging to the party added to non-Socialists who, they say, will vote the ticket in protest against the imprisonment of the party's presidential nominee, Eugene V. Debs, the Socialists predict a vote of at least 3,000,000. In 1916 the Socialist vote was less than 600,000.

If any of the six national parties start out to break electoral college records tomorrow, they must aim at those set up in the election of tickets headed by President Wilson. In 1912 his majority of 339 was the greatest in the record of American elections.

Michigan.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 1.—Democratic party leaders today reiterated predictions that Woodbridge N. Ferris, their candidate for governor, and several Democratic congressmen would be elected tomorrow. Republican leaders predicted a "clean sweep from top to bottom," with a plurality of from 175,000 to 250,000. A total vote of more than 750,000 is looked for by party managers.

Pennsylvania.

Philadelphia, Nov. 1.—Party leaders in Pennsylvania devoted today to making preparations for getting out the full voting strength of their respective organizations tomorrow.

Connecticut.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 1.—Party leaders closed their campaigns in Connecticut today. Interest centered in the senatorial contest between Frank B. Brandegee, Republican nominee for re-election, and Representative Augustine Lonergan, Democrat.

Wyoming.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Nov. 1.—Besides naming presidential electors tomorrow, Wyoming voters will elect congressmen, state officers and vote on six amendments to the state Constitution. Indications are that the presidential race will be one of the closest in state history.

New Hampshire.

Concord, N. H., Nov. 1.—One of New Hampshire's liveliest campaigns was brought to a close today with Democratic and Republican rallies. The candidacy of Senator George H. Moses, Republican "bitter ender" in the League of Nations fight, for re-election, has been the outstanding campaign feature.

Maine.

Portland, Me., Nov. 1.—Since the state and congressional election in September Maine has been without a campaign speaker. Political observers say this does not indicate a lack of interest in the national issues, and look for a large vote tomorrow.

Colorado.

Denver, Col., Nov. 1.—A campaign in which the Republican candidates practically have been the Nonpartisan candidates and in which many Democratic nominees have been Nonpartisan league candidates, will close in Colorado with the balloting tomorrow. Because the Democratic candidates for governor and other state offices are indorsed by the Nonpartisan league, many Democrats and Democratic newspapers have openly supported the Republican state ticket.

Kansas.

Topeka, Kan., Nov. 1.—The Kansas general election campaign closed today. Chairmen of party state committees predicted that the vote would be even heavier than four years ago, when the women of the state cast their first ballots for president.

The Republican ticket is headed by Senator Charles Curtis and Governor Henry J. Allen, both of whom seek re-election. Senator Curtis is opposed by George H. Hodges, Democrat, and Dan Beedy, Socialist. Jonathan Davis, Democrat, and Ray Stanton, Socialist, would succeed Governor Allen. The Socialists have a complete state ticket in the field. Socialists also are candidates for congress in six districts.

Arkansas.

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 1.—Voters of Arkansas will find presidential electors of three parties—Democratic, Republican and Socialist—on their ballots in the general election tomorrow.

The gubernatorial candidates are Thomas C. McGraw, Democrat; Wallace Townsend, Republican; Sam Busier, Socialist, and J. H. Blount, Independent Republican. Blount is a negro.

T. H. Caraway is Democratic candidate for senator and Charles F. Cole is the Republican nominee.

Delaware.

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 1.—Final appeals having been made Republican and Democratic leaders expressed confidence today in carrying Delaware for both the national and state tickets.

Maryland.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 1.—Indications today were that both major parties were well lined up for the election tomorrow.

Especial interest attaches to the senatorial fight, one of the six candidates being a negro, W. Ashbie Hawkins, running as an independent.

Oklahoma.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 1.—The political campaign in this state will close tonight with eleventh-hour appeals by senatorial and congressional candidates. Both major parties have issued statements expressing confidence in election of their candidates.

Indiana.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 1.—Next to the presidential contest, interest in the election tomorrow in Indiana will center on the contest for United States senator. United States Senator James E. Watson, Republican candidate for re-election, is opposed by Former United States Senator Thomas Taggart, Democrat. All parties today continued campaigning up to the last minute.

Missouri.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 1.—Prediction that 1,400,000 votes would be cast in Missouri was made by election officials today. This exceeds the usual vote by about 600,000 and is the number of women expected to vote.

Besides balloting on state and national offices, on which both Republican and Democrats predict victories, the voters will decide on thirteen state constitutional amendments. Two referendum propositions, one on the state prohibition enforcement law and the other on the workmen's compensation act, also will be voted on.

Rhode Island.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 1.—The presence on the ballot of three candidates for congress, Republican, Democrat and Socialist, in two of the three Rhode Island districts, has enlivened the campaign in this state. Last-minute rallies were held in behalf of all candidates.

Vermont.

Montpelier, Vt., Nov. 1.—Vermont's record of consistent Republicanism resulted in a quiet campaign that ended today with prospects for a normal vote tomorrow enlarged by the women's ballots.

WESTERN CAMPAIGN COMES TO A CLOSE

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 1.—Election campaigns in the Western states were brought to a close today and in the various party headquarters confidence was expressed for the success of the national and state tickets. In California, Oregon, Washington, Colorado, Idaho, Nevada, Utah and Arizona, where United States senators are to be elected, the interest is particularly keen and efforts were continued up to the last minute to bring out a heavy vote. In most of the Western states the ballots are long and many issues are before the voters other than the election of candidates.

California is interested in the fate of an anti-alien initiative measure which provides that aliens ineligible to citizenship shall not be permitted to lease agricultural lands. The present law permits them to lease farm lands for a period of not more than three years. There has been no attempt to conceal the fact that the measure is aimed at the Japanese and its proponents have asserted that unless the activities of the Japanese are curbed by statute the control of the richest agricultural lands in the state soon will be in the hands of Orientals.

California also has a prohibition enforcement measure, which was passed by the 1919 legislature and held up by operation of the referendum. The measure is designed to keep California dry regardless of any amendment that might be made to the national prohibition act. In all, California will vote on twenty special measures in addition to the political issues on the ballot.

FIND MYSTERY IN VOTE OF WOMEN

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Claims and counterclaims, with desultory flashes of old-time political enthusiasm, marked the conclusion of the campaign in the states of the Central West today.

Mystery as to the tide of the tremendous woman vote was reflected in many eleventh hour discussions of the general situation. It was stated on all sides that the woman vote, together with expected ticket scratching in numerous districts, very likely would delay returns and create uncertainty where contests were close.

Reports from the various states indicated that in practically all districts unusual steps have been taken to guard against fraud and to curb quickly any attempts to intimidate women voters. In many instances the usual number of workers and watchers will be doubled or tripled.

Last minute appeals to voters were made by managers of the three principal gubernatorial candidates in Illinois where a campaign of a bitter turn has been in progress. "I will be elected by a vote in excess of 50,000," said Former Senator James Hamilton Lewis, Democratic candidate for governor. Managers of Len Small, who has the support of Mayor Thompson of Chicago in his fight for election on the Republican ticket, claimed victory for him over Lewis by 250,000.

THE PRESENT CRISIS

Once to every man and nation comes the moment to decide,
On the strife of truth with falsehood, for the good or evil side;
Some great cause, God's new Messiah, offering each the bloom or blight,
Parts the goats upon the left hand, and the sheep upon the right,
And the choice goes by forever 'twixt that darkness and that light.

Hast thou chosen, O my people, on whose party thou shalt stand,
Ere the doom from its worn sandals shakes the dust against our land?
Though the cause of evil prosper, yet 'tis truth alone is strong.
And, albeit, she wanders outcast now I see around her throng
Troops of beautiful, tall angels to enshield her from all wrong.

New occasions teach new duties; time makes ancient good uncouth;
They must upward still, and onward, who would keep abreast the truth;
Lo, before us gleam her campfires! We ourselves must Pilgrims be.
Launch our Mayflower, and steer boldly through the desperate winter sea,
Nor attempt the future's portal with the past's blood-rusted key.

—James Russell Lowell.

A most successful Halloween party was held Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. M. T. Seymour, 109 West Third street, for her guests, former patrons and their friends. Decorations and favors in keeping with the Halloween season added much to the festivity of the occasion. Dancing and cards furnished entertainment and refreshments were served at midnight. The success of the affair and general good time were due to the efforts of the committee in charge, composed of a large group of the younger guests of the house.

The sale of tickets for the lecture to be given Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock by Miss Patty S. Hill, head of the department of education for younger children and teachers' college at Columbia university, to be presented under the auspices of the Duluth-Superior Kindergarten association, has so far outgrown the expectations of those in charge that it has been necessary to provide a larger auditorium than that of the Y. W. C. A., and arrangements have been made for the use of the auditorium of Central high school. Miss Hill is credited with being one of the best authorities in the country on matters pertaining to the training and education of young children, not only in America, but in all lands.

Two absent-minded seniors of Duluth Central high school, after declaring that it was quite probable that they would neglect to order the Zenith, were taken before a staff of two physicians, four nurses, a score of sorrowing relatives and friends, and submitted to a painful and highly embarrassing situtiton this morning, when their heads were operated upon and found to contain an arrangement of wheels similar to that of an ordinary tin alarm clock, several pounds of waste, some sawdust, cobwebs, peanut shells and other similar matter. Members of the Zenith board are satisfied after this example that there will be no delinquents among students in placing orders for the school annual.

The operation, which was the theme of a clever little sketch written by Wilbur Taylor, member of the Zenith board, provided much merriment among high school boys and girls. The cast included: Absent minded seniors, John Mitchell and Robert Close; master of ceremonies, Kendell McClure; the doctor, Ernest Netheote; Red Cross nurses, Misses Eleanor Abbott, Helen Holahon, Huldah Halvorson and Dorothy Bush; mother of the patient, Miss Ruth Forgy; his sister, Miss Mary McLennan; his brother, Melvin Cooley; sorrowing friends, Misses Mary Wahl, Isabel Hicken and William Hearding, William Barnard and Louis Travers.

Election return parties are on the social calendar for tomorrow evening. At the Kitchi Gammi club a private wire has been installed and will be worked by the club operator during the evening to give returns, which will be announced in the clubrooms and ballroom, where dancing will be indulged in from 9 p. m. to 1 o'clock.

At the Commercial club a special wire has been provided also and returns will be received there during the evening and while guests remain during the night. Dancing will be in order after the regular club dinner hour. At the Elks' club a keno party will be given in connection with dancing. Here, also, a special wire has been leased in order that election returns may be had first hand. Members of the Lions' club have leased the Rose Garden at the Hotel St. Louis, where they will entertain members and their friends at dancing. Special provision has been made to get election returns direct from headquarters.

Early to the Polls Slogan of Duluth Women for Tuesday

"Early to the polls."

That is the slogan Duluth women have adopted for their first dip into the political sea tomorrow election day. And to back up what they are advocating several "Vote Before Breakfast" and "Vote Before Lunch" clubs as well as "Ten o'clock Clubs" have sprung up in virtually all wards in the city.

Because of the heavy vote women are urged to go to the polls between 9 a. m. and 12 m. and between 2 and 5 p. m., leaving the earlier morning hours and that at noon and in the evening for men and business women.

Through model elections, citizenship schools, presentation of the voting play, "How We Do It," special meetings addressed by candidates of all parties and distribution of literature, the Minnesota League of Women Voters has waged a brisk campaign to help the women voters understand voting.

Institution Continued.

Ballot judges will be required to be at their polling places before 6 a. m. and must remain on duty until the votes are counted and they will assist the regular judges and clerks in sorting and counting the ballots after the polls close.

Five ballots will be given each voter. They include the pink ballot, containing proposed amendments to the state Constitution; one white ballot bearing the names of presidential electors and candidates for state offices; one blue ballot, which is the county ballot, bearing the names of the candidates for congress, judge of district court, clerk of district court, probate judge and state representative; two lavender ballots, one containing a proposed ordinance authorizing the sale of waterworks bonds, and another containing eight proposed amendments to the city charter.

Interest Indicated.

Despite the education of voters many women are still seeking information. Leaders say this interest indicates that women at least are trying to vote with their consciences and their intelligence instead of making it a mere routine matter.

Numerous women are still confused about candidates running for office in the state legislature who are listed on the ballots without party affiliation.

She Will Vote for Cox on This Advice

Puzzled as to what she should do when she goes to the polls tomorrow to cast her first vote in a general election, a Duluth young woman, formerly of Kingsley, Iowa, and not very well acquainted here, wrote to a man friend in Kingsley to ask his advice. This man is regarded as one of the most prominent in that part of Iowa, and the Duluth young woman looks upon his advice as valuable, so, as a result, she will vote for Cox. This is what he told her in his letter:

"I am glad to say that I am for the League of Nations. We entered the World war to put an end to war for all time. Through that document, known as the League of Nations Covenant, we may accomplish that purpose. If we do not carry out our promise to the soldiers who fought and died for that cause we are little better than traitors.

"I am for Cox because he stands out boldly for the league and we cannot tell where Harding stands. His own party is divided on that question. They tell us that this is a Wilson league. They are not even willing to give him credit for what he has accomplished during the most trying times a president of this country ever experienced."

First State Meet of Legion Women

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 1.—The first convention of an American Legion woman's auxiliary to be conducted in the United States will be that of the Minnesota auxiliary to take place here in the Curtis hotel Nov. 18 and 19, according to A. H. Vernon, department commander of the American Legion. At the convention each unit will be entitled to three delegates and three alternates and to an additional delegate and alternate for each fifty paid-up members. A joint committee from Minneapolis and St. Paul auxiliaries will provide the entertainment.

WEDDINGS AND ENGAGEMENTS

In the presence of fifty of their friends, Rabbi Tepletz read the marriage service at 5:30 o'clock yesterday for Miss Selma Oreekovsky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Oreckovsky, East Third street, and David B. Pollock. The bride was gowned in white satin and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. Her sister, Mrs. B. Davidson, was her only attendant, and Mr. Pollock had for his best man Max Oreekovsky. After Nov. 15 Mr. and Mrs. Pollock will be at home at 1500 Jefferson street.

THEATERS TO SHOW ELECTION RETURNS ON TUESDAY NIGHT

Election returns will be announced at the Orpheum, New Grand and New Astor theaters tomorrow night. The returns will be received by special wire and announced as soon as obtained.

The Orpheum and New Astor will announce returns up to midnight and at the New Grand up to 11 p. m. At the Orpheum there will be two evening shows, the first beginning at 8 o'clock and the second at 10:30. At the New Astor a special show will be given from 11 to 12 o'clock.

BY JAMES WATTS.

ORPHEUM—The new Orpheum show, which opened for the week yesterday, promises to be one of the most popular of the season, if the reception given on Sunday is an index to its favor during the week. It is a show with a thousand laughs, and in addition, there is some excellent dancing, novelty and music. It is an entertainment that the average audience delights in and therefore it fulfills its mission as a vaudeville bill.

If there is any comedian who has played this end of the Orpheum circuit who is funnier than Jack Wilson, it is Victor Moore, a funmaker who looms up large in Cohanesque comedy and a man who uses brains even in slapstick. In the first place, he has a likeable personality and fine reserve, which prevent one from tiring, and when he leaves the stage one feels as if he has seen and heard something worth while. In other words, he is an artist and never has to ask for applause. Mr. Moore with Emma Littlefield and company appears in an original comedy playlet entitled "Change Your Act or Back to the Woods." He and Miss Littlefield impersonate two players, often called "hams," and they rehearse an act against odds with the "stage hands" making them the butt of many a bitter jest and jibe. The company is well selected throughout and provides one of the most amusing bits of satirical comedy one could wish to see.

Irving Goslar and Rhea Lusby offer "Artistic Bits of Vaudeville" with special songs written by Mr. Goslar. The latter sits at the piano and sings a number of varied songs while Miss Lusby sings and dances very charmingly.

An unusual and very clever novelty turn is presented by Patty Reat and brother with the assistance of twenty l'il bottles. These bottles provide a musical instrument capable of big things in a musical way.

James Swor and Georgia Westbrook in black and tan comedy added much to the funmaking of the day, while Francis Yates and Gus Reed may be rated as comedians and singers of the better sort.

"Hello Husband," a comedy featuring Lulu McGuire and Hamilton Christy, had everybody guessing for a while. It tells of a youthful couple who have eloped and shows a boudoir scene. This is interrupted, however, with a surprise that brings things to an unexpected close. This act is well staged and capably acted.

The Dancing Kennedys, who close the vaudeville, are graceful and clever, but worked under difficulties. The audience started to walk out despite the excellence of the turn. There was no good reason for this walkout. It seemed as if the audience had enjoyed itself to the limit and decided to strike.

ARE YOU A COWARD?

A FRIEND of mine was staying at the same little inn at which I spent some weeks last fall, had a dearly beloved sister who was seriously ill.

News of her condition came by telephone. And whenever the telephone rang, if my friend were near it she would glance toward it apprehensively and watch the clerk anxiously to see if the call was to be for her.

One day I was in her own room with her when a sudden knock came. She turned deadly pale and swayed as she stood up to answer it. It was only the chambermaid to bring some fresh towels. After she had gone, my friend explained, "I was so afraid it was a message from my sister."

"Is that the way every knock effects you?"

"Yes," she said. "Sometimes it seems as if my heart would stop beating altogether."

"That's dreadful," I said. "You must stop it."

"How can I help it?" she said.

Fear a Great Strain on the Heart.

"Wouldn't you think you had to help it if you were doing work that put such a strain on your heart that it almost stopped beating?" I said. "Don't you know that fear like that makes the same drain on your health as work that greatly overtaxes your strength?"

"But how can I help it?" she persisted.

"Cultivate courage," I said.

"Yes," she said, "that's easy enough to say, but I don't believe you could do it any better than I can.

And therewith she dismissed the whole subject.

As if whether I could do it or not had anything to do with the fact that unless she tried to cultivate courage she was menacing her own health!

She can't tell me anything about how hard it is to cultivate courage. I know. And I know, too, just how serious a drain is this kind of cowardice.

We think of cowardice as fear of physical danger and courage as indifference to it, but there are many other forms of courage that play a bigger part in daily life.

The Courage That Refuses to Be Afraid of Life.

And one of these is the courage of the heart, the courage that will not be afraid of life!

I do not see how anyone can live a life which does not give opportunity for fear. If we love anyone there is always the fear that harm will come to them; if we have possessions there is always the chance of loss. The solitary who cares for no one and has no possessions can fear that he will not get his next meal, or fear for his own health. It is impossible to control the conditions of life—the only control that we can exercise is in our reaction to them.

Shall we permit ourselves to have the fear habit or shall we strive for courage?

Courage will make us happier, of course. People have long realized that and they are coming to realize more and more that it will make us healthier.

How to Fight This Cowardice.

The strain that fear puts upon us, even the little gloomy fears, as well as the big heart-catching fears, has a definite physical effect. A courageous attitude, on the other hand, actually helps our digestion, improves our circulation. "Courage," say the life extension people, "is a foe to constipation."

Of course you cannot have courage all in a minute, but you can make up your mind all in a minute to cultivate it. You can promise yourself that the next time fear attacks you—either in the form of a nervous apprehension that the landlord is going to raise your rent or an agonized picturing of dreadful things that might have happened when your husband doesn't get back at the usual hour, or just a spell of the blues—you will straighten up, throw out your chest, smile (these outward manifestations help, "assume a virtue if you have it not") and fight for courage.

ANOTHER DINNER PAIL CHAT.

I was so pleased at the response I received from my readers after the recent publication of my article entitled, "Filling the Dinner Pail," in which I offered to send lists of the main foods (with recipes) which are suitable for the carried lunch for spring and summer and for fall and winter. Hundreds of conscientious wives wrote to me asking for a copy of these lists and the requests are still coming in. This shows how hard the majority of women are trying to fulfill their duty in providing the right kind of food for their loved ones. The two following recipes will be welcomed, I believe, by these splendid women who are trying to put up delicious and nourishing lunches, as these two things taste so good and carry so well in a dinner pail, box, or basket:

Corn Muffins—Sift 1 cup of white bread flour with 3½ teaspoons of baking powder. Add ½ teaspoon salt, 1½ tablespoons of sugar, 1 well-beaten egg (beat it separately, first yoke, then white stiff), ¾ cup of sweet milk, ½ cup of cornmeal 1 tablespoon melted butter. Mix well and pour into muffin tins (this recipe makes 10 muffins). Bake about 25 minutes in a good oven.

Raisin Pie—Make a flaky lower pie crust and strips to put "lattice fashion" across the top of the pie, in the following way: Work ½ cup of lard into 1 heaping cup of white bread flour with the fingers. Add enough water to make a stiff mixture, turn out onto the bread board, sprinkle with flour so that the pastry will not stick to the rolling pin. Cut the dough in half, and roll out one-half as nearly round as possible. Put this round piece into the bottom of a pie plate (never grease a pie tin, as fats in the pie grease it).

Then make the filling in this way: Put into a saucepan 1½ cups of seedless raisins cut in half, 1 cup water, ½ cup sugar, the juice and rind of 1 lemon, and 1 teaspoon of butter. Cook this mixture until the raisins are soft, allowing it to boil hard. Cool it slightly, then turn it into the pastry-lined pie plate. Now roll out the other half of the pastry, cut it into strips, cross these strips over one another on top of the raisin filling of the pie, put into a good oven and let bake about 45 minutes or until the pastry is brown and done through.

As I said before, the lists which I send out upon request deal only with the main foods which are suitable for the carried lunch for all the seasons—for instance, the heavy meats for fall and winter, and the lighter meats and meat substitutes which are suitable for spring and summer.

So the woman who would like recipes for what might be called the "trimmings" of the carried lunch—that is, recipes for pies, cakes, and breads that carry well and are appropriate for a man who is working hard—should watch this column for such recipes. From time to time I shall devote an article to this subject, giving recipes.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkham in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

"TINKER BOB" STORIES

By CARLYSLE H. HOLCOMB

JERRY TRADES SECRETS.

"Thief, thief," cried Jerry the saucy Jay Bird, as he saw Red Fox coming down the path. "I know something you don't know, and I'm not going to tell, either." Red Fox stopped at the sound of Jerry's voice.

"Oh, I know something I won't tell," said Red Fox. "You don't need to think you are the only one that finds things out first. This is a very wonderful thing that I know, and you would like to know it, but I'm not going to tell because you can't keep a secret."

Jerry came down on the lowest limb of the tree as he dared to get, for he was afraid of Red Fox. "Thief, thief, please tell me, Red Fox, what you know, for I will keep a secret if I know anyone wants me to go. Please tell me, Reddy."

Red Fox only shook his head. He knew what Jerry would do, for he had talked with him before. "No, I can't tell you for this is a secret and if it ever got out it would frighten every one in the forest."

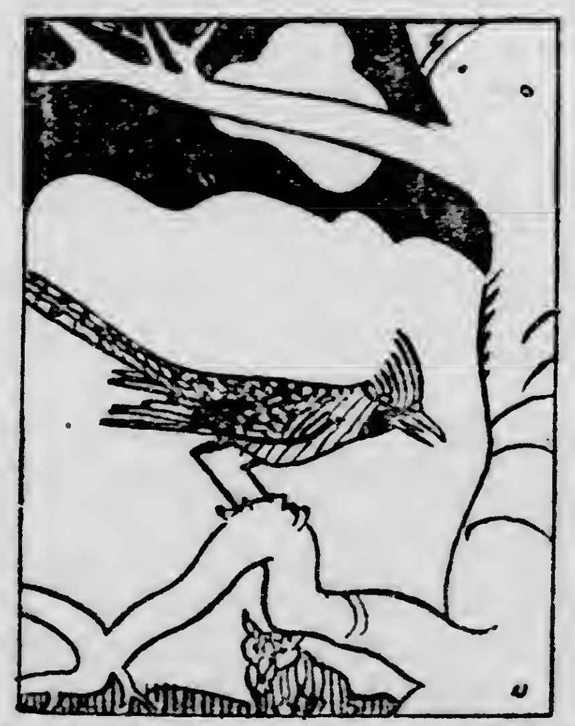
"Thief, thief, do tell me, Reddy," cried Jerry. "Listen, if you will tell me, I will tell you what I know, and this is terrible."

Now Red Fox knew that Jerry would do that very thing and that's just what he was waiting for. "If you will tell me first I'll tell you the secret I know, but you must not tell it to anyone."

Jerry was so anxious to know what Red Fox knew that he was willing to tell his secret first. "Thief, thief," Jerry bent over the limb as far as he dared; "do you know that Mr. Loggerhead the Shrike has done Major Pole Cat harm so that he cannot walk, and he told me to go find him and bring him to the king, for the king wanted to pull all of his feathers out. Now what do you think of that? But you mustn't tell!"

"That isn't half as much a secret as I know. Just listen to this: Do you know that O Possum climbed up the magic cornstalk by the side of the king's palace and ran away with the Moon? Now, what do you think of that? But, remember, you must not tell it to anyone."

Jerry did not wait for any words of advice from Red Fox, but darted away through the forest. He didn't care what Red Fox had said about keeping it a secret, and Red Fox didn't care, for he knew that Jerry would tell it to the first creature he came to. Jerry flew as fast as his wings would carry him. And the strange thing about it all was that he never went to look for Mr. Loggerhead, but went the opposite way.



Jerry came down on the lowest limb of the tree as he dared to get.

Tinker Bob, king of the forest, was sitting quietly by the fireplace watching Jack the Wood Rat play with Mr. Beetle on the floor, when suddenly he was aroused by a rap on the door—Tap, tap, tap, tap. Now, who do you think it was?

THE PRESENT CRISIS

Once to every man and nation comes the moment to decide.
On the strife of truth with falsehood, for the good or evil side,
Some great cause, God's new Messiah offering each the bloom or blight
Parts the goats upon the left hand, and the sheep upon the right,
And the choice goes by forever 'twixt that darkness and that light.

Hast thou chosen, O my people, on whose party thou shalt stand,
Ere the doom from its worn sandals shakes the dust against our land?
Though the cause of evil prosper, yet 'tis truth alone is strong,
And, albeit, she wanders outcast now I see around her throng
Troops of beautiful, tall angels to enshield her from all wrong.

New occasions teach new duties; time makes ancient good uncouth;
They must upward still, and onward, who would keep abreast the truth;
Lo, before us gleam her campfires! We ourselves must Pilgrims be,
Launch our Mayflower, and steer boldly through the desperate winter sea.
Nor attempt the future's portal with the past's blood-rusted key.
—James Russell Lowell.

Halloween predominated in the decorative scheme as well as in the refreshments served at the President's day meeting of the Saturday club, held at the home of Mrs. W. G. La Rue, East Second street, Saturday afternoon. Miss Myra Hammond, the new club president, received with Mrs. La Rue. Mrs. J. L. Washburn gave a short but interesting talk on child welfare work in Minnesota. The next meeting of the Saturday club will be held at the library clubroom Saturday afternoon.

A most successful Halloween party was held Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. M. T. Seymour, 109 West Third street, for her guests, former patrons and their friends. Decorations and favors in keeping with the Halloween season added much to the festivity of the occasion. Dancing and cards furnished entertainment and refreshments were served at midnight. The success of the affair and general good time were due to the efforts of the committee in charge, composed of a large group of the younger guests of the house.

The sale of tickets for the lecture to be given Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock by Miss Patty S. Hill, head of the department of education for younger children and teachers' college at Columbia university, to be presented under the auspices of the Duluth-Superior Kindergarten association, has so far outgrown the expectations of those in charge that it has been necessary to provide a larger auditorium than that of the Y. W. C. A., and arrangements have been made for the use of the auditorium of Central high school. Miss Hill is credited with being one of the best authorities in the country on matters pertaining to the training and education of young children, not only in America, but in all lands.

Two absent-minded seniors of Duluth Central high school, after declaring that it was quite probable that they would neglect to order the Zenith, were taken before a staff of two physicians, four nurses, a score of sorrowing relatives and friends, and submitted to a painful and highly embarrassing situation this morning, when their heads were operated upon and found to contain an arrangement of wheels similar to that of an ordinary tin alarm clock, several pounds of waste, some sawdust, cobwebs, peanut shells and other similar matter. Members of the Zenith board are satisfied after this example that there will be no delinquents among students in placing orders for the school annual.

The operation which was the theme of a clever little sketch written by Wilbur Taylor, member of the Zenith board, provided much merriment among high school boys and girls. The cast included: Absent minded seniors, John Mitchell and Robert Close; master of ceremonies, Kendell McClure; the doctor, Ernest Nethcote; Red Cross nurses, Misses Eleanor Abbott, Helen Holahon, Huldah Halverson and Dorothy Bush; mother of the patient, Miss Ruth Forgy; his sister, Miss Mary McLennan; his brother, Melvin Cooley; sorrowing friends, Misses Mary Wahl, Isabel Hicken and William Hearding, William Barnard and Louis Travers.

WILL PLAY AT MEETING OF MATINEE MUSICALE

MRS. FRANCES BERG OBER.

Mrs. Frances Berg Ober, ever a favorite member among the group of local pianists, will offer an interesting group of three numbers at the biweekly meeting of the Matinee Musicale to be given at the auditorium of the Masonic temple at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, when she will appear on program with Lionel C. Wilson, tenor, late of Boston, and who will doubtless prove a very welcome addition to the musical circles of the city. Others who will take part on the program are Mrs. A. B. Siewert, who will offer a group of organ numbers, and Miss Myrtle Hobbs, soprano, who is to offer a group of four solo numbers. The program was arranged by Miss Eugenie Le Richeaux.

At the Commercial club a special wire has been provided also and returns will be received there during the evening and while guests remain during the night. Dancing will be in order after the regular club dinner hour. At the Elks' club a keno party will be given in connection with dancing. Here, also, a special wire has been leased in order that election returns may be had first hand. Members of the Lions' club have leased the Rose Garden at the Hotel St. Louis, where they will entertain members and their friends at dancing. Special provision has been made to get election returns direct from headquarters.

Numerous women are still confused about candidates running for office in the state legislature who are listed on the ballots without party affiliation.

She Will Vote for Cox on This Advice

Puzzled as to what she should do when she goes to the polls tomorrow to cast her first vote in a general election, a Duluth young woman, formerly of Kingsley, Iowa, and not very well acquainted here, wrote to a man friend in Kingsley to ask his advice. This man is regarded as one of the most prominent in that part of Iowa, and the Duluth young woman looks upon his advice as valuable, so, as a result, she will vote for Cox. This is what he told her in his letter:

"I am glad to say that I am for the League of Nations. We entered the World war to put an end to war for all time. Through that document, known as the League of Nations Covenant, we may accomplish that purpose. If we do not carry out our promise to the soldiers who fought and died for that cause we are little better than traitors.

"I am for Cox because he stands out boldly for the league and we cannot tell where Harding stands. His own party is divided on that question. They tell us that this is a Wilson league. They are not even willing to give him credit for what he has accomplished during the most trying times a president of this country ever experienced."

First State Meet of Legion Women

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 1.—The first convention of an American Legion woman's auxiliary to be conducted in the United States will be that of the Minnesota auxiliary to take place here in the Curtis hotel Nov. 18 and 19, according to A. H. Vernon, department commander of the American Legion. At the convention each unit will be entitled to three delegates and three alternates and to an additional delegate and alternate for each fifty paid-up members. A joint committee from Minneapolis and St. Paul auxiliaries will provide the entertainment.

WEDDINGS AND ENGAGEMENTS

In the presence of fifty of their friends, Rabbi Tepletz read the marriage service at 5:30 o'clock yesterday for Miss Selma Oreckovsky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Oreckovsky, East Third street, and David B. Pollock. The bride was gowned in white satin and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. Her sister, Mrs. B. Davidson, was her only attendant, and Mr. Pollock had for his best man Max Oreckovsky. After Nov. 15 Mr. and Mrs. Pollock will be at home at 1500 Jefferson street.

THEATERS TO SHOW ELECTION RETURNS ON TUESDAY NIGHT

Election returns will be announced at the Orpheum, New Grand and New Astor theaters tomorrow night. The returns will be received by special wire and announced as soon as obtained.

The Orpheum and New Astor will announce returns up to midnight and at the New Grand up to 11 p. m. At the Orpheum there will be two evening shows, the first beginning at 8 o'clock and the second at 10:30. At the New Astor a special show will be given from 11 to 12 o'clock.

BY JAMES WATTS.

ORPHEUM—The new Orpheum show, which opened for the week yesterday, promises to be one of the most popular of the season, if the reception given on Sunday is an index to its favor during the week. It is a show with a thousand laughs, and in addition, there is some excellent dancing, novelty and music. It is an entertainment that the average audience delights in and therefore it fulfills its mission as a vaudeville bill.

If there is any comedian who has played this end of the Orpheum circuit who is funnier than Jack Wilson, it is Victor Moore, a funmaker who looms up large in Cohanesque comedy and a man who uses brains even in slapstick. In the first place, he has a likeable personality and fine reserve, which prevent one from tiring, and when he leaves the stage one feels as if he has seen and heard something worth while. In other words, he is an artist and never has to ask for applause. Mr. Moore with Emma Littlefield and company appears in an original comedy playlet entitled "Change Your Act or Back to the Woods." He and Miss Littlefield impersonate two players, often called "hams," and they rehearse an act against odds with the "stage hands" making them the butt of many a bitter jest and jibe. The company is well selected throughout and provides one of the most amusing bits of satirical comedy one could wish to see.

Irving Goslar and Rhea Lusby offer "Artistic Bits of Vaudeville" with special songs written by Mr. Goslar. The latter sits at the piano and sings a number of varied songs while Miss Lusby sings and dances very charmingly.

An unusual and very clever novelty turn is presented by Patty Reat and brother with the assistance of twenty Pil bottles. These bottles provide a musical instrument capable of big things in a musical way.

James Swor and Georgia Westbrook in black and tan comedy added much to the funmaking of the day, while Francis Yates and Gus Reed may be rated as comedians and singers of the better sort.

"Hello Husband," a comedy featuring Lulu McGaire and Hamilton Christy, had everybody guessing for a while. It tells of a youthful couple who have eloped and shows a boudoir scene. This is interrupted, however, with a surprise that brings things to an unexpected close. This act is well staged and capably acted.

The Dancing Kennedys, who close the vaudeville, are graceful and clever, but worked under difficulties. The audience started to walk out despite the excellence of the turn. There was no good reason for this walkout. It seemed as if the audience had enjoyed itself to the limit and decided to strike.

ARE YOU A COWARD?

A FRIEND of mine was staying at the same little inn at which I spent some weeks last fall, had a dearly beloved sister who was seriously ill.

News of her condition came by telephone. And whenever the telephone rang, if my friend were near it she would glance toward it apprehensively and watch the clerk anxiously to see if the call was to be for her.

One day I was in her own room with her when a sudden knock came. She turned deadly pale and swayed as she stood up to answer it. It was only the chambermaid to bring some fresh towels. After she had gone, my friend explained, "I was so afraid it was a message from my sister."

"Is that the way every knock effects you?"

"Yes," she said. "Sometimes it seems as if my heart would stop beating altogether."

"That's dreadful," I said. "You must stop it."

How can I help it?" she said.

Fear a Great Strain on the Heart.

"Wouldn't you think you had to help it if you were doing work that put such a strain on your heart that it almost stopped beating?" I said. "Don't you know that fear like that makes the same drain on your health as work that greatly overtaxes your strength?"

"But how can I help it?" she persisted.

"Cultivate courage," I said.

"Yes," she said, "that's easy enough to say, but I don't believe you could do it any better than I can.

And therewith she dismissed the whole subject.

As if whether I could do it or not had anything to do with the fact that unless she tried to cultivate courage she was menacing her own health!

She can't tell me anything about how hard it is to cultivate courage, I know. And I know, too, just how serious a drain is this kind of cowardice.

We think of cowardice as fear of physical danger and courage as indifference to it, but there are many other forms of courage that play a bigger part in daily life.

The Courage That Refuses to Be Afraid of Life.

And one of these is the courage of the heart, the courage that will not be afraid of life!

I do not see how anyone can live a life which does not give opportunity for fear. If we love anyone there is always the fear that harm will come to them; if we have possessions there is always the chance of loss. The solitary who cares for no one and has no possessions can fear that he will not get his next meal, or fear for his own health. It is impossible to control the conditions of life—the only control that we can exercise is in our reaction to them.

Shall we permit ourselves to have the fear habit or shall we strive for courage?

Courage will make us happier, of course. People have long realized that and they are coming to realize more and more that it will make us healthier.

How to Fight This Cowardice.

The strain that fear puts upon us, even the little gloomy fears, as well as the big heart-catching fears, has a definite physical effect. A courageous attitude, on the other hand, actually helps our digestion, improves our circulation. "Courage," say the life extension people, "is a foe to constipation."

Of course you cannot have courage all in a minute, but you can make up your mind all in a minute to cultivate it. You can promise yourself that the next time fear attacks you—either in the form of a nervous apprehension that the landlord is going to raise your rent or an agonized picturing of dreadful things that might have happened when your husband doesn't get back at the usual hour, or just a spell of the blues—you will straighten up, throw out your chest, smile (these outward manifestations help, "assume a virtue if you have it not") and fight for courage.

ANOTHER DINNER PAIL CHAT.

I was so pleased at the response I received from my readers after the recent publication of my article entitled, "Filling the Dinner Pail," in which I offered to send lists of the main foods (with recipes) which are suitable for the carried lunch for spring and summer and for fall and winter. Hundreds of conscientious wives wrote to me asking for a copy of these lists and the requests are still coming in. This shows how hard the majority of women are trying to fulfill their duty in providing the right kind of food for their loved ones. The two following recipes will be welcomed, I believe, by these splendid women who are trying to put up delicious and nourishing lunches, as these two things taste so good and carry so well in a dinner pail, box, or basket:

Corn Muffins—Sift 1 cup of white bread flour with 3½ teaspoons of baking powder. Add ½ teaspoon salt, 1½ tablespoons of sugar, 1 well-beaten egg (beat it separately, first yoke, then white stiff), ¾ cup of sweet milk, ½ cup of cornmeal 1 tablespoon melted butter. Mix well and pour into muffin tins (this recipe makes 10 muffins). Bake about 25 minutes in a good oven.

Raisin Pie—Make a flaky lower pie crust and strips to put "lattice fashion" across the top of the pie, in the following way: Work ½ cup of lard into 1 heaping cup of white bread flour with the fingers. Add enough water to make a stiff mixture, turn out onto the bread board, sprinkle with flour so that the pastry will not stick to the rolling pin. Cut the dough in half, and roll out one-half as nearly round as possible. Put this round piece into the bottom of a pie plate (never grease a pie tin, as fats in the pie grease it).

Then make the filling in this way: Put into a saucepan 1½ cups of seedless raisins cut in half, 1 cup water, ½ cup sugar, the juice and rind of 1 lemon, and 1 teaspoon of butter. Cook this mixture until the raisins are soft, allowing it to boil hard. Cool it slightly, then turn it into the pastry-lined pie plate. Now roll out the other half of the pastry, cut it into strips, cross these strips over one another on top of the raisin filling of the pie, put into a good oven and let bake about 45 minutes or until the pastry is brown and done through.

As I said before, the lists which I send out upon request deal only with the main foods which are suitable for the carried lunch for all the seasons—for instance, the heavy meats for fall and winter, and the lighter meats and meat substitutes which are suitable for spring and summer.

So the woman who would like recipes for what might be called the "trimmings" of the carried lunch—that is, recipes for pies, cakes, and breads that carry well and are appropriate for a man who is working hard—should watch this column for such recipes. From time to time I shall devote an article to this subject, giving recipes.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkham in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

"TINKER BOB" STORIES

By CARLYSLE H. HOLCOMB

JERRY TRADES SECRETS.

"Thief, thief," cried Jerry the saucy Jay Bird, as he saw Red Fox coming down the path. "I know something you don't know, and I'm not going to tell, either." Red Fox stopped at the sound of Jerry's voice.

"Oh, I know something I won't tell," said Red Fox. "You don't need to think you are the only one that finds things out first. This is a very wonderful thing that I know, and you would like to know it, but I'm not going to tell because you can't keep a secret."

Jerry came down on the lowest limb of the tree as he dared to get, for he was afraid of Red Fox. "Thief, thief, please tell me, Red Fox, what you know, for I will keep a secret if I know anyone wants me to go. Please tell me, Reddy."

Red Fox only shook his head. He knew what Jerry would do, for he had talked with him before. "No, I can't tell you for this is a secret and if it ever got out it would frighten every one in the forest."

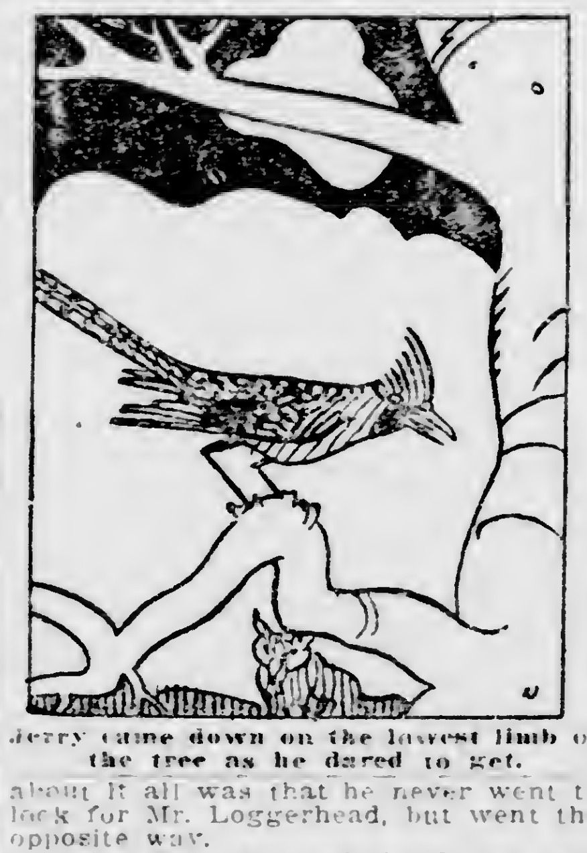
"Thief, thief, do tell me, Reddy," cried Jerry. "Listen, if you will tell me, I will tell you what I know, and this is terrible."

Now Red Fox knew that Jerry would do that very thing and that's just what he was waiting for. "If you will tell me first I'll tell you the secret I know, but you must not tell it to anyone."

Jerry was so anxious to know what Red Fox knew that he was willing to tell his secret first. "Thief, thief," Jerry bent over the limb as far as he dared; "do you know that Mr. Loggerhead the Shrike has done Major Pole Cat harm so that he cannot walk, and he told me to go find him and bring him to the king, for the king wanted to pull all of his feathers out. Now what do you think of that? But you mustn't tell!"

"That isn't half as much a secret as I know. Just listen to this: Do you know that O Possum climbed up the magic cornstalk by the side of the king's palace and ran away with the Moon? Now, what do you think of that? But, remember, you must not tell it to anyone."

Jerry did not wait for any words of advice from Red Fox, but darted away through the forest. He didn't care what Red Fox had said about keeping it a secret, and Red Fox didn't care, for he knew that Jerry would tell it to the first creature he came to. Jerry flew as fast as his wings would carry him. And the strange thing about it all was that he never went to look for Mr. Loggerhead, but went the opposite way.



Jerry came down on the lowest limb of the tree as he dared to get.

Tinker Bob, king of the forest, was sitting quietly by the fireplace watching Jack the Wood Rat play with Mr. Beetle on the floor, when suddenly he was aroused by a rap on the door—Tap, tap, tap, tap. Now, who do you think it was?

Frozen Fruit Salad

- 20 dried apricot halves
- 1 banana
- ¼ cup maraschino cherries
- ½ box Campfire Marshmallows
- ¼ cup pineapple juice
- 6 slices pineapple
- 4 teaspoons maraschino syrup
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- ¾ cup heavy cream
- ⅓ cup mayonnaise dressing
- ¼ teaspoon salt

Soak apricots in cold water to cover until soft. Remove skins and cut in pieces. Add banana cut in dice, cherries, pineapple, Campfire Marshmallows cut in small pieces, and the fruit juices and maraschino syrup. Beat cream until stiff, add mayonnaise dressing and salt and mix gently with the fruit. Freeze like ice cream and serve on a bed of lettuce leaves. This may take the place of both salad and dessert.

NEW GRAND—You never can guess a vaudeville audience. But whenever a group of harmony singers appear at the New Grand, it's just about certain that they will be given a hearty reception. This is true in the case of the Royal Harmony Five, who headline the bill for the first half of the week.

These singers, all of whom have big, well trained voices, offer gems from grand opera in Italian and also one or two light ballads. The stage settings and costumes are bright and attractive, making the act one of unusual interest.

Robb and Whitman, billed as juveniles, appear as school kids, and they had their audiences chuckling and laughing. The act abounds in juvenile comedy and some very attractive song numbers are introduced.

When Frear, Daggett and Frear come upon the stage, one gets the impression he is to see a baseball game. But it is only their clever way of introducing an athletic turn. Baseball bats, hats and other gymnasium apparatus are used and considerable good comedy is injected at timely intervals.

The Esther Trio, two girls and a young man, open with a nifty acrobatic act, both clever and skillful.

Hawthorne and Cook, two breezy fellows, perform without rhyme or reason, but their nonsense is put over with a punch.

The picture bill is varied and attractive. There is another episode of "The Third Eye," news of the world cartoons, comedies and flickertails.

Sousa's Band Different.

The name of Lieut. John Philip Sousa is a household word, and he has certainly done more to educate the great masses in music than any other living man. Sousa's band music is different from other band music because Sousa's instrumentation is more elaborate than that of any other band, and his resources for producing effects are much more elaborate than is usual with either bands or orchestras.

When he appears here next Saturday, Nov. 6, for matinee and night, he will bring his great organization which is bigger and better than ever before. Mrs. Stephen H. Jones, who is responsible for his appearance here, promises the children of Duluth an opportunity never before offered to children in America.

Symphony Concert.

One of the most delightful features of the "Peer Gynt" production, in which Richard Mansfield appeared a few years ago, was the rendering of Solvejg's song. This wonderful bit of music as given at the close of the Ibsen play stood out as one of the gems of art. Yesterday the New Garrick Symphony orchestra at its afternoon concert rendered the "Peer Gynt" suite with such feeling and such fine interpretation that it will stand out as one of the best things ever done by this splendid group of musicians. In addition to this suite there was a varied list of musical gems, all of which were greatly enjoyed by the large audience.

The "Peer Gynt" suite comprised "Abduction of the Bride," "Arabian Dance," "Storm at Sea" and Solvejg's Song. No one who is not familiar with Ibsen's great poetic drama, "Peer Gynt," can appreciate the delicate shadings and blending of emotions in the "Peer Gynt" suite as the music is fitted to the poetic figure of this famous character of Ibsen, the Norwegian dramatist and poet. Much credit should be given to Charles Helmer and his musicians for their capable interpretation of this weird and beautiful suite.

Conductor Helmer had selected something to suite all tastes and the remainder of the program was equally enjoyable. There was the beautiful serenade by Albeniz, "Midsummer Night;" a new fox trot, "Whispering," and "Clarice" by Loud, and other tuneful and diverting numbers.

PHOTOPLAYS

NEW GARRICK—Pauline Frederick in "Madame X."
STRAND—"Humoresque" with Alma Rubens.
ZELDA—Tom Mix in "The Untamed."
NEW LYRIC—Bert Lytell in "The Price of Redemption."

NEW GARRICK—An incomparable program! No term less laudatory could fairly describe the combination bill, which yesterday alternately moved to tears and then to laughter the members of the large audiences to which Pauline Frederick in "Madame X" and Harold Lloyd in "High and Dizzy" were shown. The two pictures are the features of a program scheduled for all week at the New Garrick, and it is nothing more than an admission of real worth to say it is doubtful if a better drama than the one or a better comedy than the other has ever been offered Duluthians. As a picturization of the undying sway of mother-love, "Madame X" is at the top, and great and strong as it was as a stage production, the filmization has made it even more appealing. Miss Frederick, always artistic and one of the best of the present day emotional stars, displays great talent. The story is of a wife, unjustly suspected of unfaithfulness and driven from home to drop to the very dregs of life, to return twenty years after, and committing a murder to save those she loved, finds her own son her defender.

NEW LYRIC—It is a truly colorful melodrama that brings Bert Lytell back to the New Lyric screen, a story of India and of London titled, "The Price of Redemption." A story of army life in India is certain to be crammed with action, and this picture based on I. A. R. Wylie's big story, "The Temple of Dawn," makes action rampant. Founded upon the redemption of a man forced down to the gutter after he has assumed a stigma to save another, the story has been so illuminated with incident and climax that many will say it is the best thing which Bert Lytell has ever done. There are many thrills, among the biggest of which is the rescue of a garrison besieged by Indian rebels, with the star in the role of the hero, a British officer. "Shuffle the Queens," a Christie comedy special, is an added attraction, and a dandy laugh-getter. There are other entertaining short subjects. The program will remain up to and including tomorrow night.

NEW ASTOR—"The Son of Tarzan," a sequel to "Tarzan of the Apes" and "The Revenge of Tarzan," and not only the very latest of the series of stories by Edgar Rice Burroughs, but claimed by critics to be the most unusual and most exciting, is coming to the New Astor tomorrow. On the same program will be William S. Hart in "The Devil's Double," but despite the quality of the bill the usual popular prices will prevail. Gordon Griffith, who was young Tarzan in "Tarzan of the Apes," returns as the "Son of Tarzan" as a boy. Thrills of jungle life and combats of wild beasts, with a romance never touched by the other Tarzan stories are said to be reached in this, which is a picture for old and young alike. Today for the last times Douglas Fairbanks is appearing in "His Picture in the Papers."

ZELDA—One of the strangest companionships known in popular literature forms the basis of the story of "The Untamed," a Tom Mix Western which was made by William Fox, and which is the attraction at the Zelda theater. A remarkable trio, bound together by their primitive instincts, include an eerie though lovable sort of superman, a fiery stallion and a demon dog. Because of their isolation from others of their kind by barriers of their own unusual traits, these three find companionship in one another. Pauline Starke, an appealing little leading woman, plays opposite the star. The "bad man" part is in the hands of George Seigmann, one of the best known of screen villains.

STRAND—There's just one reason why "Humoresque," which opened yesterday to the most enthusiastic audiences the Strand has ever had the pleasure to offer a photoplay, takes its place among the big pictures of the day. It is a great picture because it is a human picture. It brushes away the superfluities and goes straight to the heart. You're surprised at the smile on your face, but smile you do. The wetness on your face is a tear. You didn't know you were crying. That's "Humoresque"—humor and pathos with a mother-love that is wonderful. A picture with a greater appeal has never been made. It is a picture all Duluth will want to see, not once but many times. Vera Gordon as the mother will be remembered for a long time. The entire cast is, indeed, a fine one.

GOOD MONTH FOR COURT

Fines and Forfeited Bail Net Large Sum in October.

October was a profitable month for the Duluth police court, according to a report of receipts given out this morning by Ed A. Thompson, clerk of court. Receipts totaled $6,843.50, an increase of $2,834.50 over the receipts of October, 1919.

Both the uptown court and the West Duluth branch court took in more money for the city in fines and forfeitures last month than during the same month a year ago. The West Duluth totals were $1,727 for last month and $589.50 for October, 1919. The total for the Duluth court last month was $5,116.50 and in October, 1919, it was $3,419.44.

All records for a single day's receipts were broken on Oct. 11. On that date the uptown court took in $856.50, while at West Duluth the sum taken was $510, making a total for the day of $1,366.50. Court officials say that in the palmiest days of the court in former years receipts never touched such an enormous figure.

CLEARS WAY FOR NEW UTILITIES BUILDING

With the introduction of an ordinance at the council meeting this afternoon, authorizing the letting of the contract for the plumbing and electrical work on the new water and light department building, the last opposition to the building will be overcome and the work will go forward at once, according to P. G. Phillips, commissioner of utilities. The contract for the construction of the building was let some time ago, but was held up through opposition by other members of the council. Their attitude changed when they were shown the need of the new building at once. It will be located on the lower side of West First street, between Fourth and Fifth avenues.

The council also considered a new ordinance to license all plumbers. This ordinance was introduced by Commissioner Farrell, who in explaining his action said the city had a plumbers' ordinance previous to the adoption of the building code, but this had become inoperative. The new ordinance will provide a fee for all plumbers in addition to having their work inspected by the city plumbing department.

A notice of a claim against the city was filed by Archie Castonia for $155.75 for damages which he claims was received to his automobile when he crossed the bridge which connects Chester parkway and Oakland avenue. In addition to damaging his automobile, he also claims damages as a result of having to dump his load of coal.

FOR PEACE, VOTE FOR COX.

"I think," says Elihu Root, "that the American objections (to the League of Nations) can be met and obviated without interfering with the scheme of the League or impairing its usefulness."

Governor Cox is pledged, with all his strength and sincerity, to accomplish precisely that end.

Where is a single word from Senator Harding pledging himself even to attempt doing what Mr. Root says can be done?

On the other hand there are many words from him that pledge him to do the contrary thing—to "scrap" the League of Nations—even to the extent of promising NOT to send the treaty and the Covenant to the senate for its action if he is elected.

For those who are for the League of Nations, with whatever honest and sincere reservations, there is but one choice: Governor Cox, the friend and advocate of the League, and not Senator Harding, the opponent, the critic and the enemy of the League, and the choice of every one of its bitterest enemies.

WHY CHANGE?

To stem the rapidly rising tide of public sentiment for the League of Nations and Governor Cox, the effort to bewilder the people by harping on the fiction of "Democratic incompetence" is being frantically renewed.

Here is the complete answer to that, from the Ohio State Journal, a Republican newspaper:

> One needs to read the stories of the desperate plight of millions of people in European countries to get a right view of the happy conditions that surround the people of the United States. This country has foodstuffs in quantities almost unlimited, and with prices tending downward. One-third of the people of the war-stricken lands abroad are on bread rations, so Herbert Hoover has made public. Here there are money, medical skill and supplies to meet any sudden need. Abroad there is lack of funds, lack of adequate medical skill and supplies.
> Here there is employment at the best compensation in the history of the country, so those who face war prices may yet fight their way to victory and care abundantly for those dependent upon them. Abroad money is scarce, labor opportunities meager in most places, while in soviet Russia labor has been nationalized, men and women being sent where some government agency decides, paid what governmental officials fix, and what they may earn, what they may eat, what they may purchase or wear, all are dictated by soviet officials.
> Economically, there is no land in the world that has conditions comparable to those in this country. We have abundant justification for being the happiest people on earth. We have conditions that vex and annoy, but they are curable, and they are minor, not major conditions. It takes a view of European troubles to show us, relatively, how happy is our condition.

Why change?

THE FORGOTTEN HALF OF ARTICLE X.

> The members of the League undertake to RESPECT and preserve as against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the League. In case of any such aggression or in case of any threat or danger of such aggression the council shall advise upon the means by which this obligation shall be fulfilled.—Article X of the Covenant of the League of Nations.

Virtually all of the discussion of Article X has related to but one feature, the obligation to "preserve" the integrity and independence of League members.

Hardly anybody has talked of the other and more important factor in Article X; the pledge which every member takes to RESPECT the integrity and independence of League members.

Article X is exactly what the president declared it to be in his masterly argument to the pro-League Republicans last week, "the specific pledge of the members of the league that they will unite to resist exactly the things which Germany attempted, no matter who attempts them in the future." It IS that, and that is a primary essential of any league or association for peace. Any league or association that lacks it is not worth the paper its Covenant is written upon. But it is far more than that.

> I don't believe in his heart President Wilson regrets his wounds. I fancy he realizes that no man could die in a greater cause. But I do sometimes wonder if it ever seems to him strange that when a man has been seriously wounded in his country's service, he should be met with sneers and calumnies from his countrymen.
> —Joseph P. Tumulty, private secretary to the President.

There is danger that people will overlook the vitally important fact that by joining the League of Nations more than forty countries have solemnly bound themselves never again to commit that pillage of territory which is the seed of all great wars.

Mr. Harding, when Borah and Johnson and Hearst are not listening, seems willing to leave the impression with friends of the League of Nations that he is for "an association" of nations without an Article X.

That is, he aims to lead America into an alliance with nations that are NOT pledged to refrain from that species of international burglary that caused the great war and all great wars!

Who, with sound mind and eyes open, will follow him into such a trap?

THE League of Nations, with its Article X to bind all nations not to commit the international burglary that makes war, is the only safe road to peace.

A vote for Cox is a vote for the League of Nations and organized world peace.

THE HERALD'S ELECTION SERVICE.

As usual, The Herald will provide the returns from the election promptly, correctly and completely.

Every possible provision for collecting the returns rapidly and accurately have been made.

Tomorrow night the returns from the national and state election as they come in over the Associated Press and special wires will be flashed on a screen across First street from The Herald building, and everybody is invited to take advantage of this free display.

Wednesday's editions of The Herald will provide the general, state and local returns as rapidly as they are available, and —again as usual—the first complete and authentic returns will be found in The Herald.

DON'T FORGET AMENDMENT NO. 1

No voter should take it for granted, because everybody around him seems to be for Amendment No. 1, that the victory is won and this new charter of freedom from mud and bad roads is already ratified.

On the contrary, it needs every last vote, because failure to vote counts precisely the same as a vote against it, and many will fail to vote on it—more than will vote against it.

So no voter, whatever he may do on other issues, should forget to vote for Amendment No. 1 on the pink ballot; for without this amendment good roads for Minnesota are IMPOSSIBLE.

Not only that, but unless this amendment is ratified Minnesota cannot get its full share of Federal aid for building its roads.

Not only that, but unless Amendment No. 1 is ratified by the state, St. Louis county taxpayers will have to pay for seven million dollars' worth of roads to which they are committed by a project that anticipated the ratification of the amendment.

Amendment No. 1 provides a way to build seven thousand miles of good roads without costing anybody a cent. The expense is to be met out of license fees on motor vehicles, and the owners of the motor vehicles will save more than the additional expense by the lessened cost of upkeep that will result.

Amendment No. 1 lifts from the counties the burden of maintaining all state roads, thus leaving their resources free to develop other local roads.

Whatever you do, don't fail to vote "Yes" on Amendment No. 1.

BEWARE THE ENEMIES OF PEACE.

Dr. Charles W. Eliot in an address the other day to the students of Harvard scathingly analyzed, exposed and arraigned the hypocrisy of the recent statement of thirty-one eminent Republicans, headed by Elihu Root, advocating the election of Senator Harding. He showed that by omitting and ignoring the essential facts—for instance, about Article X—they had made a case against the Paris Covenant which falls to the ground when these facts are made clear.

And at the close of his penetrating and convincing reply to the Republican Brahmins who, in hypocritical masquerade as friends of peace and the League of Nations, advocate the election of a man who is the willing tool of every bitter enemy of peace and the League, Dr. Eliot left this thought, which every voter should carry with him to the polls:

> The conclusion of the statement of the thirty-one eminent Republicans contains the attractive phrase, "advance the cause of international cooperation to promote peace."
> Where does that noble idea come from? From the preamble of the League of Nations Covenant!
> If the new voter or the doubtful voter who loves the real America as he loves his mother or his wife will take into his mind and heart that preamble to the League Covenant, he will not vote to place the control of the government of the United States in the hands of the apostate senators who defeated ratification.

How to Reach Some People

Buffalo Express: If Irving Berlin would only set it to music, doubtless a lot of us would get better acquainted with Article X.

Mr. Taft and the League

Editorial in the Baltimore Sun.

Most individuals with healthy human feelings will sympathize with Mr. Taft. Through the Republican party he received the highest office within the gift of the American people. He naturally feels grateful to that party. He cannot bring himself to vote against it or to refuse to give it his support. Col. Roosevelt, who was sui generis, could do such a thing, but he cannot. Therefore he is for Harding and he tries to justify his position as best he may.

But he believes the League of Nations the greatest issue before the American people. He knows that it is a practicable method proposed for the attainment of that splendid object. His original preference was for the ratification of the league Covenant as it came from Paris, unaltered. Failing that, he was willing to accept reservations that did not nullify the purposes of the organization.

In other words, his stand on the league is precisely that of Governor Cox. It is diametrically opposed to that of Senator Harding. Yet his sense of obligation to the Republican party is such that he is constrained to support the man whose views he abhors and to oppose the man with whose views on the greatest question before the people he is in complete sympathy.

Mr. Taft must settle with his own conscience the question of his attitude in this campaign. He is the only judge of his duty. But we should like to point out that the considerations affecting his decision do not apply to the rank and file of the Republican voters of the country, not to mention the independent voters. They are under no personal debt of gratitude to the party. Mr. Marburg, Herbert Parsons, President Emeritus Eliot of Harvard, Prof. Fisher, and a host of other Republicans and independents who appreciate the tremendous importance of the league issue have frankly recognized this and are supporting Governor Cox. The logic which has dictated their course must appeal to millions of other friends of the league. Mr. Taft may cast his personal vote as he will, but he cannot carry with him those who believe as he does about the League of Nations.

How It Will Be Told

Life: Returning travelers report that folks in Europe have pretty generally forgotten that the A. E. F. ever came over there.

That's quite natural and all right. The sentiment of enthusiasm in Europe for the United States was necessarily unstable, and its early passing should not be regretted.

It is a pity we should have slumped so in the reorganization of the world, but it was quite hopeless to try to live up to the reputation our armies had won for us on Armistice day, and the sooner our reputation was adjusted to our merits and means the better.

History will take care of us. It will say that the United States did magnificently in the great war what was asked of it; that afterwards Lodge, inheriting the virulent T. R. jealousy of Wilson's accomplishment, was able with the help of Johnson and Borah to destroy for a time the Democratic leadership and suspend proceedings. But that by too liberal use of the said J. and B., he destroyed his own party's prospects and lost the election; whereupon the usefulness of the United States to Europe revived, and it was recalled again in France, and even in England, that American armies had turned up there opportunely in the year 1918.

When Silence Is Golden

Philadelphia Record: For nearly six years Senator Harding has been a member of the United States senate, where he had opportunity to demonstrate his capacity for public service.

We have not seen a single article in any newspaper supporting Harding for the presidency in which his senate record was cited as evidence of his fitness for the office of chief executive.

Why?

Boies Penrose has been a United States sneator for nearly twenty-four years.

We have not seen a single article in any newspaper supporting his candidacy for reelection in which his senate record is cited as evidence of his fitness for re-election.

Why?

"Ye shall know them by their fruits." There is wisdom in the studied silence of the Republican press with regard to the recodrs of Senators Harding and Penrose.

Imported Scotch

Robert C. Benchley in Life: "Don't Tell" (Nora Bayes theater) is one of those plays after which you find yourself thinking in Scotch dialect and talking to the taxi driver as if you thought you were Harry Lauder. It is Scotch. There is no denying that. By the author of "Bunty Pulls the Strings," and acted by an imported case of Scotch actors, the audience may be said to be full of hoot by the final curtain.

Aside from the dialect, "Don't Tell" isn't particularly distinctive. It is a pleasant play and clean, which, of course, is something, but might just as well have been written in Irish brogue. It wasn't, however: so there's something for which the irritable playgoer may be thankful.

The Consumer

I'm the Ultimate Consumer, and my eyes are full of tears, for I've carried all the burdens of the world a thousand years, and I'm doomed to pack those burdens till this planet is no more, so my eyes are full of sorrow, and my heart is sick and sore. I've a right to groan and grumble and deplore my many ills, for I'm paying all the taxes, and I'm footing all the bills; to defray the world's expenses I am always sweating blood; I'm the Ultimate Consumer, and my given name is Mud. Oh, the farmer gets a rakeoff when he sells a load of wheat, and the miller, white and dusty, gets a rakeoff and repeat, and the jobber gets a rakeoff when he sells a sack of flour, and the dealer gets a rakeoff, or you'd see him looking sour; and the Ultimate Consumer, when he buys a dinky sack, has to pay these divers rakeoffs, when pink pains run up his back. And they tax the woolens maker, who in commerce cuts a swath, and he hands along the taxes to the gent who buys his cloth, and this gent just hands the taxes to the fellow lower down, till they reach the busy tailor in our little country town. And the Ultimate Consumer pays the taxes in the end, when he buys a suit of raiment with a stylish Grecian Bend. I'm the Ultimate Consumer, and I sound a plaintive note; I'm the guy who pays the fiddler; I'm the universal goat.

To a New Voter

From the New York Evening Post.

When you cast your first ballot next Tuesday you may be, in age, only 21 or may be 60. You may be grandson or grandmother. But in either case you are fortunate in the circumstances of your entrance upon active citizenship. Your opportunity and your responsibility are greater than those faced by any generation of first voters since 1864. Your first vote can be made more than a choice between parties. You have the choice of voting for or against a great cause.

You are free from the ties of party; and I use party in no invidious sense. The party system is an essential feature of our democracy. It has been justified by our experience as a nation. Adherence to party even in the face of strong temporary provocation may be justified by the larger good that comes from a sustained party tradition. But it is all a matter of degree. There comes a time, as there have been times in our national history when the claims of party have yielded to the higher law of personal judgment and conscience. The present is such a time.

You have read all over the country Republican voters are breaking away from their party candidate. Do you imagine it is easy for men to disrupt the political associations of a lifetime, to incur, perhaps, the charge of treason, to abandon much good that may still inhere for them in the organization they have left? It is not easy. But if such men feel the call of a great cause to be stronger than the ties of party, how much more strongly ought the appeal of that cause be to you, whose first choice is still to be made?

Why are men deserting Harding? Because they find it impossible to forget. They cannot forget what has happened to the world during the last six years and what has happened in this country during the last six years. They cannot forget the agony of Europe. They cannot forget the deep pity and the high resolves which that agony stirred in the hearts of the American people.

Out of a great agony there was born a great hope. That hope was of a world cooperating to prevent another world tragedy, to forestall another blood-letting of civilization such as civilization could not survive. And in this great work of peace it was the hope of Americans that America would take the lead. Why? Because America is the most powerful of the nations, the most disinterested, the most immune against the passions which brought about the World war, the one nation predestined to be the leader in the great work of reconciliation.

That great hope for the world and for America is now bedimmed.

Why?

Because people have grown tired. Because they want to forget. That is the basic reason —not politics, not partisanship, though they have helped. People are tired. They want to forget. They want to go back to their business and their work.

Men have tired of the lessons of the war because they have their work to do, their families to provide for, their normal life to reconstruct. They have no time for much else.

But how is it with you, the boys of yesterday, and the women, upon whom the daily grind of the economic machine does not bear so heavily or bears down not at all? Why should you be too busy to remember? Why should you be so anxious to forget? And I cannot see how you can find it so easy to forget. To you who were boys yesterday and to you who are women the war came home more intimately than to the men of America; for you had more time to think and feel than your men. To you, the first voter of 21, the war may have come home in your own flesh or in the flesh of your comrades. To you, the women, the war may have come home intimately through the flesh of your sons or your grandsons.

You have not the same excuse for feeling tired that your husbands and fathers may have. And you have had every person to feel the great agony and the great hope more sharply than they have felt. More than any other body of voters, it is to you, the first voters of 21 or 60.

> To you, from falling hands we throw
> The torch; be yours to hold it high.
> If ye break faith with us who die
> We shall not sleep, though poppies > grow
> In Flanders Field.

Stand Up and Be Counted

Ralph Barton Perry of Harvard in the New York Evening Post: Whoever wins the election, Governor Cox and his supporters are clearly winning the argument. There are, as usual, many issues; but there is doubt in many minds as to the grounds on which one should vote. This confusion of mind has gone to such lengths that many honest friends of the league have adopted the grotesque idea of seeking to promote the league by voting for the party and the candidate that have declared against it. They argue that there is a better chance of securing our entrance into the league under a Republican than under a Democratic administration; whereas the best chance of securing our entrance into the league under any administration is to secure a strong and consolidated expression of opinion in its favor. Governor Cox has made that possible by declaring unequivocally for our "going in."

There are pro-league and anti-league men in both parties; but the Democratic candidate has sided with the pro-league faction of his party, and the Republican candidate has sided with the anti-league faction of his party. A vote for Cox is a vote of support for the pro-league leaders of both parties and a vote for Harding is a vote for the anti-league leaders of both parties. Whoever is elected president and whatever the partisan composition of the senate, the fate of the league will depend mainly upon the state of public opinion as inferred from the popular vote, and especially in those localities in which the league was the main issue. It is the duty of every friend of the league to stand up and be counted in its favor. There is no other way in which he can serve so directly, so honestly, and so effectively.

Interpretation

New York Evening Post: Senator Spencer accused President Wilson of saying to the Rumanians that America would send her army and navy to their aid. Mr. Wilson proved that he did not say that we would send our army and navy. Yet Harding's supporters have no difficulty in feeling that Wilson said "substantially" what he did not say.

Senator Harding said, "France has sent her spokesman to me informally," but insists that in no way could this have meant that France sent anybody to him. Republican organs should have no difficulty in feeling that Mr. Harding said something "substantially" different from what he said.

Are You a Leader?

Forbes Magazine: Have you ever stopped to consider the value of being the first to do a thing in your town? Think of the free advertising John Wanamaker got, to say nothing of the tillsful of cash, by being the first to boldly advertise "20 per cent off." And did you notice that Henry Ford, by being the first to start cutting automobile prices, was given free advertising on the front page of almost every newspaper in the land, many of them going so far as to print in detail the old and new price of each make of Ford car? It often takes courage to blaze a new trail, to embark upon an important experiment, to dare to be a pioneer. If you have simmering in your mind an idea which you feel would make a ten-strike with the public, but which you hesitate to bring forth until circumstances may compel you to do so, just think of the experiences of Wanamaker and Ford. The people admire a leader more than a trailer.

Health Talks

By William Brady, M. D.

Physical Education in Schools

Twenty minutes each day are devoted to education of the usually neglected muscles "below the eyebrows," writes a Pittsburgh public school teacher. And in addition, she informs us, "there is a ten or fifteen minute period of whys and wherefores listed in the curriculum as hygiene."

The great trouble with hygiene, in the Pittsburgh curriculum, is that the school authorities harbor a notion that it is an insignificant or unimportant subject to be sandwiched in between more essential subjects such as geography and botany. They don't try to teach arithmetic or history in ten or fifteen minute periods of whys and wherefores in Pittsburgh, I'll wager.

But that twenty minutes of physical education each day is something like. They're beginning to wake up and look around in Pittsburgh, beginning to suspect that a sound body is just as important as a sound mind.

The teacher goes on: "Every session has its recess of fifteen minutes, which means thirty minutes a day at which time the playground becomes a circus ring....How about a record of six feet standing broad jump and one of four feet high jump for children from 11 to 13 years of age? Girls take part, too; they want to."

Now that is something like. Every session has its fifteen minute recess. Old fogy teachers and mollycoddle school principals, please study the Pittsburgh plan.

The teacher isn't quite through yet: "When weather prohibits play out of doors the windows are open and gym room used.

"Some children cartwheel and others somersault home........ Come to 'Hiltop Beautiful' and see our healthy youngsters chinning, walking on their hands, jumping double rope and performing other stunts which I have not time to enumerate."

What's the matter with Pittsburgh below the eyebrows? Nothing much.

Physical education hasn't progressed appreciably in our public schools the past five years. It has been pushed forward on paper but it is still a bore to the uneducated teachers and more or less a joke to the children who are obliged to "take" it. It will always remain a bore just as long as the instruction is left to some physically uneducated teacher or as long as a wofully inadequate staff of instructors in this vital department is deemed sufficient for the thousands of school children.

What a farce it is for the geography or arithmetic teacher to read over a syllabus or listen to a few chalk talks on physical education and then attempt to serve as physical instructor! It is heart-breaking to see such a performance, the instructor making a sorry bluff at the exercises in her corset and other trappings and the children with tongue in cheek trying hard not to laugh at the ridiculous spectacle.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Fake Orange Juice.

Mothers are warned by the U. S. public health service to beware of numerous fake orange beverages on the market. These are usually sweetened carbonated water colored to imitate orange juice and flavored with a little oil of orange peel. Often they are labelled with pictures of oranges or other devices calculated to mislead the thoughtless purchaser. The bureau of chemistry of the United States department of agriculture has ruled that the terms "ade," "squash," "punch," "crush," and "smash" used with the name of a fruit can be applied legally only when the beverage contains the juice or edible portion of the fruit named. Of course the fake orange preparations lack the vitamins for which real orange juice is prescribed in infant feeding.

Sewer Gas.

Is there any odor from sewer gas, and is there any danger of sewer gas leaking, in case of faulty plumbing, for instance from a kitchen sink? (C. V.)

Answer: Even though sewer gas should escape into the house there is no danger to health. Disagreeable odors are more likely to come from uncleaned or unventilated drains.

There are in my beginning class several left-handed children. Some of the parents assure me that all sorts of nervous wrecks are caused by teaching such children to use the right hand for writing. Is there anything in that idea? (P. E. M.)

Answer: Yes. It is unwise to try to convert natural left-handedness into artificial right-handedness. There seems to be some reason to believe that such forced transference is responsible for stuttering and other difficulties of education. Why interfere in such a matter? Is a right-handed person blessed with any advantage over a left-handed one?

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinius, the Sunshine Man, Dayton, Ohio.

Eternal God, I pray that Thou wouldst renew my hope in Thee. May I begin this day with great expectantcy, leaning upon Thy promised grace! Let me go through the day with wondering eyes expecting blessing at every corner.

Heavenly Father, let Thy blessing rest upon the common labor of men. Let all men so work that their work shall be as worship. Let the spirit of the sanctuary pervade the workshop, and let holy influences possess us while we earn our daily bread.

Holy Spirit, help me to realize Thy presence. Let it not be a beautiful rumor to me, but a gracious reality. Let me rejoice in Thy strength and be buoyant in the sense of thy companionship. Let me bear everything in Thy promised light.—J. H. Jowett.

The Issue

This League with great distrust I view;
There's something very wrong about it.
A Wilson League will never do,
And we must get along without it.
I'm for "ourselves in everything."
Against entanglements I'm guarding,
A separate peace I'm favoring.
(Signed) Harding.

I think that we should do our share,
Not leave it to the other fellow,
To quit our Allies over there
Would be to show a streak of yellow.
We ought to back what we begin—
I'd hate a peace that's a la Knox.
I'm for the League. Why not go in?
(Signed) Cox.

Harding and Debs

Oliver Herford in the New York World: Mr. Debs is serving a term at Atlanta for endeavoring during the war to prevent enlistment by speeches to the effect that our troops had no business to be in Europe.

Today, though the United States has not yet made peace with Germany and our troops are still occupying German territory and the government is calling for more to take their places, Mr. Harding goes about the country telling his audiences that these troops, acting under orders of the United States government, have no business to be in Europe.

In what essential does Mr. Harding's attitude, the effect of which can only be the discouragement of enlistment, differ from that of Mr. Debs, and why, since Mr. Debs is at Atlanta, is Mr. Harding permitted to be at large?

"Maybe she is being misled by designing politicians," he adds. The Hibbing editor never made a better guess.

The Fergus Falls committee, under the leadership of Chairman Elmer Adams, so ably administered the $257,337 fund contributed by the sympathetic people of the state for the relief of those who lost their property in the cyclone that swept that section several years ago, that it completes its work with a $36,536 balance. Everybody damaged, it is said, was given consideration except the Fergus Falls churches, which suffered a loss of about $100,000. Churches are a help to the state as well as to the communities in which they are located. Why not recognize it by assisting them with part of that balance? It will be practically impossible to return it to individual subscribers anyway.

Miss Minnie Nielson, North Dakota's able and aggressive superintendent of schools, puts the case against Townley and his group of professional agitators who have misled so many people in a sentence: "It is a fight between civilization and Christianity on the one hand and Socialism and atheism, masquerading under the guise of a farmer's program, on the other."

Cloquet has decided to add several blocks to its handsomely lighted "white way." Last week the town dedicated a $50,000 Presbyterian church and a short time before that a magnificent public library and other municipal buildings were opened. And a couple of years ago some people were wondering whether this enterprising fire-swept town would ever be rebuilt!

Billy Noonan of the Baudette Region has discovered something else to be glad about. "One nice thing about lady suffrage," he says, "is that if the wrong man wins you can blame it on your wife."

Anyway, Armistice day comes next week and no matter who is elected winners and losers will unite in celebrating the victory of democracy over autocracy that our splendid American boys made possible on the bloody fields of France.

Good Advice

Pittsburgh Press: Don't be contented with your lot—until there's a house on it.

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of This Date, 1900

Charles F. Jones, secretary and valet to the late millionaire, William Marsh Rice, made a desperate effort early this morning to commit suicide in his cell in the Tombs at New York. Jones was committed to the Tombs with Albert T. Patrick on Sept. 22, on the charge of forging Mr. Rice's name to several checks. It is claimed by the district attorney's office that Jones yesterday made a voluntary statement, in which he accused Patrick of giving to Rice tablets of a grayish color shortly before he died and that Patrick had failed to return to Rice papers of apparently great value which the latter had demanded.

The central mission conference of the English Lutheran synod of the Northwest is in session at St. John's English Lutheran church. Rev. S. W. Kuhns of this city is president and Rev. C. L. Wartler of St. Paul is secretary. Rev. G. H. Trabert, D. D., spoke last night on "The German Reformation and Missions," and Rev. A. J. D. Haupt gave a resume of mission work in the Northwest.

Senator Knute Nelson of Alexandria spoke to a large crowd at the Armory last night in the interests of the Republican ticket.

Mrs. S. S. Williamson and daughters, Marion and Louise, left yesterday afternoon for a visit with Mrs. Williamson's mother at Washington, D. C.

There was a big ripple of excitement in mining circles yesterday afternoon caused by the announcement of a rich strike at the Randolph gold mine in the Seine river district. The announcement was made by Supt. Neil Berger, who arrived from the mine with a box containing 100 pounds of the gold-bearing quartz that Mr. Berger declares was not picked out but was shoveled up out of the mine and boxed. Some of the mining men who have seen the ore declare that it will run from $800 to $3,000 a ton.

William Axford of West Duluth left yesterday for McKinley to attend the wedding of his cousin, Miss Minnie Bright.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Kastriner of West Duluth are entertaining Mrs. Irving Goodwin and daughter of Spokane, Wash.

The civil tribunal at Paris has appointed George J. Gould of New York trustee for the countess of Castellane, his sister. According to the pleadings in the case, her husband, Count Boni of Castellane, spent 23,000,000 francs in four years, whereas his income from his wife's fortune is only 3,000,000 francs.

The Park Point ferry problem continues to agitate the intellect of certain city officers and residents of the point. By stipulation the judgment in the injunction suit brought by L. J. Hoskins and others, restraining the city from operating the ferry in any manner, will be filed in the district court today. However, an agreement to have the taxpayers who secured the injunction agree to another stipulation by which the city can be allowed to continue the ferry service until Nov. 10 by simply paying the wages of the men necessary to operate the boat. Capt. Ryan has consented to donate the services of the Estelle to the city during the ten days.

FOR PEACE, VOTE FOR COX.

"I think," says Elihu Root, "that the American objections (to the League of Nations) can be met and obviated without interfering with the scheme of the League or impairing its usefulness."

Governor Cox is pledged, with all his strength and sincerity, to accomplish precisely that end.

Where is a single word from Senator Harding pledging himself even to attempt doing what Mr. Root says can be done?

On the other hand there are many words from him that pledge him to do the contrary thing—to "scrap" the League of Nations—even to the extent of promising NOT to send the treaty and the Covenant to the senate for its action if he is elected.

For those who are for the League of Nations, with whatever honest and sincere reservations, there is but one choice: Governor Cox, the friend and advocate of the League, and not Senator Harding, the opponent, the critic and the enemy of the League, and the choice of every one of its bitterest enemies.

WHY CHANGE?

To stem the rapidly rising tide of public sentiment for the League of Nations and Governor Cox, the effort to bewilder the people by harping on the fiction of "Democratic incompetence" is being frantically renewed.

Here is the complete answer to that, from the Ohio State Journal, a Republican newspaper:

> One needs to read the stories of the desperate plight of millions of people in European countries to get a right view of the happy conditions that surround the people of the United States. This country has foodstuffs in quantities almost unlimited, and with prices tending downward. One-third of the people of the war-stricken lands abroad are on bread rations, so Herbert Hoover has made public. Here there are money, medical skill and supplies to meet any sudden need. Abroad there is lack of funds, lack of adequate medical skill and supplies.
> Here there is employment at the best compensation in the history of the country, so those who face war prices may yet fight their way to victory and care abundantly for those dependent upon them. Abroad money is scarce, labor opportunities meager in most places, while in soviet Russia labor has been nationalized, men and women being sent where some government agency decides, paid what governmental officials fix, and what they may earn, what they may eat, what they may purchase or wear, all are dictated by soviet officials.
> Economically, there is no land in the world that has conditions comparable to those in this country. We have abundant justification for being the happiest people on earth. We have conditions that vex and annoy, but they are curable, and they are minor, not major conditions. It takes a view of European troubles to show us, relatively, how happy is our condition.

Why change?

THE FORGOTTEN HALF OF ARTICLE X.

> The members of the League undertake to RESPECT and preserve as against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the League. In case of any such aggression or in case of any threat or danger of such aggression the council shall advise upon the means by which this obligation shall be fulfilled.—Article X of the Covenant of the League of Nations.

Virtually all of the discussion of Article X has related to but one feature, the obligation to "preserve" the integrity and independence of League members.

Hardly anybody has talked of the other and more important factor in Article X; the pledge which every member takes to RESPECT the integrity and independence of League members.

Article X is exactly what the president declared it to be in his masterly argument to the pro-League Republicans last week, "the specific pledge of the members of the League that they will unite to resist exactly the things which Germany attempted, no matter who attempts them in the future." It IS that, and that is a primary essential of any league or association for peace. Any league or association that lacks it is not worth the paper its Covenant is written upon. But it is far more than that.

> I don't believe in his heart President Wilson regrets his wounds. I fancy he realizes that no man could die in a greater cause. But I do sometimes wonder if it ever seems to him strange that when a man has been seriously wounded in his country's service, he should be met with sneers and calumnies from his countrymen.
> —Joseph P. Tumulty, private secretary to the President.

There is danger that people will overlook the vitally important fact that by joining the League of Nations more than forty countries have solemnly bound themselves never again to commit that pillage of territory which is the seed of all great wars.

Mr. Harding, when Borah and Johnson and Hearst are not listening, seems willing to leave the impression with friends of the League of Nations that he is for "an association" of nations without an Article X.

That is, he aims to lead America into an alliance with nations that are NOT pledged to refrain from that species of international burglary that caused the great war and all great wars!

Who, with sound mind and eyes open, will follow him into such a trap?

THE League of Nations, with its Article X to bind all nations not to commit the international burglary that makes war, is the only safe road to peace.

A vote for Cox is a vote for the League of Nations and organized world peace.

THE HERALD'S ELECTION SERVICE.

As usual, The Herald will provide the returns from the election promptly, correctly and completely.

Every possible provision for collecting the returns rapidly and accurately have been made.

Tomorrow night the returns from the national and state election as they come in over the Associated Press and special wires will be flashed on a screen across First street from The Herald building, and everybody is invited to take advantage of this free display.

Wednesday's editions of The Herald will provide the general, state and local returns as rapidly as they are available, and —again as usual—the first complete and authentic returns will be found in The Herald.

DON'T FORGET AMENDMENT NO. 1

No voter should take it for granted, because everybody around him seems to be for Amendment No. 1, that the victory is won and this new charter of freedom from mud and bad roads is already ratified.

On the contrary, it needs every last vote, because failure to vote counts precisely the same as a vote against it, and many will fail to vote on it—more than will vote against it.

So no voter, whatever he may do on other issues, should forget to vote for Amendment No. 1 on the pink ballot; for without this amendment good roads for Minnesota are IMPOSSIBLE.

Not only that, but unless this amendment is ratified Minnesota cannot get its full share of Federal aid for building its roads.

Not only that, but unless Amendment No. 1 is ratified by the state, St. Louis county taxpayers will have to pay for seven million dollars' worth of roads to which they are committed by a project that anticipated the ratification of the amendment.

Amendment No. 1 provides a way to build seven thousand miles of good roads without costing anybody a cent. The expense is to be met out of license fees on motor vehicles, and the owners of the motor vehicles will save more than the additional expense by the lessened cost of upkeep that will result.

Amendment No. 1 lifts from the counties the burden of maintaining all state roads, thus leaving their resources free to develop other local roads.

Whatever you do, don't fail to vote "Yes" on Amendment No. 1.

BEWARE THE ENEMIES OF PEACE.

Dr. Charles W. Eliot in an address the other day to the students of Harvard scathingly analyzed, exposed and arraigned the hypocrisy of the recent statement of thirty-one eminent Republicans, headed by Elihu Root, advocating the election of Senator Harding. He showed that by omitting and ignoring the essential facts—for instance, about Article X—they had made a case against the Paris Covenant which falls to the ground when these facts are made clear.

And at the close of his penetrating and convincing reply to the Republican Brahmins who, in hypocritical masquerade as friends of peace and the League of Nations, advocate the election of a man who is the willing tool of every bitter enemy of peace and the League, Dr. Eliot left this thought, which every voter should carry with him to the polls:

> The conclusion of the statement of the thirty-one eminent Republicans contains the attractive phrase, "advance the cause of international cooperation to promote peace."
> Where does that noble idea come from? From the preamble of the League of Nations Covenant!
> If the new voter or the doubtful voter who loves the real America as he loves his mother or his wife will take into his mind and heart that preamble to the League Covenant, he will not vote to place the control of the government of the United States in the hands of the apostate senators who defeated ratification.

How to Reach Some People

Buffalo Express: If Irving Berlin would only set it to music, doubtless a lot of us would get better acquainted with Article X.

Mr. Taft and the League

Editorial in the Baltimore Sun.

Most individuals with healthy human feelings will sympathize with Mr. Taft. Through the Republican party he received the highest office within the gift of the American people. He naturally feels grateful to that party. He cannot bring himself to vote against it or to refuse to give it his support. Col. Roosevelt, who was sui generis, could do such a thing, but he cannot. Therefore he is for Harding and he tries to justify his position as best he may.

But he believes the League of Nations the greatest issue before the American people. He knows that it is a practicable method proposed for the attainment of that splendid object. His original preference was for the ratification of the league Covenant as it came from Paris, unaltered. Failing that, he was willing to accept reservations that did not nullify the purposes of the organization.

In other words, his stand on the league is precisely that of Governor Cox. It is diametrically opposed to that of Senator Harding. Yet his sense of obligation to the Republican party is such that he is constrained to support the man whose views he abhors and to oppose the man with whose views on the greatest question before the people he is in complete sympathy.

Mr. Taft must settle with his own conscience the question of his attitude in this campaign. He is the only judge of his duty. But we should like to point out that the considerations affecting his decision do not apply to the rank and file of the Republican voters of the country, not to mention the independent voters. They are under no personal debt of gratitude to the party. Mr. Marburg, Herbert Parsons, President Emeritus Eliot of Harvard, Prof. Fisher, and a host of other Republicans and independents who appreciate the tremendous importance of the league issue have frankly recognized this and are supporting Governor Cox. The logic which has dictated their course must appeal to millions of other friends of the league. Mr. Taft may cast his personal vote as he will, but he cannot carry with him those who believe as he does about the League of Nations.

How It Will Be Told

Life: Returning travelers report that folks in Europe have pretty generally forgotten that the A. E. F. ever came over there.

That's quite natural and all right. The sentiment of enthusiasm in Europe for the United States was necessarily unstable, and its early passing should not be regretted.

It is a pity we should have slumped so in the reorganization of the world, but it was quite hopeless to try to live up to the reputation our armies had won for us on Armistice day, and the sooner our reputation was adjusted to our merits and means the better.

History will take care of us. It will say that the United States did magnificently in the great war what was asked of it; that afterwards Lodge, inheriting the virulent T. R. jealousy of Wilson's accomplishment, was able with the help of Johnson and Borah to destroy for a time the Democratic leadership and suspend proceedings. But that by too liberal use of the said J. and B., he destroyed his own party's prospects and lost the election; whereupon the usefulness of the United States to Europe revived, and it was recalled again in France, and even in England, that American armies had turned up there opportunely in the year 1918.

When Silence Is Golden

Philadelphia Record: For nearly six years Senator Harding has been a member of the United States senate, where he had opportunity to demonstrate his capacity for public service.

We have not seen a single article in any newspaper supporting Harding for the presidency in which his senate record was cited as evidence of his fitness for the office of chief executive.

Why?

Boies Penrose has been a United States sneator for nearly twenty-four years.

We have not seen a single article in any newspaper supporting his candidacy for re-election in which his senate record is cited as evidence of his fitness for re-election.

Why?

"Ye shall know them by their fruits." There is wisdom in the studied silence of the Republican press with regard to the recodrs of Senators Harding and Penrose.

Imported Scotch

Robert C. Benchley in Life: "Don't Tell" (Nora Bayes theater) is one of those plays after which you find yourself thinking in Scotch dialect and talking to the taxi driver as if you thought you were Harry Lauder. It is Scotch. There is no denying that. By the author of "Bunty Pulls the Strings," and acted by an imported case of Scotch actors, the audience may be said to be full of hoot by the final curtain.

Aside from the dialect, "Don't Tell" isn't particularly distinctive. It is a pleasant play and clean, which, of course, is something, but might just as well have been written in Irish brogue. It wasn't, however; so there's something for which the irritable playgoer may be thankful.

The Consumer

I'm the Ultimate Consumer, and my eyes are full of tears, for I've carried all the burdens of the world a thousand years, and I'm doomed to pack those burdens till this planet is no more, so my eyes are full of sorrow, and my heart is sick and sore. I've a right to groan and grumble and deplore my many ills, for I'm paying all the taxes, and I'm footing all the bills; to defray the world's expenses I am always sweating blood; I'm the Ultimate Consumer, and my given name is Mud. Oh, the farmer gets a rakeoff when he sells a load of wheat, and the miller, white and dusty, gets a rakeoff and repeat, and the jobber gets a rakeoff when he sells a sack of flour, and the dealer gets a rakeoff, or you'd see him looking sour; and the Ultimate Consumer, when he buys a dinky sack, has to pay these divers rakeoffs, when pink pains run up his back. And they tax the woolens maker, who in commerce cuts a swath, and he hands along the taxes to the gent who buys his cloth, and this gent just hands the taxes to the fellow lower down, till they reach the busy tailor in our little country town. And the Ultimate Consumer pays the taxes in the end, when he buys a suit of raiment with a stylish Grecian Bend. I'm the Ultimate Consumer, and I sound a plaintive note; I'm the guy who pays the fiddler; I'm the universal goat.

To a New Voter

From the New York Evening Post.

When you cast your first ballot next Tuesday you may be, in age, only 21 or may be 60. You may be grandson or grandmother. But in either case you are fortunate in the circumstances of your entrance upon active citizenship. Your opportunity and your responsibility are greater than those faced by any generation of first voters since 1864. Your first vote can be made more than a choice between parties. You have the choice of voting for or against a great cause.

You are free from the ties of party; and I use party in no invidious sense. The party system is an essential feature of our democracy. It has been justified by our experience as a nation. Adherence to party even in the face of strong temporary provocation may be justified by the larger good that comes from a sustained party tradition. But it is all a matter of degree. There comes a time, as there have been times in our national history when the claims of party have yielded to the higher law of personal judgment and conscience. The present is such a time.

You have read all over the country Republican voters are breaking away from their party candidate. Do you imagine it is easy for men to disrupt the political associations of a lifetime, to incur, perhaps, the charge of treason, to abandon much good that may still inhere for them in the organization they have left? It is not easy. But if such men feel the call of a great cause to be stronger than the ties of party, how much more strongly ought the appeal of that cause be to you, whose first choice is still to be made?

Why are men deserting Harding? Because they find it impossible to forget. They cannot forget what has happened to the world during the last six years and what has happened in this country during the last six years. They cannot forget the agony of Europe. They cannot forget the deep pity and the high resolves which that agony stirred in the hearts of the American people.

Out of a great agony there was born a great hope. That hope was of a world cooperating to prevent another world tragedy, to forestall another blood-letting of civilization such as civilization could not survive. And in this great work of peace it was the hope of Americans that America would take the lead. Why? Because America is the most powerful of the nations, the most disinterested, the most immune against the passions which brought about the World war, the one nation predestined to be the leader in the great work of reconciliation.

That great hope for the world and for America is now bedimmed.

Why?

Because people have grown tired. Because they want to forget. That is the basic reason —not politics, not partisanship, though they have helped. People are tired. They want to forget. They want to go back to their business and their work.

Men have tired of the lessons of the war because they have their work to do, their families to provide for, their normal life to reconstruct. They have no time for much else.

But how is it with you, the boys of yesterday, and the women, upon whom the daily grind of the economic machine does not bear so heavily or bears down not at all? Why should you be too busy to remember? Why should you be so anxious to forget? And I cannot see how you can find it so easy to forget. To you who were boys yesterday and to you who are women the war came home more intimately than to the men of America; for you had more time to think and feel than your men. To you, the first voter of 21, the war may have come home in your own flesh or in the flesh of your comrades. To you, the women, the war may have come home intimately through the flesh of your sons or your grandsons.

You have not the same excuse for feeling tired that your husbands and fathers may have. And you have had every person to feel the great agony and the great hope more sharply than they have felt. More than any other body of voters, it is to you, the first voters of 21 or 60.

To you, from falling hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders Field.

Stand Up and Be Counted

Ralph Barton Perry of Harvard in the New York Evening Post: Whoever wins the election, Governor Cox and his supporters are clearly winning the argument. There are, as usual, many issues; but there is doubt in many minds as to the grounds on which one should vote. This confusion of mind has gone to such lengths that many honest friends of the league have adopted the grotesque idea of seeking to promote the league by voting for the party and the candidate that have declared against it. They argue that there is a better chance of securing our entrance into the league under a Republican than under a Democratic administration; whereas the best chance of securing our entrance into the league under any administration is to secure a strong and consolidated expression of opinion in its favor. Governor Cox has made that possible by declaring unequivocally for our "going in."

There are pro-league and anti-league men in both parties; but the Democratic candidate has sided with the pro-league faction of his party, and the Republican candidate has sided with the anti-league faction of his party. A vote for Cox is a vote of support for the pro-league leaders of both parties and a vote for Harding is a vote for the anti-league leaders of both parties. Whoever is elected president and whatever the partisan composition of the senate, the fate of the league will depend mainly upon the state of public opinion as inferred from the popular vote, and especially in those localities in which the league was the main issue. It is the duty of every friend of the league to stand up and be counted in its favor. There is no other way in which he can serve so directly, so honestly, and so effectively.

Interpretation

New York Evening Post: Senator Spencer accused President Wilson of saying to the Rumanians that America would send her army and navy to their aid. Mr. Wilson proved that he did not say that we would send our army and navy. Yet Harding's supporters have no difficulty in feeling that Wilson said "substantially" what he did not say.

Senator Harding said, "France has sent her spokesman to me informally," but insists that in no way could this have meant that France sent anybody to him. Republican organs should have no difficulty in feeling that Mr. Harding said something "substantially" different from what he said.

Are You a Leader?

Forbes Magazine: Have you ever stopped to consider the value of being the first to do a thing in your town? Think of the free advertising John Wanamaker got, to say nothing of the tillsful of cash, by being the first to boldly advertise "20 per cent off." And did you notice that Henry Ford, by being the first to start cutting automobile prices, was given free advertising on the front page of almost every newspaper in the land, many of them going so far as to print in detail the old and new price of each make of Ford car? It often takes courage to blaze a new trail, to embark upon an important experiment, to dare to be a pioneer. If you have simmering in your mind an idea which you feel would make a ten-stroke with the public, but which you hesitate to bring forth until circumstances may compel you to do so, just think of the experiences of Wanamaker and Ford. The people admire a leader more than a trailer.

Health Talks

By William Brady, M. D.

Physical Education in Schools

Twenty minutes each day are devoted to education of the usually neglected muscles "below the eyebrows," writes a Pittsburgh public school teacher. And in addition, she informs us, "there is a ten or fifteen minute period of whys and wherefores listed in the curriculum as hygiene."

The great trouble with hygiene, in the Pittsburgh curriculum, is that the school authorities harbor a notion that it is an insignificant or unimportant subject to be sandwiched in between more essential subjects such as geography and botany. They don't try to teach arithmetic or history in ten or fifteen minute periods of whys and wherefores in Pittsburgh, I'll wager.

But that twenty minutes of physical education each day is something like. They're beginning to wake up and look around in Pittsburgh, beginning to suspect that a sound body is just as important as a sound mind.

The teacher goes on: "Every session has its recess of fifteen minutes, which means thirty minutes a day at which time the playground becomes a circus ring....How about a record of six feet standing broad jump and one of four feet high jump for children from 11 to 13 years of age? Girls take part, too; they want to."

Now that is something like. Every session has its fifteen minute recess. Old fogy teachers and mollycoddle school principals, please study the Pittsburgh plan.

The teacher isn't quite through yet: "When weather prohibits play out of doors the windows are open and gym room used.

"Some children cartwheel and others somersault home........ Come to 'Hiltop Beautiful' and see our healthy youngsters chinning, walking on their hands, jumping double rope and performing other stunts which I have not time to enumerate."

What's the matter with Pittsburgh below the eyebrows? Nothing much.

Physical education hasn't progressed appreciably in our public schools the past five years. It has been pushed forward on paper but it is still a bore to the uneducated teachers and more or less a joke to the children who are obliged to "take" it. It will always remain a bore just as long as the instruction is left to some physically uneducated teacher or as long as a wofully inadequate staff of instructors in this vital department is deemed sufficient for the thousands of school children.

What a farce it is for the geography or arithmetic teacher to read over a syllabus or listen to a few chalk talks on physical education and then attempt to serve as physical instructor! It is heart-breaking to see such a performance, the instructor making a sorry bluff at the exercises in her corset and other trappings and the children with tongue in cheek trying hard not to laugh at the ridiculous spectacle.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Fake Orange Juice.

Mothers are warned by the U. S. public health service to beware of numerous fake orange beverages on the market. These are usually sweetened carbonated water colored to imitate orange juice and flavored with a little oil of orange peel. Often they are labelled with pictures of oranges or other devices calculated to mislead the thoughtless purchaser. The bureau of chemistry of the United States department of agriculture has ruled that the terms "ade," "squash," "punch," "crush," and "smash" used with the name of a fruit can be applied legally only when the beverage contains the juice or edible portion of the fruit named. Of course the fake orange preparations lack the vitamins for which real orange juice is prescribed in infant feeding.

Sewer Gas.

Is there any odor from sewer gas, and is there any danger of sewer gas leaking, in case of faulty plumbing, for instance from a kitchen sink? (C. V.)

Answer: Even though sewer gas should escape into the house there is no danger to health. Disagreeable odors are more likely to come from uncleaned or unventilated drains.

There are in my beginning class several left-handed children. Some of the parents assure me that all sorts of nervous wrecks are caused by teaching such children to use the right hand for writing. Is there anything in that idea? (P. E. M.)

Answer: Yes. It is unwise to try to convert natural left-handedness into artificial right-handedness. There seems to be some reason to believe that such forced transference is responsible for stuttering and other difficulties of education. Why interfere in such a matter? Is a right-handed person blessed with any advantage over a left-handed one?

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinius, the Sunshine Man, Dayton, Ohio.

Eternal God, I pray that Thou wouldst renew my hope in Thee. May I begin this day with great expectancy, leaning upon Thy promised grace! Let me go through the day with wondering eyes expecting blessing at every corner.

Heavenly Father, let Thy blessing rest upon the common labor of men. Let all men so work that their work shall be as worship. Let the spirit of the sanctuary pervade the workshop, and let holy influences possess us while we earn our daily bread.

Holy Spirit, help me to realize Thy presence. Let it not be a beautiful rumor to me, but a gracious reality. Let me rejoice in Thy strength and be buoyant in the sense of thy companionship. Let me bear everything in Thy promised light.—J. H. Jowett.

The Issue

This League with great distrust I view;
There's something very wrong about it.
A Wilson League will never do,
And we must get along without it.
I'm for "ourselves in everything."
Against entanglements I'm guarding.
A separate peace I'm favoring.
(Signed) Harding.

I think that we should do our share.
Not leave it to the other fellow.
To quit our Allies over there
Would be to show a streak of yellow.
We ought to back what we begin—
I'd hate a peace that's a la Knox.
I'm for the League. Why not go in?
(Signed) Cox.

Harding and Debs

Oliver Herford in the New York World: Mr. Debs is serving a term at Atlanta for endeavoring during the war to prevent enlistment by speeches to the effect that our troops had no business to be in Europe.

Today, though the United States has not yet made peace with Germany and our troops are still occupying German territory and the government is calling for more to take their place, Mr. Harding goes about the country telling his audiences that these troops, acting under orders of the United States government, have no business to be where they are.

In what essential does Mr. Harding's attitude, the effect of which can only be the discouragement of enlistment, differ from that of Mr. Debs, and why, since Mr. Debs is at Atlanta, is Mr. Harding permitted to be at large?

The Fergus Falls committee, under the leadership of Chairman Elmer Adams, so ably administered the $257,337 fund contributed by the sympathetic people of the state for the relief of those who lost their property in the cyclone that swept that section several years ago, that it completes its work with a $36,536 balance. Everybody damaged, it is said, was given consideration except the Fergus Falls churches, which suffered a loss of about $100,000. Churches are a help to the state as well as to the communities in which they are located. Why not recognize it by assisting them with part of that balance? It will be practically impossible to return it to individual subscribers anyway.

Pittsburgh Press: Don't be contented with your lot—until there's a house on it.

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of This Date, 1900

Charles F. Jones, secretary and valet to the late millionaire, William Marsh Rice, made a desperate effort early this morning to commit suicide in his cell in the Tombs at New York. Jones was committed to the Tombs with Albert T. Patrick on Sept. 22, on the charge of forging Mr. Rice's name to several checks. It is claimed by the district attorney's office that Jones yesterday made a voluntary statement, in which he accused Patrick of giving to Rice tablets of a grayish color shortly before he died and that Patrick had failed to return to Rice papers of apparently great value which the latter had demanded.

The central mission conference of the English Lutheran synod of the Northwest is in session at St. John's English Lutheran church. Rev. S. W. Kuhns of this city is president and Rev. C. L. Wattler of St. Paul is secretary. Rev. G. H. Trabert, D. D., spoke last night on "The German Reformation and Missions," and Rev. A. J. D. Haupt gave a resume of mission work in the Northwest.

Senator Knute Nelson of Alexandria spoke to a large crowd at the Armory last night in the interests of the Republican ticket.

Mrs. S. S. Williamson and daughters, Marion and Louise, left yesterday afternoon for a visit with Mrs. Williamson's mother at Washington, D. C.

There was a big ripple of excitement in mining circles yesterday afternoon caused by the announcement of a rich strike at the Randolph gold mine in the Seine river district. The announcement was made by Supt. Neil Berger, who arrived from the mine with a box containing 100 pounds of the gold-bearing quartz that Mr. Berger declares was not picked out but was shoveled up out of the mine and boxed. Some of the mining men who have seen the ore declare that it will run from $800 to $1,000 a ton.

William Axford of West Duluth left yesterday for McKinley to attend the wedding of his cousin, Miss Minnie Bright.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Kastriner of West Duluth are entertaining Mrs. Irving Goodwin and daughter of Spokane, Wash.

The civil tribunal at Paris has appointed George J. Gould of New York trustee for the countess of Castellane, his sister. According to the pleadings in the case, her husband, Count Boni de Castellane, spent 23,000,000 francs in four years, whereas his income from his wife's fortune is only 3,000,000 francs.

The Park Point ferry problem continues to agitate the intellect of certain city officers and residents of the point. By stipulation the judgment in the injunction suit brought by L. J. Hopkins and others, restraining the city from operating the ferry in any manner, will be filed in the district court today. However, an effort is being made to have the taxpayers who secured the injunction agree to another stipulation by which the city can be allowed to continue the ferry service until Nov. 10 by simply paying the wages of the men necessary to operate the boat. Capt. Ryan has consented to donate the services of the Estelle to the city during the ten days.

INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE

THE OPEN COURT

Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about topics of general interest, but discussion of sectarian, religious differences is barred. Letters must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.

All letters must be written on one side of the paper only.

The Herald does not publish original verse. Contributions of this nature that are submitted for the editor's perusal must be accompanied by a stamped and addressed envelope, if their return is desired. Otherwise no manuscript will be returned.

MORE LETTERS THAN SPACE.

The Herald has received so many letters relating to the campaign during the last week that it has been impossible to publish more than a small percentage of them. We trust that the writers of these letters, many of which are excellent, will appreciate the situation and know that it is only lack of space that prevents their publication.—The Editor.

THAT HARVEY CARTOON.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I think the Republicans have sounded the death knell in this cartoon of Col. Harvey's, the "Immaculate Conception." Didn't the reason of Mr. Harvey tell him that the majority of this country are Christians, that the majority of the world's Christians believe and revere the "Immaculate Conception"; that Christ raised women to the dignity they maintain in his Holy Mother; that this country was founded on religious fundamentals; that Columbus sailed in his "Santa Maria," and dedicated this new country to her guardianship; that this same honor surrounding the Immaculate Conception has lived through centuries, where politics of all kinds have risen and fallen. Doesn't he know where womanhood got the honor which is due her? Before Christ came, women were chattel, not considered the equal in any thing to man, and in assailing the Mother of Christ, he struck at the Mother of Man.

I have been Republican in spirit up to this time, but if this is the literature that escapes the national headquarters I am not for it, and I have changed my mind in regard to voting for its product.

A VOTE FOR COX.

Duluth, Oct. 22.

A WOMAN'S VIEWPOINT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The election this year embraces an issue of such magnitude that it is more a duty than ever before that every qualified voter go to the polls to cast their ballot.

To the women of the nation who have at last been granted their suffrage rights (one of the many benefits obtained under the Democratic administration) this privilege has come most opportunely, for the League of Nations is full of poignant meaning for us. We need the election of Governor Cox, who has the ability to accomplish the fulfillment of the great issues nurtured by President Wilson, issues that would have already begun to benefit us all had it not been for a senate that reeked with poisonous hatred and jealousy of that great man.

There are persons who regard their single vote to be of little consequence. One's vote is one's weight, and let us all strike with all our might; strike hard against Harding, Penrose, Lodge & Co.; strike for Cox, for the league, which will mean our sons shall not need to be torn from us by the bloody hand of war.

And remember there is a saddened and wounded man in the White House whose brain spirit looks to us to sustain him and uphold his ideals over the libes and sneers of only his political enemies.

Women, vote! MRS. G. G.

Duluth, Oct. 28.

COUNTRY'S HONOR AT STAKE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Let every voter remember that a vote for Harding is a vote to put the League of Nations into the hands of its bitterest enemies—Lodge, Borah, Johnson, Knox, Penrose, Smoot, Moses, Brandegee—men who now control the polices of the Republican party.

Remember that Borah and Johnson have campaigned the country for Harding because Harding has repudiated the league and denounced it as "a monstrous fraud" and "failure," and Harding says that he and Borah agree. Remember that though the League of Nations provides a great plan for arbitration, a great court of international justice, great plans for disarmament, abolition of all secret treaties and for promoting humane conditions of labor throughout the world—Mr. Harding and Republican speakers all over the country have not had one good word to say about the great provisions, but have buried them all under party criticisms, lies and misrepresentations.

Shall the United States stand by the forty-one nations now in the league that have asked for no reservations, or shall we stand by our reactionaries in the senate—Lodge, Borah, Johnson, Penrose and Smoot?

Tuesday is a mighty judgment day for the United States, and it is a solemn judgment day for every voter. The honor, peace and prosperity of our country is at stake.

JAMES WALLACE.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 30.

SENATOR KELLOGG'S SPEECH.

To the Editor of The Herald:

United States Senator F. B. Kellogg in his speech in Virginia made some very raw statements, statements which make the citizens of our beautiful city wonder what kind of voters Mr. Kellogg thinks live up in this neck of the woods. He stated outright that United States Senator Harding was for the League of Nations with the reservations as written by himself and other senators.

Now I would like to ask Mr. Kellogg if he has read Mr. Harding's Des Moines speech, where Mr. Harding says he does not and is not now in favor of any League of Nations and wants to turn his back on the league and all it stand for. I would also ask him to read Senator Borah's speech at Danbury, Oct. 3. Senator Borah said:

"But association or league it's just the same to me. I am opposed to any association, combination society or League of Nations. All these schemes lead to but one destination—Europe. Senator Harding knows my views. If he accepts them then we are in perfect accord."

Senator Harding at Marion on the same day said: "I approve what Senator Borah said in his public address. He will continue to make speeches for the Republican ticket and I am sure I will approve of what he says to voters in the future."

Senator Johnson said at Chicago Oct. 16: "There is nothing ambiguous or uncertain in our candidate's declaration. He has courageously taken his stand; he has put the league behind him. He wants neither interpretation nor reservations, but outright rejection."

Now, Mr. Kellogg, kindly inform us voters up in this neck of the woods who lies—Johnson, Borah or Kellogg. You are not all three telling the truth.

We are entitled to a straight answer. All your other statements on national issues were just as unworthy of credence as the above.

A LEAGUE REPUBLICAN.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 29.

QUIBBLING.

To the Editor of The Herald:

On the first page of your paper this evening I noticed conspicuous headlines: "Women Should Vote for League of Nations," followed by a brief synopsis of the league. I read it with interest, as I read everything I find about the League of Nations. As your synopsis was evidently written from memory, I take the liberty of calling your attention to a vital matter in which your statement differs from the text of the League of Nations. Your synopsis says of the League of Nations: "It also provides for control of existing agencies to stamp out the traffic in women and children which is still carried on in some parts of the world, and the agreements to suppress the traffic in opium and other dangerous drugs." The official text of the League of Nations is startlingly different. I copy word for word from Article 23, section (c): "Members of the league will entrust the league with the general supervision over the execution of agreements with regard to the traffic in women and children, and the traffic in opium and other dangerous drugs." This quotation is taken from a copy of the League of Nations, published by the Republican national committee and sent out so freely that I have given away at least six copies. I compared it with the official League of Nations published in London in English and French and brought to Duluth by Mrs. Raymond Robins, and I found that the two were in perfect agreement. Your version represents what Americans would like to have the League of Nations say on this subject, but the correction I send is what the League of Nations actually does say, as framed in accordance with the standards of Europe and Asia. This discrepancy illustrates one of the reasons why millions of Americans prefer to have our representatives at Washington sign an agreement for peace and co-operation with other nations, in which the ideals of America are more nearly expressed than in the document that was written in France.

A WOMAN VOTER FOR MR. HARDING'S LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

Duluth, Oct. 27.

Few, we are sure, will be able to discern the difference between The Herald's statement of the purpose of Section (c) of Article 23 and the language of the section itself. The attempt made by Mrs Robins to create the impression that this section fosters immorality is one of the most infamous features of the peculiarly infamous campaign against the League of Nations. It was inserted, as Raymond Fosdick has shown, at the request of organizations for the suppression of international traffic in vice.—The Editor.

CHILDREN MENACED BY CARELESS DRIVERS

To the Editor of The Herald:

I say that it is a shame the poor children at the Liberty schoolhouse have no place to play because drivers of cars seem to have no consideration for children. Why not have a part of the road blocked at recess time?

Not long ago a little boy got killed playing ball at recess. They can't play on the high school grounds, as the big boys chase them away, as they play big boys' games.

Do we forget when we were children? We could play, as there wern't so many crazy speeders with cars they can't stop in a hurry. When the horses were in use they would look out for such things; so why not have a little horse sense now? I know we are in hurry-up times, so why not allow for this thing and give the kids a chance for a little exercise?

My son, 8 years old, was coming home from school at 3:40 p. m. Oct. 22. A car came along and knocked him down, nearly breaking his leg and badly bruised him. He is in bed under a doctor's care and don't just know how bad he is hurt yet. He may have to stay in bed weeks and suffer. It will also set him back in school, as he says, and cries because he likes school. But to think how dangerous it is for the poor children. Something should be done.

AMERICAN LEGION NOT TIED TO ANY PARTY

To the Editor of The Herald:

There is always some political element that pulls the eleventh hour sob stuff regardless of whether it has any truth or not and they are not as a rule particular whose name they use or how they apply it to their own interests.

As a member of the American Legion I wish to voice my opinion with respect to that organization's stand on the political situation. There are those unscrupulous enough to use the name of this organization to further their selfish political ambitions. The American Legion has absolutely no party affiliations. Please bear this in mind Mr. Misinformed Voter.

"OUR BROTHER'S KEEPER."

To the Editor of The Herald:

"Lest we forget" that we are "our brother's keeper." Tuesday will mark an epoch in human history. On that day, the people of this country are to decide by their vote, whether or not, our entrance in the World's war was or was not in vain. The two forces are now lined up against each other. One side takes the stand that this "land of the free and home of the brave" should "live, move and have our being" within the borders of our geographical boundries. The other side say that we should join the League of Nations insofar as doing our share for the prevention of future wars. One side is actuated by an element of selfishness, fear, greed, jealousy and envy. The other side by generosity, love for all regardless of locality, and a willingness to do their share towards extending the hand of charity to the people of the world. One means a continuation of wars, suffering, privations, human sacrifice, and of wholesale slaughter in the damnable drama of war. The other, that national differences will hereafter be settled by that thing which we will reason. It is the difference between a gun and the thinking power which God has endowed us with, by which we are to settle future international questions. It is a step between christianity and barbarism. It is the difference between these two.

Dear reader, which do you prefer? Are you going to vote as your brother's keeper? Or are you going to take the stand of a Cain in your vote on election day. Read Genesis iv, chapter 9 and 10, verses. "And the Lord said unto Cain, where is Abel thy brother? And he said, I know not, am I my brother's keeper? And He said, What hast thou done? The voice of thy brother's blood crieth unto me from the ground." Read verses 11 and 12.

Am I my brother's keeper? If so, we may expect from the world the same stinging rebuke which was delivered to Cain on that tragic occasion. Thou shalt not kill, still stands as one of the ten commandments. Can we sanction war and keep this commandment?

By voting against the League of Nations and for Harding we sanction war. By casting our vote for James Cox, we sanction the settling of future international disputes by reason. Which are you going to sanction? Are you going to be "your brother's keeper, or are you going to be a twentieth century Cain?

HIS BROTHER'S KEEPER.

Billings, Mont., Oct. 27.

SOME IMPORTANT FACTS ON LEAGUE OF NATIONS

To the Editor of The Herald:

May I have space in the Open Court for one or two facts concerning the political issues of the present campaign?

In the first place, I should like to call attention to the fact that the League of Nations is not Woodrow Wilson's conception, but the lifelong dream of William Howard Taft, whom Republicans, since the death of Theodore Roosevelt, have styled their "greatest American." The idea of such a league originated with Mr. Taft and the first outline was furnished Mr. Wilson by the Republican ex-president. Mr. Taft gave it freely for the good of the world and made a nation-wide campaign to secure its adoption just before Mr. Wilson returned from France. He is today president of the American League to Enforce Peace, an organization which is putting forth all its effort to secure the entrance of the United States into the League of Nations.

In the second place, the politicians who are making such a bogy of the league are taking care that the public hears as little as possible of the provision made in the Covenant itself for the withdrawal, at the expiration of two years, of any nation not satisfied to remain in the league. It is with the league as it was with our Constitution at the time of its adoption—people crying out that it would never work before giving it a trial. So let us give the league a fair trial, for at the end of two years, if we are dissatisfied, we can withdraw with honor, whereas we can only stay out altogether with shame.

Another fallacy is the campaign argument that we must elect a Republican president in order to get rid of President Wilson's autocratic policy of administration. This is absurd on the face of it, because everyone who reads the papers knows that Mr. Cox was nominated on the grounds that he belonged to the anti-administration forces and by those who were determined that the Wilson policy of presidential administration should no longer hold. Any man of any party would care enough for his own popularity to avoid the mistakes which had aroused criticism of his predecessor, and no one can regard the administrative policy of Mr. Wilson as having been dictated by party affiliation.

Administrative policy is determined by the personality of the man in office. Lincoln's personality determined his policy; Roosevelt's personality determined his policy; Andrew Johnson's policy was determined by his personality, and so on with all the good and poor presidents we have ever had. Cox has proven himself a capable executive in the state of Ohio and there is no reason to suppose that he would change his policies of administration just because he was the nation's executive. It would be absurd to presuppose that he would ape the man whose administrative policies he was nominated to defeat. Moreover, every United States president knows his name must go upon the pages of history, and they all are anxious to make good.

Let us hope that the American people can see plainly enough to stop voting for mere names and begin to vote for principles. If you like the principles of the Republican platform, by all means vote for them, but if you believe in the League of Nations do not refuse to vote for it merely because it wears a Democratic tag. In this election the principle at stake is the welfare of the entire world, including the United States.

LET GOOD SENSE GUIDE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

To those interested in the Nonpartisan league:

If you have made up your mind to vote for Dr. Shipstead be sure you understand fully just what that party stands for. After you have fully understood, if you still want to ruin this splendid state of Minnesota by turning it over to Townley, why go ahead and do it, but a "word to the wise is sufficient." Be sure you know what the Nonpartisan league stands for, and if you don't, get advice from some good, pure 100 per cent American and not from a bunch of Socialists that are never contented with any condition.

IRISH FREEDOM AND THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

To the Editor of The Herald:

The death of MacSwiney will unfortunately intensify the feeling of Ireland toward Great Britain. Why the latter does not give Ireland absolute independence and save herself all of this trouble puts her in a very poor light. But if we look at this from her side of the fence we find here, as everywhere, that there are two sides. For instance, what would have been the plight of England during the World war if Ireland had been independent? How many submarines would she have built, and on which side would she have been? Would she have sided with those she hates or those she had never had anything to do with? To answer these questions we must consider our own position. Why did not the United States permit the existence of the Confederate states after they had set up an orderly government, but prevented this by force of arms with more loss of lives than the trouble in Ireland may cause in a hundred years? Why is the United States so jealous of her strategic positions in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans? Why is it that in spite of being the masters of a large continent and could not be starved out in a hundred years, we would rather go to war than permit Japan or any other possible antagonist to acquire an island or footing within 1,000 miles of our shores? Why, then, should we expect England to practice something which we absolutely reject?

The late Theodore Roosevelt, in his speech at Christiania on May 5, 1910, indicated a solution of this problem. At that date he thanked the storthing for the Noble peace prize which he received for ending the Russo-Japanese war and, to use his own words, "no man should renounce his right to protect himself by his own efforts until the community is so organized that it can effectively relieve the individual of this duty;" so it is with nations. Each must keep well prepared to defend itself until some sort of international police power is established. The combination may at first be only to secure peace within certain limits, but the ruler or statesman who could bring this about would earn his place in history for all time and his title to the gratitude of mankind.

This plainly shows that until England gets some other safety than her own power Ireland will never get her independence.

Why not, then, let us go wholeheartedly into the League of Nations? Let us have a plain reservation which we common people understand. Let our entry be subject to the Constitution or fundamental law of our land which these reservations, with their verbose language, attempt to convey. Through this and no other way will Ireland get complete independence, that is, unless she is able to walk over the prostrate body of Great Britain.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Herald to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner, or that ask for advice on legal or medical questions.

T. O'B., Aurora, Minn.: To settle an argument please inform me through the Open Court how many Catholics there are in the United States and how many Protetasnts there are, not including the Jews, and how many including Jews

Ans.: Compilation by the Christian Herald in 1917 gave the total church membership of the United States as 41,281,368. Of these about 15,400,000 were listed as Catholic and 357,135 as belonging to Jewish congregations.

A. L. G., Shevlin, Minn.: To settle an argument kindly answer the following: A says that a woman of foreign birth marrying a citizen of the United States is a legal voter, B says no. Who is right?

Ans.: She is a legal voter and A is right. A woman's citizenhsip depends upon that of her husband. The answer to this question was twisted in a previous issue.

Woman Voter, Duluth: To what churches do Cox and Roosevelt, the Democratic candidates, belong?

Ans.: Both Mr. Cox and Mr. Roosevelt are Episcopalians.

American Legion member, Duluth: Is the American Legion Weekly owned, influenced or controlled by the Republican national committee? Kindly answer in your Open Court?

Ans.: A recent investigation disclosed that some contributions were made the Weekly by prominent Republicans, but it was not established that the control passed to the Republican committee. The columns of the paper itself would be the best criterion as to influence in control.

J. S., Duluth: May a man marry his step sister; I do not mean half sister, but step sister in whom no blood relationship is involved?

Ans.: The law forbids only those who are blood-relation nearer than second cousins to marry. A man certainly may marry his step sister.

A Word Regarding Lower Prices—

It's a happy fact that prices on blouses have dropped—the decline commenced last November—in April the largest break in prices was recorded—since then the declines have been gradual.

BUD'S have been pricing their blouses with the spirit of the market—every decline was immediately responded to in the way of general markdowns.

We can't see further reductions in silk blouses. BUD'S prices today are comparatively lower than before the war.

Silk blouses today at BUD'S prices are the cheapest commodity in the U. S. A.

DESIRE FOR CHANGE WAS CONTROLLING

is difficult to explain the important relationship between a stabilized Europe and expanded markets for American goods (instead of turbulent Europe and canceled orders because of lack of credit) when in the background of so many minds is the impression created by the constant hammering of the Republican party against the Wilson cabinet for its alleged lack of interest in domestic reconstruction since the armistice.

The desire for a change of personnel at Washington was the dominant issue in this campaign. It did not even extend to a clear understanding of a change of policies. The Republicans offered very few constructive suggestions and were content to center attention on the weaknesses of the incumbent party. The Democrats also indulged in a destructive campaign or stayed on the defensive. Neither party clearly outlined a reconstruction policy. The Democrats are being turned out of power for failing to put into effect a change in cabinet after the war ended, and for failing to preserve enough of the war machinery to effect a transition during the reconstruction period without letting the cost of living go higher than it was during the war itself. The Republicans are not being brought into power because they are considered inherently better than the Democrats, though among partisan Republicans it is insisted that the vote is for a better group of administrators inside the Republican party than the Democratic party could afford. It is for the moment a vote against the Democratic administration.

A Negative Mandate.

The writer's conclusion after many weeks of study from an independent viewpoint is that not so much is expected from Senator Harding as from the ten men with whom he will surround himself in the cabinet. It is a negative mandate, a verdict against the party that has been in power and not an affirmative expression for anything else, except possibly the hope that the Republican administrators will profit by the punishment and protest against the Democrats.

Of course, it is none of the writer's business to say whether the impression of Democratic inefficiency which has been so assiduously spread by the Republicans is a just one. Anyone who was in Washington during the war knows how difficult it was for any administration to do the job that was done, how many were the inevitable irritations and restrictions, and how unfortunate it is that the Democrats didn't have four years of peace in which to work out their ideas of progressive government without having their legislative program interfered with, first by war and then by a Republican senate and house in the last two years.

But the country doesn't accept excuses and looks coldly at the results. The Democrats say they could have done nothing on a reconstruction policy during the last two years because the Republican senate and house blocked everything, but the real truth of the matter probably is that the breakdown in President Wilson's health left the Democrats without a leader, and that with the mind of Mr. Wilson occupied with the treaty even before his physical collapse the Republicans managed to carry on a continuous offensive through their speakers in the house and senate. That is what is winning the election. It is the writer's firm belief that the Republicans could have won the presidency this time without any organization or headquarters. The die was cast when the nominations were made. The nation has been set for a change for a long time.

Mistakes of Campaign.

Governor Cox himself has been an incidental figure in the whole thing. Many people believe him a better administrator than Senator Harding, but will not vote for him because of their party feeling. Moreover, the Democratic campaign has been unfortunately handled by Governor Cox himself. He should have insisted upon the retention of Homer Cummings as national chairman, because the latter did have some semblance of an organization ready for action the day after the San Francisco convention, and even though Cummings himself might not have been in active charge the effect of deposing him was a serious blow at the morale of the whole Democratic party. It took weeks of precious time to get many Wilson Democrats back into line.

Moreover, although hindsight is better than foresight, many Democrats admit that Governor Cox's talk about a slush fund and efforts to "buy the presidency" may have been based upon proof convincing to themselves, but since it was insufficient to prove the Republicans guilty with the public, it should never have been started by the Democratic nominee for the presidency, but by his campaign manager or somebody else in the Democratic ranks.

Hard Job for Cox.

Homer Cummings was the man who wanted the whole campaign pitched on the league issue. George White, who has done a wonderful piece of work against heavy odds, was not able to learn the ropes and get into action quickly enough to head off the Republican opposition. Moreover, Governor Cox did not soon enough make himself clear on the wet question and tackle domestic questions. Only late in the campaign did he outline that he would not have the same kind of cabinet as has been in power in Washington in the last few years. But he, too, had embarrassments—the Republicans would have been quick to take advantage of any apparent break with the administration. It was a hard job for the governor of Ohio, and his best friends will be sorry that he had to be offered up as the sacrifice in this campaign.

Fundamentally there has been another weakness in the Democratic campaign. The desire to re-elect Governor Al Smith of New York has occupied Tammany more than anything else. Similarly in other states the Democrats have been interested in their own local or congressional tickets. Indeed, in California, Senator Phelan may be re-elected on the Democratic ticket because he has done nothing to embitter the Harding supporters by any excessive interest in the League of Nations or Governor Cox's candidacy. Senator Johnson's friends are helping Phelan. Other senators are fighting their own battles, too.

The Senatorial Situation.

The senatorial situation is so puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that, except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the last two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

Senator Nicholson, Republican, should win in Colorado. Senator Brandegee may be beaten in Connecticut by Congressman Lonergan if the Harding majority doesn't carry Brandegee in too. Senator Nugent, Democrat, has a splendid chance for re-election in Idaho. Former Senator Taggart, Democrat, probably will defeat Senator Jim Watson in Indiana. Senator Cummins, Republican, in Iowa, and Senator Beckham, Kentucky, Democrat, will retain their seats, though the Kentucky race is close. Missouri is quite likely to defeat Senator Spencer, Republican, and send Breckinridge Long, Democrat, to the senate, though here, too, a few hundred votes either way may tell the story. Senator Henderson of Nevada, Democrat, will be re-elected by a handful of votes. Senator Wadsworth, Republican, of New York, is a sure winner, as Tammany is helping him and neglecting the Democratic candidate. Dr. Ladd, Republican, will win in North Dakota, as will Frank Willis, Republican, succeed Harding as senator from Ohio. Oklahoma's senatorial race is close, with chances favoring Scott Ferris, the Democratic nominee who beat Senator Gore in the primaries. Maryland is close, but probably will send John Walter Smith, Democrat, back to the senate.

Utah Will Re-elect Smoot.

The Democrats have high hopes of defeating Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, but while the state may go Democratic on the national ticket because of the Mormon interest in the League of Nations, the church will similarly send back the man who is supposed to be a comrade of Senator Harding and therefore influential with him in the next administration. Senator Chamberlain, Democrat, may be deluged in Oregon if the Harding sweep in that state takes on the proportions of a landslide, but he has managed to creep in before when the state has gone Republican and his friends are really confident he will pull through again.

Wisconsin has the closest race of all—a three-cornered fight—with the prospect of Senator Lenroot, Republican, losing to Paul Reinsch, Democrat and former minister to China.

The question of control of the senate is not in doubt, but it is a matter of anxiety at Republican headquarters and at Marion, Ohio, whether the majority will be big enough to work with comfortably, for otherwise Senator Johnson and his followers will be able to build an insurgency similar to that which wrecked the Taft administration. The Republicans have really been working harder to capture the senate by a big majority than the presidency in recent weeks. Senator Harding himself has made personal appeals for many of the Republican nominees for the senate, but here, too, a prejudice against the man in office, a desire for a change, has had its effect irrespective of party lines. The people have gotten tired of some of their talkative senators, too. Here, too, the election of individual senators will present no clear mandate. The whole thing, both on the presidential and congressional tickets, is fundamentally the habit of the American electorate of wanting a change in government every few years, something not altogether peculiar to this republic or people but true of practically all peoples since the European war. Reconstruction has in some cases been almost as painful as war.

WRONG STATEMENT BY ROOSEVELT'S SISTER

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 1.—United States Senator G. M. Hitchcock last night issued the following statement:

"I notice in press dispatches a very grave misstatement regarding the so-called Lodge reservations by Mrs. Douglas Robinson, sister of Theodore Roosevelt. It is that when he was ill, Senator Lodge visited the hospital and obtained Roosevelt's approval to 'every one of the Lodge reservations.'

"The fact is, Roosevelt died before the conference met to begin consideration of the treaty. At that time the League of Nations Covenant was not written, nor was it even known that it would be.

"Mr. Roosevelt died Jan. 6, 1919; the Paris conference began three weeks later and the treaty was not signed till five months thereafter.

"The Lodge reservations were not drafted or reported by the foreign relations committee till September and Roosevelt had been dead eight months.

"As a matter of fact several of the Lodge reservations are in direct conflict with Roosevelt's great address delivered when he received the Nobel peace prize at Christiania."

NATIONAL BANKS MAKE HIGH RECORD

Washington, Nov. 1.—The 8,157 national banks of the country reported a gross revenue of $1,109,000,000, or 24 per cent on their capital, for the fiscal year ending last June 30, said a statement yesterday by John Skelton Williams, comptroller of the currency. This, Mr. Williams said, was a new high record.

Only five banks went into the hands of receivers during the year, a record exceeded only by that of the year before, when there were no failures.

"The shrinkage in the value of our principal commodities and articles of production during the fiscal year ended Oct. 31," Mr. Williams said, "is the greatest in commercial history, not only in amount, but in the proportion of the decline to former values. It amounts to billions of dollars."

Charters were granted to 361 new national banks during the past fiscal year.

TANK CORPS MEN HAVE OPPORTUNITY FOR INSTRUCTION

Members of the Duluth tank corps will have an opportunity to take up a four to six weeks' intensive course of study and training in machine gun work, tank driving combat work and other tactics at Camp Meade, Md., next spring or summer, according to an announcement of Lieut. William A. Abbett. It is expected that at least 140 men will take the course. Two Duluth members of the tank corps, H. B. Edwards and G. G. Walker, will attend the tank corps school which opens this week at Camp Meade. They are the first privates to enter the school from Duluth.

Following the completion of their studies they will return to Duluth where they will be assigned as sergeant instructors in the local tank company. No commissions will be given these graduates, but in case of vacancies, graduates will be first in line for promotion, according to Lieut. Abbett.

Capt. Leo Moerke was the first member of the Duluth unit to receive instructions at Camp Meade. He took up the course there last August.

Third Officer Murdered.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 1.—Patrolman George E. Geisler, 36 years old, was shot to death on his beat in the central part of the city last night. Geisler is the third officer who has been murdered here in two weeks.

HAROLDSON CERTAIN OF ELECTION

HANS B. HAROLDSON
for JUDGE OF DISTRICT COURT

As a result of Funck's retirement Hans B. Haroldson now feels certain that he will be elected, if his friends continue to support him.

He has had over SIXTEEN (16) years' experience in the general practice of law at Duluth. During this time he has been engaged in trying civil cases of every kind, as well as criminal cases.

Voters are urged to compare the length and character of his experience with that of the other candidates and to inquire of lawyers and judges as to his qualifications.

He is over thirty-nine years of age. Educated in Duluth schools and the University of Minnesota. He has earned his own living since he was ten years of age.

J. P. JOHNSON, CLERK

Duluth, Minn., Oct. 16, 1920.

Mr. John L. Golob,
116 Lincoln St.,
Hibbing, Minn.

My dear Mr. Golob:

As I told you Thursday after our conversation regarding my Hibbing appointment for Deputy Clerk of District Court, that I would notify you prior to Monday next.

Now regarding the position would say that I feel as if the position you take regarding the matter would not be for the very best interest for myself. I have no question about your ability, and thank you for your sincerity and frankness regarding same.

Yours very truly,

J. P. Johnson
Clerk of the District Court.

JPJ:K

A SOLDIER'S STORY

All voters will be interested in the efforts of Private John L. Golob, Overseas Service Man to obtain a place in the Hibbing branch of the Clerk of District Court office. If he had obtained what he sought, service men all over the County of St. Louis would have been pleased and the mothers of overseas soldiers who fought for the preservation of the liberties of the United States would have been gratified at this recognition of brave service. There would not then have been any reason to put this simple story of cold politics before the people. But this boy who fought in the Great Cause was turned down, and that is why his soldier friends want the voters to know about it.

They feel that the experience of this soldier boy is something more than a fleeting example of how things sometimes break for applicants for official favor, however deserving they may be. They feel that if such an attitude as was maintained in this instance is to be the general rule towards wounded soldiers that the generous hearts of patriotic men and women may be stirred in protest, once they learn of such lack of consideration.

Private Golob and others applied for the place of Deputy Clerk of Court at Hibbing upon the resignation of the incumbent a short time ago. Private Golob, indorsed by some of the most prominent citizens of the range communities, had a strong feeling that his admitted ability, plus the high-grade indorsements behind his application, plus his record of service in the World War, would gain the place for him. He frankly admitted that he had not supported the Clerk of District Court, Hon. J. P. Johnson, in the June primary but he promised, if given the place, to remain neutral in the present campaign. He felt, and his friends felt, that this should not be held against him. It proved the rock upon which his hopes were dashed.

The letter that came from the Clerk of Court was a bitter disappointment to him—it turned him down flat because he had not been an adherent in the June primary of the incumbent and because he could not see how he could work against those who had been his friends of years' standing. The young soldier found that politics is more complex than he thought. He actually believed he would be appointed because of his ability, the indorsement of prominent citizens and a record of arduous service in the Argonne under the Stars and Stripes, to say nothing of his frightful wounds sustained on one of the bloody fields in that long maintained clash of mighty hosts. He found he had another guess coming. The best he got was a letter, telling him there was nothing doing!

His friends place this official letter before the voters of Duluth and of the Range communities and of the prosperous villages north and south of the Range for their consideration.

STATE MAY BUILD OWN CEMENT MILL

Good Roads Amendment No. 1 Will Give Needed Authority, According to Attorney General; Counties and Cities Gain; Plants Will Supply All Road Building and Other Public Needs.

Minnesota will be authorized to build and operate state plants to make cement for road and other public purposes, through the adoption of Good Roads Amendment No. 1.

An opinion to that effect, given recently by C. Louis Weeks, deputy attorney general, is proving an important factor in the good roads campaign and gaining for Amendment No. 1 the solid support of thousands of advocates of state-ownership.

"The talked of plant has a strong bearing on people's attitude towards Amendment No. 1," said Senator Iver Lee of Glenwood, who asked for the opinion. Senator Lee, it will be remembered, was one of ten members of the last legislature who voted against the bill to submit Amendment No. 1 on the pink ballot Nov. 2.

Opinion Points in Brief.

The attorney general's opinion, which has the effect of law, is briefly as follows:

"In case the so-called Babcock amendment is carried, the state may engage in the manufacture of cement in plants constructed and operated by it, the cement to be used in the construction of roads, and may sell any surplus at not less than cost to the counties, towns and cities.

Commissioner C. M. Babcock of the state highway department was one of the first to express gratification over the ruling.

"More than three months ago, a letter from a concern in England brought forcibly to mind the proposal for a state-owned cement mill," he said. "The assistance of the school of mines at the University of Minnesota was secured and a search started for the necessary raw materials, on state lands.

Importance Is Explained.

"It was reported then that because of the comparatively small amount of cement needed by the state for road building, and because another constitutional amendment might be required, that the project promised to prove of little importance. Now the attorney general holds that Good Roads Amendment No. 1 will give the authority, and what is even more important, that the surplus from a good-sized mill or more can be sold at cost to the cities and counties for their road building and other needs.

"It certainly adds another big argument in favor of voting 'yes' for Good Roads Amendment No. 1. While the proposal to hard-surface 200 miles of state roads each year will take only 640,000 barrels of cement, the larger output can be suppdied to the cities and counties. Of course, there are certain heavy traffic roads which must be paved, because gravel surfacing means waste of money, and that work will have to be done by the counties if the amendment fails to pass. But if it does pass, as we are confident, it will mean that added possibility to save."

The commissioner ordered the investigations speeded up in order to be ready to report findings to the legislature early in January in anticipation of the passage of Amendment No. 1 by a big majority.

DECLARES HARDING NOT FRIENDLY TO LABOR

New York, Nov. 1.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in a statement yesterday, said an investigation conducted on Senator Harding's views and practices in the industrial life of his home city, proves "his duplicity in relation to his claim of friendship for the working people and gives a full picture of his ardent championship of industrial enslavement."

The investigation upon which Mr. Gompers said his statement was based, was conducted by John B. Frey, editor of the International Molders' Union Journal, and Chester M. Wright, assistant-editor of the American Federationalist.

The statement asserted the Manufacturers' association of Marion is organized primarily to prevent the organization of wage earners, determines the maximum wage to be paid the employes of any of its members and provides that no employe can secure employment from any other than his present employer without the consent of the employer.

When Your Husband
leaves the house in the morning

Does he start for his day's duties with a happy, energetic spirit, or does he have that languid, listless look that causes you to worry until he returns at night?

As the wife, the mother, the home-manager, it means much to you to see that he is always fit—that mentally and physically he is ever alert and enthusiastic about his work and pleasure.

To insure good health, the most essential thing in everyday life is to keep the system clean. The bowels should be open and free from the accumulation of waste which persists in attaching itself to the walls of the intestines.

We go on thoughtlessly, from day to day, neglecting ourselves, until we are required to assist nature in the process of proper elimination of these disease-producing elements. If we do not do our part the system is constantly exposed to many discomforting and serious ailments.

Constipation is one of the greatest contributors to ill-health that is known to medical science. It leads to colds, headaches, rheumatism, influenza, indigestion—in fact, most human ills. The CORRECT method of keeping well is the proper and regular use of a quick-acting physic, which should be taken on arising or before meals, so that any accumulation in the intestines will be immediately flushed away. A slow-acting physic, taken when retiring, allows these germs to multiply in the system by the millions, and just a few hours may lead to serious results.

Water constitutes eighty per cent of the human body. The body craves water. It must have water to exist. Physicians everywhere recommend a water laxative as the safe, sensible form of laxative.

Pluto Water, you will find, is the Water Laxative which will properly flush away all the disease-breeding elements in the system that make you lazy and dull. Pluto Water is gentle in action—and it is sure, quick and complete in results.

See to it that every member of your family is kept in a healthy condition, and your home will be a happy one.

Pluto Water is good for children as well as grown-ups, and it should always have a place in the household health cabinet for regular and emergency use. As a laxative take ¼ tumbler of Pluto; as a cathartic, ⅓ tumbler; as a purgative, ½ tumbler—add hot or cold water. Bottled at French Lick Springs, Indiana.

MINNESOTA CAMPAIGN FACTS——SULLIVAN—SHIPSTEAD—MALLON

DR. HENRIK SHIPSTEAD

The News Tribune of Tuesday, October 26, carried an anonymous article in its "Open Forum" column attacking Dr. Henrik Shipstead's war record. To date it has failed to print an answer to same that was mailed by special delivery rebuking this unfair attack and requesting the party thereto to face Dr. Shipstead at the Woodman hall on the evening of the 27th. This is a sample of the campaign methods of the opposition. In justice to Dr. Henrik Shipstead, we wish to enlighten the public as to his war record. Dr. Henrik Shipstead was chairman of several Liberty Loan drives in his district during the war; also chairman of red Cross, Y. M. C. A., Salvation Army, Seven Sisters and Lutheran church drives. He held a commission in the Dental corps of the U. S. army and was awarded a medal by the State of Minnesota for his services during the war. The News Tribune is so fair in campaign matters that it uses poison gas as means to an end.

Another instance of unfair tactics by the News Tribune towards Geo. H. Mallon, independent candidate for lieutenant governor: Mallon was a recent honor guest of the City of Cleveland on the occasion of the American Legion convention. When the Associated Press reported the names of the various heroes that had been honored at this convention, the News Tribune had it that Mallon was from Kentucky instead of Minnesota. Evidently it is afraid that Mallon may get a few votes owing to his war record. The News Tribune does not want it known that Geo. H. Mallon, although a married man, volunteered for the officers' training camp at Fort Snelling; that he had to undergo an operation and laid three weeks in the hospital, and was graduated a captain of infantry, after which he served eighteen months in the trenches, where he and his men covered themselves with glory. The News Tribune does not want the public to know that Geo. Mallon accounted for several of the enemy with his bare fists; that he was immortalized in the Fifth Liberty Loan as the soldier from Minnesota who fought for us with his fists; that he and nine men captured 100 prisoners; 10 machine guns and 6 cannon; that he was decorated with the Legion of Honor, the Croix de Guerre with palm, was given a citation by the other Allied governments and was awarded the Congressional medal for distinguished service.

The opposition has villified and abused the Independent candidate for attorney general, Thomas V. Sullivan, a real people's lawyer—a fearless descendent of a race that has shed more blood and tears on behalf of liberty in every land under the sun. He stands for fearless enforcement of the law; is against using the government and courts on behalf of employing and big business interests to oppress or suppress farmer and labor organizations. A fighter, stands four-square for the common people.

Shorty runs into "Snapper" Teebo!

Atlanta, Ga. Wednesday.

Dear Pete:

Checked up our old dormitory pal "Snapper" Teebo this morning waiting on an appointment down Peachtree Street. "Snapper" wanted to know a 'bookfull' about my visit to the Camel factories. "Tell us, old apple seed", says "Snapper", "you're on the inside!" "Snap" still has that mighty annoying way of saying, "But that doesn't surprise me!" Some day I'll soak him—maybe that will be a surprise!

Anyhow—when I explained about the millions of Camels R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. made daily what does the old bird sputter but: "Why, Shorty, they'd have to make that many to supply the demand! Camels have the quality smokers want! And, they have the most wonderful mellow mild body and the most refreshing flavor ever created in a cigarette! Of course they make Camels by millions; of course they buy enough revenue stamps from 'Uncle Sam' every work day to build a duplicate of the Winston-Salem post office! Why not? Smokers will have Camels!

But, "Snap" finally got to spilling some real nobby Camel selling stuff! "Shorty", says he, "write the Reynolds folks for me that I travel and talk some with the world in a year's time. And I want to put it on record that in all the times I've pulled Camels out of my pocket to supply somebody's shortage I've heard enough good things said about 'em to fill a volume = 'That's my brand', 'Camels are a wonderful cigarette', 'Like getting money from home', etc!"

"And, Shorty, what's the answer? Why—Camels quality and Camels blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos meet the universal taste! That's it! Get me right, boy! They all open their shutters for Camels! You'll find that all over the nation! And, that's the 'hole' story, old golf ball!" Pete, you pet phonograph, did you ever hear a better record?

Sincerely
Shorty.

RULES ISSUED FOR ELECTION

No Electioneering Near Polls; Early Voting Urged to Prevent Rush.

Owners of automobiles are warned not to make a practice of carrying voters to the polls tomorrow, by Fred D. Ash, city clerk. It is a violation of the corrupt practice act and punishable by a heavy fine and imprisonment, he declares. The opinion was called forth by the remark that in a certain district a number of men were intending taking the women voters to the polls to insure their voting tomorrow. While it was not the intention of these automobile owners to violate the law, their interest in getting the entire vote out, prompting the offer, the city clerk calls attention to the section of the election laws that specifies that it is illegal to provide a "conveyance to bring voters to the polls."

Rules for Boosters.

Mr. Ash also calls attention to the law which prohibits the distribution of literature within 100 feet of the polls or the soliciting of votes for either a candidate or an amendment at the polls. Well-intentioned hustlers for the different amendments which are to be voted upon tomorrow are contemplating being at the polls to urge every one who comes to vote to cast their ballot for the good roads amendment and City Clerk Ash is warning them against working too close to the polls, 100 feet being the closest they can work.

The clerical force of the city clerk was at the office this morning ready to give out the ballot boxes and supplies to the judges as they called. The need of getting down early was necessary by the fact that all the ballots had to be counted out this morning. They had to be left in the vault over Sunday on account of the danger of fire and the vault was not large enough to hold the ballot boxes. In former elections, the ballots were counted ahead of time and placed in the boxes, which were stored in the vault over Sunday. But this year, with the large number of additional districts and the larger boxes, there was room for only a part of them. The large ballot boxes will be used in this election, each having three compartments, to correspond with the different colored ballots. These boxes are only used in general elections, said Mr. Ash.

Many Judges and Clerks.

With the increase in the number of election districts this year, it will be necessary to employ 504 judges and clerks to look after the voting and to count the ballots after the polls close. The law provides for three judges and two clerks and after the polls close an additional judge and clerk will be on duty to assist in the work.

Mayor T. W. Hugo has issued an appeal to employers to allow their employes to leave their work and vote early as possible. With one of the largest votes ever to be cast in the city, there is a possibility of some congestion at the polls during the last few hours of voting. To offset this, voters are urged to vote as early as possible. Some difficulty was experienced on registration days by many of the women delaying their visit to the polls until late in the afternoon, when a great many of the men, leaving work, came to vote, resulting in a big rush at the last minute. If this happens tomorrow it may result in some of the voters losing their vote, as the judges and clerks will be taxed to the utmost to care for the large number who are expected to cast their ballots, said Mr. Ash.

WHY A PASTOR IS FOR THE LEAGUE!

Leading Denver Minister States Boldly the Reasons for His Belief in Farmers' Organization

The Rev. Mr. Lackland is pastor of the Grace Methodist church of Denver, Colo., one of the largest and most powerful churches of the city. Mr. Lackland has always been a leading fighter for social justice for both farmers and workers. Through his influence at the recent Colorado Methodist conference 24 ministers of that church delivered sermons immediately prior to the Colorado primaries, answering lying attacks made against the Nonpartisan league.

By REV. J. S. LACKLAND

I am for the Nonpartisan league, first, because it stands for home owners. Men will not be patriotic for apartments or boarding houses. They will be for homes that they own. If yellow journals that scream about the Nonpartisan league were as desirous of revealing some of the rent and realty profiteers that advertise so lavishly they would be nearer the hearts of the common people.

I am for the Nonpartisan league because it has been giving the workingman a square deal. They told the lobby of the State Federation of Labor to go home and not only gave them what they asked but more than they asked. The workmen's compensation law is the best in the United States today. In addition they have passed an eight-hour bill for women, a coal inspection bill, a limitation on the issuance of injunctions, full train crews, union label on state printing and many others.

I am for the Nonpartisan league because it stands for the consumer.

I am for the Nonpartisan league because it has taken a genuine interest in the public schools. Governor Lynn J. Frazier's hobby is better schools and he has gone throughout the state advocating consolidated schools. These schools are the true community centers. In fact, the Nonpartisan league itself is an extension course in practical economics and citizenship, which is causing thousands of men who cared nothing for civic duty to realize that the community can not be saved unless they co-operate intelligently.

I believe absolutely in the patriotic Americanism of the people of North Dakota. If it is un-American or Bolshevik for the state to own a bank then the staid Republicans should so class Alexander Hamilton, who drew up plans and advocated "The Bank of the United States."

I believe the Nonpartisan program is an honest attempt to put genuine democratic brotherhood into practice. It will make mistakes, but what movement will not? To date there has been an honest willingness to correct mistakes. It organizes the common people into a fighting unit for justice. It is a foe of every social evil that endangers the home or civic life of the state. It is placing a new and true value on human life. Its object is to make home owners and to make profiteers nonexistent. In this it is succeeding beyond the fondest dreams of its advocates.

LEAGUE PROGRAM IS "REAL CHRISTIANITY"

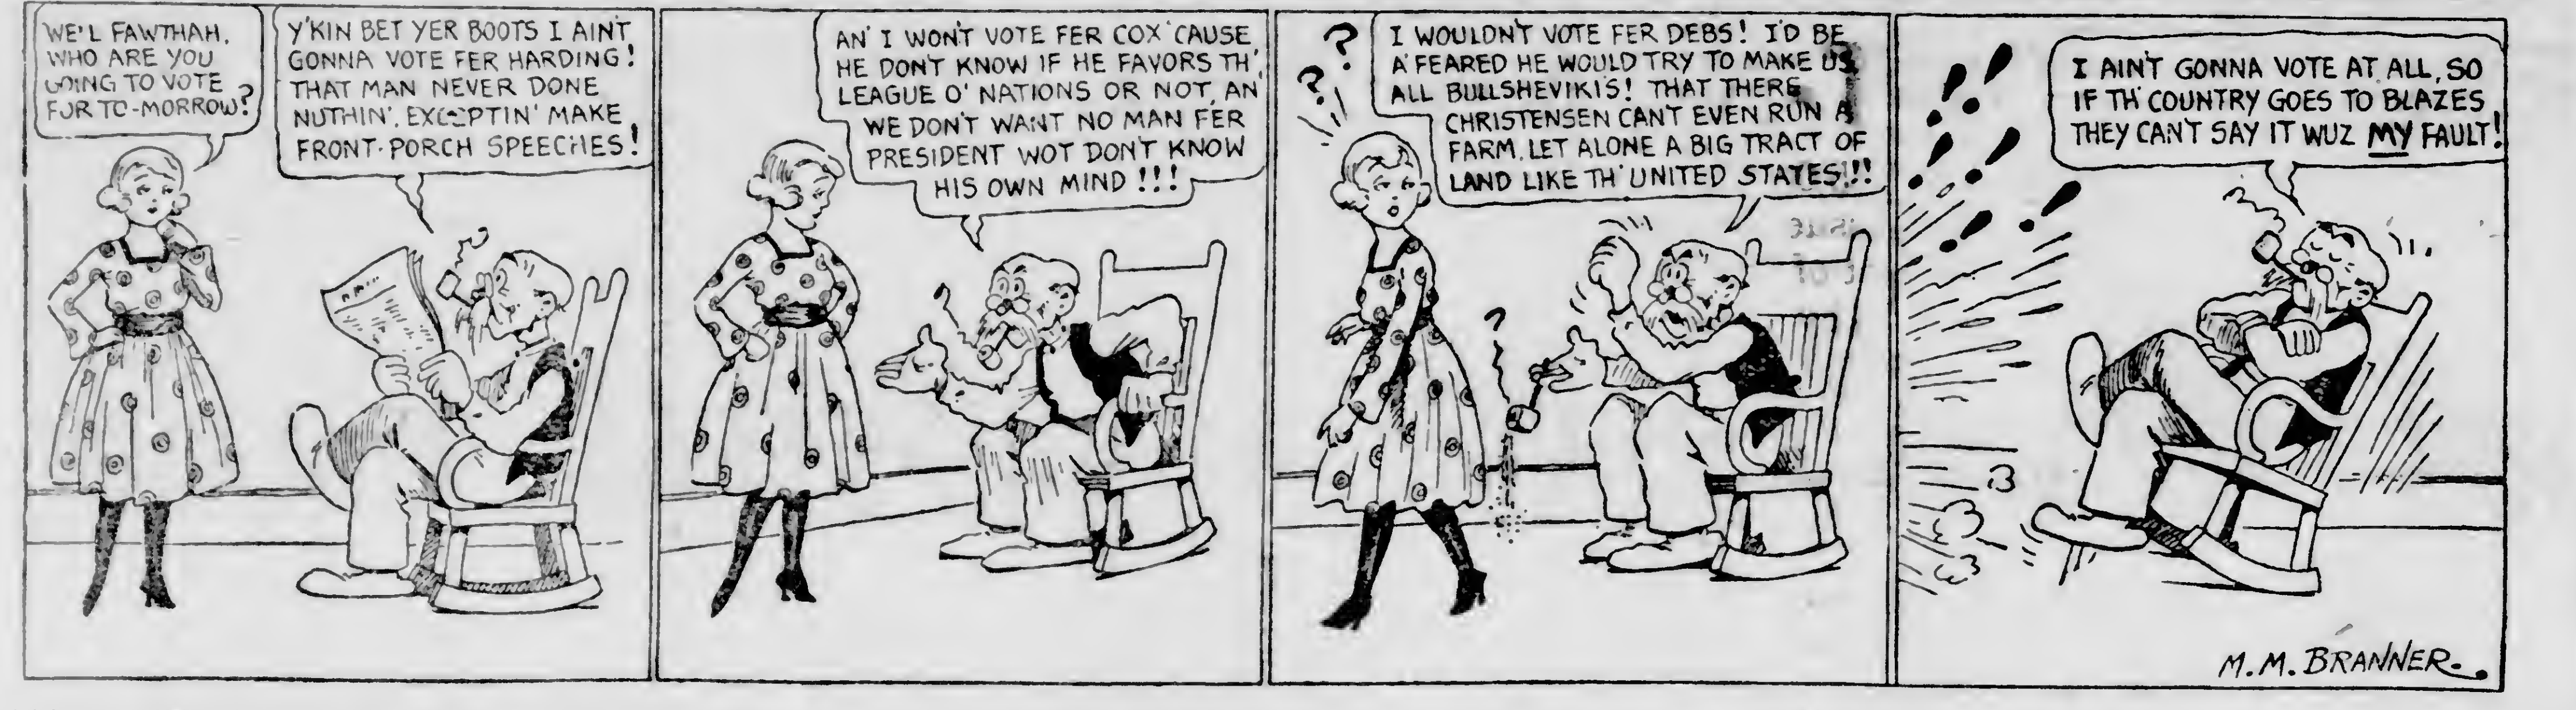
As a churchman, believing in the social creed of the church, which stands for "equal rights and complete justice for all men in all stations of life; for the fullest possible development of every child; for the abatement and prevention of poverty; for the right of all men to opportunity for self-maintenance; for a new emphasis upon the application of Christian principles to the acquisition and use of property," I can not see how any church that is not socially color blind can help but welcome the crusade of the Nonpartisan league.

In St. Paul a convention, representing thousands of farmers, stated as its aim: (1) The making of the government responsive to the will of the people; (2) to eradicate special privilege; (3) to raise the standards of citizenship.

If this be bolshevistic then every true American who cares for the freedom for which our forefathers died will be so branded.

The true colors for such principles are not red, but red, white and blue, and the opponents of such ideals should boldly announce themselves as sailing under the black flag of piracy.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREAD-WINNER.



WELL FAWTHAH, WHO ARE YOU GOING TO VOTE FOR TO-MORROW?
Y'KIN BET YER BOOTS I AIN'T GONNA VOTE FER HARDING! THAT MAN NEVER DONE NUTHIN', EXCEPTIN' MAKE FRONT-PORCH SPEECHES!

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

SPEAKER NOLAN'S DAUGHTER KILLED

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 1.—Two women and one man were killed and another man perhaps fatally injured early Sunday when the automobile in which they were riding left the road and went over a thirty-foot embankment near Deephaven, Lake Minnetonka, about fifteen miles from here.

The dead:

MISS MERCEDES NOLAN, Minneapolis.

MISS HELEN M'GEE, St. Paul.

HARLAND HUDSON, Minneapolis, driver.

James H. Walker, St. Paul, is not expected to recover.

Miss Nolan was the daughter of W. I. Nolan, speaker of the Minnesota house of representatives.

HONOR CORK'S MAYOR.

Butte Sympathizers With Irish Cause March and Hear Speeches.

Butte, Mont., Nov. 1.—More than [illegible]00 Butte citizens marched in a funeral cortege Sunday in honor of the late Lord Mayor MacSwiney of Cork, who died in Brixton prison, England. The procession was headed by more than 100 ex-service men in uniform and a casket borne on a gun carriage was surrounded by a guard of honor.

At a mass meeting held after the procession, attended by thousands, England's stand on the Irish question was bitterly assailed and resolutions adopted denouncing the United Kingdom's manner of dealing with the Irish issue.

Ashland County Tubers Cheap.

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Northern Wisconsin farmers who paid as high as $6 per bushel for seed potatoes last spring are offering them now for 50 or 60 cents a bushel, provided the buyer will take his own purchase away. Potatoes retail for about $1.20 per bushel in Ashland now. Farmers have been selling them at 90 cents and up.

FOR PHYSICAL EDUCATION.

Wisconsin Legislature to Be Asked to Enact Systematic Plan.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 1.—A comprehensive and systematic plan of physical education is recommended by the state board of education in its program to be presented to the coming state legislature. It says that draft statistics revealed a condition of physical defects that is inimical to economic and social efficiency. The plan to be submitted includes:

Definite provision for physical education in course of study from elementary schools through the institutions of higher learning; for regular medical inspection of school children and students in all public schools; for medical and dental treatment for school children; for special school nurses adequate to meet the needs; for athletics that will aim in all schools to reach the entire student body and the subordination of spectacular contests between schools of the highly trained athletes to this end; ample playground and other recreational facilities.

Ashland Debate Draws Crowd.

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The political debate between Prof. De Guire of Barksdale and M. E. Dillon of Ashland brought out the largest crowd that has attended a political meeting in Ashland this fall. Senator Sanborn presided, and St. Agnes hall was packed. Sunday evening Mr. Thompson, La Follette candidate for United States senator, spoke to a large meeting.

Ashland Girl Dies.

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Daisy Utman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Utman, died suddenly Sunday morning. It was not generally known that she had been ill and news of her death was entirely unexpected. Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Utman, her father, is a travelling man, well known throughout Northern Wisconsin, and his family has lived at Ashland many years.

EARLY SCHOOL DAYS TO BE BROUGHT BACK

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 1.—The school days of teachers, attending the fifty-seventh annual convention of the Minnesota Educational association in St. Paul, Nov. 3, 4, 5 and 6, will be recalled by an exhibit of old and rare school books at the Minnesota Historical Society building, during convention week.

Early day dictionaries, books on the theory of teaching and material depicting the development of educational work in the state will vie with the old McGuffy's readers, Webster's spelling books and Daball's arithmetics for recognition at the exhibit, by some of their former readers.

Records of former meetings dating back to 1861 when the association held its first meeting at Rochester, Minn., and other manuscripts will be added to the collection by the manuscripts department of the historical society.

Slates used by pioneer pupils in the Minnesota one-room schools will also be placed on exhibition by the museum of the society.

The exhibits will be open to the public during the entire week of the convention and visiting teachers are urged to visit this building and renew acquaintances with their old and familiar school books.

Bull's Victim Buried.

Pine River, Minn., Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Woodmen conducted funeral rites for W. F. Feakes, who was killed at his farm last week by a vicious bull. The animal, which weighs nearly a ton, nearly killed a man named Peterson about a year ago. Mr. Feakes' failure to return home aroused his wife's suspicions and, going to the barn, Mrs. Feakes found the angry animal trampling Mr. Feakes under its feet. By the time she had called neighbors and the bull was driven off, death had resulted.

Election Returns in Church.

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Election returns will be received tomorrow evening in the parlors of the Methodist church and at other places where women voters can congregate and hear the returns read.

BADGER APPRENTICESHIP LAW POPULAR

Madison, Wis., Nov. 1.—The Wisconsin apprenticeship law has stood the test of its experimental period and is coming to be recognized by employers throughout the country, the industrial commission reports in its allied report to be published soon. In the last two years about 1,000 new indentures have been entered into between employes and apprentices.

Wisconsin is the only state in the Union which has attempted to develop a modern apprenticeship system under state supervision, the report says. The law was passed originally in 1911, but was materially changed in 1915 when the commission organized an apprenticeship department.

The commission says that society should take alarm at the excessive specialization and the disappearance of the all round mechanics who are fast disappearing. Apprenticeship offers one of the most feasable solutions of the problem it says.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Madison, Wis.—Plumbing conditions in Wisconsin are gradually assuming a normal aspect, the quarterly report of the state board of health says: An adequate supply of plumbers and ability to obtain materials with regularity for the first time in three years are given as causes for the change. It appears that there will be a general reduction in costs it was said. Extended activities in the plumbing industry also are looked for.

Eau Claire—Out of more than 1,200 hunting licenses issued to Eau Claire county hunters this fall, County Clerk John N. Nygaard says that approximately 500 also secured tags for deer hunting and will join in the assault on the buck and doe in the northwoods, Nov. 21 to 30.

Madison — A division of military architecture and engineering has been formed, in charge of Maj. Henry C. Hongels, Wisconsin National Guard, the adjutant general's office has announced. This division will have charge of all constructive work for the National Guard under the direction of Adjutant General Orlando Holway.

Ashland—Circuit Judge Risjord rendered an opinion that the additional valuation added to the city on county equalization in 1919 on account of terminal properties assessed by the state was illegal. The city will appeal.

Wautoma—Trial of the suit of Albert Wood of Oasis, against George Scott and others, for $25,000 damages on an allegation of alienation of affections of Mrs. Wood, is in progress before Judge B. B. Park and a jury. On account of the popularity of the litigants, the courtryside gathers in force to hear the evidence and the courtroom is crowded at every session.

Eau Claire — Following notification to their customers and dealers that on Nov. 1 the wholesale price of ice cream would go back to last spring's price and that the price might still go lower, the Eau Claire Creamery company announced that it stood ready to wholesale pasteurized 4 per cent milk to them at 7½ cents a quart.

Ashland — The Clarkson coal dock has received so far this season the largest amount of coal of the three docks in the port of Ashland, in fact they have more coal in their docks than the Reiss or P. and A. docks together, according to Frank Johnson the manager.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Grand Forks, N. D.—Girl students at the university will elect class presidents next Wednesday noon under the same rulings controlling the class elections held last week.

Sanborn, N. D.—Peter Vidas, 29, of Quincy, Ill., is paralyzed from his hips down in a Fargo hospital, and has a slight chance to recover, a victim of highway bandits who secured a contraband of liquor.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Brief funeral services for Mrs. Jane Brown McCumber, who died on Friday evening at 7 o'clock, were held Sunday afternoon from the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Prof. and Mrs. E. F. Chandler. The remains were taken to Fond du Lac, Wis., the former home of the deceased, for burial.

Minot, N. D.—As soon as the election is over, a call will be issued for the annual meeting of the North Dakota Good Roads association which is to be held here early in November.

Fargo, N. D.—A torchlight procession as in the political days of yesteryear was held here Saturday evening in bringing to a close the political campaign of the joint committee of the Democrats and Republicans. J. F. T. O'Connor of Grand Forks, fusion candidate for governor, against Lynn J. Frazier, Nonpartisan, spoke.

Bismarck, N. D.—Armistice day, Thursday, Nov. 11, has been declared a legal holiday in North Dakota in a proclamation issued by Governor Frazier.

Fargo, N. D.—W. C. Laizure, former city treasurer, who left Fargo about five years ago for the West, died suddenly at Omak, Wash., Friday, according to word received here. The funeral will be held here.

Epiphany, S. D.—South Dakota's largest memorial to its soldiers in the World war was unveiled in Epipany. Thousands of persons made the trip here to watch the ceremonies.

Bismarck, N. D.—Mrs. J. J. Doyle of Wishek, wife of Former Representative Doyle of McIntosh county, is at a local hospital with her young son, Walter, who is recovering from an attack of pneumonia.

Bismarck, N. D.—Crystal Springs, Kidderg county, is to have a new industry—a skunk farm. It is to be run on a large scale. A $25,000 company has been formed.

Bismarck, N. D.—Leola Gertrude, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Stiver, died at the home of her parents on Friday after an illness of two weeks. Funeral services were held on Saturday afternoon.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Marquette—Funeral services have been held here for Mrs. Hannah La Branch, 67, pioneer matron, who died Thursday night and is survived by three sons, Philix, of Detroit, John of Salt Lake City, and Joseph of this city.

Negaunee—The tax rate for Negaunee for the current year, it has been authoritatively announced, will be $2.36 per $100 valuation.

Escanaba—R. B. Stack of Escanaba was elected president of the Stack Lumber company to succeed his father, the late John K. Stack. J. K. Stack was elected vice president and Henry M. Stack secretary and treasurer.

Ishpeming—Miss Jennie Maki, maid for Dr. E. G. Robbins, is in Dr. Holm's hospital with her right leg broken in two places, several minor injuries, and suffering from the shock of a bad shaking up as the result of being struck by an automobile, driven at high speed, on the West Ishpeming road.

Calumet—Former Governor Chase S. Osborn of the Sault will speak Friday evening at a public meeting in the high school auditorium, under the auspices of the Calumet Woman's club. In addition to Mr. Osborn's address there was a short program of musical numbers.

Hancock—Announcement is made of the marriage in Detroit Tuesday of this week of Miss Olive Carrigan of Hancock to J. G. Casey of Milwaukee.

Calumet—The Calumet Petroleum company operating in Menco, which sold its holdings to a Buffalo company but will operate elsewhere, has just elected these officers: President, John R. Ryan; vice president, Charles Liebleln; secretary, Burchard Seighman; treasurer, William Forster; general manager, Paul Tommel; directors, John R. Ryan, Charles Lieblein, William Forster, D. C. Harrington, Henry B. Hatch, James Thomas and Joseph Reaney.

Hancock—Funeral services have been held for Matt Matta, 35 years of age, who was killed while at work at the Quincy mine Wednesday evening. He is survived by a widow and one brother, who resides at Coburntown, and one sister, a resident of the East.

Lake Linden—The Torch Lake Business Men's association elected: President, Walter Sutton; vice president, D. K. Macdonald; secretary, A. J. Beaudry; treasurer, Harry Penninger; manager, Miss Margaret C. Harry.

Houghton—The Portage Lake Hockey club elected: President, Dr. E. B. Harkness; vice president, John McCarthy; secretary-treasurer, Howard K. Lean; manager, Thiel Robertson; directors, Jay Lanctot, W. D. Cochran, Ted Stoyle, William Duffney and Dr. P. H. Wilson.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Frazee—William Dupont left with his household goods for Blackduck, where he has a farm, and the family will join him there as soon as he gets the goods moved out to the farm.

Moorhead—The Moorhead state normal school is now second in the state in point of enrollment. St. Cloud heads the normal institutions of the state. The enrollment for 1920 is 900 students at Moorhead, against 1,057 at St. Cloud.

Sleepy Eye—A company has been incorporated here for the manufacture of a new machine for separating wild peas and other seed from wheat. The company will have a capital of $50,000.

Owatonna—Plans are being made by former National Guardsmen who served in the World war to organize a National Guard company to replace Company I, One Hundred and Thirty-sixth infantry (Second Minnesota), which served as a unit of the Thirty-fourth division during the war.

Pine River—George Kline shot a huge black bear out near his home at Wabedo. The bear weighed 350 pounds. The hide was sold to a Minneapolis man to be made into a rug and the meat was disposed of at the meat market.

Brainerd—The body of Private Claire L. Bixby, aged 24, nephew of S. A. Stanley and soldier who died in France of pneumonia on July 4, 1918, was brought to Brainerd for burial, being the first soldier's body brought from overseas. Young Bixby was in Company K, One Hundred and Sixty-fourth regiment, Forty-first division, enlisting from Dickinson, N. D. He was a son of George Bixby and from the ages of 4 to 13 made his home with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Stanley, in Brainerd.

Bemidji—The following committee has been appointed to have charge of the funds and works of the Red Cross in the lower half of Beltrami county: J. P. Lahr, Rev. L. P. Warford, C. L. Pegelow, A. T. Carlson, Mrs. F. S. Arnold, Mrs. A. Lord, Mrs. G. M. Torrance, Dr. Smith and Mrs. Harry Koors. J. W. Elwell was elected treasurer of the fourth roll call drive for new members. C. L. Pegelow was elected chairman of the drive.

Stillwater—Dr. W. W. Andrea, secretary of the Dutch Probation of Prisoners association of Arnheim, Holland, was here Friday, the guest of Warden J. J. Sullivan. Mr. Andrea is in this country making an investigation of the institutions of America, especially the prisons.

Owatonna—Members of the Owatonna post, American Legion, plan a celebration for Armistice day, which will be featured by a banquet attended by the 350 members of the post and a number of other guests and a dancing party.

Bemidji—Daniel Gainey, formerly of this city, now a student at Hamline university, has been appointed advance agent for the Hamline Glee club and has just left for a six weeks' trip through the West on business in connection with the club.

St. Cloud—A real old-fashioned torchlight procession, for which have been ordered 200 torches and 200 banners, will feature the big Republican rally in St. Cloud on election eve, when J. A. O. Preus and Louis Collins, candidates for Minnesota's highest elective offices, will close the campaign here and in Sauk Rapids.

Brainerd—If the rest of Minnesota is like Brainerd, it will take a long time to count the votes on election day, Nov. 2, judged by the heavy registration. The total registration in every one of the five wards of Brainerd is more than 400. The total registration was 3,469.

Fairmont—Fred Garrison, a farmer, may die from injuries received when his clothes caught in a pulley on a grain separator he was tending.

Winona—Another industry was added to Winona's manufactories when the C. Gotzlan & Co. plant began the making of shoes. It is expected 250 pairs per day will be turned out when normal conditions are reached and 250 persons employed.

Are You Human?

A little baby. A little child. Don't they appeal to you? Doesn't your heart yearn to pick them up, to cuddle them close to you, to shield them from all harm? sure it does else you're not human. Being human you love them. Their very helplessness makes you reach out in all your strength to aid them. In health there's no flower so beautiful. In illness there's no night so black.

Save them then. Use every precaution. Take no chance.

When sickness comes, as sickness will, remember its just a baby, just a child and if the Physician isn't at hand don't try some remedy that you may have around the house for your own use.

Fletcher's Castoria was made especially for babies' ills and you can use it with perfect safety as any doctor will tell you. Keep it in the house.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Do the People Know?

Do you know why you are asked to call for Fletcher's Castoria when you want a child's remedy: why you must insist on Fletcher's?

For years we have been explaining how the popularity of Fletcher's Castoria has brought out innumerable imitations, substitutes and counterfeits.

To protect the babies: to shield the homes and in defense of generations to come we appeal to the better judgment of parents to insist on having Fletcher's Castoria when in need of a child's medicine. And remember above all things that a child's medicine is made for children—a medicine prepared for grown-ups is not interchangeable. A baby's food for a baby. And a baby's medicine is just as essential for the baby.

The Castoria Recipe (it's on every wrapper) has been prepared by the same hands in the same manner for so many years that the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and perfection in the product are synonymous.

MOTHERS SHOULD READ THE BOOKLET THAT IS AROUND EVERY BOTTLE OF FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Why Stay Fat?

The answer of most fat people is that exercise and dieting is too hard, too troublesome and too dangerous a method to force the weight down. However, in Marmola Prescription Tablets, all these difficulties are overcome. They are absolutely harmless, entail no dieting or violent exercise, and have the added advantage of cheapness. One little tablet after each meal and at bedtime—as pleasant to eat as candy—will reduce your weight two, three or four pounds a week, and leave no bad results such as wrinkles or flabby skin. A good size box is sold by druggists at the reasonable price of one dollar, or if preferable they may be obtained by sending the amount to the Marmola Co., 94 Garfield Building, Detroit, Mich. They will reach you by mail, prepaid, in plain, sealed cover.

Now that you know this you have no excuse for being too fat, but can reduce two, three or four pounds a week without fear of bad after-effects.

Escaped an Operation

There is nothing in the world a woman so much fears as a surgical operation. Often they are necessary, but often not; and many have been avoided by the timely use of that good old-fashioned root and herb remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If you are suffering from some dread ailment peculiar to your sex, why not profit by the experience of these two women whose letters follow?

These Two Women Saved from Operations.

Cedar Rapids, Ia.—"After the birth of my last child I had such painful spells they would unfit me entirely for my housework. I suffered for months and the doctor said that my trouble was organic ulcers and I would have to have an operation. That was an awful thing to me, with a young baby and four other children, so one day I thought of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and how it had helped me years before and I decided to try it again. I took five bottles of Vegetable Compound and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and since then I have been a well woman, able to take care of my house and family without any trouble or a day's pain. I am ready and thankful to swear by your medicine any time. I am forty-four years old and have not had a day's illness of any kind for three years."—Mrs. H. Koenig, 617 Ellis Blvd, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Sandusky, Ohio.—"After the birth of my baby I had organic trouble. My doctor said it was caused by too heavy lifting and I would have to have an operation. I would not consent to an operation and let it go for over a year, having my sister do my work for me as I was not able to walk. One day my aunt came to see me and told me about your medicine—said it cured her of the same thing. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and they have cured me. Now I do my own housework, washing and ironing and sewing for my family and also do sewing for other people. I still take a bottle of Vegetable Compound every spring for a tonic. I recommend your medicine to others who have troubles similar to mine and you can use my letter if you wish."—Mrs. Paul Papenfuss, 1325 Stone St., Sandusky, Ohio.

DULUTH FAILS TO WIN TITLE

Minneapolis Marines Turn Back Von Machine by 13-to-0 Score.

The Duluth City football team was turned back by a 13-to-0 count in its annual drive for the Minnesota state professional football championship yesterday afternoon at Athletic park when they failed in their efforts to defeat the Minneapolis Marines, holders of the title for a decade.

Duluth showed strong in the opening period, when they seriously threatened to score, carrying the ball to the Marines' one-yard line in the first few minutes of play. With four tries in which to push the pigskin into the Minneapolis stronghold Duluth fell down and the ball went to the visitors, who booted it to the center of the field.

After failing to grab a score which certainly looked like a tapioca, the Duluth eleven seemed to become bewildered and from then on till the final whistle, played a disorganized game in which one mistake of judgment closely followed another until the spectators refused to be fooled any further and accepted every error that came along as if it were part of the program.

Duluth got the ball in the middle of the field after the Marines had punted but failed to gain and the ball again went over to the visitors. Using Fullback Jordon in a succession of plays the Marines forced the ball down the field to the Duluth three-yard line, from which point Sampson went through for a touchdown. Sampson's attempt to kick goal failed. The first half ended with the score 6 to 0 in the visitors' favor.

Von Applies Medicine; Fails.

Between halves Coach Art Von of the Duluth team took his men seriously to task for the boneheaded plays which they made and gave them explicit instructions as to how they were to conduct themselves in the second half, but the advice was wasted, for Duluth played just as miserably in the second half as in the first.

The teams battled on even terms in the third period, which resulted in no scores, although the Marines threatened on two occasions. In the final period Jordon of the visitors scored the second touchdown of the afternoon and Sampson kicked goal.

Russell Method, acknowledged one of the best halfbacks in the Northwest, did not do much for Duluth after the first ten minutes of play had ended. The Duluth star seemed to have an off day. He failed in gaining ground when his chances looked bright and his punting was the worst of the season, on two occasions the ball going straight up in the air inside the Duluth 20-yard line.

Credit must be given to Kielley Sharkey, Caldwell and Strand, who played grand football in the Duluth line. Ryan and Woodward at ends showed up to advantage. But the Duluth backfield fell down all along the line.

The Marines have a high class machine, featuring several star performers, including Tersh, Jordon, Sampson, Cleave, Gaustad, Redeen and Palmer.

The lineup and summary in yesterday's game follows:

Marines—		Duluth—
Christensen	le	Woodward
Palmer	lt	Sharkey
Gaustad	lg	Strand
Nelson	c	Kielley
Norback	rg	Novack
Erickson	rt	Caldwell
Redeen	re	Ryan
Sampson	lh	Method
Cleve	rh	O'Donnell
Jordon	fb	Koziak
Ergen	qb	Bratt

Marines .... 6 0 0 7—13

Summary: Time of quarters—Twelve and fifteen minutes. Touchdowns—Sampson, Cleve. Goals from touchdowns—Sampson, one out of two. Substitutes—Kearns for Bratt, Gibbons for Koziak, McDonald for Strand, Anderson for Woodward, Tersch for Gaustad. Officials—Nye, referee; Wolzak, referee; Seaman, head linesman; Dunn and Gollop, timekeepers.

VIRGINIA EASILY DEFEATS HIBBING

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Virginia City football team defeated the local professional eleven 19 to 0 here yesterday afternoon in the first of a series of two games for the Mesaba range championship. Underwood and Bill Rooney starred for the visitors while Burkman and Murphy went big for Hibbing. A record crowd witnessed the contest which was remarkably free from jangling.

The second game of the series will be played at Virginia next Sunday.

PUGS LINED UP FOR PROMOTERS

Kid McCoy Gets Happy Idea in His Idle Moments.

Kid McCoy advances the idea that state boxing commissions should give each fighter a rating so matchmakers would have something to guide them in arranging cards.

McCoy says there should be no more difficulty in arranging the boxers in their proper classes than the handicapper at the race track has in allotting the weights for a big handicap. Several of these boxing handicaps have been made by men interested in the ring sport.

The following table gives one an idea of the standing of the twenty leading heavyweights:

1—Jack Dempsey
2—Harry Wills
3—Jess Willard
4—Fred Fulton
5—Georges Carpentier
6—Bill Brennan
7—Bartley Madden
8—Billy Miske
9—Bob Martin
10—Gene Tunney
11—Willie Meehan
12—Battling Levinsky
13—Charlie Weinert
14—Frank Moran
15—Tom Cowler
16—Martin Burke
17—Joe Beckett
18—Bob Roper
19—Gunboat Smith
20—Al Reich

Dempsey Belongs on Top.

That Dempsey belongs on top no one will dispute, but as for the others every fan will have his own idea, and all will be different. Harry Wills may not be the next best, but, judging by the way he disposed of Fulton recently, he cannot be rated much lower.

Willard's exact status is something of a mystery. Many persons think he was a great champion when he was at the top of his form, but just as many think he was a false alarm. His present condition is unknown, although he is reported to be training for a comeback against Dempsey next winter. Whether Willard ever was or whether he still is a great fighter, there is one thing that cannot be taken away from him—when it comes to absorbing punishment he is a real iron man. He proved that at Toledo, when he took the worst beating ever handed a champion.

Fulton Rated Fourth.

Fulton deserves to be rated fourth, because none of those classed below him cares to take a chance in the ring with the tall plasterer. Fulton is not of championship caliber, but he is a terror when matched against a second rater. He proved that by practically cleaning up the heavyweight class with the exception of Dempsey, Wills and Willard.

The five men named are the stars of the division. There is a big gap between Carpentier and the next in line. Bill Brennan probably deserves to be rated sixth on the list. He made a fairly good showing against Dempsey, lasting six rounds, whereas most of the men Dempsey faced went to sleep in less than half that number. Brennan has a long list of knockouts to his credit, although 95 per cent of the men he stopped were setups.

Bartley Madden recently held Brennan even, and appears to be his equal in every respect. Madden is not a hard hitter, but he has had plenty of experience and has learned how to take care of himself in any but the fastest company.

Miske's Status in Doubt.

Billy Miske had been out of the ring so long before he met Dempsey recently that his present form is not exactly clear. Dempsey slaughtered him so easily that it looks as though Miske's long illness has ruined him as a fighter. While he was at the top of his form, Miske ranked very close to the top among the contenders.

Bob Martin and Gene Tunney are youngsters just on the threshold of their ring careers. Tunney claims a victory over Martin when both men were in service, but since they returned from France, Martin has met a better class of opponents than Tunney, and on that account he is rated a step higher.

With the exception of Marty Burke and Bob Roper, the rest of the men listed are veterans who are on the down grade. Burke may eventually climb into the first division, but that time appears to be a long way off.

That this handicap is not far wrong is shown by the fact that ten very even matches could be arranged by pairing off the men in the order named.

Superior Beats Eau Claire.

The Superior City football team defeated the Eau Claire eleven, 14 to 7, at Hislop park in Superior yesterday afternoon before a fair sized crowd of enthusiastic fans. The contest was hard fought all the way through and the outcome was in doubt until the finish.

Eruptions of the Skin Cause Torturous Itching

If you are afflicted with any form of skin disorder, you are well acquainted with the flaming, burning itching that these diseases produce.

So many people continue to suffer from eczema, tetter, and other forms of skin disease because they do not seek the source of their suffering, and no disease can be successfully combatted unless attacked at its source.

Skin diseases are caused by an impurity or disorder in the blood, and there is no real and genuine relief within your reach until such impurities are removed.

This explains why disappointment comes from the use of lotions, salves, ointments and other local remedies.

S. S. S. has given great satisfaction in the treatment of these disorders because it is such a thoroughly satisfactory blood purifier. It cleanses the blood of all impurities, and thus counteracts the effects of the germs that attack the skin.

Begin taking S. S. S. today, and if you will write a complete history of your case, our medical adviser will give you expert advice without charge. Address Chief Medical Adviser, 822 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Georgia.

WM A. BRADY
TEX RICKARD
CHAS B. COCHRANE

Here are the three promoters who have been negotiating for the Dempsey-Carpentier battle for the world's heavyweight championship. As originally drawn the contracts called for Dempsey to receive $300,000 and Carpentier $200,000, each fighter to receive 25 per cent of the moving picture rights. William A. Brady, now a New York theatrical man, represents Charles B. Cochrane, an English promoter who holds Carpentier under a contract. They are working with Tex Rickard, who promoted the Jeffries-Johnson match and the Dempsey-Willard fight.

GOPHERS WILL KILL THE CALF

Minnesota Graduates to Have Rousing Home-Coming.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 1.—Alumni and students of the University of Minnesota are preparing for the annual homecoming of old students, Nov. 19 and 20, and on the latter date will be staged the first Michigan game that has been played on Northrup field in recent years.

The proposed program for Nov. 19 calls for a Glee club and band recital in the Armory at 8 p. m. Addresses will be made by President L. D. Coffman, Former President M. J. Burton, now president of the University of Michigan, and the governor-elect of Minnesota, as the result of tomorrow's election. At 10:30 p. m., there will be a "pep-fest" on the university parade, after which the alumni and undergraduate dance will be held in the Armory.

Nov. 20, after convocation in the morning and registration of alumni at the library, there will be a parade of undergraduates and alumni by classes, ending at the parade ground, where freshmen classes of the various colleges of the university will stage a bag rush, pushball contest and similar games. The Minnesota-Michigan game is set for the afternoon, followed by open house in fraternity and sorority houses, Shevlin hall and the Minnesota union.

The general chairman is George L. Lindsey, Minneapolis, and the executive committee includes: Herbert Lefkovitz, George Lewis and Helen Hauser, all of St. Paul, and Vernon Williams, Mora, Minn.

Chairmen of special committees are: William G. MacLean, Minneapolis; E. W. Cornell, Minneapolis, subchairman publicity; Edward Jaeger, Minneapolis, alumni registration; William Freng, St. Paul, pep-fest; Kenneth Owens, Minneapolis, buttons; Frank J. Tupa, Minneapolis, tickets; George Lamb, St. Paul, special stunts; W. L. Beard, St. Paul, "frosh-soph" scrap; Reine Pino, St. Paul, open house; David Bronson, Stillwater, entertainment; Stanley Hahn, Ironwood, Mich., decoration; Rheuben Bamburg, Eveleth, posters and magazine covers. The magazine program will be prepared by Sterling Peck, Minneapolis, chairman, and O. F. Beeman, Minneapolis, business manager.

ST. JOHN'S COLLEGE HAS STRONG LINEUP

Collegeville, Minn., Nov. 1.—St. John's college will have a decided jump on other members of the Minnesota college conference when the general call for basket ball candidates is issued as the end of the football season.

The local school did not put a football team into the field this season, following precedent, but the basket ball squad has been taking light workouts in preparation for the coming season.

St. John's basket ball team has always been in the thick of the basket ball running and prospects for this season's team are better than usual.

Hamline, St. Thomas, Carleton, St. Olaf and Gustavus Adolphus have a few basket ball candidates, not on the football squad, taking light workouts. Macalester, handicapped by the lack of an adequate gymnasium, is usually a short ender in the basket ball season, but efforts will be made this year to give the team an opportunity to develop in a suitable gymnasium. There are prospects of a Mac gymnasium being constructed, if a drive for funds now under way is successful.

ANSWER COMPLAINTS OF U. S. ATHLETES

New York, Nov. 1.—The American Olympic committee, in a preliminary statement replying to complaints by some members of the Olympic games athletes regarding accommodation to and from Antwerp on the transport Princess Matoika, today said that unavoidable circumstances made impossible better treatment of the athletes. A more complete report of the committee will be made on Dec. 4.

Financial handicaps and the sudden shift from the expected use of the transport Northern Pacific were given as factors in the unsatisfactory treatment.

COL. WOODS RUMORED NEW BASEBALL CHIEF

New York, Nov. 1.—Reports that Col. Arthur Woods, former police commissioner of New York city, has been offered the position as head of the reorganized national commission to control baseball were current in sporting circles here yesterday.

ILLINOIS AND OHIO IN LEAD

Defeats Next Saturday Would Give Five Teams Chance at Title.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—The half-way mark in the Western Conference football season finds Illinois and Ohio State tied for first place, but neither team showing sufficient consistent strength in Saturday's victories to give it a tight hold on the top rung of the ladder, although both at times displayed latent power that may develop highest skill.

Next Saturday's games are expected to leave Ohio State or Illinois—or both—virtually a clear field to fight it out for first honors, or to so complicate the race that there will be no choice between several teams.

Illinois plays Chicago here and Ohio State meets Michigan at Columbus. Victory for the two leaders would leave Wisconsin as the only real obstacle in their path, but a defeat for each and the victory for Wisconsin over Minnesota would find Illinois, Ohio State, Wisconsin, Michigan and Chicago fighting for the top row in the standing with each having a chance at first place.

BOXING SHOWS AT NEW ARMORY

Palatial Auditorium Will Be Used by Duluth Athletic Club.

Duluth boxing fans will be housed in the palatial New Armory at the next show of the Duluth Athletic club which will be staged on Friday, Nov. 12, when Kid Alberts, prominent Duluth lightweight, will meet Neil Allison of Morgan Park in the main bout of a card which will probably include thirty-eight rounds of boxing.

All of the winter shows of the D. A. C. will be pulled off at the Armory, providing the fans are careful in their conduct so that the furniture and building will not be damaged. The Armory is one of the finest buildings of its kind in the state and will comfortably seat 3,500 people.

The coming boxing show will be the first mitten carnival ever held in the Armory, a rule against renting the building to promoters of athletic shows having been adopted by the Armory board several years ago, in the Armory days, when the fans were in the habit of carrying beer and whisky to the entertainments. The high class of the Duluth A. C. shows, which have been witnessed by the members of the Armory board, made it easy for the directors to waive aside the long-standing rule.

Both Alberts and Allison have gone into training for their ten-round bout which is certain to attract one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a boxing show in this city.

OPEN FOOTBALL TITLE.

State University Will Not Conduct High School Finals.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 1.—The state high school football championship this season promises to be an open title due to the decision by the University of Minnesota not to conduct a final elimination contest as in former years. This decision was reached as the result of the unsatisfactory result of last season's championship games played at Northrop field.

In many instances this season especially good high school teams have been developed, but the schedule arrangement is such that reaching a definite decision regarding the relative merits of the teams will be as uncertain as the methods usually employed in picking an all-state team.

LEGION MAY ORGANIZE BASKET BALL LEAGUE

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 1.—American Legion basket ball leagues, which have been organized in several districts throughout the state for play during the coming winter for district championships, may lead to the formation of a state league which will decide the state championship by an elimination meet in one of the larger gymnasiums in the state, according to those interested.

At a recent meeting held in Montevideo, decision was reached to organize a basket ball league for that district. The announcement was followed by meetings in other districts, where leagues are to be formed for the winter play. Among members of the legion are enough basket ball players of university, college and independent experience to assure first-class performers for virtually every post.

Packers Out for Title.

Green Bay, Wis., Nov. 1.—The Council Packers' football team of this city took another step toward the state football championship yesterday by defeating the crack Beloit football team here, 7 to 0.

Football Injuries Fatal.

Pharr, Tex., Nov. 1.—Nelson Demange, 19, left halfback of the Pharr-San Juan high school football team, died yesterday afternoon following an operation necessitated by injuries received in a football game Friday afternoon.

DULUTH CENTRAL LOSES TO SAINTS

The Duluth Central high school football team returned from St. Paul yesterday where it was defeated, 26 to 13, last Saturday in their annual game with the St. Paul Central high.

The returning players state that Marshall and Anderson of the local eleven played a great game and were roundly complimented on their showing.

The Duluth team will begin tuning up this week for its game with Superior Central which will be staged at Athletic park next Saturday afternoon.

The lineup and summary in the Duluth Central-St. Paul Central game follows:

St. Paul—		—Duluth.

ST. PAUL PEOPLE CALL FOR MORE GOLF LINKS

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 1.—Hundreds of persons got the "golf bag" for the first time this season, according to announcement made by those in charge of municipal courses here, and players are urging that additional links be supplied for the coming year.

The one municipal course in this city has been continually crowded from early summer, with the prospect of the congested condition obtaining until players are forced to discontinue the game because of heavy snow. At least two additional clubs, not of an exclusive nature, are in prospect, and city commissioners are giving attention to recommendations that additional tracts should be provided to accommodate the increasing number of players.

Two Harbors Defeated.

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Ashland City football team defeated Two Harbors, 32 to 0, here yesterday afternoon in a one-sided game that was played in a northeast gale. The game was fast and well played throughout.

CONTEMPT FOR PROGRESSIVES

Shown by the Republican Managers, Says Franklin Roosevelt.

New York, Nov. 1.—The final pre-election statement by Franklin D. Roosevelt was issued yesterday. It is as follows:

"Four months of a long uphill fight have come to a close. Seldom before in American political history have candidates on one national ticket had to face such a carefully organized opposition. It has been an opposition appealing to all that is negative and most that is sordid in human nature. We started out against fearful odds. The nation was in a state of unrest—a let-down following the tension of war. This state of mind was capitalized by Republican campaign managers. In addition to this, they sought to influence the prejudices of foreign-born citizens. Finally, it is well known that the whole support of the present Republican machinery comes from the group of interests and politicians in the United States which, after twenty years, can still best be described as the executors and legatees of the political will of Mark Hanna.

Opposed to Progressivism.

"Starting with the Chicago convention the Republican managers have shown a cynical and contemptuous disregard of everything that progressives have stood for in both parties.

"It has been difficult to bring both sides of the campaign before the voters because of the simple fact that a larger majority of the newspapers have passed into Republican control.

"Governor Cox and I have made a very sincere effort to point out the basis rather than the superficial issues of the campaign. If the voters realize that this is a deep-seated struggle between two different conceptions of government—that is, it is the old fight between the progressively minded men and the reactionists, the result on election day will furnish an overwhelming surprise to the old-fashioned prognosticator.

"Lastly, the whole conduct of the campaign in regard to the single paramount issue of the League of Nations is in line with the foregoing. On the one side a clearcut program for the future for the carrying out of the highest purpose of our participation in the war, for the progressive accomplishment of a new purpose—on the other side a backward going policy which would result in a return the international relationship of 1914, or a policy of American nationalization with its corresponding burden of huge armaments.

"These are the fundamentals. A realization of them by men and women of the United States on election day will bring only one possible result—the repudiation of Senator Harding as the representative of reaction at home and abroad."

FIRST STORM OF WINTER DUE; SNOW, COLD, GALE PROMISED

Duluth is in for a regular session of winter, with snow, gale-like winds and a considerable drop in temperature, according to H. W. Richardson, local weather observer. This afternoon the program is expected to open with a rather heavy fall of snow, continuing tonight and tomorrow. The wind will reach gale-like velocity from the northeast, but tonight it will shift to west and to northwest by Tuesday morning.

The temperature will drop tonight to about 25 deg. and hover around 30 deg. tomorrow. Snow flurries and continued cold is the forecast for tomorrow.

Storm warnings were ordered up at 6 o'clock last night.

Record Stumpage Sale.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 1.—The state treasury was enriched approximately $500,000 as a result of one of the most successful sales of state-owned stumpage at public auction in the office of J. A. O. Preus, state auditor, it is announced. The stumpage was assessed at a valution of about $239,640. More than 100 buyers attended the auction. Many bids ranged as high as 450 per cent more than the assessed valuation. The prices paid were unprecedented.

Snow Slide Kills Four.

Twin Bridges, Mont., Nov. 1.—Four men are dead and one seriously injured as a result of a snow slide at the Pete and Joe mine, fifteen miles northeast of this city late Saturday. The men, who were in the sorting head of the mine, were killed when the building was demolished by an avalanche of snow which crashed down upon the cabin from the mountain above.

Democrats for Preus.

Baudette, Minn., Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Practically every Democrat in Baudette has announced his intention of supporting J. A. O. Preus for governor to defeat the Townley nominee. This does not mean that they have deserted their party, as they are still supporting the national ticket, but in state affairs they see the menace of Nonpartisan control, and they will vote for Preus.

RE-ELECT CONGRESSMAN CARSS

Mr. Carss has put up a clean campaign, free from abuse and personal attacks. He has carried his message to the voters in an honest and straightforward manner, so much so that even his opponents admit that he is a fair fighter.

The voters of the Eighth district know that Congressman Carss has made good. They are familiar with his record and know that he voted right on every question that came before Congress; that record has not been attacked. It cannot be attacked. He has been American through and through. He has voted and worked for labor. He has supported the people's side on every question. When issues between Privilege and the People came up he voted just as the average man would have him vote. That is why voters generally are supporting him for re-election to Congress.

Mr. Carss is better equipped to represent his district in Congress than he was two years ago. He has had the experience now that he did not have then. He made good during his first term. He will do better during his second term.

Our friends are warned to beware of eleventh-hour roorbacks. Do not be carried away by bandwagon methods. The landslide will be for Congressman Carss if every voter does his or her duty tomorrow. He is for labor and all the people. He is for America now as he was during the war. No nationalities—no races—no classes—WE ARE ALL ONE PEOPLE—AMERICANS!

PUT AN (X) AFTER THE NAME OF WILLIAM L. CARSS TOMORROW AND YOU WILL MAKE NO MISTAKE. CONGRESSMAN CARSS IS THE TYPE OF MAN THE PEOPLE CAN BANK ON.

We, and thousands of other citizens of this judicial district, are supporting Clarence R. Every citizen, whether high or low, rich or poor, can depend upon having equal justice meted out to him in every matter which may be brought before Judge Magney.

Citizens should be very careful before they give credit to statements made at the close of the campaign for partisan effect, with the thought of prejudicing those who are not acquainted with Mr. Magney. Those who know him and have had an opportunity to judge him, know that he stands for all that is sound and fundamental in American government.

STATEMENT BY JOSEPH BECKS

Many of the voters of the Fifth Commissioners' District have been told that I belong to, and have been endorsed by the Nonpartisan league. I want to state that these reports are false and are being circulated by my political enemies with a view to discrediting me with the voters.

I am also accused of extravagant expenditures of the taxpayers' money, but my record as county commissioner during the past four years is an open book and I invite every taxpayer to investigate this record and judge for himself. My efforts have always been in the interest of careful economy in the matter of public expense.

My opponent is resorting to desperate methods to help land him back in the county commissioner's office from this district.

He held the office for 16 years, was defeated 4 years ago, and now would like to come back for life.

I will not be surprised at any statement my opponent may make, nor will I be surprised at any reports he may cause to be circulated about me in the eleventh hour in order to win favor with the voters.

Don't you think that my efforts to serve you honestly and faithfully deserve re-election? I am a practical road and bridge builder and have put in all my time in the work of my office.

I trust that my efforts during the past four years to serve the citizens of the Fifth Commissioners' District in an honest and faithful manner will merit their support and vote next Tuesday, Nov. 2. Respectfully,

JOSEPH BECKS.

JUDGE DIBELL IS IN DANGER

Declared Up to St. Louis County to Re-Elect Him.

Judge Homer B. Dibell, candidate for re-election to the supreme bench, is in grave danger.

That is the announcement that comes from bench and bar of the state, and his supporters everywhere are urged to get busy today and tomorrow to see to it that he is given the support that will return him a winner over George Siegel, Nonpartisan league candidate.

Senator C. E. Adams and other attorneys have received letters which cause much apprehension concerning Judge Dibell's chances for re-election. It would appear that the Nonpartisan league organization has been making a house to house canvass throughout many counties and threaten to roll up a heavy vote for their man, and attorneys everywhere are admittedly alarmed.

Up ot St. Louis County.

"St. Louis county principally, and Hennepin and Ramsey counties, secondly, nominated Judge Dibell in June," said Senator Adams this morning, "and I believe it is up to them to elect him.

"I deeply regret to say that scores of good men with whom I have talked are woefully ignorant of the actual conditions and apparently never dream that the judge can be beaten. This feeling must be dissipated if he is to land. The best we can expect is a close decision and every voter who wishes the sacredness and ability of the court preserved should not only vote for Judge Dibell but must work for him.

"We want a majority here that will offset any leads which the Nonpartisan league may have elsewhere."

HARDING SAYS ISSUES CLEAR

Declares Country Has Already Answered "No" on League.

Marion, Ohio, Nov. 1.—In a final campaign statement last night to the American people, Senator Harding declared Tuesday's election would turn on two clearly drawn issues—the Paris League of Nations and a constructive domestic policy. The league issue as presented by the Democrats, said the Republican nominee, could be summed up simply in this question:

"Shall we enter the Paris League of Nations, assuming among other obligations the obligation of Article 10?"

To this query, he said, the Democrats answered "yes," and the Republicans answered "no."

The Republican candidate asserted also that the country already had answered "no," and that in consequence the Democrats had sought to "deceive" the people as to the real nature of the league by making it appear that the Republicans were opposed to any international association at all.

Clean Cut Issue.

In domestic affairs, he declared, there was a clean cut issue between the "follies" of the Wilson policies and a "definite constructive policy" proposed in detail by the Republicans.

The senator made public also a telegram to all Republican nominees for the senate, saying that the people everywhere must understand that choice of a Republican senate "will be a contribution to a united America ready to go forward to new confidence and new achievements."

The candidate has made his last speech before election, and his statement to the people last night was issued as his final word on the issues of the campaign. Its text follows:

"Two issues are made by the voters in this campaign. One of them is the foreign policy of the United States. The other is the domestic policy of the United States.

"Between our Democratic opponent and the American people who are supporting the Republican party these issues are clearly drawn.

Steady Attempt to Deceive.

"There has been a steady attempt to deceive the people as to the issue of our foreign policy. There has been an attempt by the Democratic leaders to make the American people believe that the Republican policy is against America entering into a fraternity of nations to prevent war and to co-operate for peace. This is a deceit, and, of course, is an attempt to blind the people to the League of Nations issue as it was framed by the Democratic leaders and by the Democratic platform.

"The issue as presented by the Democratic administration and its representatives in this campaign is simply the queston: 'Shall we enter the Paris League of Nations assuming among other obligations, the obligation of Article X?'

"The answer of the Democratic group is 'yes.' The answer of the Republican party and its candidate is 'no.'

"The reason for answering 'no' to the question drawn by our opponents is that America is not ready to mortgage her conscience to the Old World to engage to send her boys to war to carry on an European controversy, or place her resources at the beck and call of a group of shrewd diplomats acting for an armed alliance masked under the benevolent title of the League of Nations.

Answer Is No.

"America has already given her answer to the proposal to give up our nationality and our flag. That answer is 'no,' and 'no' is the answer of the Republican party.

"My Democratic opponent hearing that decisive 'no' would like to change the issue. They have presented and make an issue on the question of what our party will do about a League of Nations.

"I have told them what I would do. I told them I would do my best to unite America behind a plan for an association of nations which we may join with safety, honor and good conscience but without selling our birthright for a mess of military pottage. I have said from first to last in this campaign that I would consult the senate and consult the people because I am deeply impressed with the utter failure and waste of an executive policy of fabricating a League of Nations first and consulting America afterward.

"I want to consult America first and take a course which will unite America and make it possible to join a world fraternity of nations, rather than a course which will divide America and make it impossible for us to do anything. A Democratic victory means a continued deadlock with the senate, which has been so fruitless and will be fruitless forever."

A Sure Way to End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Advertisement.

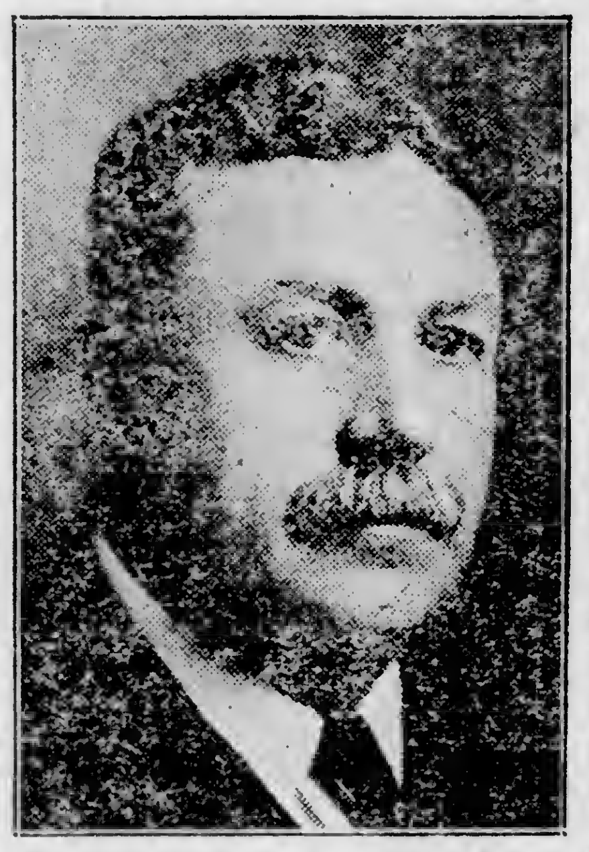
VOTE FOR CHARLES KAUPPI

FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER, FIFTH DISTRICT



If you want a county commissioner absolutely without gang or clique support.

If you want a county commissioner who will use his efforts to develop roads for the farmers instead of using the county funds as they are now and have been for the past four years in the interests of millionaire land owners.

A business man who has the respect of his employes and business associates; a man with a definite program for progress and betterment in the Fifth Commissioner's District and St. Louis County.

A candidate who will stand after election as he does now—for better roads and lower taxes.

A friend of your schools and a booster for better school equipment.

Advocate of the eight-hour day.

A proponent of the "square deal for labor" and the "square deal for capital." No more, no less for either. I have served as County Commissinoer before and my record of faithful service is an open book, which I invite every voter to study.

In all the 30 years' residence in West Duluth and the Fifth Commissioner's District, I have never failed to stand for all that is best in civic affairs and I have never been a radical on any issue.

The Fifth District farmers need good roads so they can bring their produce to the market for sale. Under the present commissioner, Becks, they have been given very little consideration, but instead the Duluth-Iron Range road, the Canadian Northern Railway, Great Northern Power Company and other rich interests have been favored in the way of work that amounts to thousands of dollars that should have been given the farmers.

Under Commissioner Becks about $300,000 will be spent this year in the engineering department instead of for actual road work, now so much needed by the farmers.

In 1913-1916, when Charles Kauppi was commissioner, county road levies were $1,935,378.47.

In 1917-1920, when Becks was commissioner, county road levies were $5,995,965.31, or $4,010,586.84 more than in Mr. Kauppi's last term, besides, and the roads of the Fifth District are in poorer shape now than they were then!

Mr. Becks asserts that he had added 252 miles of road to the district in four years. He hasn't added fifty miles, though he has four superintendents and over a hundred foremen constantly on the payroll.

I respectfully solicit your support and vote on Tuesday, November 2.

JOHNSON APPOINTED LEGION MAN DEPUTY CLERK AT HIBBING

To My Friends, New and Old, Everywhere in the County:

J. P. JOHNSON
CLERK OF DISTRICT COURT

I must meet POLITICAL CLAP-TRAP. It is glibly charged that I declined to appoint a particular ex-service man as Deputy Clerk of the District Court at Hibbing. I did, and I had good reasons.

BUT I APPOINTED ANOTHER EX-SERVICE MAN—A MEMBER OF THE AMERICAN LEGION, IN HIS STEAD.

My opponent tells you a half truth only. The man I appointed, Mr. William P. Furlong of Hibbing, was the first applicant for the position. He is at least equally well qualified with the other applicant, was indorsed by many of the best citizens of Hibbing, and I believe will render excellent service to the public. What more need I say?

Throughout the war and since, my office has gladly and without charge aided the service men almost constantly and in every way we could.

Mr. Shaver has the indorsement of the Nonpartisan league. He is welcome to it. Let him make the most of it. The Nonpartisan league does not include all nor the best of organized labor.

The extreme radicals and the I. W. W. may not vote for me, but I am proud of the support of honest, progressive and right-minded working men in every line. Among them, I know, are many warm personal friends.

I have lived and worked in St. Louis county for 50 years. My assistants are most courteous and efficient. Others have said of my office, "No office in the state is more admirably managed."

I cordially invite your hearty support,

J. P. JOHNSON.

TO THE MEN AND WOMEN VOTERS OF THE ELEVENTH JUDICIAL DISTRICT:

For over three years I was Mayor of Duluth. During my administration the people of this district became familiar with my manner of life, my political views, my official thought and action and with my loyalty to my country and to the principles for which she stands.

I have not changed over night. I have not sold out my principles and am not bound to and have not solicited the support of any faction, element or clique. If elected to the Bench, I am absolutely free to administer justice impartially.

My opponents, and especially the Duluth News Tribune, at the eleventh hour are attempting to create prejudice against me alone on account of the indorsement of Judge Cant, Judge Fesler and myself by the Working People's Nonpartisan Political League. This indorsement was wholly voluntary on the part of this League, and Judge Cant, Judge Fesler and myself have all accepted the same. I know of no candidate who has repudiated the voluntary support of anyone.

I welcome the support of all good citizens and, if elected Judge, I will be Judge of all the people. Sincerely,

C. R. MAGNEY.

Former Mill Cityite Found Dead.

Grand Marais, Minn., Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—His suspicions being aroused because no smoke was seen coming from the chimney of the home of Ole Erickson, aged 70, living alone in Colvill, seven miles from here, Edward Kluck, a neighbor, investigated last week, and found him dead sitting on the bottom steps of the stairs leading to the second story. Coroner Johnson decided death resulted from natural causes. Mr. Erickson came here a few years ago from Minneapolis, where he once ran a grocery on Washington avenue.

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT—Inserted by and on behalf of Warren E. Greene, Duluth, Minn., candidate for Judge of District Court. Amount paid, $60.48.

Mr. Greene's Reply to the Attack Upon Him

IN SATURDAY evening's issue of The Herald a most scurrilous and unfair attack was made upon me by the Working People's Nonpartisan League and one of my opponents. It was stated in substance that before the primaries I had a conversation with the chairman of their committee in which I "pleaded" for their support and was willing to sacrifice Judge Cant to get it. I have never talked with a representative of the Working People's Nonpartisan League, as far as I know. I have never solicited the support of the Nonpartisan League or any of its branches or the support of radicals or I. W. W. I have solicited the support of all other workingmen, and I have received it. As to the charge that I was willing to sacrifice Judge Cant, I have never said or intimated any such thing. For many years I have valued Judge Cant as a close personal, as well as professional friend. From the day I filed, I have advocated his election in speech, letter, circular and advertisement. In the very paper containing the attack I did so. Every man that I have talked to can testify to it. If the people of this district who have known me for 18 years wish to believe such a thing, very well. Judge Cant doesn't believe it, because he has told me so.

Concerning the indorsement of my opponent by the Nonpartisan League, the circular stated: "Bear in mind that the committee has allowed Judge Richard Funck to withdraw from the judicial race, and that it has indorsed C. R. Magney after he had been interviewed by the committee."

That the Working People's Nonpartisan Political League is a branch of the Townley organization is not denied. It could not be in view of the fact that the circular was a Shipstead circular. That the interview and indorsement took place is not denied, but it is attempted to be excused by bringing in the old judges. Why? My opponent claims that this indorsement is the same as an indorsement by the 65 unions of this city. If it is, he ought to be proud of it. If it is, it is not a matter to be excused at all, but he is excusing it. No other interpretation can be placed upon the act of printing the pictures and using the names of the old judges. What have they to do with it?

The fact is, the indorsements are not the same at all. The old judges were indorsed last spring without solicitation, without being interviewed and without their knowledge. Mr. Magney was indorsed after he had been "interviewed." What took place at this interview? Who was there? What was said and who said it? What questions were asked and what answers given? We have not been told. Why were the detailed facts of this interview not given to the people in order that they might draw their own conclusions. They are capable of doing so. Why were Mr. Magney's campaign cards sent out with the League literature? The campaign cards of the old judges were not furnished to the League or circulated by them.

I appeal to the American sense of fair play. I have conducted a clean, upstanding campaign as everyone knows. At the last moment I am subjected to a most vicious attack. Now, I have a high regard for the judicial position. It is a place of dignity and responsibility. In this district it has always been a place toward which the people have looked with respect, and to which they could appeal confident of receiving fair treatment and justice. It is my idea that a campaign for that position should be conducted on the same high plane. It is, therefore, deeply regrettable that my opponents should have injected this element into it. I regret the necessity of answering such an attack. But to prevent misapprehension it had to be done. Now that it is done, I trust the matter is ended.

I WANT THESE FACTS CLEARLY UNERSTOOD:

I am not indorsed by the Nonpartisan League.

I never solicited their support.

I have never expected it.

I am, and always have been, a great believer in the sound judgment and firm patriotism of the laboring man.

I always have, and do now solicit the support of all thorough-going 100% American workingmen.

In their attack they talk of fairness. Was it fair to use the pictures of Judges Cant and Fesler with that of my opponent and link their names together, without their knowledge or consent? This was an obvious attempt to create the impression that they were lending their prestige and support to my opponent. You may be certain that neither of them desires to do any such thing. Throughout this campaign they have most carefully refrained from using their influence in support of any of the candidates for the third place. This was a proper attitude for them to take and they still maintain it. Was that fair?

"[illegible] companies have coal but will [illegible]ver it," said one of the dealers [illegible]ning. "It has got to the point [illegible] something must be done at once [illegible] the West Duluth people will not [illegible] The companies have been [illegible] promises, but now the weather has got cold and promises will not keep us warm."

Coal dealers of West Duluth say that they have so far received only from one-third to one-half of what coal they ordered and that at present they are given no assurances as to when they will receive the balance. One coal dealer charged that the Pittsburgh Coal company officials had stated that there was plenty of coal on its dock but that the company did not propose to load any of it on cars for West Duluth dealers.

"One dealer has had eight cars of coal ordered from one of the local companies since April 1 and has not yet got a single carload," said a dealer this morning. "The company which received the order has plenty on the docks but so far has only given this dealer promises."

It is charged that the coal companies are delivering coal on cars for outside points and to their customers uptown but refuse to do anything for the West Duluth people. The dealers in West Duluth are said to be back of the meeting tonight and invite the public to attend.

Two Fires Extinguished.

The Zenith Box & Lumber company building, Forty-third avenue west and Second street, caught fire yesterday. The damage was slight. It is thought the blaze was caused by a defective heating system. The roof of the residence at 128 North Sixty-first avenue west took fire at an early hour this morning. Damage was slight.

HIS TEAM LEADS CITY IN "Y" DRIVE

MELVIN OLSON.

Melvin Olson, captain of one of the teams in the Y. M. C. A. drive during the three-day campaign last week, assisted by E. George Kreidler, led the entire city for memberships procured for the association with a total of ninety-five new members. The entire membership obtained by these two was for the West Duluth association and amounts to better than one-third of the total won by the teams working in West Duluth during the campaign.

The team captained by Carl E. Staky got second place with a total of eighty-eight members. S. M. Strain took third place and Dr. E. W. F. Boerner fourth. The total membership enrolled for the West Duluth "Y" will be close to 300 without counting the junior memberships. The actual total will not be known for a day or two, some of the teams not having made complete reports.

The West Duluth Y. M. C. A. building will be completed and turned over to the association by Dec. 1, according to the contractors. This will enable the association to open the building for its members about Dec. 15. In the meantime the new members have the privilege of using the uptown building. It is announced that classes and teams for various activities will be formed shortly after the building will be opened.

The Gary district reported that 160 new members had been enrolled. For the boys' department the team captained by Carl Nelson led with a total of twenty-seven members.

PLANS FOR PROPOSED NEW BETHANY HOME

The directors of Bethany Children's home will meet in the office of Andrew Johnson in the Palladio building, Wednesday morning, to devise means of meeting the present expenses of the temporary home. They also will consider plans for raising funds for the new home.

It is estimated that the new home will cost $75,000. It will not be built upon the site of the old home which was recently destroyed by fire if another may be procured because of its proximity to the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad tracks. The new home will include many new features in this kind of a building and will be capable of housing 150 children. There will be a baby ward, gymnasium, manual training room, kindergarten and two rooms for use as a hospital.

It is costing $1,000 a month to maintain fifty children in the temporary home. Otto Swanstrom is chairman of the board of directors.

B. A. Y. Will Initiate.

A class of candidates will be admitted to membership of the Nonexcelled homestead No. 276, Brotherhood of American Yeoman, at Tuesday night's meeting to be held in the West Duluth Commercial club rooms, North Central avenue. A social hour will follow the degree work. Mrs. Axel Bergren is chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Open House for Moose.

West Duluth lodge, No. 1478, Loyal Order of the Moose, will hold open house for its members tomorrow night. A social hour is planned and arrangements have been made for getting election returns up to a late hour. Refreshments will be served. A special program is being planned by the social committee.

Swedish Baptist Notes.

The monthly business meeting of the members of the Third Swedish Baptist church, Fifty-ninth avenue west and Ramsey street, will be held at the church at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening. Wednesday evening the junior choir will meet at the church at 7:30 and the adult choir at 8 o'clock. There will be prayer meeting at 8 p. m. Thursday evening.

AUTO HITS LIGHT POLE; SEVERAL SLIGHTLY INJURED

J. G. Anderson, 804 North Thirteenth avenue east, and a party of friends riding in a Dodge car, struck a light pole at Central avenue and Elinor street Sunday morning. Several occupants of the car received slight injuries. The car was badly demolished. Anderson told the West Duluth police that there was no light at this point, and that he did not see that the street had been closed off until it was too late to make the turn.

Asbury Methodist Notes.

The Methodist Men's Club of West Duluth will have a banquet at Asbury church tonight at 8 o'clock.

Tuesday evening the Girl Scouts of Troop 4 will meet at the church. The Epworth league will have a cabinet meeting at parsonage.

Wednesday afternoon the ladies' aid will meet with Mrs. John Willis, 205 North Fifty-seventh avenue west.

Thursday evening prayer and Bible study will be held at the church at 7:30.

Friday evening the Boy Scouts of Troop 5 will meet at the church.

October Police Report.

The report of the West Duluth police for October, 1920, show thirty-eight arrests against forty for October of last year. The arrests for October of this year were made on a wide variety of charges. Two were arrested for violation of parole, ten for keeping a blind pig, fourteen for drunkenness, one for drunkenness and disorderly conduct, one for investigation, one for driving automobile without wheelage tax tags, one for passing open street car gates, one for petty larceny, one for selling lottery tickets, one for attempting to pass worthless check, one for exceeding the speed limit, one for reckless driving, and one for permitting cattle to stray at large.

West Duluth Briefs.

Arnold Larson, aged 18, who was arrested yesterday in West Duluth on the charge of driving an auto by open gates of a street car, appeared before Judge Lanners in the West Duluth branch of municipal court and was fined $15 and costs.

Simon Kehoe, who was arrested Saturday night on the charge of drunkenness, forfeited $20 bail by reason of his nonappearance in the West Duluth court this morning.

Funeral services of Mathew Swan, aged 79, of French River, was held from the M. J. Filiatrault undertaking rooms at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. Mr. Severson officiated. Interment was at Park Hill cemetery.

The regular community dance at Denfeld school will be held on Tuesday evening. The time has been changed. Dancing will be from 8:30 to 10:30.

PLAN TO SELL $10,000 WORTH CHRISTMAS SEALS

Plans to sell $10,000 worth of Christmas seals in St. Louis county this year were outlined at a meeting of the St. Louis County Public Health association at the courthouse late Saturday.

"Last year the seals were labeled "Red Cross Christmas Seals," but this year the marking will be simply "Christmas Seals."

They will be sold under the auspices of county and state public health associations. Half of the sum raised will be expended by the county association in carrying on educational work, rural district clinics, open air schools, central health bureaus and administration expenses. The other $5,000 will go to the state association and the National Tuberculosis association.

Dr. A. L. McDonald of this city, president of the county association, was chairman of the meeting.

ON THE IRON RANGES

HIBBING GARDEN PRIZES AWARDED

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Prize winners in the Oliver Iron Mining company garden contest have been announced and $90 in prizes have been distributed by E. J. Slack, in charge of this work.

Three hundred and sixty garden plats were cultivated by the employes of the company and 6,100 bushels of potatoes realized from these gardens. The total value of produce raised on the Oliver plats and in the home gardens of the employes is estimated at $15,500.

A large acreage was devoted to raising of cabbage and beans as well as potatoes by the cultivators.

Following is the list of the prize winners and tracts in which their gardens were located:

RANGE ENDEAVORERS IN ANNUAL SESSION

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Range Christian Endeavor union held its annual meeting Saturday at Gilbert. Miss Mary Bardt of St. Paul was one of the principal speakers. Those from Virginia who attended were: Misses Irene Heagle, Aliene Brewer, Anna Christianson, Catherine Hearn, Marian Nahany and Dorothy and Irma Douglas. Miss Heagle, who is one of the secretaries of the range union, appeared on the program, speaking on the "History of the Christian Endeavor."

From Mountain Iron came Rev. W. J. Bell, who gave a talk on "A Miniature Bible," and Misses June Anderson and Antoinette Jordan, besides about fifteen other members of the society.

There were two representatives each from Grand Rapids, Coleraine and Bovey, in addition to others from Hibbing and Biwabik.

The meeting started at 3 o'clock and continued until 5. At 5:30 a dinner was served the guests. The program was resumed at 7:30 and was completed at 9:30.

Resinol
for the sportsman's use

Everyone who indulges in indoor or outdoor sports should keep a jar of Resinol ready to relieve the chafing or the itching rash so often produced by overheating the blood. It cools the inflamed spots, stops the itching and burning and restores the skin to its normal condition.

Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap are also widely used for improving poor complexions. Your druggist sells them.

CANISTEO MASONS' HALLOWEEN PARTY

Coleraine, Minn., Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Pine Cone chapter of the Eastern Star and Canisteo Masonic lodge gave a Halloween party at Odd Fellows' hall on Saturday night. Over 100 were entertained. The party opened with a "bogie" match, a procession of ghosts. Later Halloween favors were exchanged by the partners.

The hall was elaborately and appropriately decorated with autumnal harvest emblems and with Halloween symbols. The full harvest moon arose above the shock of corn and the owl on the leafless branch stood out silhouetted in pale moonlight. The committee on decorations were Miss Helen Hutchins, Mrs. Fegraeus, Miss Patterson, Miss Pennock and Miss Vandyke.

Refreshments were served in the long banquet hall by candle light. The tables were decorated with various Halloween suggestions. The committee on the banquet service consisted of Mrs. Endahl, Mrs. Kean, Mrs. Lathrop, Mrs. Barfuc and Mrs. Watson.

The Iron Range orchestra furnished the music.

GRAND RAPIDS BRIEFS.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of Vern Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson of the Effie section, who died in the hospital here last week of typhoid fever, was taken to Bigfork Thursday for burial.

Funeral services were held in the Presbyterian church Friday for Miss Stella Sherman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Sherman of this village, who died at home Wednesday and, besides her parents, is survived by two brothers, Howard and Marcus. Interment was made in Itasca cemetery.

E. M. Heermans of Erie, Pa., arrived here and has under contemplation a business proposition that has been offered him whereby he may again become a resident of this village.

R. J. Carnes, president of the Duluth Athletic club, came here to witness the boxing matches held here Friday night with a view to picking some fighters for the show he is putting on in the near future in Duluth.

Milon Mondich and Louis Kesich of Calumet and Mike Sturbich of the White City, near Marble, who were arrested for having illicit liquor in their possession, pleaded guilty before Judge Wright and were sentenced to pay a fine of $350 each or serve three months in jail.

Mrs. Katherine Doran arrived Tuesday from Duluth to visit a week or more with her son, Allen J. Doran. Mrs. Doran motored up with Howard Doran.

There will be no regular meeting of the Woman's club until Nov. 16, owing to the fact that the date for the next meeting falls upon Nov. 2, election day.

The annual community sale which heretofore has been a feature of the Swan River community fair will be held this year on Nov. 5.

Joseph Helmer and Joseph Akre, who are engaged in the construction of a number of houses in Coleraine, report that the house of Charles Lynn and the house of Dr. N. D. Kean are fast nearing completion.

Adding New Paper Machine.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Nov. 1—Fred H. Fuller of Watertown, N. Y., arrived here last week to supervise the installation of the new paper machine in the Itasca Paper company. The machine, which is one of a somewhat smaller capacity than the machine now being used; is being set up alongside the present machine and will be in operation Jan. 1. This will mean the employing of an additional crew of fifteen men to take care of this added machinery.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes —Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c-30c.

DRIVE AWAY HEADACHE

Rub Musterole on Forehead and Temples

A headache remedy without the dangers of "headache medicine." Relieves headache and that miserable feeling from colds or congestion. And it acts at once! Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Better than a mustard plaster and does not blister. Used only externally, and in no way can it affect stomach and heart, as some internal medicines do.

Excellent for sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, all pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

35c and 65c jars; hospital size $3.00.

KNIFE RIVER BOY FATALLY CRUSHED

Two Harbors, Minn., Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Gunnar Johnson, 17, a laborer employed in the Iron Range roundhouse here, received injuries Saturday when he was crushed between an engine and the roundhouse door from which he died a couple of hours later at the local hospital, where he was taken following the accident.

It develops that Johnson attempted to get on the engine as it was passing from the turntable to the engine stall just as it was entering the door and apparently was caught before he could make the entrance. He was badly crushed and was unconscious until a few minutes before he died. The boy had been working in the roundhouse a comparatively short time and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Johnson of the Knife River valley. His father is also employed by the company on the local coal docks. The body is at Haliday's undertaking establishment and no funeral arrangements have been made yet.

This is the first fatal accident that has happened in the local shops for many years.

ENGINEERS GIVE TRIBUTE TO ALLEN

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the regular meeting of the Engineers' club of Northern Minnesota held at the public library Saturday night tribute was paid to John R. Allen, former dean of the college of engineering at the University of Minnesota, who died last Friday in Pittsburgh of pneumonia.

Dean Allen left the university last year to become director of the $1,000,000 laboratory established in Pittsburgh by the Federal government and the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers. He had been at the Minnesota university for two years, succeeding Dean Francis C. Shenehon, who resigned in 1917. Dean Allen came to Minnesota from Michigan in 1917. Dean Allen was the principal speaker at the engineers' banquet here two years ago, speaking on war work.

BLAME OLD FEUD FOR COOK SHOOTING

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Details of the shooting of Ernest Lesch by John Williams at the Lesch place, nine miles west of Cook, yesterday afternoon are still lacking. A deputy sheriff returned this morning from Cook with Williams, who will be arraigned in municipal court this afternoon. He declines to tell anything of the shooting affair. Lesch with a bullet in his back is in a local hospital and is weak and still sleeping. Hospital attendants will not let him be disturbed. The deputy sheriff said the men evidently met on the Lesch farm and the shooting followed. It did not happen inside the house. Ill feeling is evidently of long standing. Lesch's wound is probably not fatal. The bullet followed a rib, circling the body instead of passing through.

CARSS MEETINGS ARE WELL ATTENDED

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the largest rallies of the election was held Saturday night at the armory when Congressman W. L. Carss and William McEwen of Duluth spoke.

Congressman Carss declared that while the League of Nations is not the most perfect document in the world, it is a step in the right direction to stop war and that eventually it will be a great factor in preventing future world struggles. The congressman asserted that under the Democratic administration many wise laws and good legislation had been passed. He said there "was not a letter or word in the entire League of Nations that will interfere with the domestic relations of any nation nor is there any probability of America being forced into war because of it."

W. E. McEwen also talked on the League of Nations. He appealed for aid for Congressman Carss, asserting that the congressman had stood for all the people, that he represented no single interests and always has been on the square.

Mrs. E. C. Burns of Eveleth presided at the meeting and then went over to Chisholm to the Carss meeting there, where she made an address. At Chisholm 600 people attended the meeting which was preceded by a large parade, including several bands. Both meetings were enthusiastic.

Confusion Among Alien Voters.

Marble, Minn., Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—A well known Cox worker was appealed to here today by a mine employe who insisted that it had been a custom to ask foreign voters when they ask for ballots at election booths whether they wanted a Democratic or Republican ballot. The workman was assured that he must have gotten the primary confused with election day. He declared, however, that he had not. He was shown that it is strictly against the law for an election official to attempt to find out how any man votes. The ballot is as secret as the law can make it.

Coleraine Blanks Cloquet.

Coleraine, Minn., Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Saturday the Greenway high school defeated the strong team from Cloquet, 21 to 0. The visiting team put up strong opposition, but the home team had the best of it in every quarter. There was a large attendance and the gate receipts more than covered expenses. On Wednesday the Greenway team will play the team from Grand Rapids on the local gridiron.

Don't Gamble With Your Health

If You Have a Cold and Neglect It You Are Taking Chances of Pneumonia

Got a cold and decided to let it wear off, have you?

This neglect and taking chances with colds is responsible for more deaths than the whole list of diseases. It paves the way for all kinds of disease, particularly pneumonia.

The cold settles down and attacks the lining of the lungs—then it is pneumonia.

Take no chances. Begin today taking Father John's Medicine, which has had more than sixty years of success treating colds and coughs without using alcohol or any dangerous nerve-deadening drugs. It builds fighting strength to ward off disease.

HEAVY SNOW; COLDER; TUESDAY SNOW; WIND OF GALE VELOCITY

Weather? Lots of it. If the prediction of the weather man proves correct, winter has arrived, and tomorrow's weather may be Democratic, but what effect will it have on the woman vote? The sun rose this morning at 6:51 and will set this evening at 4:52, giving ten hours and one minute of sunlight. Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"A disturbance of moderate intensity, centered over Iowa and moving east-northeast, is causing fresh to strong northeasterly winds in the Northwestern Lake region, and during the last twenty-four hours precipitation occurred over the latter district, the Central valleys and Middle West. The barometer is high over Southeastern and Northwestern states. Freezing weather is the rule in Western Canada, Northwestern states, the Rocky mountains and the plateau region. Temperatures 14 to 20 deg. prevail generally in Nevada, Wyoming, Montana, the Dakotas and West Canada. Northeast storm warnings were ordered at Lake Superior ports 6 p. m. Sunday."

LOCAL FORECAST

For Duluth and vicinity: Heavy snow this afternoon and tonight. Colder with minimum temperature tonight near 25 deg. at Duluth, Superior and Two Harbors, and 15 to 20 deg. inland and on the iron ranges. Tuesday possibly snow. Winds probably of gale force, northeast, shifting to west and northwest by Tuesday morning.

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours, ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday:

Minnesota—Partly cloudy in northwest, snow in east and south portions tonight, heavy in northeast portion; colder in east and extreme south portions; Tuesday cloudy with possibly snow in northeast portion; strong shifting winds.

Wisconsin—Rain probable tonight and Tuesday, mixed with snow in north portion; colder tonight and in east and south portions Tuesday; strong shifting winds.

North Dakota—Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday; somewhat warmer Tuesday.

Upper Lakes—Strong shifting winds and probably gales, becoming west and northwest by Tuesday morning; rain on Southern Michigan and Southern Huron and rain or snow on Superior, Northern Michigan and Northern Huron tonight and Tuesday.

Storm warnings displayed at upper lakes stations.

DENY POLITICS IN AIDING ROAD WORK

Two Harbors, Minn., Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Many local citizens are much displeased over an article appearing in the last issue of the Two Harbors Chronicle headed, "Another Bubble Busted," which alleged that the appropriation which the state fire relief board, composed of Governor Burnquist, Henry Rines and J. A. O. Preus, gave to Lake county to assist in the construction of the road comprising the connecting link between Finland and Ely, was not made in good faith, but was a political scheme to gain support for the Republican party in the coming election.

The article is very misleading and declared to be not in keeping with the facts which are declared to be as follows: A committee of Lake county boosters composed of George Munford, Thomas Owens, Magnus Peterson and Hans C. Hanson succeded in securing an appropriation of $40,000 to be used towards the completion of the Isabelle road and, consequently, the money being thus assured, a crew of men was put to work on the job. When a portion of the money was required on the certificates the fund was short and it was necessary to sell some of the certificates in order to provide some of the money needed by Lake county to pay the necessary expenses. Within the last few days $10,000 worth of the certificates were sold and this amount is now available and just as soon as the required number of certificates are sold Lake county will receive the remainder of the appropriation so that the proposition will be fully realized by Lake county and is not a political scheme to secure votes as the paper would have it appear.

D. W. & P. EMPLOYE IS FATALLY MANGLED

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Tuominen, 52, employed fourteen years on the D. W. & P. coal docks at West Virginia, was yesterday killed when caught in the carrier chain, being badly mangled. There were no witnesses. The victim was missed several hours later, and search revealed the body which was removed from the carrier chain only with difficulty. He is survived by his wife and family. He was one of the oldest employes of the road.

Tower Plant May Run.

Tower, Minn., Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—There was a possibility that the city's hydro-electric power plant at Pike river falls would have to be closed on account of the low stage of water, and oil used in the oil burning machine at the plant to furnish current, but the recent snows and attending thaw have so far overcome the difficulty that if the water continues to raise at the rate it has for the past few days, until freeze-up, there will be sufficient to run all winter. Since a week ago, the water has raised forty inches, as much as a ten-inch raise being noted in twenty-four hours.

To Attend Hockey Meet.

Eveleth, Minn., Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Manager Leonard Peterson of the Eveleth hockey team left Saturday for Marquette, Mich., to attend the annual meeting of the National Hockey league, which was held yesterday.

Big Nashwauk Stripping Plans.

Nashwauk, Minn., Nov. 1.—The different mining companies operating in this district are preparing for extensive stripping operations during the winter in anticipation of heavy ore shipments next season. All the washing plants have closed for the winter

JUDGE DIBELL IS HOME TO CAST VOTE

Judge Homer B. Dibell, associate justice of the state supreme court, who is a candidate for re-election, arrived in the city this morning and will remain here until Wednesday in order to cast his vote at the general election tomorrow.

Although Judge Dibell's duties as a supreme court justice have kept him in St. Paul for the last few years, he has always maintained a legal residence in Duluth and comes here to vote at the primary and general elections.

After Judge Dibell casts his vote tomorrow he will return to St. Paul, where he will take up his duties in the supreme court. Personally he has made no campaign, but his many friends throughout the state have conducted the fight for him.

STORY ABOUT HARDING CURRENT FOR 30 YEARS

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 1.—Chairman W. W. Durbin of the Ohio Democratic state executive committee, today issued a statement denying that "a young man closely connected with the Democratic state committee" had brought certain printed and mimeographed circulars concerning the ancestry of Senator Harding, Republican presidential candidate, to Governor Cox's special train, as contained in a statement issued last night by Scott C. Bone, director of publicity for the Republican national committee.

Chairman Durbin said in part:

"I repeat that we had no connection with the alleged circulation of pamphlets or reports. Furthermore, I submit that reports of a similar nature have been current for thirty years, that they have failed in previous campaigns of Senator Harding and that they were prevalent all over the state and nation during the preconvention campaign, circulated by Republicans who opposed him. Now, however, when such reports have been prevalent all during the campaign, and were also in circulation at the convention that nominated him, Republicans attempt to bring a last-minute cry against Democrats.

"We regret its entrance. We have not had anything to do with its transmission and we are sure that the use of it in the last hour will not swerve the voters from the overwhelming swing to Cox on the main issues."

WEST END

Swedish Tabernacle Notes.

The Swedish Tabernacle church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street, will hold its monthly business meeting tonight at 8 o'clock. The deacons are requested to meet at 7.

The male chorus will rehearse Tuesday evening and the choir Friday evening.

Midweek service will be held at the East end church Tuesday evening and at the tabernacle Thursday evening.

The West End Ladies' Aid will meet at the tabernacle Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Anton Arvidson, Mrs. Ed Johnson and Mrs. Charles Carlson will be the hostesses.

The annual bazar will begin Monday evening, Nov. 15.

Rev. Ernest Anderson of Sweden will preach at the East end church Friday evening and at the tabernacle Sunday morning. Communion service will be held at the tabernacle Sunday noon.

BETHANY LUTHER LEAGUE TO GIVE HARVEST FESTIVAL

The Luther League of Bethany Swedish Lutheran church will give a harvest social at the church Thursday evening, Nov. 4. Rev. Arvid Horn of Superior, Wis., will be the principal speaker of the evening. Other numbers of the program are: Prof. Herman Lundholm, organ solo; Mrs. J. J. Daniels, vocal solo; Melford Hanson, violin solo, and J. V. Sandberg, vocal solo. Hilda Olson is chairman of the program committee. Other members of the committee are Vendia Ericson, Mauritz Goss, Arvid Wilson and Erick Peterson.

Little Girl Is Called.

Margaret Rosalie, the 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Broillette of 2705 Helm street, died Saturday at a local hospital. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning from St. Jean Baptiste church. Interment will be in Calvary cemetery.

To Open Battery Service.

Frank and George Anderson, well known West end young men, will open an up-to-date battery service station at 2213 West First street on Nov. 4. The shop will be in charge of Frank Anderson, who has had several years' experience in this class of work.

JULIUS H. BARNES COMES HOME TO VOTE

Julius H. Barnes arrived in the city today to record his vote at the elections tomorrow. He will probably remain here for a few days to give his attention to his personal affairs.

"While business is quiet in the East, the general impression is that liquidation is through in some lines, including sugar, cotton, wool, leather and copper, but readjustments are thought likely to proceed further in other quarters," said Mr. Barnes.

Regarding the grain trade, he asserted that it is regarded as significant by exporters that the British government has been out of the wheat market for the last three months. British interests are said to have been able to buy wheat in other markets at 25 cents a bushel under American prices, and they are reported to have covered their needs for some time ahead.

WILL ALWAYS PRAISE TANLAC, SHE DECLARES

St. Paul Woman Says Her Housework Is Easy Since Master Medicine Built Her Up So Wonderfully.

"Tanlac has certainly been a blessing to me," said Mrs. Way Bueller, 701 Holley Ave., St. Paul, Minn., recently.

"For about a year I suffered from stomach trouble and finally got so badly run down I couldn't do my housework. I couldn't eat anything much and didn't seem to get a bit of strength from my food.

"My nerves were so shattered I couldn't sleep, and I had such terrible nervous headaches and dizzy spells it seemed that I would go distracted. I lost weight continually, always felt tired and worn out, and it seemed that I was getting worse every day in spite of everything I could do.

"Well, one night while so nervous I just couldn't sleep, I was sitting trying to pass the time away by [illegible]ing, and happened to come across statement about Tanlac which seemed to fit my case exactly. The very next day I got a bottle, and it seemed to help me from the start.

"I have now taken four bottles, and the improvement in my condition is simply wonderful. Why, my stomach never troubles me at all, although I am eating just anything I want, and my nerves are so steady I sleep like a child every night. I never have a headache or feel dizzy or worn out, I have gained several pounds in weight and am so much stronger I am doing all my housework with perfect ease. I shall always praise Tanlac for restoring my health."

Tanlac is sold in Duluth at the W. A. Abbett drug stores under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative. Also the leading druggist in every town throughout the Northwest. Wm. Isaacson, Gowan; Geo. W. Swanson, Culver; Floodwood Merc. Co., Floodwood; Wilfrid Longtin, Grand Lake, P. O. Saginaw; Fairbanks Store Co., Fairbanks.—Advertisement.

RAISA AND RIMINI ARRIVE FOR CONCERT

Famous Soprano and Baritone Will Give Concert at the New Armory.

Rosa Raisa and Giacomo Rimini with their accompanist, Miss Feline Falco, all members of the Chicago Grand Opera company, arrived in Duluth last night and are ready for their concert at the New Armory tonight. They have just appeared in the Twin Cities with the Chicago Grand Opera company and are in fit condition for the big event tonight.

Miss Falco, soprano of the Chicago Grand Opera company and an intimate friend of Rosa Raisa, will play accompaniments tonight. Miss Falco has filled this position many times before and is Raisa's favorite accompanist. Today she spoke enthusiatically of Raisa and Rimini, and she declared Raisa to be the greatest dramatic soprano in the world. The duets and solos of this duo of artists make a remarkably delightful entertainment, she says.

ME and Puds was wawking along jest wawking along and I was throwing a sent up in the air and catching it agen, and all of a suddin I dident catch it agen and it rolled and got lost, and me and Puds kepp on looking for it without finding it till Puds sed he was ony going to look 5 minnits no matter wat happened, and jest then some man stopped and started to look too, saying, Wat did you lose, boys?

Being a old man with pointy wiskers, and I sed, A sent, and he sed, A sent, wel, well, 100 sents make a doller and 100 dollers make 100 dollers and so on like that, all frum a sent. And he kepp on helping us look, saying, How did you happin to drop it? and I sed, I dident drop it, I jest dident catch it.

And we all kepp on looking, and Puds whispered, Maybe he'll give you one if we dont find it. And pritty soon he wispered, If he gives you 2 will you give me one?

Wich I wispered back I would, and we all kepp on looking without the man saying anything about giving me a sent, and I sed, O well, wats a sent? Saying it for a hint, and Puds sed, Thats so, a sent aint mutch.

O boys, boys, its sinfill to tawk like that, youll never be rich if you scorn pennies, sed the man.

I ment it wouldent be mutch for you, sed Puds, and I sed, Thats wat I ment, too. Wich the man jest kepp on looking as if he didnt know a hint wen he herd one, and after a wile he sed, Well, I gess its no use, boys. And he wawked away, Puds saying, Aw heck, I bet he wasted so mutch time looking for that sent I bet he lost about 100 dollars werth of bizniss.

Gosh, I hope so, I sed.

Proving if people ixpect something diffrent you dont get mutch gratitude.

500 CAST VOTES ALREADY BY MAI

Almost 500 voters in St. Louis coun have taken advantage of the absent voters' law and have already cast the ballots for Tuesday's election, accor ing to W. H. Borgen, county auditor. Many voters came in Saturday a obtained the necessary affidavi mailing envelopes addressed to t election officials and ballots.

"It looks as though many voters the future are going to spend 25 cen to vote before election and avoid t rush on election day," said Mr. Borg "Our office resembled an electi booth Saturday."

COUNTY MUST FURNISH MOTHERS' PENSIONS, RULI

Owing to the ruling of the supre court to the effect that a stat creating liability is not equivalent an appropriation, St. Louis county ta payers will again have to assume t burden of mothers' pension paym nt These amounted to $36,000 in 1 and will probably be more for 1920 The supreme court recently ruled a Ramsey county test case that statute creating liability did not g with it an appropriation and tive action would be required in der to give state aid to counties the mothers' pensions.

WHEAT PRICES SLIGHTLY UP

Market Weakens From High Spots on Evening of Trades; Flax Steady.

Duluth Board of Trade, Nov. 1.—The market in wheat was quiet and easy at the close, and December wheat closed ¼c up at $2.03¼ asked; March, ⅜c off at $2.05⅝ bid; December winter, ¼c up at $2.02¼ nominally; December durum, unchanged at $2.05½, and March ¼c up at $2.05½ bid.

Rye closed 1⅜c off at $1.69¾ for spot; December, 1¾c off at $1.60¾ bid, and May, 1½c off at $1.58½ asked. Barley closed unchanged at 78@98c for spot, and oats, ⅛c off at 51c for spot.

Irregularity was shown in the wheat market today. Prices shot up around the opening and then they receded later under selling pressure and in the absence of any export inquiry at the seaboard. After receding to below Saturday's closing levels, prices braced up under the influence of evening trades over the holiday. Cash business in spring wheat was limited and spot durum sold at 1c under Saturday's average.

December wheat sold around the noon hour, ⅝c up at $2.03¾, and March ⅛c off at $2.05¼. December durum eased 1⅜c, and then rallied to the same point at $2.05½. March durum broke 2c to $2.04, and later moved up 1⅜c.

Rye Weakens.

Rye was weak with selling reported almost from the opening. Foreigners were reported to be out of the market for supplies for the time being, and there were no buying orders here for eastern shipment. December rye broke 2c to $1.60¼ and May ½c at $1.59½.

Offerings of barley on the tables were absorbed within a range of 78@98c, the same as on Saturday.

Receipts of all grains on the market here aggregated 506 cars for the two days, including: Spring wheat 28, durum 221, oats 11, rye 109, barley 26, flax 31, and bonded spring 78. A better wheat movement was reported on the Southwest, arrivals at Kansas City amounting up to 383 cars against 93 last year.

Flax Quiet.

After opening steady and unchanged from Saturday, flaxseed prices eased under offerings and falling any support from crushers. Deliveries under October contracts aggregated approximately 300,000 bu, and it was said to have been practically all taken by crushers. With liberal current receipts and substantial stocks being carried in the elevators, flaxseed requirements are asserted to be covered for some time ahead. November flax closed ½c off at $2.72½, December unchanged at $2.76 asked, and May unchanged at $2.90.

At Winnipeg November flax closed 1⅛c off at $2.80¾ bid and December at $2.81 bid.

MARKET GOSSIP.

A Buenos Aires cable said there had been no damage to wheat in the late cold snap, but that linseed had sustained some damage.

Argentina and Australia are thought to be practically sure of good wheat crops. The Argentine harvest is on mainly in December, and the Australian crop in January. The Indian wheat harvest begins in April. Damage has been sustained in that country through drouth.

The grain standards board at Winnipeg has established commercial grades for Nos. 4 and 5 wheat for the 1920 season. Provision was also made that wheat not good enough to be graded No. 6 should be graded feed in the discretion of the inspector. Provision was also made for commercial grades of barley. Barley not fit to be graded No. 4 will be graded feed.

Broomhall linseed review—United Kingdom—Linseed firmer with some demand is evidence for Plate seed already afloat. Very little Indian-seed offered owing to the unfavorable crop outlook there. Oil on spot is fair demand but the forward positions are again quiet.

India—Rains urgently needed. Crop prospects reduced owing to continued drouth. Outlook is pessimistic. Shipments are 438,000 bu.

Argentine markets are firmer on frost reports in the middle of the week, but later when no damage was reported, values broke sharply.

Buenos Aires close Saturday—Wheat, 1½c down; corn, ¼@½c lower; flax, 5@6c lower; oats, 1c lower. Weekly forecast generally unsettled and rains first of the week then colder, then unsettled and warmer at end of week.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Wheat prices moved upward today at the outset, but a material decline took place later. Commission house buying, which appeared to be responsible for the initial strength, was not sustained. Attention of traders continued to center largely on the chances of success of the farmers' holding movement and on advices regarding the Argentine crop outlook. Opening quotations, which varied from unchanged figures to 2¼c higher, with December $2.09 to $2.10 and March $2.04 to $2.04¼, were followed by a setback all around to well below Saturday's finish.

No great desire to press the selling side was shown, and the market rallied in the last hour. Export clearances were large. The close was firm, ½c to 1½c net higher, with December $2.09½ to $2.10 and March $2.02 to $2.02¼.

Corn was swayed by the action of wheat. After opening unchanged to ¾c up, including December at 85c to 85½c, the market underwent a moderate general sag.

Smallness of country offerings tended later to check weakness somewhat. The close was easy, ⅝c net lower to ⅛c net advance, with December 84⅝c to 81½c.

Oats sympathized with the course of other cereals, starting unchanged to ½c higher, December 55¼c to 55½c, and then reacting.

High quotations on hogs gave a lift to provisions.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 1.—Wheat futures started with a jump, scattering buying on stormy weather with snow over much of the Northwest and elsewhere, but after 3@3¼c advance, pit offerings increased and the demand slugged off on bearish export news. A relapse took futures 1¼c under Saturday's close before covering held.

Paine, Webber & Co. wired from New York: "The probability that Mexico will soon be recognized by the United States and business on a broad scale developed with that country, is encouraging absorption of American Smelting for active investment account. Inquiries among active stock exchange houses reveal a sentiment among the great majority of those interested in speculative investment to watch for buying opportunities, first, in the standard medium-priced dividend paying rails; second, the best railway rolling stock equipment issues; third, the seasoned oils not in the fancy priced list; fourth, tobaccos, and fifth, coppers."

Calumet & Hecla and its subsidiaries are estimated to be losing money in operations at the present price of copper at around 15 cents a pound. It is intimated that no further dividends will be ordered by those companies this year unless there should be a marked increase in copper buying at better prices. Calumet & Hecla is asserted to be getting good results at its reclamation plant at Calumet. In 1914 the company was estimated to have on hand a thirty years' supply of copper tailings figured to yield an average of seven pounds of refined copper when treated. With improved methods of treatment it is estimated the company will produce 12,000,000 pounds of copper from its tailings this year at a cost of 7¾ cents a pound.

Logan & Bryan wired from New York: "Railroad officials report a marked improvement in operating results, and it is believed that with the new schedule of freight rates fully at work, earnings of the carriers from now on will begin to shape up very favorably. This is particularly noticeable in the so-called Southern districts, C. & O. especially making an excellent showing. The local Federal reserve bank exhibit of Saturday was better than generally anticipated and it is thought in some quarters that money will be in freer supply for a while. The election results are naturally awaited with considerable interest."

Heavy Imports of Canadian Wheat.

Washington, Nov. 1.—Imports of Canadian wheat and flour during the first fifteen days of October were greater than in any corresponding period in the past seven years, the Federal trade commission says in a report today to President Wilson. The report was based on an investigation ordered by President Wilson after he had been asked by the Chicago board of trade to place an embargo on wheat imports from Canada.

The commission found that 4,950,000 bu of Canadian wheat and 65,916 bbls of Canadian flour had been shipped into the United States in the first fifteen days of last month. This was more than three times as large as the shipments in any October in the last seven years, according to the report.

GOVERNOR COX ON IRISH QUESTION

New York, Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The latest expression of Governor James M. Cox, Democratic candidate for president, regarding the League of Nations and the action he proposes to take with reference to the Irish question if he is elected, was read by Mary A. Morse of New York at a monster nonpartisan mass meeting in memory of Lord Mayor Terence MacSwiney of Cork, at the Polo grounds here yesterday.

The message, which was sent by Governor Cox to Mary A. Morse and John A. O'Dwyer of Toledo, Ohio, is as follows:

"In response to your message, permit me to say that, if I am elected, I shall recognize the mandate for entrance into the League of Nations, shall work out that solution in conference with the senate of the United States with acceptance of such helpful reservations as are necessary to secure that end. I shall consult with Woodrow Wilson, with Elihu Root, with William Howard Taft and any others who, by virtue of their experience, can render helpful service. Furthermore, in the consideration of specific matters like the cause of Ireland, it is my purpose to consult with men who know the traditions and desires of the Irish people, such men as Bourke Cockran and Alfred Smith of New York and David Walsh of Massachusetts and, in connection with the Jewish question, I will consult with leaders of Jewish thought in America."

CUBA ELECTING NEW PRESIDENT

Havana, Cuba, Nov. 1.—(By the Associated Press.—Cuba will vote today for a new president and the outcome was awaited with considerable apprehension.

The end of the campaign, regarded as the most bitter since the island gained the right to govern its own affairs, found old party lines broken, with a rightabout shift in leadership.

Platform issues apparently were forgotten in the fight for control of the government by Jose Miguel Gomez, Liberal nominee, and Dr. Alfred Zayas, candidate of the old Conservative, or Coalition party. Gomez is a former president of Cuba and Zayas served under him as vice president.

Zayas Breaks Away.

Zayas, founder of the Liberal faction, broke away from it this year and parted company with Gomez, backed by the Menocal administration.

Soldiers were on duty in all provinces when the first voters reached the polls. Under orders from President Menocal, they were to deal fearlessly with outlaw bands, which were reported active in some districts. Fear of trouble was somewhat allayed by appeals from both candidates to their followers to keep the peace and not provoke a clash with the opposition.

COOLIDGE'S COUSIN IS BADGER FARMER

Couderay, Wis., Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Earnest Coolidge, residing on a farm near Yarnell in this town, a cousin of Calvin Coolidge, Republican candidate for vice president, is a great booster for and admirer of the candidate. They were great friends in their childhood and the Badger man remembers the candidate as a boy who was very quiet and studious, both him and his father being great lovers of fine horses.

Brainerd Woman Buried.

Brainerd, Minn., Nov. 1.—Funeral services were held in St. Francis Catholic church here this morning for Mrs. Fritz M. Koop, formerly Miss Vivian Marie Ware, who died at Brainerd Friday. She leaves a husband, Alderman Fritz M. Kopp, a mother at Swanville, two brothers, George and Claude of Woodburn, Or., and two sisters of Cherokee, Iowa, and Houghton, S. D.

League of Nations Demonstration.

Washington, Nov. 1.—The Democratic committee of the District of Columbia is planning to hold a League of Nations demonstration in front of the White House tonight. It is planned to have league sympathizers, grouped by states, march up Pennsylvania avenue to the executive mansion, where patriotic songs will be sung and probably several brief addresses will be made.

STOCKS ARE IRREGULAR

Prices at Highest Average in Final Hour—Closing Strong.

New York, Nov. 1.—Although the Federal reserve and clearing house statements of last Saturday indicated a strengthening of local monetary conditions, prices again were irregular and uncertain at the opening of today's stock market. Rails, steels, coppers and equipments were moderately higher under lead of Seaboard Airline preferred, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Southern Railway, Bethlehem Steel, Midvale and General Electric, but this was balanced by the heaviness of Royal Dutch, Sumatra-Tobacco, Beet Sugar, Sears-Roebuck and several other specialties. There were no preliminary quotations for exchange on London because of a holiday at that center.

Such firmness as the stock list manifested during the session was due chiefly to buying of rails, equipments, steels and oils. "Nickel Plate" rose 3½ and Wheeling & Lake Erie preferred 1½, the leading Pacifics and Reading gaining 1 to 1½. Associated Oil kept pace with the demand for Southern Pacific. Royal Dutch more than recovered its early loss and Lackawanna was added to the stronger steels, although Crucible continued to react. Meantime there was renewed selling of Rubber and tobacco issues, also United Fruit, Sears-Roebuck and International Paper. Call money opened at 9 per cent and a new low record for Italian remittances featured the foreign exchange market.

The tone of the market became more uncertain during the quiet midsession. United Fruit increased its loss to 5 points and Crucible Steel and United States Rubber remained under pressure, but Mexican and Dutch Oils registered further advances with transcontinental rails.

Prices attained their highest average of the session in the final hour, declaration of a 100 per cent stock dividend for United Fruit exerting a sentimental influence. The closing was strong.

Liberty bonds: 3½s, 94.08; first 4s, 90.10; second 4s, 88.90; first 4¼s, 90.28; second 4¼s, 88.72; third 4¼s, 90.68; fourth 4¼s, 88.80; Victory 3¾s, 96.20; Victory 4¾s, 96.22.

"Y" BOYS' DEPARTMENT GETS 150 MEMBERS

One hundred and fifty new members were added to the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. during the drive last week. This was the best campaign since the year the boys entered the new building, and the boys who hustled are very enthusiastic over the results. They report a lot of good prospects that will be in today or tomorrow.

All the activities will now be in full swing and the committee is looking forward to this being the best year in the history of the club.

Carl Nelson has the honor of being the best membership hustler in the history of the organization. He got twenty-seven members and was awarded the .22-rifle presented by Seth Marshall. For the last four years the Nelson family has won this honor. Four years ago George Nelson was winner, the last two years Norman Nelson won, and Carl this year. These boys are the sons of H. A. Nelson. Milo Christenson came next with ten members. David Brusso, Edward Kent, Leonard Frazee and Oscar Lindau will each go to Camp Miller for one week for being the five boys to get the most members. The first big event for these new members will be the annual Halloween party to be given next Friday for all members of the club. The boys' department cabinet will hold its regular monthly meeting Wednesday at 8 o'clock.

SMALL-LEWIS FIGHT INTERESTS ILLINOIS

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Interest in the fight between Len Small, Republican, and James Hamilton Lewis, Democrat, for governor overshadows the race for president in Illinois in the last minute campaign. Small, the candidate of the Thompson faction of the Republican party, is being opposed by every newspaper in Chicago, with the exception of the Hearst newspapers.

STORM WARNINGS GIVE FORECAST OF LAKE GALE

H. W. Richardson, local weather forecaster, received orders today to hoist storm warnings for Lake Superior, Northern Lake Huron and Northern Lake Michigan. Strong easterly winds will prevail, amounting probably to gales. The storm centered at noon over Eastern Iowa moving northeasterly.

Steamer Goes Aground.

Ogdensburg, N. H., Nov. 1.—The steamship Glen Allen, from Lake Superior ports to Montreal with 68,000 bushels of wheat, ran aground east of Ogdensburg, Saturday, according to word reaching representatives of underwriters here. Assistance has been summoned.

INSANE WOMAN IS DEFENDANT

Guardian Appointed to Represent Her in Suit for Divorce.

Judge Dancer in district court today appointed Johan Heitmann, local attorney, as guardian-at-law for Augusta Katchinski Carlenberg, who is defendant in an action brought by her husband, Ruben R. Carlenberg, for an annulment of their marriage. Carlenberg alleges that his wife was insane at the time they were married, but that he did not find it out until the ceremony had taken place. Mrs. Carlenberg is now in the state asylum for the insane at Fergus Falls. She will be represented in the case by her guardian.

Judge Cant today filed an order making final disposition of the alimony and property question in the divorce case of Emily C. Collum against Henry A. Collum. Mrs. Collum was granted a divorce several months ago and the court today gave her judgment for $1,332.53 permanent alimony.

Seventy-four divorce cases are on the calendar for the November term of the district court which opens Wednesday. Many of these are cases which have been continued from the September term. A list of the new cases follows:

New Cases for Trial.

ARREST OF BOYS TAMING EFFECT

The "rough stuff" of the Halloween celebration spent itself early last week and Halloween passed off with very few complaints, according to reports received at police headquarters Saturday and Sunday nights. Halloween was last night but for nearly three weeks boys and, in many cases, girls have been prematurely celebrating by soaping windows, carrying off gates, placing obstructions in the streets and doing other things of a more or less destructive nature.

The wrecking of the Woodland car last Wednesday evening and the subsequent rounding up of all of the boys connected with it and the possibility of prosecution of some of these boys is believed to have placed a damper on activities of boys the last few evenings. In the East end district many of the residents organized as a "vigilance committee" and conducted a watch through the district Saturday and Sunday nights.

"The co-operation of the citizens helped to keep down disorders and went a long way to prevent boys from doing damage," said Acting Chief of Police Fiskett today. "The police department has been handicapped in giving the protection needed but we are now getting on a better footing and more men will be available for the residence district. The organizing of vigilance committees in various sections of the city to assist the police on such nights as Halloween is a good move and has our hearty support."

Woman Killed in Auto Wreck.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Fred Smallhorn's car hit a "safety island" on Michigan boulevard yesterday, swerved and struck another car with such force that Mrs. Smallhorn was thrown against the windshield and her throat slashed. She died. The police are holding Smallhorn and are searching for two other men who were in the car. It is charged Smallhorn, who was driving, was intoxicated.

One Hundred Investment Bargains in Railroad Bonds

In a circular prepared by one of the greatest bond authorities in this country, which we have just had printed, the bond situation is not only thoroughly covered, but there is a list of one hundred bargains in high grade railroad bonds yielding as high as

Ten Per Cent

Among this list are many unusual investment opportunities, and inasmuch as underlying factors are now favorable to rising bond prices, a selection of these bonds would unquestionably result in excellent market profits, in addition to an attractive income return.

The circular will be sent without obligation, together with a booklet describing a convenient method of purchasing the bonds.

LIQUOR CASE IS POSTPONED

Trial Will Be Resumed Wednesday, Following Election.

Trial of the liquor conspiracy case will be resumed in United States court at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. A three-day adjournment was ordered Saturday afternoon in order to permit the defendants to go home and vote.

At the conclusion of the present case, the July term of court will be formally adjourned. Judge Page Morris and United States Attorney Alfred Jaques are due at Fergus Falls, Nov. 9, for a session of court.

The case before the court, involving eleven defendants accused of conspiring to transport smuggled liquor between Eveleth and Duluth, will be completed by the end of the week. The defendants include John Murphy, former chief of police, and Frank Bradley, former deputy marshal, both of whom were acquitted last week on a similar charge.

Trials of Paul Gappa, indicted on two counts, and of Frank Schaeffer and John Geistman, each indicted on one count, will have to be postponed until the January term of court. A. R. Burns, who pleaded guilty to two counts, will be sentenced the latter part of the week by Judge Morris.

Saturday's Session.

Witnesses who testified Saturday afternoon were Louis C. Larson, proprietor of the Burt hotel at Hurley, Wis.; Paul W. Trautner, manager of the telephone office at Eveleth, and Thomas Mays, hotel manager at Ironwood, Mich.

Larson endeavored to identify Joseph Teddy, one of the defendants, whose name appeared on the register of the Burt hotel. He failed to do so, however, pointing out John McKay and John Murphy, in turn, as being the man who registered.

Attorneys of the defense objected to the introduction of long distance call slips on the ground that the man who brought them was not the man who had originally collected them. Judge Morris thereupon ordered the prosecution to summon the collector of the slips.

The defense has finished the cross-examination of Fred Longfield, Duluth taxi driver, who turned states evidence. He will be called by the prosecution again Wednesday morning for redirect examination.

BANKS AND PUBLIC OFFICES CLOSE TUESDAY

While banks and public offices, generally, will be closed tomorrow, the remainder of the business community will not observe election day as a holiday.

In accordance with a long-established custom, all offices at the courthouse will be closed. At the city hall, the clerk's office, alone, will be open. However, only business pertaining to the election will be transacted. Most of the Federal offices will be open at least part of the day.

Wholesale and retail establishments will be open as usual, but under the law, employes must be allowed a reasonable time to vote during business hours, if they so request.

BANK CLEARINGS SET NEW RECORD

New high records were set in Duluth bank clearings during the last two months due to the improvement in the grain movement as compared with last year and activity in general commercial and industrial circles.

Clearings during October were $54,806,277.47, as compared with $39,748,976.05 last year. For the ten months to Oct. 31, clearings aggregated $362,786,816.37, as against $310,623,121.26 during the same period in 1919, an increase of $52,163,695.11.

Comparative clearings for October and for the ten months to Oct. 31 as reported by I. S. Moore, manager of the Duluth Clearing House association, were:

	1920.	1919.
January	$ 29,835,161.31	$ 51,054,636.30
February	25,184,768.35	21,126,359.79

By HUBERT H. D'AUTREMONT.

Chairman St. Louis County Democratic Committee.

Cox will win, and will receive approximately 308 votes in the electorial college.

Duluth will go Democratic, but the result will be close. Congressman William L. Carss will be re-elected by a substantial margin. The governorship contest is a puzzle, but I think Mayor Hodgson will receive far more votes than is generally credited to him.

Although the time has been short and the funds limited for a proper campaign of education, such as this election has required, yet I believe that the people appreciate the truth of the issue before them and that the "catch-all" manner of campaigning on the part of the Republican party, combined with consistent misrepresentation, will not deceive the voters. The woman vote will be the deciding factor and I cannot conceive of the women voting to reject the League of Nations. I believe that the people are awake to the issue, which involves national honor, integrity and preservation, and I believe that the result will bear me out.

By HUBERT V. EVA.

Chairman St. Louis County Republican Committee.

We look for a Republican landslide. It is safe to predict that Harding will carry the state of Minnesota by a plurality of 100,000 and that Preus will go over by 40,000. Preus' plurality would be greater if it were not for the three-cornered fight on the governorship. From the reports that are coming in from various parts of the congressional district, it would appear that Oscar J. Larson, Republican candidate for congress in the Eighth, is a sure winner. All we want now is to impress upon the people the necessity of turning out to vote tomorrow.

By JOHN E. JENSEN.

Manager for Congressman W. L. Carss.

We have received reports from every section of the district and I do not know of one dark spot anywhere. Mr. Carss will be returned to congress by a greater majority than was given him two years ago. One of the most gratifying features of the campaign is the many testimonials we are receiving from voters of all political shades and faith in behalf of Mr. Carss.

Appeals to party loyalty have not swayed the voters in the slightest degree. The people are satisfied with Congressman Carss. The American spirit of fair play will prevail in tomorrow's election. When a member of congress from this district has served one term and made a good record the voters generally concede that he is entitled to another term. Mr. Carss has made good and I am quite sure the Eighth district will reward him with re-election.

We have conducted a clean campaign. We have fought fair. Our case is now before the voters for their verdict. I am confident that it will be rendered in favor of Congressman Carss.

By JOHN E. MacGREGOR.

Manager for O. J. Larson.

From the reports that are coming in from the different sections in this congressional district, the indications are that Oscar J. Larson, the Republican nominee for congress, will carry the district by a majority ranging from 5,000 to 6,000. The district is going strong for Harding. Voters realize that a Republican president without a Republican congress is hog-tied, and for that reason are going to support a congressman who is of the same political faith as Harding. Many who are independent in politics, who intend to vote for the best man, are going to vote for Larson because they regard him as better qualified for the position than the incumbent. The opposition has been unable to find a flaw in Larson's labor record. He stands well with labor and particularly well with the farmers. His connection with the successful fire litigation will bring him thousands of votes.

Duluthian Signally Honored.

Chester de F. Adams of Duluth has been awarded a Price Greenleaf Aid for the current year, on the basis of his fine record before his admission to Harvard. Mr. Adams, who prepared at Phillips Exeter academy, is one of a limited number of men selected for this honor by the college office. The Price Greenleaf Aids are virtually scholarships awarded to freshmen who show special promise. The awards are based in each case on strong evidence of the candidate's character and scholarship furnished by the school from which he comes.

Woman Hurt; Driver Vanishes.

Mrs. Thorov Johnson, aged 34, of Culver road is at St. Luke's hospital suffering from a fracture of a leg and several broken ribs as the result of being run down by an automobile Saturday evening. The driver of the machine took the woman to the hospital and left a paper on which he said was his name and address, but when interested parties looked at it they were unable to make out the writing. An attempt is now being made to find the driver of the car.

Two Automobiles Stolen.

Two automobiles were stolen in Duluth over the week-end, according to reports made at police headquarters. R. W. Grassi of Eveleth reported that his Hupmobile had been stolen late Saturday afternoon from in front of the postoffice. A. H. Monat, 106 West Superior street, reported that his five-passenger Buick had been stolen early last evening from Fifth avenue west and Superior street.

Foster Held to Grand Jury.

Cecil Foster, 17-year-old negro boy, confessed burglar who broke into the Kenny-Anker clothing store on the night of Oct. 26 and fitted himself out with a large wardrobe of clothing and furnishings, was arraigned in police court this morning on a charge of burglary. Foster waived examination and was bound over to the grand jury.

Two Buildings Entered.

A small store at 219 East Superior street and a butcher shop next door were entered last night. A broken window on the side of the building revealed the method of entry. Nothing was taken, but indications showed that a thorough search had been made for money. There were no clews left by which the police might trace the burglar.

Fine Grist in Court.

Drunks, disorderlies and fighters formed the grist at the police court this morning. There were eight drunks, of whom John W. Wilson, Nick Eckerman, Erick A. Ostlund, Sam Strand and Sam Johnson forfeited $20 bail each. Joseph Murphy pleaded guilty to a drunk charge and was fined $20 and costs. Robert Swanson and Leonard Mooney, who had been before the court on previous occasions on a drunk charge, were fined $30 and costs, with an option of spending thirty days at the county work farm. Walter Christianson pleaded guilty to having been both drunk and disorderly and was given a straight work farm sentence of sixty days. David Ditch and Frank Shoelin entered pleas of guilty to fighting on the street. The latter was fined $15 and costs for having been the aggressor and the other was fined $10 and costs.

Is Granted Divorce.

Nellie Fletcher, aged 46, was granted a divorce from George E. Fletcher, aged 58, on the grounds of cruelty, by Judge C. A. Nye in findings filed Saturday with the clerk of the district court.

Verdict Is Set Aside.

Judge C. A. Nye of Moorhead, who sat on the district bench here recently, filed an order Saturday setting aside the verdict for the defendant and granting plaintiff a new trial in the damage case of Henry Johnson against the city of Duluth.

To Recruiting Conference.

F. M. Clinton, naval recruiting officer, accompanied by his three assistants, left for Omaha today to attend a conference of recruiting officers in the West Central district. He will return Thursday.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY TO MEET IN MINNEAPOLIS

Members of the Women's Auxiliary post to the American Legion, Minnesota branch, will meet Nov. 18 and 19, at the Curtis hotel, Minneapolis. It will be the first convention of its kind in the United States.

Each auxiliary having at least ten members is entitled to three delegates and three alternates. A unit may also send as many guests as it desires, but its total voting strength will be determined by its paid-up members.

A fare equal to one and one-third of the one-way charge has been arranged for the round trip. Local units have been asked by Horace G. Whitmore, department adjutant of the American Legion with offices at St. Paul, to hold their meetings immediately to elect delegates.

Entertainment at the convention will be provided by a committee composed of representatives of the Twin City auxiliary units.

WILL MURNIAN REAPPOINT MURPHY?

Rumor Has It He Will If Former Police Chief Is Acquitted; Commissioner Says He Knows What He'll Do But Refuses to Say; Indignant at Question.

Will Commissioner W. F. Murnian reappoint Former Chief of Police John Murphy to the office at the head of the city police department in the event he is acquitted by the Federal court of the charge of conspiracy to smuggle into this country Canadian whisky in violation to the Volstead act and other prohibition laws, is a question that has been asked many times. The persistent rumor had it that Mr. Murphy would be reappointed if acquitted, with the understanding that he would resign the first of the year.

Commissioner Murnian was asked about it this morning. He refused to say what his intentions are and declared that the question was ill-timed and premature. He admitted he had considered the question at different times and that he had made up his mind on the subject, but was not ready to say what his actions would be.

"It is not a fair question at this time," said Commissioner Murnian. "It seems very ill-timed inasmuch as the case against Mr. Murphy is not finished and there is still one indictment to be decided by the court. I do not think anyone has the right to ask an opinion on a question like this and refuse to say what I would do if he was acquitted. I have virtually made up my mind as to what action I will take, but under no circumstances would I make this public at this time. It would not be fair to me or to Mr. Murphy."

Commissioners Noncommittal.

The question of what their attitude would be in the event such an appointment was made, was put to the different commissioners. None of them would express a definite opinion of what their action would be, although they were doubtful if Commissioner Murnian would take such a step. It is not believed any action on the part of Commissioner Murnian relative to the appointment would be taken without obtaining the consent and approval of the majority of the council, and from expressions from different commissioners, it is not believed this can be obtained.

Myor Hugo declined to comment on the possibility and declared he thought it premature.

Commissioner Fred J. Voss did not care to express an opinion on the subject. He believed that it was a question that would have to be settled by Commissioner Murnian, as he was the one who made the appointments for this office.

Commissioner Farrell also refused to comment on the appointment. He said he had not heard of the rumor and until such action on the part of Commissioner Murnian was taken he did not care to say anything at all. Commissioner P. G. Phillips was more outspoken and said:

"I think it would be very unwise to reappoint Mr. Murphy to the office of chief of police after all the notoriety he has been given, even for a short time. I would much rather see the appointment made out of the police department."

BODY OF CORPORAL DACHYK ARRIVES FROM FRANCE

The body of Corporal Benjamin Dachyk, aged 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dachyk, Greysolon Farms, who was accidentally killed in a camp in France on July 24, 1918, arrived in Duluth Saturday evening. The funeral will be held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock from St. John's Catholic church of Woodland with burial in Calvary cemetery.

Corporal Dachyk was a member of the Eighth company, Third motor mechanics corps of the air service. While clearing ground for a camp site, the young man was killed by a falling tree. He died the next day. Two other companions injured by the falling tree recovered.

The young man is survived besides his parents by five sisters, Mrs. John M. Kenny, Misses Viola, Helen, Frances and Herbina, and two brothers, Frank and Herman Dachyk, all of this city.

To Give the Hair a Naturally Wavy Effect

Ever since the virtues of the silmerine hair-curling method first became known in this country, druggists have been having a really extraordinary demand for liquid silmerine. Its effectiveness, its convenience and its entire harmlessness doubtless have been responsible for its increasing use among well-groomed women.

One need only apply a little of the liquid with a clean tooth brush before doing up the hair and the tresses will have a beautiful, wavy and glossy appearance which bears no marks of artificiality. The best way is to divide the hair into strands and moisten each of them from root to tip. There is no discoloration, no sticky, greasy or other unpleasant feature. Liquid silmerine is fine also as an aid in shaping "ear muffs" and in keeping them in place over the ears.—Advertisement.

We did not know the pain he had,
We did not see him die;
We only heard he passed away
And could not say good-by.
A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is stilled;
A place is vacant from our home,
Which never can be filled.
We think of him in silence,
No eyes can see us weep,
But many a silent tear we shed
When others are asleep.

Sadly missed by his parents, sisters and brothers.

REPUBLICAN GAINS SHOWN BY EARLY RETURNS

HALF DULUTH'S VOTE CAST AT NOON; NEW RECORD

MUCH INTEREST DISPLAYED IN THE ELECTION

Early Voting Is Marked; Greater Percentage of Men Than Women.

All Districts Running About Even in Ratio of Vote.

An unparalleled vote is being cast in Duluth today. Not only is the vote heavy, but everybody who can seems to be visiting the polls early. Estimating the vote cast from several districts canvassed at noon, gives the surprising fact that more than half of the total vote had been cast at that time. In one district, the Seventh, 500 out of a total registration of 692, had voted at 12 o'clock, according to the judges of that district. Several other districts report almost half of the registrants having voted at noon.

Most of the voters this morning in the majority of the districts were men, the women being expected to turn out in large numbers during the afternoon. In many of the districts about one third of the voters are women, which, according to the judges, holds up the average of men and women voters.

Keen Interest Shown.

Keen interest is evidenced by all voters, and especially among the women there seems to be a desire to be informed thoroughly of the requirements before entering the voting booths. At one of the districts this morning one of the judges expressed his doubt of the women having a thorough knowledge of the way to vote. He declared that several women voters had admitted to him their lack of knowledge as to requirements. He was of the opinion that there would be a number of spoiled ballots.

Several complaints have been registered at the office of City Clerk Fred D. Ash by persons who were unable to vote owing to their failure to register or who have moved from one registration district to another since registering and failing to obtain a transfer before Oct. 23, which was the last date on which this could be done. Personal calls as well as many telephone calls, which have kept the office force of the city clerk busy, have shown keener interest in voting than has been expressed for some time past. Seldom have voters taken such an interest in the issues before the people as they are doing this fall, declares Mr. Ash.

Checking up a number of the different districts at noon has shown

DEATHS ON RAILROADS ARE GROWING FEWER

Washington, Nov. 2.—Fewer persons were killed on railroads during 1919 than in any year since 1898 and fewer were injured than in any year since 1910, said a statement issued today by the interstate commerce commission. During 1919 a total of 6,978 persons were killed and 149,053 injured, compared with 6,859 killed in 1898 and 119,507 injured in 1910. Of the killed during the year 277 were passengers and of the injured 7,456 were passengers. Employes killed during 1919 numbered 2,138 and 131,018 were injured.

Fewer trespassers on railroads were killed in 1919 than during any year of the commission's records which go back to 1890. Last year 2,553 trespassers were killed and 2,658 injured. Railroad officials said there were less persons out of employment and fewer tramps than formerly, because of the war.

DULUTH COMPANY'S SALESMAN DROWNED

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Incomplete details of a hunting tragedy on the Yellow river, nineteen miles from Spooner, were received here last evening from John Gardner, James Good and Lew Anderson, who announced the drowning of Frank Keena.

The four men were duck hunting, and it is presumed that Keena lost his life by the overturning of a canoe. The body had not been found last night.

Frank Keena was a traveling salesman for F. A. Patrick & Co. of Duluth, and had a wide acquaintance with the patrons of that company. He leaves a wife and four small children at Ashland.

NONPARTY STRENGTH IN IDAHO PERPLEXING

Boise, Idaho, Nov. 2.—Strength to be shown by the Nonpartisan league in today's election was the problem most perplexing to political experts when the men and women of Idaho went to the polls today to choose presidential electors and two representatives and county officers.

League of Nations supporters have a candidate for the governorship and have indorsed the Democratic candidate for senator. In these contests the closest of today's races are expected. In interest the senatorial fight overshadowed the presidential contest.

COOLIDGE VOTES AND LEAVES FOR BOSTON

Northampton, Mass., Nov. 2.—Governor Coolidge, Republican vice president nominee, voted with Mrs. Coolidge here shortly after 9 a. m. and then left for Boston, where he will receive the election returns tonight.

The governor's day opened with an informal flag raising at his home conducted by his two small sons. The boys hoisted the colors on a small pole in front of the house while the governor and Mrs. Coolidge and a gathering of neighbors and children on their way to school looked on and cheered.

EFFECT ON PRESIDENT IS FEARED

Friends Concerned Lest Disappointment May Affect His Health.

Senate May Be Democratic and Peace Treaty Resubmitted.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

(Copyright, 1920, by The Duluth Herald.)

Washington, Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Aside from the actual result of the election, perhaps nothing has given greater concern here than the possible effect upon President Wilson of an adverse verdict at the polls. The president has always had unbounded confidence in his own judgment of what the American electorate would do, and yet many of his friends think he will be greatly disappointed this time. He has had reverses before, as in 1918, but on nothing that was as close to his heart as is the Covenant of the League of Nations. It has been argued convincingly in the press that the election result will not have indicated anything conclusive about the league and will only have registered the natural reaction of people against their war government, something that has happened throughout Europe. But nobody in the inner circle of the administration has probably paved the way for defeat. So far as is generally known, the president has been continuously optimistic about the outcome.

Senate May Be Democratic.

Were it not for the frail condition of the president's health, the election might not be a moment for anxiety. Indeed, there have been rumors that Mr. Wilson might feel constrained to resign the presidency if Cox were defeated. On the other hand, the possibility that the senate might go Democratic has been held out as a consolation, especially since it might mean the resubmission of the peace treaty at the December session of congress in an effort once more to reach a compromise. The new senate would not,

PREDICT HEAVY VOTING IN SOUTH

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 2.—Heavy voting throughout the South, with thousands of women casting their first ballots for president, was predicted by election officials today. Favorable weather conditions were expected to prevail in most localities, although showers had been forecast for states along the Atlantic seaboard. Rain, election officials said, would keep many voters at home, particularly in the rural districts.

Leaders in both parties were claiming today that a heavy woman vote would help their cause. Many Georgia women were expected to demand a vote despite the state law which provides that voters must register six months before election. Women of the state were not registered because ratification of the suffrage amendment was completed less than six months ago.

ELECTION MANAGERS KICK AT $1 DAY PAY

Columbia, S. C., Nov. 2.—Disinclination of election managers to accept the authorized pay of a dollar a day resulted in the ballot boxes in several Columbia precincts still remaining unopened at 11 o'clock.

When the polls opened at 7 o'clock, election managers were on hand in only one of the eleven precincts. Later two or three managers were sworn in.

FRENCH DELEGATE TO LEAGUE OF NATIONS ASSEMBLY NOV. 15

LEON BOURGEOIS.

Paris, Nov. 2.—The cabinet today nominated Leon Bourgeois, president of the council of the League of Nations, Former Premier Rene Viviani and Former Minister of Foreign Affairs Gabriel Hanotaux as France's delegates to the League of Ntaions assembly in Geneva, beginning Nov. 15.

HARDING BUSY PLAYING GOLF

Candidate Puts in Day on Links After Casting Vote.

Marion, Ohio, Nov. 2.—While the nation was recording its decision today on his candidacy for president Senator Harding put politics out of his attention and gave over the greater part of his time to a game of golf.

Arranging to visit the polls and cast his own vote early in the forenoon, he chose to spend all of the remainder of the day away from Marion. He selected the Scioto club, near Columbus, for his golf game, and was to make the forty-mile trip back by motor late in the afternoon.

Tonight with Mrs. Harding and a circle of relatives and friends he will learn the result of the balloting at his home where local Republican leaders have planned a red fire celebration in his honor.

Smile of Confidence.

If there was in the candidate's mind any apprehension over the outcome, it did not manifest itself in his outward demeanor. He wore the same air of smiling confidence that has characterized his manner throughout his campaign and there was apparent an additional touch of satisfaction that the stress of political debate and maneuvering was over.

Mrs. Harding, his constant companion during his campaigning, appeared equally confident and she insisted on doing her full part to the end of the fight by accompanying him to the polls and casting her first vote for him. A slight cold kept her indoors yesterday but she said she felt much better today.

Vacation plans are in formulation for Mr. and Mrs. Harding, but details have not been announced. A trip that would take them away for two weeks or more of rest has been recommended by their friends and they are expected to make a decision within a day or two. A secluded place probably will be selected so that should Mr. Harding be victorious, he could escape much of the annoyance which comes to a president-elect.

Office Seekers Busy.

Many of his admirers, confident of a

WHY NEW VOTERS SHOULD VOTE FOR THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

The first vote is usually the most important one a voter ever casts, because it identifies him with a party or with principles which influence his future political acts.

The greatest moral issue ever presented to American voters is the dominant issue at this election, embracing the principles of world peace and national honor—the League of Nations.

The Covenant of the league is a mutual pledge of member nations, now numbering forty-three, not to go to war, to reduce armaments, to settle disputes by arbitration and, through a permanent court of international justice, to prevent disease, promote social justice and relieve suffering through an international Red Cross.

The honor of America is pledged to the purposes of the League of Nations, which is supported by the leaders of education, by the most intelligent elements of American citizenship, by all the great religious denominations, by the most patriotic elements, including the Veterans of the World War, by the gold-starred war mothers who sacrificed their sons, and by nonpartisan women generally.

The moral forces of America are for the League of Nations. It is opposed by reactionaries, by makers of ammunition and war material, by certain money interests that want to exploit other nations, by every enemy of the United States in the World war, by sons of eminent men who place party above principle or country, and by some misguided persons to whom the truth has been misrepresented.

The new voter must ally himself either with the element supporting the league or with its enemies.

If the league fails because America fails, the new voters must bear the heavy tax burdens of the late war and their children must fight the next war.

Governor Cox, as the Democratic candidate for president, favors going into the League of Nations at once.

Senator Harding, the Republican candidate, favors staying out. He has "scrapped" the Covenant of the league.

CUBANS IN DOUBT AS TO ELECTIONS

Only 111 Precincts Out of 3,002 Have Made Reports.

Government Denies Liberal Charge of Holding Up the Returns.

Havana, Nov. 2.—Work of canvassing the vote of yesterday's presidential election moved slowly last night, and it seems probable that if the rate is continued, the result of the presidential election in the United States today may be known here before Cubans learn the name of their next president.

Returns from only eleven of the 3,002 precincts in Cuba had been received by the central electoral board when it closed shortly before midnight. At that time Dr. Alfredo Zayas, coalition candidate, was leading Gen. Jose Miguel Gomez, standard bearer of the Liberal party, by 682 votes. The tabulation as announced by the electoral board, gave Zayas 11,034 and Gomez 10,352.

Various reasons were given by leaders for the delay in transmitting the official result. Some Liberals charged that the count was being held up by the government, but this was denied by officials, who declared that the government itself had received and made public returns from a larger number of precincts than had been reported to the board.

There was a feeling of intense relief when dispatches indicated that the day had passed without serious outbreaks. The number of persons killed around the polling places was no greater than expected.

Dr. Zayas was a bit more optimistic than Gen. Gomez, for he claimed a sweeping victory, while Gomez declared the tabulation was too meager as a basis for predictions. The general's followers, however, went to bed after a night of great hilarity in Havana, satisfied that he had won.

HEAVY RAIN IN LOWER MICHIGAN

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 2.—Early voters in Lower Michigan went to the polls this morning through a heavy rain while those of the Northern peninsula were greeted by colder weather and a forecast of snow. Notwithstanding these conditions election officials looked for a total vote of approximately 800,000, owing in part to unusual interest in state issues.

In addition to registering their choice for president, Michigan voters were to elect congressmen and all state officers. Attorney General Alex J. Groesbeck and Former Governor Woodbridge N. Ferris, were respectively Republican and Democratic gubernatorial candidates.

Among the state issues counted upon to bring out a heavy vote was a proposed constitutional amendment which would in effect abolish private and parochial schools.

BARRELS FOR BALLOT BOXES

One of Expedients as Result of Greatly Increased Vote.

New York, Nov. 2.—The use of barrels for ballot boxes was one of the expedients adopted at some of the polling places in New Jersey today as a result of the greatly increased vote due to suffrage. It was indicated that owing to the large number of women registrants throughout the United States the same congestion prevailed elsewhere. In Boston the polls were kept open until 5 p. m., instead of at 4 o'clock. In Georgia except in the county seats the polls were to close at 3 p. m., and in the county seats at 6 o'clock.

Voting is going on today in more than 100,000 election precincts in the forty-eight states, in three of which, North Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia, polls close at sunset.

The hour at which the polls will close in the various states is as follows:

Alabama, 6 p. m. cities, (5 p. m. towns and country); Arizona, 6 p. m.; Arkansas, 5:30 p. m.; California, 7 p. m.; Colorado, 7 p. m.; Connecticut, 6 p. m., (certain towns, 8 p. m. by special legislation).

Delaware, 6 p. m.; Florida, 5:40 p. m.; Georgia, 6 p. m., (county seats), 3 p. m. elsewhere; Idaho, 7 p. m.; Illinois, 5 p. m.; Indiana, 6 p. m.; Iowa, 8 p. m.; Kansas, 7 p. m.; Kentucky, 4 p. m.; Louisiana, 7 p. m.; Maine, 6 p. m.; Maryland, 7 p. m.; Massachusetts, 8 p. m. limit, (optional to close earlier, Boston, 4 p. m.); Michigan, 5 p. m., rural (8 p. m. cities).

Minnesota, 9 p. m.; Mississippi, 6 p. m.; Missouri, 6 p. m.; Montana, 6 p. m.; Nebraska, 8 p. m.; Nevada, 6 p. m.; New Hampshire, 6 p. m.; New Jersey, 7 p. m.; New Mexico, 6 p. m.; New York, 6 p. m.; North Dakota, 9 p. m.; North Carolina, sunset.

Ohio, 5:30 p. m.; Oklahoma, 6 p. m., rural (7 p. m. cities); Oregon, 8 p. m.; Pennsylvania, 7 p. m.; Rhode Island, 7 p. m., cities (6 p. m., in towns); South Carolina, 4 p. m., throughout the state (8 p. m., Charleston); South Dakota, 5 p. m.; Tennessee, 7 p. m., cities (4 p. m., country districts).

Texas, 7 p. m.; Utah, 7 p. m.; Vermont, 6 p. m.; Virginia, sunset; Washington, 8 p. m.; West Virginia, sunset; Wisconsin, 7 p. m.; Wyoming, 7 p. m.

HAD TO WAIT 102 YEARS TO CAST HER FIRST VOTE

MISS ANNA STONE.

Men are entitled to vote at the age of 21, but this young lady who says she feels young, had to wait almost five times that long before she could cast her first vote. She is Miss Anna Stone, 102 years old, of Roxbury, Conn. It is believed that she will be the oldest woman voter in the United States.

COX AND WIFE CAST BALLOTS

Reach Polls Early But Find Many Have Preceded Them.

Dayton, Ohio, Nov. 2.—Governor Cox, the Democratic presidential candidate, was an early voter today, but on arriving at the polls found more than 200 of his neighbors had cast their ballots ahead of him.

Accompanied by Mrs. Cox, the governor reached the polling place, a combination barber shop, confectionery, tobacco store and print shop, at 10 o'clock, but the line of waiting voters delayed the deposit of their ballots until 10:17 a. m. The polls were in Carrmonte, a suburb of Dayton, and about a mile from the Cox home, Trailsend.

The vote cast by Mrs. Cox was not her first, as she had lived in Illinois and voted at a state election a few years ago. She showed her knowledge of the old Australian ballot, marking up four different forms composing it in 2 minutes and beating her husband by 30 seconds.

Neighborly Greetings.

Neighborly greetings and good wishes from his friends greeted the candidate as he arrived at the polls, coming from the train, which had brought him home from Toledo where he closed his campaign last night. A battery of cameras were centered on him at the polls, and joining the line of voters, the governor remarked to an elderly woman:

"There is a lot of excitement in

RESIDENT FOR HALF CENTURY, 87 YEARS OLD, CASTS FIRST VOTE

Mrs. Johanna Meining, 87-years old, was among the first this morning to take advantage of her newly-gained privilege of the franchise.

Fifty years a resident here, she is known by numerous Duluthians... Mrs. Meining resides with her daughter, Mrs. S. H. Boyer, at 219 Second avenue east. She voted at 111 East First street.

Mrs. Meining also has six other children. John Meining, former sheriff; Henry C. Meining, Clara Meining and Mrs. Duncan Bradshaw live in Duluth. Miss Louise Meining is in New York city and Richard Meining is in California.

ALL KINDS OF WEATHER FOR VOTERS

Runs From "Fair and Warmer" to "Rain and Snow" in Sections.

Men and Women Defy Elements and Exercise Right to Vote.

New York, Nov. 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—Weather running the entire prognosticator's gamut from "fair and warmer" in the Old South, to "rain or snow" in the Great Lakes region, "clear skies" in the West and the weather man's hesitating "unsettled conditions" on the Atlantic seaboard, greeted the nation's voters today as they lined up at the polls to choose their next president.

Before noon scattering reports from the four corners of the country indicated that men and women alike were defying the elements where these threatened, and taking early advantage of nature's smiles in more fortunate sections, to discharge their ancient prerogative, in the case of the men voters, and their new privilege in that of the newly enfranchised women.

Candidates Vote.

The central figures in the contest voted early with their wives. Senator Harding, Republican nominee for president, motored to the golf links after casting his ballot at Marion. Governor Cox of Ohio, the Democratic choice, voted at Dayton, and then went to his farm. Governor Coolidge of Massachusetts awaited returns in Boston after voting in Northampton, and Franklin D. Roosevelt withdrew to his country home at Hyde Park overlooking the Hudson after voting with a number of his relatives.

The Berkshire county town of New Ashford, in Massachusetts, was the first to report its final returns. By a vote of nearly 5 to 1, it enunciated to the world its choice for the nation's chief executive. The vote was: Harding 28; Cox 6.

In New York, long lines formed before the polling places, in some of which voters had to work fast, casting their ballots at a rate exceeding one a minute.

Locked Out.

Early in the day Democratic national headquarters here sent out a distress signal. The landlord had locked the administrators of the party of Jefferson out of house and home at a moment when the administrators particularly wanted to be inside.

In a long statement, issued after a compromise had been affected and the double bars of the office doors let down, George White, chairman of the Democratic national committee, accused the owners of the Grand Central Palace of attempting to "stop the entire machinery of the Democratic national committee this morning."

An hour or two later, however, the headquarters was buzzing with the same activity as pervaded its rival on Forty-fourth street, where Republican leaders, linked with all parts of the country by telephone and telegraph wires, awaited the returns.

Mr. White said that the rent of the national committee office had been paid to Nov. 1, and that an additional $3,000 was tendered the landlord this morning to cover the additional period including election day. This sum, he said, was refused and it was not until a check for $8,000 had been put up that the offices were opened.

The final day of pre-election tension brought no letdown of confidence on the part of the major party leaders. Mr. White began the day by saying "Cox and Roosevelt will be elected." He also predicted substantial gains in the house and senate.

Will H. Hays, directing the Republican campaign, gave out no official statement. "I am mute for the present," he said.

Charged With Murder.

La Crosse, Wis., Nov. 2.—John G. Beier, farmhand, was last night arrested on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Nicholas Biessen, Brinkman Ridge farmer, whose body was found on Aug. 26 with the top of the head blown off by a shotgun. The coroner's verdict was suicide.

Public Debt Reduced.

Washington, Nov. 2.—Treasury operations for October resulted in a further reduction in the public debt, according to figures made public today showing the gross debt to be $24,062,509,672. This represents a reduction of $24,846,455 during the month.

WHO WILL BE PRESIDENT?

The Herald invites everyone to attend its display of up-to-the-minute reports of the national, state and county election results from 7 o'clock until midnight.

BRASS BAND, MOVIES, SONGS

The election returns will be interspersed with vocal and instrumental music and motion pictures. The American Legion band, under the direction of Bandmaster Glen S. Locker, will give a splendid program. The American Legion quartet (C. P. Knott, Glen S. Locker, Nels Gustafson and J. H. Conlon) will sing.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

the world's unexcelled news gathering agency, will employ its nationwide facilities for the information of The Herald's guests, which means the first accurate reports of the races for president and governor. The Herald's reporters and special correspondents will furnish earliest information on the city and county results.

By the courtesy of the Burgess Electric company, The Herald also will be furnished with returns by wireless from the Arlington station at Washington.

There is room for thousands at Postoffice square, and The Herald invites all to be its guests.

DON'T FORGET! TONIGHT'S THE NIGHT!

LANDSLIDE IN SMALL TOWNS IN BAY STATE

First Balloting at Topeka, Kan., Shows Vote to Be Close.

New Ashford, Mass., Completes Its Voting at 7:30 in Morning.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 2.—The outpouring of voters in Massachusetts today nothwithstanding overcast skies was so great as to tax polling place provisions. From the hill towns and the cities alike, word came that the women were out in large numbers and the men's vote ran high.

This state gave the country the first returns early in the day, the little Berkshire town of New Ashford, with 28 votes for Harding and Coolidge, almost doubling its Republican strength of four years ago, and the six votes for Cox and Roosevelt falling one short of the number given President Wilson in 1916.

The town of Mashpee, on Cape Cod, gave:

For president—Cox, 4; Harding, 43.

Four years ago the vote of Mashpee for president was: Wilson, Democrat, 21; Hughes, Republican, 12.

The town of Norwell, in Plymouth county, voted as follows for president and governor:

For president—Cox, 48; Harding, 409.

For governor—Cox, Republican, 405; Walsh, Democrat, 30.

The vote of Norwell for president in 1916 was: Hughes, Republican, 178; Wilson, Democrat, 107.

New Ashford First.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 2.—The town of New Ashford, in Berkshire county, was the first in Massachusetts to report its vote for president today. The tabulation of the vote was completed at 7:30 a. m., and resulted as follows:

Harding and Coolidge, (Rep.), 28; Cox and Roosevelt, (Dem.) 6.

Four years ago New Ashford gave: Hughes, (Rep.), 16, and President Wilson, (Dem.), 7.

Close at Topeka.

Topeka, Kan., Nov. 2.—The election returns here reported at 10:30 a. m. from three city precincts incomplete gave Harding, 54; Cox, 81, and Debs, 1.

Incomplete returns from four precincts out of thirty-six in Topeka at 11 o'clock gave Harding, 109; Cox, 99. Under the double election system the count began at 10 a. m.

Wichita, Kan., Nov. 2.—The first 258 ballots counted in six of the twenty-nine precincts in Wichita give: Harding, 168; Cox, 90.

Parsons, Kan., Nov. 2.—First returns in Parsons today gave Harding, 32; Cox, 22.

Selecting New President.

New York, Nov. 2.—Men and women voters of the forty-eight states went to the polls today to select a new president.

Before the dawn of another day, the country in all likelihood will know

HOOVER AND JOHNSON AT ODDS ON HARDING'S POSITION ON LEAGUE

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 2.—Zest was added to election issues in California with publication today of statements by Senator Hiram W. Johnson, opponent of the League of Nations, and Herbert Hoover, proponent of the league.

The statements presented opposing views of Senator Johnson and Mr. Hoover as to the attitude of Senator Harding and Samuel M. Shortridge, Republican, for senator from California, toward the League of Nations.

Publication of a statement issued Sunday by Mr. Hoover indorsing the candidacy of Senator Harding and Mr. Shortridge led to the charge published yesterday in the San Francisco Call, that Mr. Shortridge and Mr. Hoover had agreed to abandonment of the "irreconcilables on the League of Nations issue." In a statement issued last night Senator Johnson declared Senator Harding says he has turned his back upon the league, and favors "neither reservations nor interpretations, but rejection of it."

Believes Harding.

Mr. Hoover, continued the statement, says Mr. Harding is going into the league. "I believe Mr. Harding."

Continuing, the Johnson statement declared the charges that there was an understanding between Mr. Hoover and Mr. Shortridge as to the attitude of the latter toward the league had been denied by Mr. Shortridge. "I believe Mr. Shortridge," the statement added.

California, with a registration of 1,374,184, will vote for president, senator and congressmen and twenty-four initiative and referendum measures.

Included among these is the so-called alien land law, which seeks to prohibit the leasing of agricultural lands by aliens ineligible to citizenship.

In the last national election the state, with a large Republican registration, gave President Wilson a small majority.

EXPECT 3,000,000 TO VOTE IN N. Y. STATE

New York, Nov. 2.—New York state's citizenry went to the polls in large numbers early today, and officials predicted that at the close of the ballot boxes at 6 p. m. at least 3,000,000 of the 3,500,000 qualified men and women will have expressed their choice for national, state and local offices.

Secretary of State Hugo has sent 20,000 ballots to soldiers, sailors and marines in overseas service. These votes will be counted in December.

In addition to expressing choice for national offices the voters were called upon to elect a new state legislature.

Governor Alfred E. Smith, Democrat, seeking re-election, is opposed by Nathan L. Miller of Syracuse. Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., Republican, is opposed for re-election by Lieutenant Governor Harry C. Walker.

Forty-three representatives in congress are to be chosen.

There is also before the voters a proposition to issue $45,000,000 for soldiers' bonuses.

NOME HAS BUT 200 INHABITANTS LEFT

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 2.—Nome, Alaska, which during the gold rush of 1900 had a population estimated at 15,000, was left with but 200 inhabitants when the steamer Victoria, the last boat of the season for the states, sailed from there, according to passengers who arrived today.

The Victoria brought 523 passengers from Alaska, 350 of whom were from Nome. Many of these declared they would not return.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed With Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Luster at Once.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two its natural color is restored, and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

Why Be Afraid of Good Food?

Eat What You Like Best But Follow It With a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet.

When the stomach sours or becomes gassy, with heartburn, it needs the alkaline effect to offset the acid condition. This you get from one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Relief is usually very prompt. The regular use of these tablets after meals gives the stomach and small intestine substantial help to digest food and you will then be bold enough to eat baked beans, fried eggs, sausage, buckwheat cakes and many other things you thought would make your stomach miserable. Get a 60-cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store and you will then eat whatever you like and be fortified against the acid, sour stomach due to indigestion or dyspepsia.

STOCK VICTIM OF MAN'S RAGE

Veronica Reith Says Husband Wreaked Vengeance on Stock; Asks Divorce.

Cows and hens were innocent victims of the uncontrollable rage of Raymond C. Reith, aged 30, during frequent quarrels he used to have with his wife when they lived in the rural district near Duluth, according to the story that Mrs. Veronica M. Reith, aged 26, tells in divorce papers filed yesterday afternoon with the clerk of the district court.

Mrs. Reith alleges that when he would fly into one of his "rages," he would "wantonly maim or kill some of the stock." While in the country, she says, they were raising poultry and livestock.

After they moved to town, Mrs. Reith claims that he used to break up the household furniture when he became enraged at her over some trifling difference. On one occasion, she alleges, he struck her.

Mrs. Reith alleges that she could no longer stand to live with him and that she left him in September, 1919, and has never seen him since.

Threats Against Wife.

She also alleges that her husband claimed to possess some drug, which if administered, would cause death or insanity. In a rage, she alleges, he would threaten secretly to administer the drug to her or to her parents. She says that she believed or feared that he might put his threat into execution.

Judge Bert Fesler yesterday granted Alta M. Schoen, aged 34, a decree of divorce from Joseph W. Schoen, aged 44, confectioner at 2332 West Third street, on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. Mrs. Schoen testified that her husband beat her and called her vile names. She was granted the custody of their two children, $40 as permanent monthly alimony and $25 as attorney's fees.

Clothing Classes.

Miss Esther B. Cooley, extension specialist in clothing from the state university, is in the city conducting two clothing classes under the home bureau, one at the courthouse and one in the Coran & Dennis sewing machine shop in West Duluth. She gave a lecture on the "Foundation of Dress" and demonstrated the making of a paper form. onstrated the making of a paper dress form.

TEN CANDIDATES FOR GOVERNOR IN ILLINOIS

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Deputies from the office of Charles F. Clyne, United States district attorney, were added to the ballot box guards of special police and party workers in Chicago today following warnings given judges in numerous precincts by Mr. Clyne to be on the watch for law violations.

While yesterday's rain was not expected to cut the Chicago vote Lieutenant Governor Len Small and Former Senator James Hamilton Lewis, Republican and Democratic candidates for governor respectively, claimed an advantage from its effect on the downstate rural vote. There are eight other candidates for governor, besides these two, and a considerable share of the estimated vote of 2,300,000 in the state is conceded by political experts to candidates other than those of the two major parties.

PORTO RICO HOLDING GENERAL ELECTION

San Juan, Porto Rico, Nov. 2.—Porto Rico, with the greatest number of voters ever registered, today held the first general election since the granting of American citizenship. A commissioner to Washington, members of the legislature and city commissioners of all the municipalities were to be chosen.

Three tickets were in the field, Republican, Socialist and Unionist. For some of the offices the Republicans and Socialists united in opposition to the Unionists, who now control the legislature. This was the first election under the new election law, wholly in the hands of the local electors.

DEBS SAYS HE WILL NOT BE DISAPPOINTED

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 2.—Eugene V. Debs, Socialist nominee for president, in a final campaign statement today, said:

"I shall not be disappointed over the results of the election as the people will get what they think they want in so far as they will think at all."

Mr. Debs will receive election returns tonight in the Federal penitentiary, where he is a prisoner.

No special wire arrangements have been made for his benefit, but Warden Zerbst has arranged to obtain the returns from Atlanta newspapers and convey them to Mr. Debs.

GUARD ELOPES WITH WOMAN PRISONER

Middlegeville, Ga., Nov. 2.—Officials at the state penitentiary here have announced that J. W. Gans, a guard at the women's building, and Juanita Weaver, a prisoner, "quietly eloped" late Saturday night. Juanita was serving a sentence of one year for shoplifting, having been convicted in Atlanta last May. She is described as being about 21 years old, and a blonde.

Thirty Cases on Grist.

About thirty criminal cases will be considered by the November term of the grand jury, which will convene tomorrow in district court, according to Mason M. Forbes, first assistant county attorney, who will be in charge. The most serious charge is that of manslaughter which has been placed against Wilfred McDonald, held for the death of William B. Thompson, who was run down by McDonald's automobile on Garfield avenue Oct. 8.

Lost Hunter Found.

Tony Zimski, aged 19, who lost himself while hunting partridges Sunday with his father and chums, was found by Deputy Sheriff Bert Duff in the woods near Shields, on the Vermilion road, yesterday. Zimski told the officer that he had walked all day and it developed that he had been traveling in circles.

Asks Release From Bond.

Attilio Castigliano, local consular agent for the Italian government, today petitioned the district court for an order releasing him from a $950 bond furnished in connection with the settling of the affairs of the estate of Guiseppe Canossa, who was accidentally killed Jan. 6, 1916, while in the employ of the Dean Iron company. Mr. Castigliano acted as legal representative of Canossa's parents who are residents and citizens of the Italian government. He represents in his petition that all expenses have been paid out of the $950 received from the Dean Iron company in settlement of the wrongful death claim and that $657.14 has been remitted to the heirs.

At Income Tax Conference.

Joseph Shartel, division chief in charge of the Duluth district, left for St. Paul today to attend a conference of deputy income tax collectors for the state of Minnesota. E. J. Lynch, collector of internal revenue, has called the conference to outline plans for the income tax drive which will occupy the attention of collectors from now until Jan. 1.

Selling the Zenith.

At Central high school yesterday after Principal Young finished his announcements the Zenith sale began and lasted about one hour. Kendall McClure, Wilbur Taylor, Miss White, and Miss Southworth each gave a talk encouraging the sale of the Zenith. The Zenith board is trying to put out one of the best Zenith's Central ever had. At the end of chapel the Zenith board gave a comedy playlet.

N. P. Bridge Repaired.

After being out of commission for more than twenty-four hours, the Minnesota draw of the Northern Pacific bridge was put in working order again today. The shutdown became necessary when the steamer Henry Phipps in passing through accidentally pulled a cable out of place. Vessels were compelled to use the Wisconsin draw the remainder of the day and night.

Autos Collide; Nobody Hurt.

Two automobile accidents were reported yesterday to the police. C. S. Proctor, 10 East Second street, reported that he had a collision with an automobile belonging to R. A. Du Bois. Both machines were slightly damaged but no one injured. The other accident was that of a Duluth Marine Supply company truck driven by Sam Reed which crashed into an arc light pole at Fifteenth avenue east and first street. Wires on the pole were loosened and the truck damaged.

Buick Roadster Recovered.

A Buick roadster stolen from George Brunam, Jr., on July 23, 1920, was recovered yesterday afternoon by Sergeant Oscar Olson of the Duluth police department. The car was located at Morgan Park, where the Morgan Park police had taken charge of it after the auto had been abandoned. The police believe that they are on the track of a Cole-eight that was stolen last summer and which is now thought to be in the hands of the St. Paul police.

Only Three Offenders.

Today had a holiday aspect in police court. Only three offenders faced the judge. Oscar Anderson pleaded guilty to having been drunk and was fined $30 and costs with an option of spending thirty days at the work farm. A stay of sentence was granted until Jan. 1, 1921. Harold Underhill pleaded guilty to a violation of the game laws. He was fined $10 and costs or sentenced to serve ten days at the work farm. Underhill was arrested on a complaint by J. E. Kreager, deputy game warden. Bert M. Hansen pleaded not guilty to having false scales in his possession and his trial was set for Nov. 9 at 10 a. m.

EDITOR MITCHELL TO WASHINGTON

Charles S. Mitchell has resigned as editor of the Duluth News Tribune to become editorial writer on the Washington Herald, recently acquired by Herbert Hoover, Julius H. Barnes and others.

He will leave here Nov. 23 for New York city to meet Mr. Hoover and Mr. Barnes. Mrs. Mitchell and family will remain in Duluth for a few weeks until Mr. Mitchell has made permanent residence arrangements at Washington.

Mr. Mitchell has been connected with the News Tribune as editorial writer and editor for the last fifteen years. He was previously one of the most prominent country editors in the state, with newspapers successively at Alexandria and Fairmont.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell have taken an active interest in every movement looking towards the welfare of Duluth and Duluthians. Mr. Mitchell has been a leader in every project of civic improvement. In the years he has been identified with the News Tribune, his efforts have always been directed towards service to the community.

Mrs. Mitchell, too, has contributed generously to the cultural life of the city. Her talks on literature and current events before numerous women's organizations have become well known and popular. She is planning to complete her courses for the 1920 season before leaving Duluth.

FORMER KAISER NOW WELCOME AT DOORN

Doorn, Holland, Oct. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—The village of Doorn now begins to look upon the former German emperor as a welcome guest. His residence here, under the new tax assessment levied on the exile, is expected to increase the town's income by about $13,265 annually, being about 25 per cent of the entire municipal tax receipts of Doorn. This is the municipal share of the anticipated revenue from taxation of William's income, which the Dutch government has estimated at the normal equivalent of $522,600 annually.

IS ARRESTED FOR BUYING NEGRO VOTE

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 2.—The first arrest in the state in connection with the election was made here today when Former Chief of Police Brinney Linn was taken into custody on a Federal warrant charging him with buying the vote of French Elmore, negro. Elmore was arrested also on a charge of selling his vote.

WILL INSPECT COMPANY L; L. A. BOWMAN, COMMANDER

Company L of the Greysolon battalion will be inspected next Monday night for Federal recognition and will be known and designated as Company L, Sixth regiment, Minnesota infantry of the National Guard. Lieut. Col. McDowell of the field artillery will make the inspection, according to Maj. Fred W. Beecher. The order was received by Maj. Beecher today from Adjt.-Gen. Rhinow under direction of Governor Burnquist.

Three more companies will be mustered in as soon as the enlistments are completed, announced Maj. Beecher today. These enlistments will be made Friday and Monday nights for the three companies to make up the Greysolon battalion. Lieut. Leslie A. Bowman, now in the tank corps, will be promoted to a captaincy and will be the commanding officer of Company L, Maj. Beecher said.

Not Heard of Bergdoll.

Washington, Nov. 12.—The war department has received no advices from the military authorities at Coblenz indicating that any trace of Grover C. Bergdoll had been found there, according to Maj. Gen. Harris, adjutant-general. All such reports pass through his hands, Gen. Harris said, adding a comment on the many rumors that reached his office that Bergdoll had been located. Coblenz, he said, was one of the few places not previously mentioned in these reports.

Likely to Close Yard.

Washington, Nov. 2.—Hog Island shipyard at Philadelphia, built at a cost to the government of about $70,000,000, will be closed Feb. 1 unless disposed of by that date, Chairman Benson announced last night at the shipping board. The board received only two bids approximating $4,000,000 each for the purchase of the yard.

SOVIET RUSSIA ASKS BRITISH ASSURANCES

London, Nov. 2.—Assurances have been asked of Great Britain by the Russian soviet authorities that she will not countenance the military activities of Generals Balakovitch and Petlura, the anti-soviet commanders who continued hostilities against the Bolsheviki after the conclusion of the peace with Poland.

The request came through Gregory Krassin, soviet representative in London, who yesterday handed a note to the British government complaining that notwithstanding the Polish armistice the forces of Generals Balakovitch and Petlura were continuing warfare on soviet Russia with the assistance, the note alleged, of the Entente powers. The note asked that Great Britain make it plain that she would not give her approval to these forces in continuing the bloodshed.

CLUB TRAFFIC DIVISION HEADS ARE ELECTED

The Duluth Commercial club directors yesterday elected Julius H. Barnes vice president and Charles F. Macdonald director-chairman of the rates and traffic division of the club's affairs. This completes the personnel of the board of director-chairmen, who serve as governing heads.

Cards calling for a preference in serving on the different committees were sent out to the different members of the club in making up the list of the committeemen on the different divisions of the club. These provided for first and second choice and will be consulted in making up the different committees, which will be announced within a few days, according to W. I. Prince, secretary.

BETTER COAL SHOWING MADE

October Brings More Bituminous Than Usual; Week Season's Record.

A greatly improved showing was made in the movement of coal to Duluth and Superior docks during the last few days. Yesterday fourteen cargoes were discharged at the docks and the same number of cargoes were unloaded on Saturday. With the receipt of fifty-four cargoes during the last week, a high record for the movement was set for the season.

Although a start was made last month in making up the season's fuel deficiency, it would be necessary to move approximately 3,000,000 tons of soft coal from the Lake Erie docks to this market during this month in order to place the trade in the same position it was last year, and that is admitted to be a physical impossibility. To counterbalance in a measure the shortage in soft coal receipts, dealers admit that a large saving in consumption has been effected through the mild weather prevailing over the Northwest up until this week, and there is also to be taken into consideration the fact that the railroads have been depending for their supplies upon the Illinois and Indiana fields, instead of moving coal up to the docks here from the Pennsylvania mines as has been the case in other seasons.

More Soft Coal in October.

Receipts of soft coal at Duluth docks during October were reported at 1,508,400 tons, as compared with 1,031,500 tons last year. A falling off was shown in the movement of anthracite coal for the month, receipts of it amounting to 271,600 tons, against 419,200 tons last year. Receipts of soft coal for the season to Oct. 31 last aggregated 5,618,200 tons, showing a shortage of 927,500 tons, as compared with the same period last year. To that deficiency must be added 2,000,000 tons shortage on the docks when the season of navigation opened last spring.

Anthracite receipts for the season to Oct. 31 aggregated 1,225,800 tons, an increase of 37,570 tons as compared with last year. The hard coal situation is, however, not regarded as satisfactory as would appear from the face of those figures for the reason that a surplus of 350,000 tons remained on the docks in the spring of 1919, while last spring the anthracite sheds at the Head of the Lakes were empty.

Receipts Last Month.

Comparative figures of coal receipts by docks for the month of October and for the season up to Oct. 31, as compiled by the Tomlinson company, Duluth vessel agents, were:

ORE SHIPPING ON INCREASE

Showing for October and Season Ahead of Last Year.

A gratifying showing was made in iron ore shipments from the Head of the Lakes docks and Ashland for October and for the season to date. For October an increase of 2,170,621 tons was shown, with shipments aggregating 7,335,356 tons. For the season to Oct. 31 shipments mounted up to 43,490,899 tons, an increase of 5,801,313 tons over the corresponding period last year.

Mining operators predict that shipments for the present season will equal or exceed 55,000,000 tons. Last year the season closed early owing to cold and stormy weather conditions. Shipments during November were only 3,152,319 tons and the total for the season was 48,812,000 tons.

CLUB PLANS OPEN HOUSE FOR MEMBERS AND WIVES

The Duluth Commercial club will hold open house tonight for members and their wives while election returns are being received by special wire. Dancing and music, as well as games, will fill in the time while waiting for the reports. One of the largest crowds of any election night gathering is expected at the club tonight, owing to the women voting and taking as much interest in the results as the men.

A large bulletin board has been erected in the lobby and as fast as the returns are received they will be placed on the board. Dancing will take place in the main dining room.

DO YOU WANT HEALTH—THEN READ

Bulgaria and Oriental Europe Produce Sturdiest People.

Do you want to feel from 10 to 30 years younger?

Do you want to know the joy of Perfect Health?

You can get back the spirit of youth, your eyes will sparkle with new life and the rich glow of health will replace the faded yellow skin.

Bulgarian Blood Tea, used for centuries in Oriental Europe, is the most remarkable medicinal family preparation known in the world today. Composed of choice and rare herbs, just brewed by yourself and taken once or twice a week, will be the beginning of a new life for you. Your blood will become rich and pure; the flame of life will be rekindled—no more headaches, biliousness, constipation, indigestion or bone-racking aches or pains. Bulgarian Blood Tea is guaranteed to contain just pure herbs of marvelous medicinal and curative power gathered from fields, mountains and valleys of Europe, Asia and Africa. Bulgarian Blood Tea taken steaming hot at bed time will kill a cold and guard against influenza, grippe, pneumonia and other serious sickness.

All drug stores now keep Bulgarian Blood Tea in stock, but owing to the enormous demand immediate application to your druggist is urged on account of the limited source of supply. Distributors of Bulgarian Blood Tea are authorized to return the full purchase price if it does not materially improve your health in three weeks' time. This evidence of faith in the power of Bulgarian Blood Tea is the guarantee of the Marvel Products Company, Marvel building, Pittsburgh, Pa., who authorize this public announcement.—Advertisement.

GOVERNOR COX ENDS CAMPAIGN

Makes Concluding Address to Big Audience at Toledo, Ohio.

Toledo, Ohio, Nov. 2.—Governor Cox, the Democratic presidential candidate, closed his campaign here last night as he began it three months ago, with a plea that the election be decided in favor of America's entrance into the League of Nations. He predicted his election at the polls was a certainty, declaring that his success would be a victory for a cause, not for a political party.

Two large audiences, numbering several thousands, heard his speech and as he closed his last plea for the league his words were that its acceptance by the United States meant "peace on earth, good will to man."

The governor's visit to this city was to keep faith with a political superstition his party followers here asserting his only defeat at the polls was when he did not close his campaign here on election eve.

Referring to his political career and the local superstition, the governor said:

"I finish the campaign here tonight, and I expect to win tomorrow."

Closes Campaign.

The governor brought his campaign to a close just an hour and half before the beginning of election day. The song of the angels at Bethlehem that he used as the closing words of his campaign, he said, would be sung again by the angels when this country entered the league.

"Every traitor in America," the governor asserted in this connection, "will vote tomorrow for Warren G. Harding."

This remark caused a few hearers to leave the hall, with whom the crowd made merry as the departing voters moved toward exits. The governor also declared that when he started the campaign he promised to "step a fast heat," and he added that he "finished with greater speed than ever."

Governor Cox attacked the Republican platform, asserting that efforts were made in its preparation to please various party leaders with the result that "absolutely nothing was left in their declarations."

To Win Various Groups.

The governor reiterated charges made by him at various times in the campaign that the Republicans sought to win various groups of voters.

"They said the negro vote would come to them practically solid," said the governor.

"There has been entirely too much said about social equality for the future serenity of the nation."

Before their convention, the governor continued, the Republican leaders made efforts "to get the pro-German vote" by introducing the Knox resolution in the senate.

"They flirted with the professional pro-German vote from the beginning to the end of the campaign," said Governor Cox.

Then taking up the League of Nations, Governor Cox declared that its adoption by this country was the "outstanding issue" to be decided at the election. This country, the governor continued, is morally bound to adopt the league because of what he described as the country's promise to American soldiers who died in the World war.

Spiritual Eyes.

"The spiritual eyes of 81,000 American boys who fell in the war," declared the governor, "will look upon you tomorrow at the polls to see whether we are a nation of honor or a nation of repudiators."

The governor repeated again his "conspiracy charge," accusing Senator Lodge and other Republican senators, as "conspirators in hatching a plot to defeat the league."

"After tomorrow," continued the governor, "one of the conspirators will be a private citizen residing at Marion, Ohio."

Governor Cox said that the Covenant of the league aims to remove the causes of war, and he denied that England would have six votes to one for the United States in the organization. Further, he asserted, that the league would not interfere with Ireland becoming a separate nation, but he contended that Ireland's best chance for freedom was through the league. Denial also was made by the governor that America's entrance into the league would permit American soldiers being sent abroad without a declaration of war by congress.

"I cannot tell where Senator Harding stands on the league question for I have not read today's newspapers," said the governor.

The combination of two great foods

Troco is a pure, dainty, appetizing product made from two of the most nutritious natural foods the world produces—snowy fat from coconuts and pasteurized milk.

Vigorous tropic races depend upon coconuts for their principal food. Milk is the standby of the temperate zone.

Combined you get fancy Troco

Churn this rich coconut fat with milk—twice pasteurized—develop perfect flavor by exacting care and supreme skill.

Do this churning in a brand new plant up-to-the-minute in every detail of equipment—

And you get sweet Troco, delicate Troco—the de luxe brand of nut margarin.

A butter expert, Mr. A. E. Hoffman, who has spent 30 years making and judging butter and teaching butter making, has put the true butter flavor into Troco.

He supervises every detail of the making, has standardized Troco quality.

It may cost more

This standardized perfection may cost a trifle more, just as finest butter does.

FEELS BETTER THAN HE HAS IN TEN YEARS

fornian Tells of Good Fortune in Finding the Right Remedy in Time.

"I knew that I was losing strength but couldn't seem to find anything to help me," says Mr. Frank [illegible] of 1957 South Mariposa street, Los Angeles, Cal., whose complete recovery should encourage others. "Each day I was more tired out, until I had to give up work for a while. I did not have any ambition at all and there were severe muscular pains across my back, through my shoulders and a peculiar pain in my chest. Nothing seemed to relieve me and I grew nervous and was very much unlike myself.

"I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and decided to try them. After taking the remedy for ten days I had more life and energy and after taking [illegible] boxes I felt better than I had in [illegible] years. I am feeling fine now and the rheumatic pains haven't appeared since I took the pills. I can truthfully recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to everyone in need of a tonic."

When general debility results from thin blood. Every part of the body suffers and you feel badly all over. When the blood is restored and a health-giving stream is going to every part of the body you soon see the result in a better appetite, an improved digestion, brighter eyes, better color and increased energy.

Get a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at your druggist's today or write the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., enclosing sixty cents and a box will be sent you, postpaid. A little book, "Building Up the Blood," which explains the treatment, will be sent free on request.

OPPOSITION FOR MEASURE

Building Owners and Managers Ask Delay of Plumbing Ordinance.

Opposition to an ordinance proposing to license plumbers, introduced at the meeting of the city council yesterday afternoon, may state its case at a special meeting of the council. It was decided at the conclusion of a wrangle between Commissioner Bert Farrell, sponsor of the measure, and Whitney Wall, representing the Builders, Owners and Managers' association.

Mr. Wall insisted that such an ordinance would take away the right of engineers and property owners to do necessary work and will prevent outside firms from bidding for jobs here. Its adoption, he declared, would be a detriment to Duluth.

"You have misunderstood the purpose of the bill," Mr. Farrell replied. "It has been drawn solely to protect ventilation systems. It is stated specifically that the ordinance does not apply to water pipes. Our purpose is only to prevent unauthorized and incompetent persons from tampering with the soil pipes. We are out to prevent the sort of plumbing that causes pollution of the water and endangers the lives of individuals."

Provisions of Ordinance.

The ordinance provides that master plumbers will have to pay a fee of $25 the first year and $3 every year thereafter, while journeyman plumbers will have to pay $10 the first year and $1 for successive years. Violation of the ordinance entails the possibility of a fine, a jail sentence and a loss of the license.

Mayor Hugo suggested that the council hold a special meeting the latter part of the week to hear all protests. Mr. Wall said today, however, that he would endeavor to have the meeting postponed several weeks in order that he may gain data from other cities where such measures have been adopted and later rescinded. He asserted that property owners would be most seriously handicapped by the proposed ordinance. Similar action has been proposed by the council periodically for several years.

First reading was given yesterday to a resolution permitting the Soo railroad to lay its tracks along Forty-ninth avenue west on condition that it maintain the property abutting on its right-of-way.

A contract for a heating and lighting system for the Harrison playground was awarded the Duluth Edison Electric company on its bid of $1,150.

Installation of heating and plumbing fixtures in the new Utilities building was awarded to E. S. Farrell & Co on a bid of $11,900. The motion had been tabled last week.

Following its second reading a motion to purchase a ten-ton caterpillar tractor for $6,835 was ordered laid on the table till after Jan. 1. Shortage of funds was given as the reason by Commissioner Farrell.

H. R. Tinkham was appointed to succeed C. C. Teare, resigned, as a member of the civil service board of the city. The sum of $166 was ordered appropriated from the library fund to build a retaining wall on the east side of the Lincoln library.

Bids to Be "F. O. B."

On motion of Mayor Hugo it was decided that the city will hereafter ask all bids to be made "f. o. b." Duluth. The public safety department will advertise for bids for 205 yards of thirty-two-ounce mackinaw cloth and 225 yards of eighteen-ounce cloth in order to provide uniforms for the fire department. A contract for the collection agency of the water and light department at New Duluth was let to the First State bank.

A claim for damages for $155.75 was filed by Archie Castonia for injuries sustained when his automobile truck fell through a bridge at Belmont avenue. Commissioner Farrell said that the bridge was not built by the city so that the city was not responsible.

To Construct Sanitary Sewer.

A sanitary sewer in Winona road from Alden avenue to Maxwell avenue and in Maxwell avenue to the sewer in Wabasha street will be constructed by Johnson, Nordgren & Storlie at a cost of $4,210. The Heimbach Lumber company was awarded the contract for lumber for a plank sidewalk on the west side of Eighty-first avenue west from Grand avenue to Coleman street. The contract for the construction of water and gas mains in Nineteenth avenue east from Boulevard alley to Allen avenue was awarded to J. A. Johnson on his bid of $1,876.50.

REV. G. G. BENNETT NEW BISHOP COADJUTOR OF DIOCESE

Rev. G. G. Bennett, rector of St. Paul's church of Minneapolis, has been elected bishop coadjutor of the Duluth diocese of the Episcopal church, according to word received yesterday by Dr. A. W. Ryan, rector of St Paul's Episcopal church. The new bishop is expected to arrive in Duluth to assume charge of his duties here the latter part of this month. The ceremonies of consecration for Rev. Mr. Bennett will take place in his present church at Minneapolis. The date of this ceremony has not been announced.

DR. KENT WILL ATTEND STATE EDUCATIONAL MEETING

Dr. R. A. Kent, city superintendent of schools, will attend the fifty-seventh annual meeting of the Minnesota Educational association to be held in the Saint Paul hotel at St. Paul Nov. 3, 4, 5 and 6. It is expected that between 7,000 and 8,000 delegates from all parts of the state will be in attendance. During the convention week the following colleges and associations will hold banquets and reunions for former students: College of Education, Teachers' college, Carleton college, Gustavus Adolphus college, College of Saint Theresa, Winona state normal school, Mankato normal school, St. Cloud normal school and the Twin City History Teachers' club.

MARQUETTE BISHOP FIFTY YEARS PRIEST

Marquette, Mich., Nov. 2.—The golden anniversary of his ordination as a priest was quietly observed by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Frederick Eis Saturday and Sunday. He was ordained at the old cathedral here Oct. 30, 1870, by the late Bishop Mrak.

A public celebration was contemplated to present him with a token of affection of the clergy and laity of the diocese over which he has presided as bishop for twenty-one years, but when he learned of this, he requested that it be omitted, and declared that he preferred to celebrate the day quietly. Bishop Eis received many letters and messages of congratulation from his hosts of friends. He is the first bishop in the diocese to celebrate his golden jubilee.

OLD SOUTH SHORE OFFICIAL RETIRED

Marquette, Mich., Nov. 2.—John J. Conolly, for thirty-two years in the employ of the South Shore railroad as master mechanic and superintendent of motive power and machinery, has been retired and is succeeded by John Herron, general foreman, according to a bulletin issued from the Minneapolis office of the system, signed by T. A. Foque, general mechanical superintendent, and approved by President Pennington.

Martin J. Dunnebacke, who has been roundhouse foreman, will take Mr. Herron's place as general foreman. George J. Tibor, who has been night roundhouse foreman, will succeed Mr. Dunnebacke as day foreman.

Mr. Conolly has not yet decided upon his plans for the future, but it is understood that he is retiring from active service.

OCTOBER THIS YEAR WAS WARM MONTH

Temperature Highest in Fifty Years With One Exception, Says Weather Dopester.

With one exception, October of this year was the warmest of any in the last fifty years. The mean temperature was 52 deg. this year and in October, 1900, it was 54 deg., according to the monthly report of H. W. Richardson, local weather observer. The precipitation was somewhat more than an inch in excess of the normal rainfall, virtually all of which fell on and after the thirteenth.

The unbroken period of abnormal warmth from the second to the twenty-sixth, combined with the copious rainfall which continued virtually uninterrupted from the thirteenth to the fifteenth and later greatly revived vegetation, but which was killed by the hard freeze on Oct. 28 and 29.

The highest temperature for the month was 78 deg., on Oct. 7, and the lowest was 19 deg., on Oct. 28. The greatest daily range was on Oct. 6, when there was a variation of 28 deg. The highest for this month since 1870 was in 1901, when the temperature reached as high as 80 deg.

The greatest precipitation for the month was on Oct. 13, when 2.33 inches of rain fell. Snow fell on only one day, Oct. 27, when 0.1 inch was noted. The prevailing direction of the wind was from the northeast and the maximum velocity for a duration of five minutes was thirty-seven miles an hour from the west on Oct. 13.

Fifteen days were clear days, 3 were partly cloudy and 13 were cloudy. On nine days rain fell. Thunder storms occurred on Oct. 13, 14, 20 and 22. Dense fogs occurred on Oct. 2, 11, 16, 19, 20, 21 and 22.

IMPROVING THEIR HERDS

Red River Valley Farmers Not Letting Up Because Prices Slump.

Crookston, Minn., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Farmers of the Red River valley will not quit farming because of the present inevitable slump in prices, is the consensus of opinion of well-informed persons in this section. As evidence of this is cited the announcement that Marshall county breeders will hold a sale of purebred hogs and cattle at Warren on Nov. 5 and 6, indicating that, instead of letting down now, the Red River valley farmers are investing in purebred livestock more heavily than ever before.

"Foundation breeding stock of the best quality attainable is the kind to buy, and to buy now," is the advice of C. G. Selvig, president of the Red River Valley Livestock association, which has a membership of over 1,500 members who own co-operatively three splendid livestock pavilion buildings in Crookston. The Marshall county association is closely affiliated with the valley association. It is expected that the sales at Warren will be attended by scores of breeders from every county.

It is a common remark among the old-timers that such a thing as a purebred livestock sale in the Red River valley was unheard of ten years ago. They point also to the new $70,000 pavilion as the most conclusive evidence that the farmers are out to make the Red River valley a banner livestock region, as well as to maintain its reputation as the home of No. 1 hard wheat.

FORMER ARGYLE MAN FLIES TO MILL CITY

Crookston, Minn., Nov. 2.—Leaving here late Monday afternoon, Dr. Henry Stuhr, a former resident of Argyle, well known in Crookston, expected to reach his home in Minneapolis three hours later. Dr. Stuhr and W. A. Kidder, president of the Curtis Airplane company of Minneapolis, drove to this part of the state Sunday and visited in Argyle. They were met in that town by Earl Billiter who flew one of the Curtis airplanes, to Argyle in three hours and forty-five minutes against a strong wind. Mr. Kidder returned to the Twin Cities by train while Mr. Stuhr returned in the plane. He was accompanied to Crookston from Argyle by State Senator Hegnes.

GAME LAW VIOLATORS ARE BEING PUNISHED

Crookston Minn., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eighteen arrests of state game law violators have been made this season by Deputy Game Warden William Munch, who has just returned from a survey of the northern section of his district. The game warden arrested Ed Schnoll in Mahnomen county on a charge of hunting ducks without a license. He was taken before Judge Gordon Peterson of Twin Valley, where he pleaded guilty and was fined $15 and costs. In Clearwater county Mr. Munch arrested Dave Edwards on a charge of having venison in his possession. Edwards pleaded guilty before Judge Peterson at Shevlin and was fined $10 and costs.

BOXCARS WRECKED WHEN BRAKES FAIL

Crookston, Minn., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Several empty box cars were destroyed in a Great Northern freight wreck here Sunday evening when trouble developed in the air brakes on a down grade. The wreck occurred only a short distance from the depot and held up passenger traffic for some time. No one was injured.

A long freight train consisting mostly of empty box cars, was entering the city when an air hose broke and several of the cars toward the middle of the train left the track. It was necessary to detour No. 33, the Duluth train, from this city to Grand Forks but the line was cleared in time to allow the Winnipeg Flyer and No. 36, the eastbound Duluth train, to pass.

OFFERS BLOOD FOR SICK CONGRESSMAN

Ishpeming, Mich., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Marcus H. Willey, World war veteran of this city, on reading of the serious illness of Congressman W. Frank James in a Washington, D. C., hospital and the need for receiving blood by transfusion, volunteered to enter a hospital and furnish the blood. He has written to the national capital tendering his services and now awaits acceptance.

The young man, who is strong and robust, believes that he will be able to withstand the blood transfusion operation and hopes that his services will be accepted. Congressman James assisted him in securing government vocational training.

MOVE TO INCREASE CONSUMPTION OF RICE

New Orleans, La., Nov. 2.—A co-ordinated movement is under way by growers, millers and other factors of the rice industry to stabilize that industry and increase the consumption of rice.

The movement is headed in the Associated Rice Millers of America who are about to start a nationwide newspaper advertising campaign setting forth the deliciousness, healthfulness, and economy of rice. Their slogan will be "Eat Rice." The campaign which has been prepared by N. W. Ayer & Son of Philadelphia is one of the largest ever undertaken for a staple food product.

Shot Playing With Rifle.

Aitkin, Minn, Nov. 2.—George Jooplly of East Lake is near death at a Brainerd hospital as a result of a fractured skull. George and a younger brother were playing with a rifle when it was accidently discharged, the bullet striking George in the head.

MEDALS WILL BE AWARDED SOON

Washington, Nov. 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—The long delay in awarding medals for distinguished wartime service in the navy and marine corps is about to be ended, it was learned yesterday at the navy department. The decorations, which were held up while a naval board reconsidered the awards after a controversy among naval officers and a subsequent congressional investigation last winter, have been mailed to commanding officers of ships and stations for distribution either on Armistice day, Nov. 11, or Armistice Sunday, Nov. 14.

The medals were forwarded in sealed packages, with instructions that they were not to be opened until receipt of a general release message from the department, and are then to be presented with appropriate ceremonies wherever practicable. The revised list of those to receive the awards was not made public and it was said it would not be released until the medals were actually presented. The original list included thirteen persons to receive the medal of honor, while the revised list, it was said, provides for nineteen to receive the highest military honor. The revised list as finally approved includes the names of more than 400 officers and men who will receive the distinguished service medal and about 1,500 to receive the navy cross.

The controversy over naval decorations was precipitated last winter by the publication of a letter from Rear Admiral W. S. Sims to Secretary Daniels declining to accept the distinguished service medal for which he had been recommended because of alleged injustices in the manner of awarding the honors.

It was not disclosed at the department whether the names of Admiral Sims and other officers who declined to accept medals last winter were on the final list.

N. P. Official Changes.

Livingstone, Mont., Nov. 2.—A. V. Brown, general superintendent of the central district of the Northern Pacific railway, with headquarters here, Monday became general superintendent of the Western district, with headquarters at Tacoma, Wash. J. E. Carver, recently acting general superintendent at Tacoma, succeeds Mr. Brown here. Mr. Brown has risen from a clerk in the service.

Carlton Fireman Dies.

Carlton, Minn., Nov. 2.—The body of Edward Watt of this place, aged 35, single, employed as fireman for the Northern Pacific railway, who died in the company hospital at Brainerd and whose mother and two sisters, one of the latter, Miss Jenny Watt, taught school in Brainerd, was brought here today for the funeral.

Wakefield Couple Hurt.

Ironwood, Mich., Nov. 2.—Mr. and Mrs. Axel Noall of Wakefield were seriously injured here when their car collided with one driven by a Hurley man, said to have been intoxicated and for whom a warrant has been issued but who is said to have speeded away to the Wisconsin side.

Mr. Noall suffered a fractured knee cap and other injuries. Mrs. Noall was badly bruised. Both were taken to a hospital.

COLD, SNAPPY WEATHER FOR ELECTION DAY PEP

Crisp, snappy weather, but with no prospect of snow is the weather forecast for election day, according to H. W. Richardson, local weather observer. While the weather may be cloudy with occasional snow flurries this afternoon there will be no general snow fall and the temperature will not drop much below that of yesterday, which hovered around the freezing point. It may drop slightly lower tonight, but not to any great extent.

Winter was ushered in yesterday with an inch of snowfall. With the high winds that reached a high velocity from the northeast, it might have been very disagreeable had the temperature been low. As it was it did not go below 35 deg. during the day and 30 during the night. Later in the night the wind shifted to the west and the temperature dropped somewhat.

Republican victory, already have given him the attentions of a potential president, and the inevitable procession of office seekers has begun. Requests for appointment to positions ranging from cabinet members down have reached Harding headquarters in quantity and there has been a rush for postmasterships by many who are not aware that recent legislation has put these positions under the civil service.

One of those who offered to serve as secretary of state, wrote the senator that although he was young and inexperienced, he had honest purposes and high aims, and was willing to take advice. His name had never been heard before the candidate or his advisers here.

Precinct C of the Fourth ward of Marion was the senator's voting place today. It returned a Democratic majority at the last election, but the local Republican managers predicted that it would go for Harding by a big margin today.

Harding's Vote.

Senator and Mrs. Harding reached the precinct voting place, a red brick garage, shortly after 10 o'clock. They were cheered when they entered the building and several of those who were awaiting ahead of them offered to give up their places. The senator refused, however, and took his place thirteenth in the line, with Mrs. Harding just ahead of him.

A half dozen spotlights were concentrated on them and a battery of cameras clicked away as the nominee and his wife waited their turn. Mr. Harding took orders from the photographers good-naturedly, and got the crowd laughing by mimicing the movie men.

"That's right, let's keep this scenario going good," he said, "you know you only vote for yourself for president once."

"Twice," corrected a woman in the crowd, and the candidate nodded and joined in the laugh.

Mrs. Harding's voting number was 303, and her husband's 304 in a ward whose registered vote is about 500. As they emerged from the voting booths the spotlights flared on them again and there was another burst of cheering as they handed over their ballots to the election judge.

The Hardings rode to the polls, accompanied by the senator's secretary, George B. Christian, Jr., who took his place in line just behind his chief. He was followed in turn by Mr. Harding's chauffeur, Frank Blackston.

of course, take office until after next March, when a special session would be called, but it is believed the effect of Democratic victory in the senate might mean a more conciliatory mood in the session of congress to be convened next month.

Friends of the League of Nations will not wait until a special session of congress is called next spring in order to push for the ratification of the treaty with proper reservations. Every vote taken in the senate has shown more than two-thirds of the senate as favoring ratification of the treaty and league in some form. It would help the next administration immensely if the troublesome treaty question were out of the way when the new administration came into power, so that domestic affairs might be given undivided attention. More than a year has already been spent in wrangling over the treaty and league, while domestic issues, like taxation, have suffered by neglect. The treaty question may suffer if postponed to a special session of congress.

May Soften Attitude.

It is considered possible that President Wilson's attitude toward a compromise on reservations will have been greatly softened by the verdict at the polls and that a nonpartisan or bipartisan movement may yet be started to bring about America's entry into the league during the remaining days of President Wilson's administration. It would probably hearten the president and give him strength to bear the strain of his illness.

The true condition of the president is a matter of conjecture. Few people know, though there is the usual amount of rumor about a relapse. The best information the writer has been able to obtain is that the president has been steadily improving and is much better than he was some months ago. Nobody can foresee what the effect of a disappointment may be, but men who know Mr. Wilson best are convinced that his vitality is such that he will be able to withstand the blow that is sure to come. The president does not read newspapers generally, and it is said that he has not been given any pessimistic reports about the campaign, so that very probably the result will come as a shock to him.

Rumors of Resignation.

As for the rumors of resignation in the event of defeat at the polls, this inference is believed to have been drawn from a recent speech of Governor Cox in which he predicted the "retirement" of the president from public affairs. Mr. Wilson is a firm believer in the theory that the head of a government should resign when defeated, just as in the case with parliamentary government, but circumstances influenced him in 1918 when he lost both houses of congress to ignore European precedent as applied to America's form of government, and it is not generally credited that he will abandon his post before the close of his administration. On the other hand if he believed that, by eliminating his own personality as a factor, Vice President Marshall might be able to negotiate a settlement of the treaty question with the Republican senate, he would probably retire. Yet it is known that Mr. Marshall doesn't share the president's views on the League of Nations, and it is hardly to be expected that he would champion the cause during the next session of congress.

Nobody can predict with accuracy what might be the outcome of the election on the plans of President Wilson. All Washington is hoping that he will bear up under the inevitable verdict at the polls and that he will be well enough to remain in office until the end of his term.

Partisanship may disappear with the election, and after a month's intermission the next congress may come back in a better mood to take up the matter of foreign policy and dispose of it before an avalanche of domestic problems, like the excess profits tax, comes down on the next administration.

HAIR HINTS

Helpful Advice for Care of the Hair Worthy the Attention of Everyone Who Would Avoid Dandruff, Itching Scalp, Gray Hair and Baldness.

If your hair is getting thin or you are troubled with dandruff or itching scalp use Parisian Sage, daily for a week and you will surely be surprised to see how quickly it stops falling hair and removes every sign of dandruff and itching scalp.

"Before going to bed I rub a little Parisian Sage into my scalp," says a woman whose luxurious soft and fluffy hair is greatly admired. "This keeps my hair from being dry, faded or scraggly, helps it to retain its natural color and beauty, and makes it easy to arrange attractively."

Beautiful, soft, glossy, healthy hair, and lots of it, is a simple matter for those who use Parisian Sage. This harmless, delicately perfumed, and non-greasy invigorator is sold at all good drug and toilet counters. Be sure you get the genuine Parisian Sage (Giroux's) as that has the money-back guarantee printed on every bottle.—Advertisement.

COX AND WIFE CAST BALLOTS

Carrmonte today."

"Yep, this town needs to be waked up," was her rejoinder.

After getting his ballott—No. 236—the governor found himself without a pencil, but many were offered him and the one he borrowed was returned to the owner, who remarked:

"I'll keep this as a keepsake from the next president."

The candidate responded with a smile. Mrs. Cox's ballot was No. 235, showing that 234 voters had preceded her and her husband to the polls.

Seen by Women.

While in the railroad yards where his train was buried amid some old discarded locomotives and coaches the governor was seen by two sunbonnetted women, who had been busy in another part of the yards, cleaning up coaches.

"Hey, governor, come out here; I just voted for you," called one of the women.

The governor hurried to the rear platform and shook the woman's hands and said: "I'm very much obliged to you."

As a parting shot to his campaign, the governor issued an election day statement in which he declared:

"I am confident that the cause for which I have stood during the entire campaign will be victorious today. The campaign has been based entirely upon a great moral issue, and in all the history of the world whenever a great moral issue has been presented to the people it has not failed. It will not fail today."

HALF DULUTH'S VOTE IS CAST AT NOON; NEW RECORD

a heavy vote during the early morning hours. In District No. 1 in Lester Park, the vote was about one-half up to noon. In this district 572 registered and about 300 had voted at 12 o'clock. District No. 28 also showed about half of the vote in by noon. District No. 31 had 128 out of a registration of 414 and a heavy vote coming in during the noon hour.

West Duluth and Morgan Park did not show a very heavy vote during the early hours, but they were coming in fairly fast during the noon hour. The heavy vote in these districts is expected during the hours after 6 o'clock, after the men are through work.

Heavy Downtown Vote.

In the downtown districts the voting is running about even with that in other districts in the East end and Lester Park, about half being cast at noon. District No. 35, at the courthouse had voted 156 out of 478 who registered; District No. 36, 136 out of a registration of 388, and District No. 37 had 131 out of 477 registrations.

An urgent appeal to all voters is being sent out by City Clerk Ash and the election judges to vote as early as possible, as there will be a rush after 6 o'clock even with the heavy vote cast early in the day. Many of the men will have their first opportunity of voting then and also many women who have been unable to get to the polls before. The polls will close at 9 o'clock and unless the voters are inside the polling places or are in line then they will not be able to cast their votes. The instructions of Mr. Ash are that all who are in line at 9 o'clock will be allowed to vote in the order in which they are lined up. Judges have been instructed to accept the ballots even if they come in after 9 o'clock, but not unless the voters are inside the polls or lined up awaiting their turn.

Returns are not expected to begin to come in before 10 or 11 o'clock tonight. Instructions to the judges have been given to count the ballots for president first, then those for governor and next the ballots for the judgeship. As fast as these results are determined they will be telephoned to the city clerk's office and from there to The Herald where they will be flashed on the screen.

whether Warren G. Harding, Republican, or James M. Cox, Democrat, has been elected to succeed Woodrow Wilson, for it is generally agreed that barring a miracle, none of the other five candidates has a chance. This choice, it is estimated, will be registered by a record vote of between 20,000,000 and 30,000,000 persons, many of whom are newly enfranchised women, who are voting for the first time.

Second only in interest to the contest for the presidency is the fight between the two major parties for the control of congress. Thirty-four senators, thirty-two to fill seats now held by seventeen Demcorats and fifteen Relicans and two to fill the unexpired terms caused by the deaths of Senators Bankhead, Alabama, and Martin, Virginia, both Democrats, are being chosen as well as an entire new house, composed of 435 members.

Present Senate Close.

The present senate is composed of forty-seven Democrats, forty-eight Republicans and one Republican-Progressive. The present house consists of 190 Democrats, 232 Republicans, two independent Republicans, one independent and one Prohibitionist. There are also nine vacancies.

Will H. Hays and George White, Republican and Democratic national chairman, respectively, each continued confident of victory. Mr. Hays reiterated his prediction that the Republican ticket was "certain to obtain 368 electoral votes" and that there was a strong possibility that the total might reach the 400 mark. A total of 266 is necessary to elect. Mr. White gave out no last minute prediction on the electoral vote, but renewed his expression of confidence in the election of Governor Cox. Each chairman also predicts control of the next congress.

Ends This Morning.

The campaign, waged principally around the League of Nations issue, did not end until early this morning. Senator Harding spent election eve quietly at his home in Marion, Ohio, while Governor Cox wound up his campaign at a big meeting in Toledo last night, but state and local candidates kept up their quest for votes into the dark hours of the night.

Unsettled weather with the possibility of rain, faced the early voters of the Eastern states, while those of the Upper Mississippi valley and Northern New England and New York prepared for the weatherman's prediction of snow. The rest of the country generally is expected to vote under clear skies.

Senator Harding will await the verdict at his home in Marion, where he will receive news bulletins compiled from figures collected by the Associated Press.

Governor Cox plans to receive returns in the office of his newspaper, the Dayton Daily News, which is a member of the Associated Press, and will obtain its full election-night service.

Governor Calvin Coolidge will watch the returns at Boston while Franklin D. Roosevelt will await the result at his home in Hyde Park, N. Y.

North Dakota.

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 2.—Weather here gave promise of a good day in spite of the fact that the sky was partly overcast. This, coupled with the great interest in the state contest between Nonpartisans and Independent Voters' association supporters, indicated one of the largest votes in the history of the state.

Arkansas.

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 2.—With Republicans centering efforts in the third district to bring about a break in the solid Democratic delegation to congress, voters of Arkansas cast their ballots today. The Third district contest was between John N. Tillman, Democratic incumbent, and John I. Worthington.

Pennsylvania.

Philadelphia, Nov. 2.—Overcast skies was the forecast for election day in Pennsylvania, and early indications pointed to anything but favorable weather. At sunrise it was cloudy and unseasonably warm.

Party leaders and workers exerted every effort to get out their full voting strength. It was one of the quitest presidential campaigns in Pennsylvania in years.

Delaware.

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 2.—Election day in Delaware opened cloudy and warmer. Both Democrats and Republican leaders claimed the state and made extraordinary efforts to get out the full vote. Because of the uncertainty of the woman vote some impartial observers classed the state as doubtful.

Nevada.

Reno, Nev., Nov. 2.—"Fair weather and a heavy vote," was forecast for election day in Nevada, chief interest centering in the senatorial race in which Senator Charles B. Henderson, Democrat, is opposed by Former Governor Tasker L. Oddie, Republican, and Miss Anne Martin, a suffragette leader, contesting as an independent.

Both Democratic and Republican party leaders profess confidence in the success of their national and congressional tickets.

Colorado.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 2.—Interest in Colorado's Democratic-Nonpartisan contest with the Republican party for control of state offices overshadowed the presidential outcome in today's election. Fair, cool weather greeted the voters in the northern half of the state while those in Southern Colorado went to the polls under lowering skies.

James M. Collins, Democratic-Nonpartisan candidate, is contesting gubernatorial honors with Oliver C. Shoup, Republican incumbent.

Missouri.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 2.—The presidential race shared interest with senatorial and gubernatorial contests as Missouri voters went to the polls today. Leaders of both Democratic and Republican parties expressed confidence at the outcome.

Senator Selden P. Spencer, Republican, a candidate for re-election, is opposed by Breckenridge Long, formerly third assistant secretary of state. John M. Atkinson, Democrat, and Arthur M. Hyde, Republican, are the candidates for governor.

With the promise of fair weather, a heavy vote was expected.

Kentucky.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 2.—Cold, clear weather in the greater portion of Kentucky brought out a heavy vote in today's election. Louisville was expected to cast the largest vote in its history, the registration voting increased 80 per cent.

In addition to president and United States senator there were contests in nine of the eleven congressional districts. In the remaining two, one Democrat and one Republican were conceded the vote.

Oklahoma.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 2.—With the enfranchisement of women, Oklahoma was expected to cast a vote of over 400,000 today, interest being centered chiefly in the senatorial, congressional and state contests. There was no gubernatorial election. The weather was clear and cool.

Iowa.

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 2.—Early reports indicated heavy voting in Iowa. Interest was keen in the race of Senator A. B. Cummins and Claude R. Porter, Democrat, for United States senator. In the central part of the state the weather was cool and cloudy with a light snow.

Nebraska.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 2.—Cold but clear weather prevailed here today following yesterday's snow storm, giving promise of a heavy vote.

In Northeastern and Western Nebraska, where the storm reached blizzard proportions, county roads are reported virtually impassable, promising to reduce the vote in the rural districts of those sections.

Georgia.

Savannah, Ga., Nov. 2.—Negro women were refused ballots at voting places here today. Many negro women have registered since the suffrage amendment became effective, but the election judges ruled they were not entitled to vote because of a state law which requires registration six months before an election.

No white women presented themselves at the polls.

West Virginia.

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 2.—In spite of a drizzling rain, West Virginia voters went early to the polls. The only disorders reported were from Snowhill, Kanawha county, where it was alleged the ballot box had been stolen. A party of government agents were sent to the town.

South Dakota.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Nov. 2.—South Dakota awoke to fair weather this morning. The sun promised to melt snow and ice and the temperature is slowly rising, giving promise of a heavy vote.

Connecticut.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 2.—Skies were overcast and the wind mischievous and chilly throughout Connecticut today, but the voters went early to the polls with indications of a heavy vote.

Massachusetts.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 2.—An overcast sky that carried a threat of rain greeted the Massachusetts voters who went to the polls early today. Predictions were made that 800,000 ballots would be marked in the state.

Maine.

Portland, Me., Nov. 2.—The voters of Maine balloted today for presidential electors only, state officers and congressmen having been elected in September.

New Jersey.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 2.—New Jersey voters, undeterred by forecasts of inclement weather, turned out in force with the opening of the polls at 6 o'clock this morning. While interest was focused on the presidential vote, as no state ticket is being chosen, contests in the twelve congressional districts almost rival the main question, owing to wet and dry issues involved in several cases. Women are voting for the first time.

New Hampshire.

Concord, N. H., Nov. 2.—The weather was threatening today when New Hampshire voters went to the polls.

Rhode Island.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 2.—Interest in the election result in Rhode Island centered largely in the congressional and state tickets. Rain was forecast, but political experts looked for a heavy vote.

Vermont.

Montpelier, Vt., Nov. 2.—Vermont, which has been consistently Republican, was expected to poll its usual vote today.

Kansas.

Topeka, Kan., Nov. 2.—A record vote, possibly 650,000 or over, was forecast in Kansas today. Four years ago the vote was 629,813.

PROF. CHANCELLOR SUES OHIO PAPER

Dayton, Ohio, Nov. 2.—A suit against the Burkham-Herrick company of this city, publishers of the Dayton Journal, asking $100,000 as damages for alleged libel was filed in court here yesterday with Prof. William Estabrook Chancellor of Wooster, Ohio, named as plaintiff.

The suit was based on a statement published in the Journal declaring that Prof. Chancellor had denied responsibility for authorship and circulation of printed matter relating to Senator Harding. In the complaint, it was alleged that Prof. Chancellor had not made the denial attributed to him by the Journal.

Confederate Cavalryman Dies.

Helena, Mont., Nov. 2.—Funeral services were held here for George Felix Ingram, 76, pioneer of Montana, who during the Civil war belonged to Gen. Forest's famous Kentucky cavalry and subsequently was a guard in the Black Hills and helped to protect Northern Pacific engineers from Indians in the original survey of that road.

MATTER UP TO U. S. ATTORNEY

Discrimination Charged by Coal Dock Companies; Committee to Act.

A committee of West Duluth citizens will today lay before the United States district attorney alleged charges of discrimination by Duluth coal dock companies against the West Duluth district. A committee consisting of P. G. Phillips, commissioner of public works, chairman; Richard J. Fisher, Lucien A. Barnes, James E. Foubister and W. B. Getchell, was appointed at an indignation meeting attended by nearly 200 West Duluth residents held at the West Duluth Commercial club rooms last night.

The coal companies are charged with having combined in violation of the Lever act to cause a shortage of coal and boost prices. It was charged that the companies have connived in discrimination against West Duluth in favor of the central part of the city and had failed to fill orders for dealers or deliver any coal in appreciable quantities for this section.

Case Up to McGee.

L. A. Barnes was chosen chairman of the meeting and W. B. Getchell, secretary. The secretary was instructed to get in touch at once with State Fuel Administrator J. F. McGee with the view of relieving the situation in this end of the city, which both local dealers and consumers declare is menacing. The method of procedure for the committee was left entirely in the hands of the committee, which was instructed to report its progress at a meeting Friday night.

A large number of citizens and dealers will supply the committee with "evidence" to be presented to the United States district attorney, according to statements made last night. Indignant citizens demanded prosecution of the companies, asserting that evidence would be forthcoming that would show discrimination against this end of the city.

The meeting last night was planned yesterday forenoon following the sudden cold wave and snow. Hundreds of West Duluth people protested to their dealers that they had not received the coal ordered and were informed that the only thing the dealers had was promises from the companies that deliveries were to be made. Feeling ran high at the meeting, some of the more radical suggesting the immediate confiscation of local supplies.

It was charged that the dock companies operating in Duluth had failed to make provisions to bring an adequate supply of coal to the city by failure to make the purchase in the Eastern markets; that coal was plentiful on docks at Eastern ports, and that because the companies had failed to make purchases the great percentage of boats coming into Duluth were light instead of carrying cargoes of coal. This, according to charges made at the meeting, not only caused the shortage but gave the companies an opportunity of boosting prices to what was declared to be outrageous prices.

Wood Supply Limited.

All of the coal dealers in West Duluth with the exception of one were represented at the meeting. The dealers stated that they had 3,000 unfilled orders in this part of the city and were unable to give any promise as to when these orders would be filled. Many residents declared that they were burning wood in their furnaces and that this supply was only limited.

Charles Beuglet, city agent for the Northwestern Coal company, whose company has been selling most of the West Duluth dealers, said today that his company was doing a "hand to mouth" business. He said that the coal that the company was receiving on its docks was being distributed equally and as fast as received among its various customers in order not to discriminate.

"Only a day or two ago we were compelled to refuse an order for coal from a dealer in West Duluth who had formerly been trading with another coal concern, but we turned down his order because we were unable to supply our own customers," said Mr. Beuglet. "Our company is not in a condition to take on any new customers at this time. It is not a question of the price of coal at this time; it is a question of being able to get it and we are decidedly short."

MORE BOOKS READ AT WEST DULUTH LIBRARY

There has been a great increase in the circulation of books since the beginning of the school year, according to Miss Dorothy Ribenack, librarian at the West Duluth branch. The increase is especially noticeable in non-fiction reading. The October circulation was 4,291. This is an increase of 262 over that of October last year, which was 4,029. The juvenile circulation for last month was 2,776; the adult, 1,518. The average daily circulation was 165.

A hundred children have been in attendance at the story hour at 4 p. m. every Friday. The children have been placed in two divisions because their number made it impossible to handle them in a body.

EDDA LODGE GETTING READY FOR CARNIVAL

Edda lodge, No. 15, of the Daughters of Norway, will meet at Odd Fellows' hall, 602 North Central avenue, tomorrow night to complete the arrangements for its carnival to be held at Great Eastern hall Nov. 12 and 13. The carnival will depict the various seasons of the year by means of four booths. Each booth will represent a season. The color schemes of the different booths will be in conformance with the seasons which they will represent.

There will also be a program each night. Mrs. Bert Wiggen, president of the lodge and chairman of the committee on arrangements, will open the program each night with an address. The other numbers of Friday night's program are: Presentation of the four seasons by a group of girls; a vocal solo by Elmer Wanger; a piano trio by Misses Loretta, Lillian and Clara Brotherton; a dance by Dagmer Wick and a tableau with chorus.

Saturday night's program includes a vocal solo by Ragna Hassel, a reading by Mary Alveson, a Highland fling by Doris Rushland, a song by Mrs. B. Wiggen and Mrs. P. Lund, a sailor's dance by Doris Rushland and a musical recital by Mrs. Gilbert Barker and Isabel Thomsen.

Mrs. Bert Wiggen, chairman on general arrangements, states that there are several details to be arranged for and it is important that all the members be present at the meeting tomorrow night. There will also be an initiation at tomorrow night's meeting.

Citizenship Club Formed.

In order to put to practical use, the results of their training, the three citizenship classes at Denfeld high school have organized a Citizenship club. Meetings will be held the second and fourth Friday of each month. The first meeting will be educational and the other social. Officers are John Victor Johnson, president; Michael Chachia, vice president, and Joseph Vekich, secretary-treasurer.

To Visit Superior Lodge.

One hundred and twenty-five members of Steel Center lodge, No. 241, Odd Fellows, will go to Superior tomorrow night, where the degree staff of the Morgan Park lodge will confer the degrees on a class of candidates for the Oak lodge, No. 340. A chartered car will leave the Lakeview store at Morgan Park at 7 o'clock tomorrow night for the hall in Superior. J. A. McGilvray will be in charge of the degree work.

CRAFT CLUB ORGANIZED.

Denfeld High School Pupils Take Work in Clay, Basketry, Leather.

A craft club has been organized at Denfeld high school by the members of the different art classes. The club will continue the study of the arts outside of the regular class work. The club has been divided into two divisions. Miss Moore is in charge of one division and Miss Goodwin, the other.

The members of the club will take up work in clay, basketry and leather. Jewelry made be added at a later date. The officers of the club are: Bernice Sande, president; Minnet Johnson, vice president; Ruth Palki, secretary, and Katherine Boham, treasurer.

Halloween Mask Party.

Lillian Osmond was the guest of honor at a Halloween masquerade party given at the home of some of her friends at 216 North Sixty-fourth avenue west last night. The entertainment consisted of music and games after which a luncheon was served. Those present were: Ina Harri, Helen Osmond, Florence Wilke, Ellen Mattson, Anna Johnson, Ida Antilla, Wilhelmina Viergutz, Marie Mattson, Ina Johnson, Florence Johnson, Evelyn Osmond, Alice Johnson, Lillian Mattson, Florence Hopponen, Mildred Boyd, Mrs. H. Sylvester and Mrs. G. Osmond.

Passing Protest Along.

C. E. Staky of the Klearflax Linen Rug company has filed a complaint in the form of a letter with the mayor against the blasting being done by the Duluth Crushed Stone company in West Duluth. The letter states that this blasting is not only a nuisance but also dangerous to life and property in that section of the city. The mayor indorsed the letter over to Acting Chief of Police Fiskett who, in turn, has sent it to Lieut. Barber of the West Duluth force for the proper action in the matter.

Trial Set for Wednesday.

The trial of Ivan Glibota and Louis Fajdetich, 5620 Raleigh street, who were arrested on the charge of blind pigging, has been set for tomorrow at 2 p. m. in the West Duluth branch of the municipal court.

West Duluth Briefs.

Watch repairing. Hurst, West Duluth.

The Ladies' Aid of the West Duluth Baptist church will meet tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. F. Swenson, 118 North Fifty-seventh avenue west. All members are urged to attend.

West Duluth lodge, No. 1478 of the Loyal Order of Moose will have an open meeting for its members tonight. Election returns will be received, a special program has been provided for tonight and lunch will be served.

INDIAN WOMEN SHOW INTEREST IN VOTING

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Indian women have shown about as much interest in voting as their white sisters. Charlotte Bell, a full-blood Chippewa girl, who was born on Bad River reservation, educated at Haskell Indian school and who secured a position in the interior department at Washington, forwarded her vote to Ashland, and in her letter to Indian Agent P. S. Everest said:

"It is a joy to me to perform my civic duties by voting; to be a credit to you and to show what a good citizen you have made of me, and how proud I am of my superintendent, and of the great state of Wisconsin. The Australian ballot system precludes voters from revealing the names of candidates for whom they vote, hence my inability to tell you just for whom, but I can say that I voted for the best man."

Miss Bell procured her schooling at Haskell by borrowing money from two of her brothers, and on her graduation she obtained a position at Washington three years ago and has repaid all the borrowed money.

P. O. REGISTRY CLERK DIES OF PNEUMONIA

Carl Ouse, a clerk in the registry department of the postoffice for more than fifteen years, died at his home, 719 West Second street, last evening following an illness of four days of pneumonia. Mr. Ouse had been a resident of Duluth for many years.

He is survived by his widow, three sisters and four brothers. They are Mrs. Joseph Saunders of Duluth, Mrs. R. C. McCollar of Proctor, Mrs. E. L. Nyman of Crookston, Lars and Magnus Ouse of Idaho, Hans of Munger, and Martin of Duluth. Arrangements for the funeral will be made this afternoon.

ASHLAND'S OCTOBER COAL RECEIPTS OFF

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—October coal receipts by water have been somewhat disappointing being only about 50 per cent of those received in September. The total soft coal receipts at this port this season are only 500,000 tons, while this is only a small per cent below the receipts for 1919, it is only about 75 per cent of the normal receipts. Hard coal receipts this year are only 54,000 tons.

MANY EXHIBITS PLANNED

Fine Prospects for Tuber Show and Growers' Convention.

Duluth business industries are taking an interest in the forthcoming Minnesota Potato show and the convention of the Potato Growers' association, which are to be held at the Armory Nov. 8, 9 and 10. For one they are arranging to have on display various exhibits showing equipment and implements used in potato growing, and for the other a straight industry exhibit. At the present time there have been fourteen who have signified their intention of taking space at the show.

Those who have notified W. C. Sargent, chairman of the show committee and the agricultural committee of the Duluth Commercial club, include the following: F. A. Patrick & Co., Kelley-Duluth, Duluth Creamery & Produce Co., Klearflax Rug company, Cowan & Zimmerman, Dupont Powder company, Duluth schools, Marshall-Wells company, Bridgeman Russell, Knudson Auto company, Elliott & Co., and many others.

Mr. Sargent calls attention to the fact that admission to the show will be free and there will be no charges at all except for the annual banquet which is to be held on Nov. 9.

NO PARKING ON FIRST STREET IN P. O. BLOCK

Commissioner W. F. Murnian has issued an order prohibiting all parking on West First street between Fourth and Fifth avenue west this evening. Policemen will be in attendance to see that the order is enforced.

The order is issued so that the public may witness returns as flashed from The Herald across the street on a screen in front of the postoffice.

PRODUCE AT LOWEST EBB

Cabbage, Onions, Potatoes Cheapest in Years; Crop Heavy.

With cabbage quoted by Michigan street commission men at $18 a ton onions at $2 a 100 pounds, and potatoes being offered down at as low as $1.65 a 100 pounds at some points, prices in those commodities at least stand at the lowest level in several years.

The low price set in cabbage is attributed to the enormous crop of that vegetable over Northern Minnesota this season, and the necessity of moving it owing to lack of storage facilities.

"Large consumers desiring cabbage to put up saeurkraut and others who have storage facilities, are enabled to pick it up now at a most favorable price on account of the unusual conditions prevailing. As soon as cold weather really sets in for the winter, the cabbage market may be expected to advance very materially as the moving of supplies from the country will then be hampered," said a commission house man qesterday. He pointed out, however, that the making of saeurkraut is being hampered this season, owing to the scarcity and high costs of barrels. Old barrels, suitable for that use, are now selling at $5, and new barrels at $8 apiece, as compared with a price of around $1.50 and $2 in pre-war days.

Potatoes at their going prices are considered to be below the cost of production, taking into consideration the high cost of seed and labor for cultivating and harvesting. Present low figures in potatoes are thought to be largely due to the rush of early marketing in advance of cold weather conditions. Higher prices are predicted as soon as operators begin to draw upon storage stocks to meet the usual shipments to the Southern markets and to other points that ordinarily draw upon Minnesota for supplies.

VIGILANCE PATROL WILL BE PROVIDED FOR WOODLAND

A vigilance committee of citizens at Kenilworth Park, Woodland, was formally organized last night at a meeting of thirty men held at the home of W. L. McKay, 2210 Vermilion road. Details for patrol work in the district were outlined and plans for putting into effect this evening the first patrol duty were formulated.

Norton Mattocks, 2125 Sussex avenue, said that every member of the organization would take turns in patroling the district at frequent intervals and at such times as will not inconvenience any member. Each member will be vested with police authority. A committee of members will appear before the city council to seek necessary permission to do patrol work. City Commissioner J. A. Farrell, a resident of the district, is a member of the vigilance committee and attended the meeting last night.

The action on the part of residents of the district was one of protection for the community, according to members of the committee. Lack of funds in the police department makes it impossible for the department to supply a man for the district and a number of burglaries and attempted house-breaking prompted the organization of the vigilance committee.

MRS. ANNA McDONNELL, MOTHER OF LATE CONTRACTOR, DIES

Mrs. Anna McDonnell, aged 87, resident of Duluth for many years, died yesterday at St. Ann's home following an illness of a few days. Mrs. McDonnell was mother of the late "Paddy" McDonnell, who for many years was one of the leading contractors in Duluth.

She is survived by two sons, John and Owen McDonnell, and one daughter, Mrs. M. J. McKenna of Bandon, Or. The body will be taken to Reedsburg, Wis., for burial.

Take particular attention of what you get inside the casing when buying a pipeless furnace. The

Novelty Modern

Pipeless One-Register Heating System

is not an ordinary pipeless—it is a Heating Plant that will last for generations and cut your coal bill one-third. Burns any kind of fuel.

Why!—The Novelty Modern One-Register Pipeless Heating System manufactured by the Abram Cox Stove Co. for 75 years and pronounced by leading heating engineers as the most economical and efficient furnace made.

There are over 250,000 "Novelty" Furnaces in use, giving perfect satisfaction and heating homes at a very small cost in every part of the United States.

Due to construction—the large grate area, the straight firepot, the "Crab Flue," indirect fire travel—you derive more and full benefit of each ton of coal used.

Each ton of coal burned has so many B. T. U.s. In the ordinary furnaces a great many of these are wasted, going up through the chimney—not so the "Novelty."

WET ASHES—If so desired, a water sprinkler connection can be made to ashpit. Same, however, is not necessary, as this furnace is dustproof.

MOIST AIR—The large front water pan insures an ample supply of moist air—scientifically correct — safeguarding your health.

Society and Women's Clubs

AMONG the novelties that have been launched for the fall are a number of dresses and coats that show the peasant embroideries of Czecho-Slovakia. This idea was first exploited by Jeanne Lanvin at her August openings in 1919, but at that time this maker was entirely alone in using distinctly Czecho-Slovak patterns and colorings. Since the many other dressmakers have taken up the idea, and now the fashion is in full swing. This is an interesting example of the way in which a fashion, if good, will live, no matter how extreme it may appear. It may not endure in its original form, perhaps, because of its extremeness, but its offsprings are met for many a day. So few worthy ideas are brought out that dressmakers are not willing to let a really good thing escape.

We prophesied when this style first appeared that it would have a remarkable influence on fashions for a long time to come. While of a marked type, it was not bizarre in any way. The delicate thread embroidery was charming. Along with the black and white effects were lovely black embroideries on stone-colored cloths. This has developed into black or white embroideries on all tones of gray.

Of John Cooper Powys, who will lecture here Thursday evening, under the auspices of the A. C. A., at the First Methodist church, a recent article in the Kansas City Star says:

> It is his poetic insight, perhaps, that makes him such an extraordinary interpreter of literature and life. Few of us have the patience and the training to get the geologist's and the botanist's view of the facts that make up the earth's surface. All of us can appreciate the interpretation in a Corot landscape. Mr. Powys interprets philosophy and literature and tendencies in English thought with the artist's vision. His lectures are no orderly exposition of facts. They are a series of vivid impressions, the adventures of the lecturer himself in the world of ideas. Their flashes of insight, their unexpected turns, their occasional revolts against conventional ideas, combine to keep the hearers on edge.
> It is an experience worth while for a community to come in contact with such a stimulating and unusual personality. His challenge provokes thinking.

AT THE THEATERS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

ORPHEUM—Victor Moore-Emma Littlefield & Co.; other acts.

NEW GRAND—Royal Harmony Five; other features.

MIDNIGHT CAR SERVICE FOR LATE THEATERGOERS

Persons who stay at Duluth theaters until midnight tonight to get elections returns will be given street car accommodations at midnight, according to advices received by Manager Edward Furni of the Orpheum. Large numbers are planning to attend late shows. The Orpheum will give two night shows, one at 8 and the second at 10:30 o'clock; the New Astor will give a special show beginning at 11 o'clock; the New Grand will announce returns up to 11 o'clock, and the Strand will give extra shows up to midnight.

ROSA RAISA CHARMS DULUTH WITH HER MAGIC MELODY

The pathway of the aspiring artist is long and arduous and only a few of the most indefatigable attain the goal of their ambitions. And fewer still find the reward commensurate with the struggle and cost in years and effort. Within this small and select circle one must place Rosa Raisa, for no singer, however great, could have sung "Elli-Elli" as she did last night and received the ovation she did without feeling that she had achieved the greatest success and been given the greatest reward any artist could claim. As to voice and technique, Rosa Raisa has much to be proud of, but it was due more to her sincerity and depth of emotion than her superb rendition of this simple Hebrew prayer that won her such a splendid reception. In this, as well as all other numbers of her excellent program, it was her charm of personality and sincerity of character that elicited for her the most praise and the most enthusiastic applause. It is doubtful if any singer, appearing in a city for the first time, could have made as many real friends as did this gifted singer from the Chicago Grand Opera company.

With Rosa Raisa on a program it is difficult for other artists to obtain their just deserts, but Giacomo Rimini, baritone, sang in solo and duet numbers to advantage and was accorded a fine reception. In his Figaro Aria from "The Barber of Seville" he was heard at his best, and he gave valuable assistance to Rosa Raisa in several duets, which were worthy of much praise.

Although Frank Laird Waller was scheduled to act as accompanist, nobody was disappointed because of his absence after hearing Miss Feline Falco, the artistic little pianiste from Holland. Miss Falco is a soprano of the Chicago Grand Opera company, but on account of her friendship with Rosa Raisa she often takes up the work of Mr. Waller. The harmonious relation of Raisa and Miss Falco is reflected in their work, making an ideal combination.

The concert as a whole, which was presented under difficulties, was a fine success. The Armory was almost completely filled despite the snow and rain and the large audience was well taken care of, due to the efficient management of Mrs. George S. Richards, who presented these artists as the second number of her All-Star course. Both singers could be distinctly heard in the remotest corner of the large auditorium and there was no confusion at any time. The stage was banked with palms and huge vases of chrysanthemums, which served as an attractive background.

The program was delightfully varied and included many gems from grand opera as well as simple folk songs and melodies. But it was Rosa Raisa's personality and art that held the attention of all. Her voice is full and rich and has a sweet lyric quality that is characteristic of no other singer. Probably this is due to the fact that her art is a reflection of her life and her struggle. Her career began but a few years ago and she has won success on her merit. She was born in Russian Poland but twenty-five years ago and has made her own way in the world. She fled to Italy from a massacre at Kiev and then began her studies in music. She was engaged for the Chicago Grand Opera company but a few years ago.

The concert program of last night follows: Aria, "Vespri Siciliana" (Verdi), Rosa Raisa; Figaro from "Barber of Seville" (Rossini), Giacomo Rimini; (a) "Voi che Sapete" from "Nozze di Figaro" (Mozart); (b) "L'Arriero" in Spanish (Negero); (c) "Star of You" (Rogers), Rosa Raisa; duet from "Il Trovatore" (Verdi), Rosa Raisa and Giacomo Rimini.

Part 2—Aria, "Casta Diva" from "Norma" (Bellini), Rosa Raisa; (a) "La Partida" (Alvarez); (b) "Ti Voglio Amarti" (Tosti), Giacomo Rimini; (a) "Jeunnes Fillettes" (in French, arranged by Weckerlin); (b) "My Curly-Headed Baby" (G. H. Clutsam); (c) "Volga Boat Song" (in Russian, arranged by Balikidew), Rosa Raisa; duet from "Cavalleria Rusticana" (Mascagni), Rosa Raisa and Giacomo Rimini.

—James Watts.

NEW GRAND—Although it is part of one of the best and most enjoyable bills of the season, it is seldom that a musical act has made the immense hit that has been gained by the Royal Harmony Five, one of the two headliners of the current show at the New Grand. There are three men and two women in the quintet, and each has a really notable solo voice. The offering is so arranged as to emphasize the work of the organization as a whole but each singer has a chance to show his or her talent. The feminine members of the quintet wear richly colorful costumes, as indeed the men do also, and the scenic investiture is notable. One of the classical selections featured is always popular, "Miserere." A number of lighter selections are also rendered. The show is one which may be recommended without hesitation and those who have seen it are its biggest boosters. Tonight, while there will be no special performance, all returns available up to 11 o'clock, including local, state and national results, will be read from the stage.

ORPHEUM—"Hello Husband" is a satirical comedy humorously dealing with the somewhat prevalent domestic idea that the average husband requires an introduction to his wife. This is the work of William Anthony McGuire. Mr. McGuire writes with a freedom of style that demands attention. His ideas are decidedly unhackayned, and his humor is real wit. He is the author of many vaudeville successes and some plays. "Hello Husband" is played by Lulu McGuire and Hamilton Christy who are seen as the two halves of the domestic partnership.

SOUSA PLAYS TO RECORD AUDIENCE IN CHICAGO

The concert matinee of Lieut. Commander John Philip Sousa and his band in the Auditorium, Chicago, turned out to be more than a musical sensation, for the police reserves had to be called out to clear the lobbies of disappointed patrons, so that the army of ticket-holders could enter the theater. The last coupon and admission ticket had been sold and the box office was closed at noon. But the clamoring crowd grew and refused to depart, even when told that the last inch of standing

Side Talks

By Ruth Cameron.

"WE CAN FORGIVE MISTAKES BUT NOT EVEN GOD CAN FORGIVE THE HANGER-BACK."—Stevenson.

AT A CLUB meeting last week the plan of having the club pledge a monthly payment to a certain philanthropy was talked over (for the fortieth time, more or less) and was just on the verge of being settled affirmatively, when one of the members got up and said she had heard that that philanthropy wasn't systematically conducted and that she thought it would be better to go in for something nearer home, anyhow.

The discussion thus precipitated was a lively one and, needless to say, the meeting adjourned with the whole matter still in the air.

Don't you recognize that type of obstructor and objector? And don't you hate her, or him?

I remember one member of this class who during the war could not say enough of "the silly way women go round knitting all the time. In the cars and at lectures and even in church. If I were a minister and they did it at my church I'd have them turned out. It's nothing at all but a pose. If it wasn't, they would do it just at home and not always be at it in public. I'll bet they waste and spoil so much yarn that they do more harm than good. Why don't they find something real to do?

You might fancy by that that she herself was doing something real. On the contrary she was doing nothing at all. And I have a feeling that thence sprang her desire to justify herself by crying down what other women were doing.

Another example of this type is a correspondent who wrote me saying he wished I would write an article against the Boy Scouts. There are few htings he could have selected that I would be less likely to write against. I forget what his objections were—it seems to me one of them was that there was no religious clause to the oath of membership.

It seems impossible that anyone could see only some minor flaw in all the wonderful work of the Boy Scout movement, all the miracles of boy power turned from harm to good. But alas, it is true.

H. G. Wells says in one of his books that in every gathering that is seriously considering how to go about some good work in the wisest way, there is always some one who gets up and says "For God's sake, let's do something!" Then, he says, the committee goes ahead and does something foolish in a hurry. He calls these people the "Godsakers," and is very bitter against them.

I suppose they do do harm. And yet I think we need some "Godsakers" to balance the other type who are always ready to obstruct and criticize and attempt to do good. The women who knitted and Hooverized and rolled bandages were "Godsakers." They felt they must do something. Who dares say whether we would stand where we do today if it had not been for them?

Personally, I have more use for "Godsakers" than I have for the eternal hanger-back. We may need them to keep the old earth in a state of balance, but I don't think we need very many of them, doyo?uher-ttb''r anr themm of them, do you?

Efficient Housekeeping

By Laura A. Kirkman.

ANSWERED LETTERS.

Apartment-Dweller—"A friend gave me a newspaper containing one of your housekeeping articles—the one about buying a barrel of apples. I tok your advice and have bought a barrel of Baldwins. As I have not had any other fruit to make into jelly this fall, I have decided to turn some of these apples into jelly. Can you send me a recipe for apple-mint jelly?"

Answer: Apple-mint Jelly—Cut the apples in quarters, removing decayed spots. Barely cover with boiling water and let cook undisturbed until tender. Then turn into your jelly bag and let the juice drip through for several hours, or until no more comes. For a quart of this apple juice set 3 cups of sugar in shallow pans on your range to heat. Put the juice over the fire with the crushed leaves and stalks from 1 bunch of mint. Let cook twenty minutes and strain. Heat to the boiling point, add the warm sugar, and let boil until two drops will form at one time on a spoon held high in the air from which a little of the juice is dripped back into the kettle. Pour into hot, sterilized glasses at once and let cool, then cover with paraffine. Put the pulp back on the range with a very little water and let it boil up again to make a "second extraction" jelly; that is, use the juice from this second boiling in the same way that you used the juice from the first boiling. If you use the dried mint which comes in packages (from any up-to-date grocer) instead of a bunch of fresh mint, substitute 1 teaspoon of the dried mint for the one bunch called for in this recipe.

Miss Economy—A girl friend of mine is soon to be married and I really cannot afford to give her an expensive wedding present, yet wish to give her something that she will really like. Can you suggest some article I could make for her?"

Answer—I believe I know just the thing your bride friend will appreciate: a dainty waist apron. There is not a woman living who does not love a dainty apron. It is so becoming! Make yours in this way: Buy any grade of lawn, muslin, scrim or batiste you can afford and think will do. It's the way the apron is made that counts. Have it come a little below the hem of your friend's skirts, then turn up the raw edge at the bottom two inches on the front side of the apron, turning in the edge one-quarter of an inch at the top of this two-inch-wide forward hem. Press the hem flat with a hot iron and, instead of sewing it down or hemstitching it, catch it at short intervals with French knots in old rose fast-color silk.

Now finish off the top of the apron in this way: Double the raw edge back one inch—so that the result will be a ruffle one-inch high rising above the waistline. Now begin shirring for another inch, at the base of this ruffle; the shirred part will be sewed on a band, forming the waistline. White apron strings about three inches wide will be attached to this band at either hip. Have a pocket finished like the top of the apron—that is, with a ruffle and the shirred finishing off the top of the pocket (the bottom part will have to be gathered).

If you do not feel that one apron is a sufficient gift, make your friend two—one French-knotted in old-rose and the other in old-blue. Use your own artistic taste in decorating the waistline and pocket-top with the colored silk. Featherstitching is pretty with the French knots. I would suggest that some of my other readers make these pretty aprons for Christmas gifts this year.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

"TINKER BOB" STORIES

By CARLYSLE H. HOLCOMB

TINKER BOB HAS TWO VISITORS.

TINKER BOB had been king of the forest long enough to learn the rap of nearly every creature of the forest. And the minute he heard this "tap, tap, tap, tap," he knew it was none other than Jerry, the Jay Bird.

"What's the matter now?" asked Tinker as he went to answer the rap.

"Oh, I want to tell you something quick. I can hardly wait," said Jerry as the king opened the door. He had been flying so fast that he could scarcely get his breath. "Oh, king, do you know what has happened in the forest? It is the most terrible thing that I ever heard of. Don't be surprised, oh, king, because this fellow has been acting strangely for some time. And don't let it worry you, oh, king, for he is not worth worrying about, and I hope he will never come back. It is just this—Old Man O Possum has run away with the Moon."

Jerry thought the king of the forest did not know anything about it.

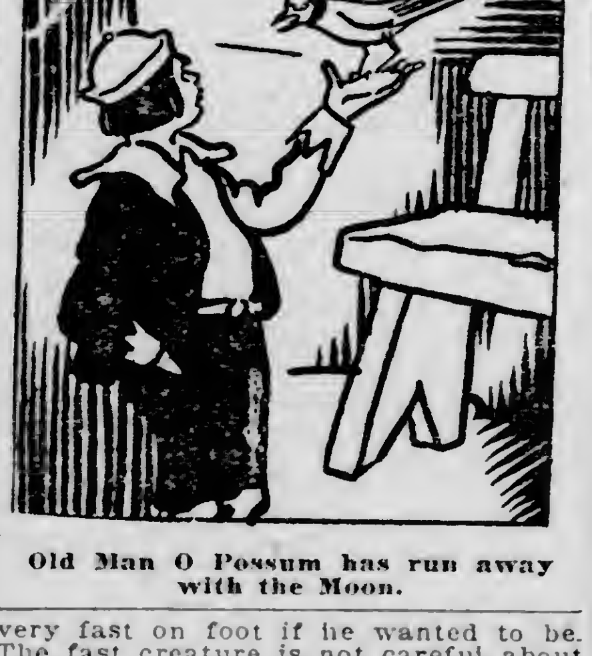
"I am so sorry, Jerry, that you used up all your breath in coming to tell me of O Possum's flight," said Tinker Bob, "for I knew he was going before he went. I saw him climb the Magic Cornstalk."

Jerry's feathers fell. He didn't know what to do at first for he thought he was telling the king something he did not know. But that was no more than what ought to come to Jerry for telling a secret.

He could say nothing more, for he was ashamed of himself, so he flew away in a hurry. Tinker Bob laughed to think Jerry, the saucy Jay, would not try to think before he journeyed so far to tell the king something he already knew.

Jerry had been gone only a moment till the king looked into the forest from his doorstep and saw the tops of the small bushes moving—which was really a message to him that some creature was coming. He watched carefully and now and then all movements stopped, then they would start again just as though the creature, whoever it was, thought it wise to stop and listen a bit before going forward.

"Those actions are a little like Chief Porky's" said Tinker to himself, "but he would wait longer between times, and perhaps fall asleep." Then he heard the cracking of twigs, which was a message telling him that this creature was not small, and that he was very fast on foot if he wanted to be. The fast creature is not careful about breaking twigs. "He must be watching something," said Tinker.



Old Man O Possum has run away with the Moon.

Then suddenly there came into view a pointed nose and two sharp eyes, then two sharp ears, and the creature stopped dead still.

"Come on," said Tinker Bob, "everything is clear and no one is near." The creature looked from side to side and then came to the king's doorstep. Who do you think was?

THERE is a big difference between Calumet and all other Baking Powders.

First—You see it in the cost. Calumet is sold at a moderate price.

Then—you observe it in use. Calumet has more than the usual leavening strength, therefore less is required.

Next—you notice it in raising quality — in the evenness — lightness and texture of your bakings. They look better — finer grained.

"S-o-m-e Biscuit!"

"BEST BY TEST"

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

Finally—what a difference in the taste. There is a deliciousness, a goodness that can be had in no other manner. Biscuits, pies, cakes, muffins, doughnuts—never were so tasty—so all-satisfying.

And then there is the satisfaction of knowing that Calumet is made in the World's largest, best equipped and cleanest Baking Powder Factories.

Pound can of Calumet contains full 16 oz. Some baking powders come in 12 oz. instead of 16 oz. cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

Calumet Biscuit Recipe

4 cups of sifted pastry flour, 4 level teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder, 1 level teaspoon of salt, 2 rounding tablespoons of butter or lard, 1/2 cup of milk, 1/2 cup of water. Then mix in the regular way.

room as well as every seat had been sold. The concert itself—including five new march numbers by the famous band master—was overshadowed by the tumultuous ovation given to Sousa. It was the largest audience that ever paid to enter the Chicago Auditorium.

This is the big attraction that Mrs. Stephen H. Jones will present at the Armory Nov. 6.

The "Star-Spangled Banner" and "America" with Sousa directing will be sung on Saturday night.

PHOTOPLAYS

NEW GARRICK—Pauline Frederick in "Madame X."
STRAND—"Humoresque" with Alma Rubens.
ZELDA—Tom Mix in "The Untamed."
NEW LYRIC—Bert Lytell in "The Price of Redemption."
NEW ASTOR—"The Return of Tarzan."

NEW GARRICK—"Madame X," the feature of a stellar bill at the New Garrick this week, presents Pauline Frederick in the most remarkable performance of her splendid career, but it is more than a "star picture." It is a story so human, so pathetic, so real that there is not an audience anywhere that can look upon it without being moved to the very depths. This is being demonstrated at every showing, when even men ordinarily flint-hearted are finding their eyes mist-dimmed. Without mawkish sentimentality, without stage tricks and directorial sleight-of-hand, "Madame X" tells an inspiring story of mother-love no superior to which has ever been shown on stage or screen. "High and Dizzy," Harold Lloyd's big comedy, which is the special laugh-feature, takes the same high rank. This comedian is at his very best in "High and Dizzy."

NEW LYRIC—"Why, it's a Bert Lytell picture," and "It's Bert Lytell's best bet"—that's what New Lyric patrons are saying of "The Price of Redemption," which will be seen for the last times today at that cozy downtown home of good photoplays. With it is shown as an added attraction, "Shuffle the Queens," a Christie comedy special that patrons are branding "a bear." "The Price of Redemption" tells the gripping story of a man who became a hero through a desperate deed of bravery, then after a wealthy, but unhappy marriage, sinks to the depths of degradation in mysterious India, branded a criminal to shield another. His redemption through the love of his little child provides a tremendous heart-appeal to match the thrills of the scenes when rebellious native troops of India besiege white military forces. "Old Lady 31" with Emma Dunn, the star of the original stage production of the Rachel Crothers charming comedy, which mingles tears and sunshine, comes tomorrow as the featured attraction.

NEW ASTOR—The "Tarzan" stories, by the famous author, Edgar Rice Burroughs, have become history to the lovers of motion picture art, and so the coming to the New Astor today of "The Son of Tarzan," latest and greatest of these stories, to be shown for the first time in the Northwest, is a notable motion picture event. On the same bill is William S. Hart in "The Devil's Double," and tonight election returns will be received up to midnight by leased wire and special service. A special show to run from 11 o'clock until midnight has been arranged to care for this. In "The Son of Tarzan," Jack, son of Tarzan of the Apes, inherits his father's love for the jungle, and by an extraordinary chain of circumstances he finds himself in the African wilderness. The lore of the jungles comes easily to him. He battles with lions, great apes and other beasts until it is recognized that the greatest in the forest is Korak, the Killer, son of Tarzan. He rescues a girl, Merien, from a half-savage Arab, and when they are rescued after many years from the jungle, he finds that she is a real princess, as well as princess of his heart, not even the last of which he realized before.

STRAND—A picture with a greater appeal than "Humoresque," now playing at the Strand theater, has never been made. It is a potpourri of all the sweetness and greatness of mother-love, blended with some of the humors and some of the pathos of everyday life.

The day you see it will be a red-letter day in your entertainment calendar.

Adapted from the story of Fannie Hurst, it follows the writer's original intention more closely than most filmed versions of published fiction. The depth of characterizations Miss Hurst created is realized as they step forward and are recognized as old friends. The incidents she suggests follow closely upon each other, binding together all the elements of a photoplay of astonishing interest.

Yet not the events themselves are responsible for the greatness of "Humoresque." To the players the greatest credit is due. With an earnestness that will make motion picture history they go about their parts, and in their various ways tug at your heart. You will not forget them.

The picture is not overly sentimental and supersweet, like many that have preceded it. It is a keen and splendid offering and takes its place among the best the screen has provided.

ZELDA—"The Untamed," a Fox attraction, with Tom Mix, the well-known cowboy star, in the leading role, will end a successful engagement in this city with the final showing at the Zelda theater tonight. This production had been widely heralded as one of the most satisfying and sensational of its kind ever made, and has proved a strong attraction here. Followers of Mix pictures declare it to be Mix's best, for its thrilling situations and the opportunities given the star.

Coming tomorrow will be Shirley Mason in "Merely Mary Ann," from the story by Israel Zangwill.

How to Keep the Face Young and Attractive

The way to ward off old age is not to fear it, not to allow one's self to be oppressed by the dread of advancing years. Use only legitimate preventives and avoid trying experiments with preparations that have not stood the test of time. An entirely safe and very effective way to keep the complexion young-looking and beautiful is to apply ordinary mercolized wax at bedtime, using it like cold cream, washing it off in the morning. This gradually absorbs the withered, faded cuticle, which is replaced by the more youthful, pink-tinted underskin. One ounce of this wax, to be had at any drug store, is enough to completely rejuvenate a worn-out complexion.

Crow's feet and other wrinkles, the first signs of advancing age, may be removed by a simple, harmless preparation made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. It is used as a face bath.—Advertisement.

MORRISEY TO FORM STOCK COMPANY AT PLAZA, SUPERIOR

James L. Morrisey, former manager of the Lyceum theater in Duluth, has leased the Plaza theater in Superior, and will present dramatic stock there during the fall and winter. This announcement was issued from the Clinton-Meyers company offices today. Mr. Morrisey will go to New York and select a company, several of which have played in Duluth before. It is planned to open the theater Nov. 14.

Several road shows, formerly booked by the Clinton-Meyers company, will fill in their dates under Mr. Morrisey's management. These include Fiske O'Hare, "Take It From Me" and "Buddies."

FRANCE IS O. K. BUT GIVE HIM YANKEELAND

Former Marine Scout in Duluth Is Lonesome in France, He Writes.

"France may be all right, but it's the old U. S. A. for me" is the tenor of a plaintive letter from Auguste Lessard, who is visiting with his father at points in Brittany. As a former "noncom" in the Marine Scouts, he writes to "Major" F. L. Buck, marine recruiting sergeant at Duluth.

"These foreign lands don't agree with me," Lessard says. "The only ray of sunshine in my young life is when I see my two soldier cousins. One is in aviation and the other is in the administration.

"Tomorrow I start school. I suppose I ought to be overjoyed but I am not. Can you picture me reciting French verbs? I'd rather be doing double time back in Duluth with the boys.

"Tell some of the boys to write to me because I'm lonesome," he adds in a postscript. His address is 49 Quai de la Marne, Joinville le Pont, France.

OBSERVES EIGHTY-FIRST NATAL DAY BEFORE ELECTION

WILLIAM G. ZUCK.

William G. Zuck, a resident of Duluth since 1872, celebrated his eighty-first birthday yesterday at his home, 718 East Fifth street.

He has brought up his entire family here. To many old Duluthians he is known, especially, as the first mate on the steamer Metropolis which in the early days plied between Duluth and Bayfield.

In the last forty-eight years he has been gone only once from Duluth for a considerable time. That was in 1879 when he served with the navy at Montevideo, South America.

SIX MONTHS AT HARD LABOR FOR WELTHEIM

London, Nov. 2.—Six months at hard labor and deportation thereafter was the sentence imposed in Bow street police court today upon Erki Weltheim, the "mystery man" who was arraigned a week ago charged with acting as an intermediary between members of revolutionary circles in Great Britain and Russian revolutionists. Neither the name nor the nationality of the prisoner was made known at the time of his arraignment.

It was upon Weltheim that the government's attorney announced that a letter from Sylvia Pankhurst to Nikolai Lenine, president of soviet Russia, had been found, in which Miss Pankhurst was alleged to have written: "The situation is most acute; not ready for a revolution yet."

Miss Pankhurst has since been sentenced to six months' imprisonment on charges of having published seditious literature designed to affect the navy in the newspaper the Workers' Dreadnought, one of the articles in which was entitled "Discontent on the Lower Deck."

MARINE CADETS NEED FORTY MORE MEMBERS

Forty youngsters between the ages of 14 and 18 are needed to fill the quota of sixty-five for the Duluth Marine cadets.

Marine Sergeant Frank J. Buck, commander of the troop, today announced a reorganization meeting to be held at 8 p. m. tomorrow at No. 3 firehall, First avenue east and Third street.

The name of the organization has recently been changed from the Marine Scouts to the Marine Cadets. The shortage in numbers is largely due to the fact that the minimum age requirement was raised from 12 to 14 years.

Aerial Mail Service to Cuba.

Key West, Fla., Nov. 2.—Aerial mail service between the United States and Cuba was inaugurated yesterday with the departure from Key West of two seaplanes for Havana. Each of the planes to be used in the service has a capacity of 7,000 pounds of mail, twelve passengers and 400 pounds of luggage. On the initial trip the planes carry a full list of passengers and a large amount of mail.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

THE CAMPAIGN.

Yes, gentle reader, as you and several million other people have said, it has been a "queer campaign."

In its beginning the Republican party, as the party of opposition, was due to inherit these advantages: that the Democrats had been in power eight years, doing many things which trod on many corns and awoke many resentments, most of them, when you come to think of it, highly creditable to the Wilson administration; that during the Democratic administration a war had come, involving many inconveniences and even hardships which it was human nature for many people to blame the administration for; that when a people trained to peace had to go suddenly and overwhelmingly to war, in the vast task before the country many mistakes were made and wastes occurred which gave the opposition easy talking points; that for two years a well organized campaign to discredit President Wilson and all his works and workers had been steadily going on, and that it had been successful in poisoning the minds of an amazing number of people; that the great issue which the Democrats had, the League of Nations, had been so distorted and confused by the opposition that doubt had been created in the minds of many who honestly believed in the League.

In a word, the stage was set for a Republican victory, and nobody doubted it.

The senate, which had been discredited in the minds of many patriots by the narrowness, malice and malignance of its attitude toward the League of Nations, nevertheless dominated the Republican party and dictated its platform and nominated its candidate—a senator and a member of the senate crowd that had been most malinant toward the president. It was a nomination that would not have been thought of if the Republicans had not figured that a certain victory was before them. There had been no popular demand whatever for Senator Harding—less than for any other leading possibility for the nomination.

On the other hand, there had been almost as little popular demand for Governor Cox, whom the Democrats nominated. He was comparatively little known; but he had been a popular man in Ohio, Senator Harding's state, and when Mr. McAdoo, an unwilling candidate, had been defeated it was largely this point that brought about the nomination.

The campaign began with the advantage with the Republicans, though the nomination chilled enthusiasm and dulled the edge of that advantage. Governor Cox, realizing that his was an uphill fight, made an aggressive campaign before the country, and steadily grew in the respect of the people during the fight. Senator Harding, who at first decided to imitate 1896 by conducting his campaign wholly from the front porch of his home at Marion, later was led by the activity of his opponent to make several campaign tours, during some of which he showed that, speaking on the spur of the moment, he was likely to make statements calculated to hurt his candidacy. The Baltimore statement that he had not a "single constructive program" for peace disturbed his supporters, and the Des Moines declaration against the League of Nations brought about a sharp turn of the tide toward Governor Cox. Whether that turn came soon enough and was strong enough to change the result we shall know tomorrow.

The League of Nations, relatively a minor issue with the politicians of both parties, did not figure largely in the beginning, but became virtually the sole issue before the end of the campaign.

What will be the upshot of it? By the time this issue of The Herald reaches its readers the first returns from the election will be coming in. Not long after—how long depending on how close it is—the result will be known to all.

Whether the victor is Cox or Harding, the country will wag along pretty much the same, and with far less difference in its progress than would be imagined by those who take campaign oratory too seriously. Either one, beyond doubt, will give every energy that is in him to the ambition to be a good president according to his lights and leadings.

There was "apathy," the puzzle and deadly peril of the politicians, until pretty well toward the close; partly because few were very enthusiastic about either candidate personally, partly because for a long time many were puzzled by the issues and the intricate confusion that debate had thrown about them, partly because many people were almost sullenly resentful of the fact that public opinion had so little to do with the nominations.

If the lesson of the two conventions sinks deep enough to create an irresistible demand for some better nominating machinery that will give the people at large something to say about nominations as well as elections, the campaign will have been fruitful in good.

THE POWER OF THE SPIRIT.

Why have the Irish hunger-strikers, notably Terence MasSwiney, so annihilated all previous records by living on so long without food?

Many have assumed that MacSwiney, for instance, had been surreptitiously fed by his adherents. Physicians have said that it was impossible to live so long without nourishment, and therefore that MacSwiney must have been secretly fed. But physicians make mistakes sometimes, and we believe that they did in this instance. It is not at all necessary to believe that MacSwiney's long fast was a humbug, for there is another theory just as convincing.

The New York Medical Record translates this theory from a French medical journal. It shows that it is one thing to be starving if you are adrift at sea, entombed in a mine or lost in a desert, and a very different thing to be starving in a modern hospital with the best of care and nursing. "In the former case the physical resources are exhausted rapidly not only by deprivation, but still more by fear and mental suffering."

Not only that, but there is a great difference between the voluntary abstention from food of a man inspired by a cause, and the forced abstention of one who is the victim of harsh circumstances. The one is buoyed up by the spirit of his sacrifice; the other is weighed down by the menace of his situation. "The faster for a cause," this theory declares, "is doing what he has himself deliberately determined to do; he has no terrors or anxieties; he feels that whether he gains release or dies he will have attained his end."

There is far more probability in this theory than there is in the cruder theory that MacSwiney's adherents secretly gave him food in some manner not detected by the prison authorities.

It is simply another instance, this theory, of the unplumbed powers of the spirit over material adversities to which lack of the right spirit makes many men a quick and easy victim, while possession of that right spirit brings others through safely.

HECKLING.

There has been a little "heckling" in this campaign, but nowhere near enough. Americans are not used to it, and because of that the sympathy of the average audience is always with the speaker and against the heckler, no matter how much bunk the former may be emitting. That was shown clearly enough when a man who heckled Senator Harding was arrested, though all he had done was to ask a sensible question which thousands wanted Mr. Harding to answer directly—though they were all disappointed.

There ought to be more heckling. It is a splendid, wholesome and very much needed practice. If it were generally adopted it would revolutionize campaign speaking, and the revolution would work good. There would be less smug palaver covering flaws in logic and gilding palpable misstatements if campaign speakers knew that they must expect to be heckled.

A speaker for a party or a candidate gets up before an audience and, having it all his own way, he may make the most absurd misstatements and argue most crookedly, knowing that he will get away with it with many unthinking hearers. He dares to do this because heckling is not encouraged in this country, and he knows that thinking and well informed hearers who know better will keep still because heckling is regarded as discourteous.

It is NOT discourteous unless it is done discourteously, and certainly it is a far greater discourtesy for a speaker to inflict buncombe on those who have come to hear him. If, whenever a campaign speaker gave a palpable opening, somebody would be sure to challenge him with a pointed question which the audience would expect him to answer fairly, campaign meetings would be more interesting and campaign speaking would rise to a far higher level.

The Herald is glad to applaud and approve this sentiment from William Allen White in his Emporia Gazette:

> This campaign has seen the introduction of heckling into American politics. It is a splendid institution. It is the one institution that gives the individual citizen some rights of genuine inquiry into political issues. The average political speaker has designed his speech to fool the oposition. It is full of trick words and double-meaning phrases. One candidate is as guilty as the others. But if custom permits the average man to require [illegible] to stop in his speech and clarify his double meanings, and to explain his trick words, the truth comes out. Heckling is the finest institution developed in American politics this year. It makes for truth.

What sort of a figure would Senator Harding have cut, for instance, if heckling were an established custom and speakers who confused their hearers by equivocal expressions were sure to be challenged?

Editorial in the Boston Globe.

Illusions are of never-ending variety.

Tourists gazing at the waters of Nantucket see only the long sweep of tossing waves. They believe they are sailing deep water. An illusion. The waters around Nantucket are notorious for their shoals.

Through such shoals and treacherous waters, navigators have developed a channel, and have marked it clearly on the chart. Wise old captains are not deceived by the surface. They consult their charts.

All our lives we are continually bumping rocks, or stranding on shoals, because we have been beguiled by the sparkle of fancy phrases. A skeptical eye of inquiry into their exact meaning is the chart.

Observe the university graduate with his sheepskin. He believes he has sounded the deep. Some students have really taken soundings of these waters; others with their heads full of thumb rules suppose themselves qualified to pilot a ship anywhere, unaided. Their college education is an illusion which sooner or later lands them on the beach.

A phrase carpenter can make anything out of a presidential candidate. The man who, over his pipe, reads the daily bulletins without thinking is befooled by another illusion. Propaganda is a coward's trick because it poisons the spring at its source. Poured into bulletins and read day after day, misinformation is mild poison which eventually dulls the eye and lulls the reader into an illusion of truth.

Today the dollar bill creates an illusion. The peril of currency inflation lies in the appearance of an ocean of prosperity which it gives. The mind is full of fancies tagged with pre-war prices; in the pocket are shrunken dollars.

Men from the farms flock to the city to get a bankroll, and throw it on the counter for gewgaws. The deceptive buying power of money leads us to false anchorages. The ship settles upon a rock at ebb tide. The rock is poverty.

Pleasure craft may skip around at high tide, hither and thither at play with nonessentials; but when the tide turns it is time to get into the channel of reality. A wise old salt knows how to steer by "dead reckoning." The landsman's equivalent to this is to use the chart of his thinking apparatus, no matter how smooth or deep the water may look.

Why Prices Are Falling

S. S. Fontaine in the New York World: Those who see calamity in the drop in the prices of things to wear and eat to levels within reach of 90 per cent of the people, can't see very much beyond the end of their nose. You may not have realized it, but for the last eight months there has been in progress the greatest silent boycott in the history of American business. It was not organized, but the public in this country is most sagacious and most forceful when it acts on a common impulse. That is why our democracy is safe and will endure. It takes some time for the people to make up their minds, but when they do they move along common sense lines with a force that is irresistible.

They patiently endured the exactions of the profiteers during the war for patriatism's sake, though they had their suspicions all the while. After the armistice was signed they held their peace so that the process of readjustment might be unhampered, but when they saw that the banks were discouraging production by high discount rates and a prohibitive premium on the commercial dollar and that the law of supply and demand was being held in suspense by artificial methods they suddenly decided to cut off the demand. And they did it effectively.

That is why you have seen so many tailors standing idly in their doorways with a beguiling look on their faces like that of a Baxter street barker; that is why the cobbler has been working all hours of the night while the shoe man has had his hands in his own pockets instead of yours. That is why the fur man and the jeweler and the silk shirt manufacturer have been crying panic when there is no panic except the shiver in their own boots.

The public has picked up its old muzzle loader, and if the retailers are wise they'll do like Davy Crockett's coon:

"Don't shoot, Mr. Crockett," said this wise one, "I'll come down."

In the Driver's Seat

Automobile Topics: You will help reduce accidents if you:

1. Don't cut corners.
2. Don't "cut in" short after passing a vehicle.
3. Give the proper signal whenever your action in starting from the curb, in turning, in changing your course or in stopping may reasonably be said to affect other traffic.
4. Don't consider driving at maximum speed within the law—the legal speed is a safe speed at all times.
5. Don't turn except at corners in business districts and close, built-up sections.
6. Don't pass street cars discharging passengers.
7. Don't attempt to pass a vehicle if there is another vehicle approaching from the opposite direction unless the road is clear for 100 yards.
8. Don't drive your car out of the garage without knowing your brakes and steering gear are tight and your headlights comply with the law.
9. Slow down when you observe children playing near the curb or in the street. Remember, they have not the wisdom of an adult.
10. Don't drive with the belief that the pedestrian is familiar with the rules of the road.

Rippling Rhymes

The Drive Idea

All our lives will be more sunny, and we'll chirp a gladder song, when they quit the "drives" for money, which have bothered us too long. All such schemes were gladly pardoned when the kaiser danced his jig, and the heart was cold and hardened that neglected to up-dig. I am always prompt and willing to help out a worthy cause, but I will not place a shilling in the drivesmith's eager paws. For I'm sick of people telling what I ought to give and where, tired of always digging, shelling, for some scheme that makes me swear. I will give to help the living and I'll give to plant the dead, but I won't be bossed in giving, and I won't be chased or led. In the war time drives were splendid, and they helped to can our foes, but the war is done and ended, and the people need repose. Do not bother friends or neighbors with requests for honest dimes; leave them to their quiet labors, as we did in olden times. Do not think up worthy causes that require financial aid, for we've all been Santa Clauses till our nerves are tired and frayed.

The National Game

By Savoyard.

Washington, Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Baseball is the finest atheletic sport man has invented and it is become a national institution. It develops and trains the physical body and invigorates and disciplines the mind. It calls forth energies and aspirations that fit our youth for the graver struggles of life, moral, mental, physical. All Americans of all walks should encourage this glorious institution, and it should be writ in the law so as to make the game a part of the training in the common schools of every state of our glorious Union. The Duke of Wellington opined that it was the training English youth got in cricket matches at Eton that gained the battle of Waterloo. The American baseball diamond affords advantages equally great. Ty Cobb, today, is the most illustrious citizen of Georgia.

Millions of our people were shocked—accepted it as a personal stigma—when it was heralded that the world's baseball championship of 1919 was bought by a set of infamous and scoundrelly gamblers. It was a stain on the national honor, which, I rejoice to say, has been greatly cleaned by the noble and magnanimous conduct of that grand old Roman, Charles Comiskey, the greatest figure the national sport has produced.

I distinctly remember the old St. Louis Browns, champions "four times running," the creation of Comiskey. He played first, "Yankee" Robinson second, Joe Gleason short, Artie Latham third, "Tip" O'Neil left, Curt Welsh center and when Foats pitched Caruthers played right, and when Caruthers pitched Fouts was in that field. Bushong was the catcher. I have seen Anson, I have seen "King" Kelly; but Comiskey was the greatest baseball general on the diamond the game ever produced.

In those days there was more of ruffianism on the diamond than now, and as I am myself part ruffian, I confess that it lent an additional charm to the sport as Comiskey played it. When there was a close decision adverse to his side Comiskey was wont to leave first base and advance toward the pitcher's box. When he reached the half way point he would seize his cap, throw it violently on the ground and in a voice of thunder scream, "What!!!" distinctly heard half a mile distant. He did not hope to secure a reversal of the decision, but he knew and the bleachers realized that the next close decision was almighty certain to be in favor of the Browns. And many a game it gave him.

In those days my idols were "old Pete" Browning, Guy Heckers and Tom Ramsay of the Louisville club of the American association of the '80s. The Louisville club had lost the championship a few years earlier when the gamblers bribed three or four players to throw games. There were fourteen games to play and Louisville required but one to win. They lost all of them. The rascality was exposed and the dishonest players expelled from the game.

I am firm in the belief that Pete Browning was the greatest natural batter the game ever produced. Above six feet in stature, he was as lean as Lazarus and his arms as long as Rob Roy's. It was physical torture to shake hands with him, so firm and fierce was his grip. One day I saw him make a home run on a missed third strike. The catcher recovered the ball and threw it over first base far into right field; the right fielder to head off Pete, now approaching second, threw the ball far into left field and the left fielder, to head off Pete at home plate, threw the ball over the catcher's head. That night "old Pete," prisoner of a score of fans, consumed an enormous deal of old Bourbon the boys set up to celebrate the exploit.

One very damp day I saw "King" Kelley bully a raw umpire this way. The tracks between bases were muddy and the ball very wet. Kelley was on first and another man on second. A double steal was attempted and there was some awful bum play. In the melee Kelley passed the man on second and when the play was concluded Kelley was safely anchored on third and the man on second was still safe there. After a big row the umpire decided nobody was out.

There ought to be forty acres of ground belonging to every common school district in every rural community, and the teachers should be as vigilant to encourage physical training as mental.

Baseball is calculated to make a manly man of many a boy who otherwise will turn out a chump.

The Party Circus

Sherburne Advance-Standard: We have just about concluded that we are a man without a party. We don't like the standpatism of Harding and we don't like some things about Cox. At the same time we are quite convinced that it will make no perceptible difference to the country which one of them is elected in November. The old ship of state will probably keep on navigating whether we elect Cox with the League of Nations or Harding with the concert of nations. We are not sure whether there is any difference in a league of nations or a concert of nations, but somehow we are just foolish enough to believe that it won't make much difference to anybody whether we ultimately find a league or a concert on our hands. Perhaps it will turn out to be a band concert, who knows? Anyway the blooming dispute is going to be settled in this election, and that is the only redeeming feature about the whole works. The truth is that the people have heard so much about a League of Nations, about a war that isn't over, and a peace that we haven't got and about profiteers, that they have about decided that all of these things were saved up for political campaign thunder. And that being the case it will certainly be a blessing to know that whatever party wins this fall is going to make everything right. There was ample time during the past two years to have attended to this necessary business, but it appears that the best interests of the country had to be postponed until after the presidential election. During these past critical months the country has been faced with the spectacle of a Democratic president trying to do something and the majority Republicans hog tied him at every turn.

In face of what has been going on and what is going on today in Republican and Democratic circles an innocent bystander can hardly be blamed for watching the political circus and its clowns with more or less amusement and consternation.

But after all has been said and done, it still remains a fact that this party circus, which comes once every four years, is the greatest show on earth. It carries the biggest herd of elephants and donkies ever gathered from the four corners of the earth; it has the funniest clowns; the greatest aggregation of aggravated political acrobats and jugglers; the largest "bull" in captivity and a collection of colored confusion and confounded cussedness that is stupendous in its stupidity.

Unequal Losses

Harper's: Frederick was sitting on the curb, crying, when Billy came along and asked him what was the matter.

"Oh, I feel so bad 'cause Major's dead—my nice old collie!" sobbed Frederick.

"Shucks!" said Billy. "My grandmother's been dead a week, and you don't catch me crying."

Frederick gave his eyes and nose a swipe with his hand, and, looking up at Billy, sobbed, despairingly:

"Yes, but you didn't raise your grandmother from a pup."

Health Talks

By William Brady, M. D.

Absorption by the Skin

From the countless number and variety of skin creams, alleged skin foods and similar concoctions exploited by near-doctors and beauty specialists it might be imagined that it is possible to feed the body or nourish any part of it through the skin.

Will the skin absorb anything applied or rubbed into it? If it absorbs any medicament or food, what becomes of the material so absorbed? Is such material ever under any circumstances deposited locally to fill out hollows, wrinkles or any such blemish? In short, is the credulous sex————?

The skin is practically impervious to water and to medicines, chemicals or foods dissolved in water. Likewise alcohol and alcoholic solutions cannot be made to penetrate the skin. Fats are absorbed in very limited quantity through the skin. If the fat is merely applied or kept in contact with the skin very little of it will be absorbed; but if friction is used, that is, if the substance is thoroughly rubbed in, an appreciably greater quantity will be absorbed. Fatty substances of solid or semi-solid consistence are more readily absorbed with the aid of friction than are liquid or soft fats. Medicines intimately mixed with fats may be made to penetrate the skin in this way—and intimately mixed means that the medicinal substance must be extinguished in the mixture, so that no particle can be felt with the fingers or detected with the eye. That is the test of a well made ointment—a test which too many alleged ointments fail to satisfy. Mercurial ointment ("blue ointment") or the more cleanly calomel ointment is commonly applied to the skin by friction for the purpose of producing systemic effects.

Certain volatile substances, such as turpentine, guaiacol, iodine, oil of wintergreen, peppermint, camphor and choloroform may be absorbed through the skin.

Anything which is absorbed through the skin is carried immediately into the general circulation, never deposited or left at the place where the absorption occurs. This is sad but true. It will come as a great disappointment to many of the more credulous sex who harbor the fancy that one may feed the face through any other pore than the large one between the nose and the chin. It will likewise be discouraging news to those who cherish a hope of "building up" or "developing" any other part of the body by applying or rubbing in something purporting to defy the laws of physiology.

The sebaceous (oil) glands and the sweat glands pour their secretions out upon the surface of the skin through ducts with a common opening. The openings or mouths of these ducts are larger in some places (as about the sides of the nose) than in others, and in some persons' skin than in other persons'. Call 'em "pores" if you will, but remember that these "pores" do not open and close as many imagine. It is perfectly safe to go out in the cold with all the "pores" open, save the busy one between the ears.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Epsom Salts.

I have been taking about three teaspoonfuls of epsom salts in half glassful of water once every week. Do you think that is too often? For an eye wash I dissolve one teaspoonful of boracic acid in one pint of boiled water, and add ten drops of spirits of camphor and let it cool. I use this four or five times a day. Do you think that is too much for the eyes? (H. F. M.)

Answer: You do not mention the purpose for which you are using the remedies. Both may be all right to use, but not indefinitely.

Cancer.

Is cancer either hereditary, contagious or infectious? (Mrs. G. M. B.)

Answer: No.

Run Down Condition.

Do you advise any one to take serum treatments for run down conditions and nervousness? (Miss K. R.)

Answer: No. I would advise any one so afflicted to consult a physician and find out what may be the matter.

Bakerman Stick to Your Dough.

All through vacation I enjoyed long hiking trips and I feel that my health was much improved thereby. But now some darn bakerman has told my mother that it is bad for a fellow and my mother does not want me to go on hikes any more. Will you please give your opinion about this some time. (W. M.)

Answer: Well, now, Walter, would mother consider the bread better if I were to administer a hypodermic of something to the dough? So far as health is concerned, I can assure mother that long hikes and many of them are just great for boys or for girls.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinius, the Sunshine Man, Dayton, Ohio.

Abide in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; no more can ye, except ye abide in me. I am the vine, ye are the branches: He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me ye can do nothing. If a man abide not in me, he is cast forth as a branch, and is withered; and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they are burned. If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you. Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be my disciples. As the Father hath loved me, so have I loved you: continue ye in my love. If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love. These things have I spoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full. This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you. Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends.—John vx, 4-13.

The Tired Working Man

The Nation's Business: The public health service, together with others in this country and abroad, has found that in the industries of this country there is a waste of human energy beyond all comparison with that of raw materials, or power.

The waste is due to the traditional belief on the part of employers that a man's a man or a woman is a woman and that work is work, and to letting it go at that.

A man is not a mere man, but an accumulation of strength and energy, like the heat units in coal that can be reduced to definite analysis. Man power is subjected to more variations and influences than are common to any raw material or mechanical force. It is the costliest ingredient entering into manufacture.

But to conserve it for the benefit of industry isn't the primary purpose in the Federal health service's excursions into industrial hygiene. Its sole intent is to promote the public health.

"We are not pro-industry or pro-labor or pro anything else except good health," declared a public health official. "We go into manufacturing plants and study processes, from the engineering as well as the medical point of view because whatever measures we propose for the safeguarding of the health of workers in industry must harmonize with profitable operations, for the employer and the employe. It is merely conservation.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Breezy Comments on Current Topics by State's Live Newspapers.

The State's Loss

St. Cloud Journal Press: The state normal school board loses the services of two valuable members in the resignation of Hon. Eli Torrance of Minneapolis and Hon. J. L. Washburn of Duluth. Judge Torrance has been president of the board for several years, and both he and Mr. Washburn have served the schools and the state at considerable sacrifice to themselves. They are high grade men, whose only purpose in serving on this most important board was to be of help to Minnesota and the normal schools.

A Dream of the Future

Hibbing News: Wouldn't it be a wonderful thing, a beautiful thing, if all the political parties in Minnesota were to lay aside their hate and spite and lying and dirty meanness and go into the campaign on the merits of the issues they espouse? And why shouldn't they?

Time for Strong Measures

St. Peter Herald: It is reported that the Twin Cities are abundantly supplied with anthracite coal, while many of the smaller towns throughout the state face shortages which are likely to prove serious, indeed. Not only do we need legislation that will require the coal mines of the country to adopt a basis of operation that will insure steady and constant production, but we are also in need of authority that will bring about the equitable distribution of the fuel after it has been mined.

A Dubious Sign

Winnebago City Enterprise: We note that the Indians, the red flannel, the muskrat, the fishbone and all the remaining fifty-seven varieties of weather prophets are out with statements that we are to have a very mild winter. Get out the old overcoat and earlaps, and put in all the coal and wood the basement will hold!

Taxing the Imagination

Baudette Region: Scotland is going to vote on prohibition. Imagine a lad who pronounces it "whusky" voting an ice water ticket.

But It Won't Last Long

Bemidji Pioneer: Soon, now, the pre-election agony will be over. But then, begosh, comes the rejoicing and the weeping. We just can't get from under.

Liberty That Nears License

Mankato Free Press: America is the land where agitators from all parts of the world come and spill their poisonous stuff with a freedom and abandon that is surprising.

In no other country would the propagandists be permitted to circulate so freely their false and pernicious doctrine.

There is no limit to speech.

It is as free as the air into which the multiplicity of agitators blow their tirades against society.

High Taxes On German Business

The Nation's Business: German taxes should be provocative of reflection. Certainly they are causing very lively use of pencil and paper.

The calculations show results that are illustrated by the case of the manufacturer who had an annual income of 50,000 marks in the good old days before the war. By reason of changes in money values rather than increase in business, he now has an income of 100,000, and a whole list of taxes. There is a war tax upon incomes in excess of a certain amount; a war tax upon the increase in fortunes during the war and an emergency tax upon fortunes over a certain size; local taxes in goodly amount; church tax, state, fire insurance tax; taxes to support the chamber of commerce, and finally, a general income tax.

When this possessor of an income of 100,000 marks has liquidated all of his tax bills for the year, he will have a balance of 24,400 marks. In view of the current prices he cannot meet his necessary expenses out of this sum and will draw 25,000 or more marks out of his business.

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of This Date, 1900

William L. Strong, the last mayor of the old city of New York, died suddenly at 3 o'clock this morning at his residence in New York. He had been in poor health for about six weeks. Mr. Strong took an active part in the present campaign and it is said that his political labors, combined with his attempts to retain supervision over his wholesale drygoods business, in the face of his impaired health, brought about the illness that resulted in his death. He was 73 years of age. When Mr. Strong was mayor he appointed Col. Waring commissioner of street cleaning, and in spite of strong opposition within and without the Republican party kept him in the office until the end of the mayoral term. Mr. Strong placed the affairs of the police department in the hands of a local board, at the head of which was Theodore Roosevelt, whose earlier associates were Col. Fred D. Grant, Maj. Avery D. Andrews and Mr. Parker.

The alignment of the British agreement with the powers on the Chinese question is now practically completed, Russia being the only government yet to be heard from. The United States and France accept the clauses relating to the open door and the territorial integrity of China, but withhold action on the third clause, relating to future procedure in case any power seizes territory.

John Boyd left yesterday for Minneapolis, where he expects to be permanently located.

T. A. Bury and William Merrill of Two Harbors returned yesterday from a three weeks' hunting trip near Cass Lake.

The free ferry service to Park Point has been discontinued. A private toll service with the Estelle was substituted today. Much indignation was felt by Park Pointers this morning when they came down to the Marvin street dock and found that they had to pay 5 cents every time they crossed the canal. Many school children came away from home without a cent of money with them, and were compelled to go back to their homes or borrow the fare.

Paul Foucault and Frank Laveil of West Duluth left last night for a week's hunting trip at Iron Junction.

Luther C. Harris will address the voters of Virginia tonight on the issues of the campaign. Mr. Harris is one of the best speakers on the stump in the county, and the Virginia people will hear a fine presentation of the doctrines of the fusion cause in this campaign.

Senator Cushman K. Davis continues to recover from the ailment from which he has been suffering for the past six weeks or more. The injured foot has to be dressed a number of times each day, and this operation is very painful and trying upon the senator's nerves.

John Dunn has left Duluth for Eveleth, where he will engage in business for himself.

THE OPEN COURT

Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about topics of general interest, but discussion of sectarian, religious differences is barred. Letters must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.

All letters must be written on one side of the paper only.

The Herald does not publish original verse. Contributions of this nature that are submitted for the editor's perusal must be accompanied by a stamped and addressed envelope, if their return is desired. Otherwise no manuscript will be returned.

ANOTHER MOTHER-IN-LAW.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In answer to "A Mother-in-Law" in the Open Court of Oct. 19 will say you sure have the right idea about life and I wish there were a million more like you.

You remind me so much of my poor dear mother who also works for a living even if she is 63 years old. She is too proud to live with her daughter and she says it will cause trouble, so she works away day after day. I would dearly love to have my mother come to live with me, but it would cause more trouble and I have enough now. I have a mother-in-law who has been a continual torment ever since I have married and I guess she will continue so until a big change is made.

I don't live with her but she lives in our house, so she won't have to pay any rent. She thinks she should come in my flat and tell me how I should put my furniture, how I should hang my curtains, how I should do this and that. Now, my mother was a first-class cook and housekeeper and did all her own sewing. I do my own work, my cooking and all my own sewing. A woman's pride is to fix her house and do her cooking herself, but no, I just can't be left alone. Mother-in-law is continually coming in my house and telling me what to do. She even goes so far as to go with her son payday and tells him how to spend his money. I have stood for this for years and it is just lately that I am waking up. Now, they think that I am bold because I am sticking up for my own rights.

I have tried being good to her and she walks over me and makes a fool of me. I have tried not paying any attention to her and she makes everything miserable for me; for instance, she slams doors in the night when I am alone, peeks in my windows and dozens of other things too numerous to mention. She lies about me to my husband. She tells him to leave me. She tells him to kick me out and calls me names and strikes me for nothing at all only jealousy.

No, the father-in-laws are not a bit better in a way for he is continually putting new ideas into his son's head. The reason why we don't hear so much about them is, they say a lot but they don't show up to chew at you all the time like the mother-in-law. He has his work to keep him busy, but she is at home and has lots of time to think up the meanness that she exhibits very often.

Hoping to get a few suggestions.

I M. "ANOTHER IN JEOPARDY."

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In a recent issue of The Herald some discussion arose in reference to a communication from H. R. Spencer in the Open Column of the News Tribune in which it appeared Mr. Spencer contended the discrepancies between the French and English texts of the Covenant of the League of Nations—and especially the radical difference between the text as shown in Article 1 of the Covenant, opened the Monroe Doctrine, and every existing treaty of the United States to interpretation under the League of Nations.

In re your opinion was (a) The complete variance between the French and English text is probably due to error in translation;

(b) Even were the translation from the French into English correct, the English text being the original and the French text the copy, the English text would govern.

There (a) is absolutely no possibility of this variance between the English and French text, being due to error in translation, as the French text—which lies before me—is couched in clear, concise, unmistakable diction, and offers no reasonable possibility for such an error.

(I shall be glad to furnish you an authoritative copy of the original).

And in no case could the English text be considered as the original; (b) because French is "the official"—the "diplomatic"—the "court language of the world," and has been so ever since it supereeded Latin for the purpose generations ago; (c) the French text is not a copy of the English text, but on the contrary is (measurably) a copy of the French text; though practically coincidently set down in writing as the agreements were arrived at during the conference; and carried on in the world's official language, French, and solely in deference to President Wilson's lack of knowledge of that language. PLUMBING LICENSE OPPOSED.

To the Editor of The Herald:

It has been said that the city council is on the verge of passing an ordinance requiring that all plumbers be licensed men.

We have been getting along pretty nicely without it, in fact, a good deal better than the time when they were licensed. Then why let the boss plumbers tamper with our privileges. There would be nothing gained by the people, as everything would have to be done by a plumber who carries a license. This means that the boss plumbers would have to have a percentage on every job done in the city, and they are not entitled to it.

If a man (a citizen) who is not a plumber by trade, but who can do his own plumbing, and do it so that it will pass inspection, as every job must, then why should this privilege be taken away from him?

If plumbers are to be licensed it is the same as to say that a man who is not is cheating himself, and in order to play fair every trade will have to be licensed. Mayors, commissioners, bookkeepers, in fact, every kind of work that is to be done by humanity, by brain or muscle, should be licensed so that a man cannot help his neighbor. Is this square?

The council should not pass on this any more than it should on the 6-cent fare, which is a good deal more fair than this is, even if we did not vote for it. "LOCAL."

Duluth, Oct. 29.

ARMISTICE DAY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Let us all pull together and make Nov. 11, Armistice day, a holiday. By doing so we are doing a favor for the boys who fought to make the world safe for democracy. Let's make it a big day for the boys. Everybody pull together. H. S. D. F.

Duluth, Oct. 30.

AMERICANIZATION.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In last night's Herald "Only a Woman" says that although she is American born, she cannot vote because she has married an alien who has not yet secured his citizenship papers.

There are hundreds of women in Duluth who are in the same situation and all of them express the same surprise and indignation at the position in which they find themselves. Yet such is the law and the law must be obeyed.

This committee was organized to aid just such foreign-born people to obtain their citizenship papers. The naturalization bureau at 312 West Superior street is open every day and advice regarding naturalization is always free.

All foreign-born men and women should attend some of the night classes conducted by the Y. W. C. A., Y. M. C. A. and the board of education to prepare for the naturalization examination in court. Citizenship in the United States of America is a grace and not a right to be given to all who ask. It should be granted only to those who by their votes as citizens will contribute to the stability and prosperity of this nation. All others should be barred. Those who know little or nothing regarding our country cannot vote intelligently upon our national questions. Sincerely, H. J. STEEL.

Executive Secretary Americanization Committee of the City of Duluth.

LIVING COSTS DEPEND ON SUPPLY AND DEMAND

To the Editor of The Herald:

The proper way to bring down the cost of living is to produce more. Supply and demand have always and will always govern prices.

In order to produce more, farmers and manufacturers must have, not less, but more credit. To say to them: "We are going to bring down the price of your goods by cutting down your credit," is to break the legs of our government.

Common sense seems to be the most uncommon thing in politics. There is a right way and a wrong way to do everything. In this time of stress and strain we do not need any business boobs at the head of our affairs. Lord, deliver us from a policy that means wreck and ruin to our industries. Give us big men and women, with plenty of horse sense, to administer our public affairs! JAMES BROWNLEE FRIX.

THE IRISH QUESTION.

To the Editor of The Herald:

These hyphenated Sinn Feiners, "ourselves alone" orators, educators and preachers of hatred and falsehood, who in stubbornness, or ignorance of the causes of the true state of affairs in Ireland, can be depended upon to run true to form in one instance, and that is if they can't educate you to believe in what they preach, they accuse you of being pro-British, and a disciple of the British empire. That is because of their hatred and cherished traditional dislike of England, the flames of which are fanned by arguments based on errors and wrongs of the past, which appeal to the ignorant and fanatic and have no meaning in the present.

They tell you of wrongs formerly done in Ireland, but neglect to tell you that these wrongs have been done away with completely. They don't tell you that it is much easier for the farmer to gain control of land in Ireland than it is in England. They say that the Irish are compelled to emigrate because of oppression, but they don't say that it is because of superior attractions elsewhere. They also say that Ireland is taxed heavier than ever before, but they don't say that other dominions of the British empire, also we of the United States, are heavier taxed than ever before because of the war. They tell you of the terrible days of Easter week, 1916, when some 500 people were killed and injured in the riots in Dublin, and they don't truthfully state that this open rebellious incident was purposely staged at a most critical and dark moment in the history of the great war, and that the shooting and murders were committed by Sinn Feiners, most of whom escaped through the connivance and sympathy of the crowd.

For more than twenty years a small party in Ireland has been attempting to arouse a spirit of Irish nationality; up to that time almost all Irish people spoke English, but this party tried to revive old Irish characteristics and customs, and they no doubt would lead them back to ancient tribal customs and wars which were a tragedy in Irish history, and which lingered long after such activities ceased to exist in other countries. From that party we have our present Sinn Feiners, the "ourselves alone" agitators who try to tell us that the status of Ireland is exactly the same as the colonies during the revolutionary period. There is only one instance that is parallel. In the early history the authorities used to place a prisoner in stocks and place him on exhibition in the public square. These "Irish republic" police have handcuffed prisoners and chained them with chain and padlock to poles in public places to be gazed upon by the curious public, in one instance placing a placard around the prisoner's neck labeled "scab" because he dared to try to earn his living by running a train during a strike.

I or any other American wouldn't stoop so low as to stain the records and glorious deeds of our forefathers by making a comparison of their deeds with the cold-blooded murders committed by the so-called Irish patriots. C. ANDERSON.

Duluth, Oct. 20.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I am very glad to see that H. T. W. of Gilbert, Minn., seems to know a whole lot about my personal history. I would be glad if he would notify me at his own expense, how he made the discovery that I have never seen the skies of Ireland. Does H. T. W. presume to have a monopoly upon Ireland's perspective, or does he imagine his Brainerd correspondent is suffering from lack of vision? His fondness for drawing conclusions along these lines leads me to the painful conclusion that he is entirely at sea in regard to Ireland's political problems. Pray tell me, when did I prate about landlords in Ireland, or any other Irish correspondent? Why, my friend, landlords in Ireland are as dead as Brine Brew, and I am furthermore pleased to inform you that there is no hope that they shall ever come back.

Now, H. T. W., I reiterate my statement that nobody with patriotic blood in any of England's colonies sits down happily under the accursed rag. There may be some who are content to wear the livery of slavery, and if they are happy in that state of degradation I really cannot complain very much about it.

As far as India is concerned, I beg to acquaint you of the fact that the poor people were deprived of arms and ammunition during the war and that India's soldiers were actually railroaded into British transports without having a chance to know where they were destined for. There must certainly be a great glory in this for an Irish West Briton who prides himself on the sentiments of justice that pervade the English mind. Let me, please, correct you on a little historic mistake that even an intelligent gent like you has unhappily fallen into. Those would-be traitors to English interests in Ireland during the war did not stampede to America, but bravely held the fort at home and defied English mandates to conscript them. They were right, good, hearty, brave fellows who had the hardihood to call John Bull's old bluff and were victorious in their efforts.

The Irish in America fought once to reclaim American soil from the predatory incursions of English commercialism, and the story of the American republic reflects the grandest of their achievements, and we are not afraid of stirring up a little strife now, if necessary, which may be very effective in disgorging from the stomach of John Bull his ill-gotten prey. It is a consummation devoutly to be hoped for, and I hope the Lord will prolong my days that I may live to see it. With a jovial step and a mind full of thanksgiving to the Spirit above I shall betake myself to old Limerick town when the glorious hour shall have dawned.

J. C. RIORDAN.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Herald to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner, or that ask for advice on legal or medical questions.

To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the person asking it. This is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

K., Taconite, Minn.: Please answer whether there is a place in Duluth, where a person can get free legal advice like the Legal Aid society in other cities.

Ans.: Yes, the city maintains such an office in the Welfare building, 312 West Superior street.

R. K., Duluth: I served in the United States navy from the 26th of June, 1917, until the 10th of February, 1919, at the rate of $15 a month, how much bonus pay would I have coming from the state of Minnesota?

Ans.: As you served nineteen and one-half months your bonus should be $292.

V. P., Duluth: Please answer the following question in the columns of your paper and settle an argument: If Canada should decide to secede from England, would the United States, under the terms of the Monroe Doctrine, be obliged to go to the assistance of Canada in case of war between her and England?

Ans.: The answer is "No," of course; yet the question opens up a very interesting speculation, though it is made entirely academic by the fact that Canada is about as likely to secede from the British empire as Minnesota is to secede from the Union.

If Canada should rebel, that would be strictly between Canada and Great Britain, and the United States would have no business interfering. But if Canada should make good its rebellion and establish its independence, then another situation entirely would occur. The occasion for the announcement of the Monroe Doctrine was that the South American countries had established their independence from Spain, and Spain with the help of the Holy Alliance was planning to take them back again. That was why this country, with the backing if not at the suggestion of England, announced the Monroe Doctrine; which is simply that no European country shall seize territory in this hemisphere any more. So if Canada should establish its independence, and then Great Britain should undertake to conquer it, that attempt might be construed as a violation of the Monroe Doctrine, with the establishing of which England had nearly as much as this country to do.—The Editor.

Find Infant's Skeleton.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 2.—The skeleton of an infant, not more than 3 weeks old, was found here Saturday, police announced. Two articles were found on the body, one a badge bearing the words, "Magnolia hotel, Magnolia avenue, 46 East Van Buren street, Midway, 4719," and a leather tag with the name, "Miss Jean Caustan."

DOUGHNUTS and CRULLERS

From the NEW ROYAL COOK BOOK

DOUGHNUTS made the doughboy happy during the war and no wonder. There is nothing more wholesome and delightful than doughnuts or crullers rightly made. Their rich, golden color and appetizing aroma will create an appetite quicker than anything else in the world.

Here are the famous doughnut and cruller recipes from the New Royal Cook Book.

Doughnuts
3 tablespoons shortening
¾ cup sugar
1 egg
¾ cup milk
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon salt
3 cups flour
4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder

Cream shortening; add sugar and well-beaten egg; stir in milk; add nutmeg, salt, flour and baking powder which have been sifted together and enough additional flour to make dough stiff enough to roll. Roll out on floured board to about ½ inch thick; cut out. Fry in deep fat hot enough to brown a piece of bread in 60 seconds. Drain on unglazed paper and sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Afternoon Tea Doughnuts
2 eggs
6 tablespoons sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon grated nutmeg
2 tablespoons shortening
6 tablespoons milk
2 cups flour
3 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder

Beat eggs until very light; add sugar, salt, nutmeg and melted shortening; add milk, and flour and baking powder which have been sifted together; mix well. Drop by teaspoons into deep hot fat and fry until brown. Drain well on unglazed paper and sprinkle lightly with powdered sugar.

Crullers
4 tablespoons shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
3 cups flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
⅔ cup milk

Cream shortening; add sugar gradually and beaten eggs; sift together flour, cinnamon, salt and baking powder; add one-half and mix well; add milk and remainder of dry ingredients to make soft dough. Roll out on floured board to about ½ inch thick and cut into strips about 4 inches long and ½ inch wide; roll in hands and twist each strip and bring ends together. Fry in deep hot fat. Drain and roll in powdered sugar.

ON THE IRON RANGES

YOUTH WITH MUCH CHANGE IS ARRESTED

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Averring that he came from Canada, where his parents had died, leaving him an orphan in possession of a farm which he sold for $5,000, Arthur Carlson, age 16, attempted to obtain a license to hunt small game from Miss Helen Duncan, deputy township clerk yesterday. Young Carlson was dressed in flashy hunting attire and his demeanor caused the police to suspect him of being a runaway. He was taken into custody and is being held pending word from authorities at Fort Frances, where he alleged he came from.

Thirty-five dollars in quarters, dimes and nickels were found in one of Carlson's shoes when his room at the Oliver hotel was searched by the police. The youth claimed that he had spent $1,000 of the $5,000 which he had received for the farm.

RANGE MAN GIVEN PENITENTIARY TERM

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Paul Wickenhiser, indicted on a carnal knowledge charge, was sentenced to serve an indeterminate sentence in the state prison at Stillwater by Judge Martin Hughes in district court yesterday afternoon. Wickenhiser pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Judge Freeman last week, but changed his plea to guilty yesterday. A 13-year-old girl was the complaining witness before the grand jury.

LAKE VERMILION COMING INTO OWN

Tower, Minn., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tourist travel to the Lake Vermilion region the past season broke all records and members of the local Commercial club, along with President C. C. Carlson, who did much to bring about such condition, are naturally elated. They are now going after a bigger patronage next season as they declare that this beauty spot is coming into its own.

Every year sees additions to the number of stopping places along the lake and on the beautiful islands the number of cottages is growing steadily. Besides increasing accommodations for patrons there are seven boat lines plying on the lake, including twelve large boats capable of carrying 352 and eighty-nine privately owned launches. The fishing, scenery, pure air and other great points this region possesses combine to make it one of the ideal summer resort places of America, local boosters declare.

BIG ULCER ALL HEALED

"Now I Can Walk," Says Mrs. Southcott of Medina.

"Here is another letter that makes me happy," says Peterson of Buffalo. "One that I would rather have than a thousaid dollars."

"Money isn't everything in this world. There is many a big-hearted, rich man who would give all he has on earth to be able to produce a remedy with such mighty healing power as Peterson's Ointment, to sell at all druggists for 35 cents a box."

Read this letter, written February 14, 1918, by Mrs. Albert Southcott of Medina, N. Y. It seems like a miracle, but it is true, every word of it.

I know it, because I get similar letters almost every day.

Is it any wonder I am happy!

Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.

Dear Sirs—

"I was an untold sufferer from an old running sore and ulcers. I had tried most everything without any relief from pain. A friend told me of your wonderful ointment and the first box took away the pain that had not left me before in years, and after using just nine dollars' worth of the salve I am cured. The ulcer was 9 inches by 6½ inches, is all healed and I can walk. Never, never will I be without Peterson's again.

"You may use this to recommend your ointment if you wish. I cannot say enough to praise it." Yours truly, Mrs. Albert Southcott, Medina, N. Y.

VIRGINIA HOLIDAY ON ARMISTICE DAY

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Armistice day plans are being prepared with every indication of a notable declaration here Nov. 11 on the second anniversary of firing the last shot in the World war. The mayor will declare the day a holiday or at least a half holiday.

It is expected that stores and business houses will all close their doors at the noon hour and industries will work short-handed during the afternoon. The committee in charge of arrangements has waited on the heads of the mining and milling industries and announce that all have agreed to let the ex-service men in their employ off for the afternoon. The ex-service man need only tell the foreman he will be gone.

That the parade will be one of the biggest ever seen in the district is assured with the announcement that International Falls and Ely are both planning to send large delegations, the men all coming in uniform. In addition to these delegations it is expected that fully 1,000 men will come from Hibbing, and many from all other range towns. The football contest between Virginia and Hibbing will be a feature to bring Hibbing here en masse.

MINES CAR IS TO BE ON CUYUNA RANGE

Houghton, Mich., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Federal local bureau of mines announces that the bureau's car, No. 10, A. J. Martinsson in charge, now on the Mesaba range, will visit the following mines on the Cuyuna range on the date indicated: Riverton, Rowe mine, Nov. 15 to Nov. 20; Ironton, Ironton mine, Nov. 22 to Nov. 27; Ironton, Pennington mine, Nov. 29 to Dec. 4; Ironton, Armour No. 1 mine, Dec. 6 to Dec. 11; Crosby, Croft mine, Dec. 13 to Dec. 18; Crosby, Holidays, Dec. 20 to Dec. 26; Crosby, Meacham mine, Dec. 27 to Jan. 1; Trommald, Merritt mine, Jan. 3 to Jan. 8.

In case of a mine fire or disaster the car can be reached at any of these points or through the bureau of mines at Houghton or Minneapolis.

PEDDLES DANCE BOOZE; HELD TO GRAND JURY

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Guido Baranzelli, arrested Sunday night at a dance hall north of Virginia for peddling moonshine, was arraigned before Commissioner Poirier yesterday, and held to the Federal grand jury, being released on bail.

Mike Benich, caught Saturday with a Northside still in operation, was also held in bonds which he furnished.

Nashwauk Election Debate.

Nashwauk, Minn., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Politics invaded the schools here today when the high school voted on president. Speeches for the Republican party were made by Marguerite Cannam, Clayton Forsythe, and for the Democratic party by Florence Johnston, Ethelyn Davern and George Gordon. The public speaking class of the high school will also hold a debate on Cox vs. Harding, the speakers for Cox being George Gordon, Joseph Mader and Ethelyn Davern, while the speakers on the other side were Clayton Forsythe, Constance Kimmell and Helmi Tiaple, all held under the supervision of Miss O'Leary.

DAN COFFEY, OLD VIRGINIAN, DIES

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dan Coffey, 51, one of the oldest pioneers of the Mesaba range, died this morning, following an illness of over a year. He had been confined to his bed only a month. He came to the range twenty-seven years ago when Virginia included only a few shacks, opened a livery stable and operated it until two years ago. He served several terms as alderman. He is survived by his wife, three children, and two brothers.

Funeral arrangements are being made.

TESCH'S WOUND NOT SERIOUS AS FEARED

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ernest Tesch, who was shot by John Williams, aged 35, farmer, living near Cook, with a 38-caliber revolver Sunday afternoon and brought to a local hospital, is reported today to be doing well, the wound not being as serious as first reported and his complete recovery is forecast unless complications result.

Williams, who was brought to the county jail, waived examination in municipal court today, but was not released on bail as he has not been formally held to the grand jury pending the outcome of Tesch's wound. Tesch, when questioned at the hospital, stated that he went to Williams' house Sunday afternoon to talk over a deal involving a sale of some hay. He said that they could not come to an agreement and he left the place. When he got about twenty feet away he heard the door open and as he turned, he said Williams shot at him twice. He declared that Williams before had been guilty of drawing a gun on residents of this section.

CHISHOLM SHIPPERS ARE TO BE BENEFITED

Chisholm, Minn., Nov. 2.—Much benefit will result to local shippers by the action of the railroad and warehouse commission is compelling the installation of direct rail connection between the Missabe and the Great Northern railroad tracks by the placing of a switch a few hundred feet south of the Missabe depot, as switching charges will be greatly reduced. Heretofore it was necessary to run cars around by Emmert at a cost of from $40 to $50 per car, while under the new arrangement the change from one track to another will cost only about $4 per car. The chamber of commerce brought about the improvement after appealing to the railroad commission.

SATURDAY CLUB OF HIBBING TO RESUME

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Northern Minnesota" will be the subject of Mrs. A. P. Silliman's paper to be read before the members of the Saturday club next Saturday afternoon at the public library. Mrs. S. J. Egge will discuss "Conservation and Reforestation in the United States."

The program of the Saturday club for the meetings preceding the New Year will be devoted mainly to study and discussion of highways, transportation and the national forests. On Nov. 20, Mrs. R. W. Hitchock will talk on the "National Highway" and this will be followed by a paper on "Highway Transportation" by C. C. Alexander.

Present plans are to secure an outside speaker for the Dec. 4 meeting. A social gathering to which friends of the club will be invited will be held at the same time.

"National Monuments" and "The Lincoln Highway" by Mrs. Bruce Elliott are the subjects for the Dec. 18 meeting.

Americanization and the study of citizenship will be the themes of the meetings of the club beginning with the new year.

HIBBING JUNIORS TAKE STRAW VOTE

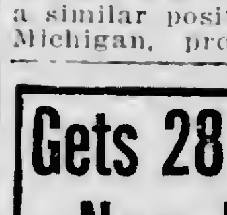
SAYS CO-OPERATION OF ALUMNI IS NEEDED

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—E. P. Pierce, formerly registrar of the University of Minnesota, now secretary of the general alumni association of that institution, who is to speak here Nov. 16 at a meeting of Hibbing alumni, according to Miss Beatrice Finn, local president, is urging alumni to do everything possible to advance their alma mater, and urges more co-operation for mutual benefits. He is quoted as saying that if keener interest is manifested by graduates, necessary legislation will be enacted for the benefit of the university, and believes that President Marion Burton, who recently resigned to accept a similar position at the University of Michigan, probably would have remained at Minnesota if he had been offered the facilities for his work that he desired.

Gets 28 Eggs A Day Now, From 34 Hens

C. C. White, Well-Known Breeder, Tells How. Costs Nothing to Try.

"I gave Don Sung to 34 utility Buff Orpingtons and the egg yield increased from 7 to 28 a day. Don Sung is a wonder and I am now giving it to all my hens regularly."—Chas. C. White, Mgr., Cherry Hill Farm, Flackville, Ind.



Mr. White is the well known breeder and exhibitor. He wrote the above letter in December, after his test had shown a gain of 21 eggs a day from 34 hens. We will make you the same offer we made him. Here it is:

Give your hens Don Sung and watch results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself and pays you a good profit besides, simply tell us and your money will be cheerfully refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) is a scientific tonic and conditioner. It is easily given in the feed, improves the hen's health and makes her stronger and more active. It tones up the egg-laying organs, and gets the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather.

Don Sung can be obtained promptly from your druggist or poultry remedy dealer, or send $1.04 (includes war tax) for a package by mail prepaid. Burrell-Dugger Co., 214 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

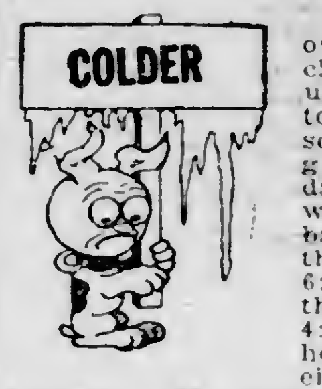
PARTLY CLOUDY AND COLDER; RISING TEMPERATURE WEDNESDAY



The day started out bright, but the clouds soon loomed up and added a touch of gloom for somebody on this general election day. Otherwise the weather is not so bad. The sun rose this morning at 6:53 and will set this evening at 4:51, giving nine hours and fifty-eight minutes of sunlight. Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The Iowa disturbance has moved its center to Northern Lake Michigan. During the last twenty-four hours strong easterly winds and rain or snow resulted in the lake region and the Central valley states. A strong high-pressure area overlying the Rocky mountains and plateau region has caused much colder weather over Central Wyoming, the Southwest and Mississippi valley states. Lander, Wyo., reported 4 deg. below zero this morning. Another depression developing in Upper Saskatchewan is causing the temperature to rise over Northern and Western Montana, Saskatchewan and Alberta."

LOCAL FORECAST

For Duluth and vicinity: Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday. Somewhat colder tonight with lowest temperature near 25 deg. at Duluth, Superior and Two Harbors, and 15 to 20 deg. inland and on the iron ranges. Rising temperature Wednesday. Fresh and possibly strong northwest to west winds.

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Wednesday:

Minnesota—Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday, possibly unsettled in east portion; somewhat colder in east portion tonight; slowly rising temperature Wednesday.

Wisconsin—Unsettled, with probably snow flurries tonight and in east portion Wednesday; somewhat colder tonight.

North Dakota and South Dakota—Fair tonight and Wednesday; somewhat warmer Wednesday and in west portion tonight.

Upper Lakes—Strong shifting winds, becoming west, probably of gale force; rain, probably turning to snow and followed by fair weather Wednesday.

Storm warnings displayed at upper lake stations.

VIRGINIA WOMEN MORE INTERESTED

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Reports from the different polling booths here today are that the women are showing more interest than the men the novelty of casting their ballots having apparently strongly appealed to them. It is expected that the total vote of the city will be near 3,500.

As far as can be learned voters are not overlooking the important constitutional amendments while, of course, the various candidates are being voted for. A normal vote is declared to have been cast up to noon, but any predictions as to voters' choice is guess work.

FORMER HIBBING GIRL STUDYING ENGINEERING

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Myrtle Abell, graduate of the Hibbing high school class of 1920, now a student at the University of South Dakota, has the distinction of being the first of her sex to enroll in the college of engineering at that institution, according word received here from Vermillion.

During her high school career, Miss Abell took all mathematical and scientific courses offered. She also took a mathematics course in the junior college when she was a high school senior. She is attending the University of South Dakota with her sister, Ethel.

KAHLER HOPING HIBBING WILL HAVE HOCKEY TEAM

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nick Kahler, hockey player, known throughout the Northwest as one of the fastest men playing the center ice, refereed Sunday's football game between Hibbing and Virginia, and his work was satisfactory to both teams. Kahler will not play this year, but he states that Minneapolis will enter a fast team in the proposed national league of hockey clubs.

Kahler is in hopes that Hibbing will have a team entered in the league.

Meadowlands Boy Dies.

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Olson, son of John Olson of Meadowlands died after a long illness. Burial will be held at Cook tomorrow.

D., W. & P. Employe Buried.

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of John Tuominen, who was killed on the D., W. & P. coal docks, West Virginia, was held yesterday afternoon. He is survived by his wife, three children, and a brother, all of Virginia.

Buhl School Work.

Buhl, Minn., Nov. 2.—Architect Kerr of Virginia advises the school board that it is expected the north wing of the high school will be inclosed before extreme cold weather sets in, and the brick work on the south wing well on its way.

Nashwauk Masked Ball.

Nashwauk, Minn., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following committee had charge of the masked ball given in the high school by the seniors Friday evening, to which teachers were invited: Refreshments, Ethelyn M. Davern, Vivian Kaminen, Joseph Mader, Helen Raattama; social, Florence Johnston, George Gordon and Blanche Plaisted. Music was furnished by the high school orchestra. The prize for the most typical costume was won by Constance Kimmell; the prize for the prettiest person by Ethelyn Davern, and for the funniest costume by Tony Dellssico. The eighth grade also held a party in the gymnasium on Thursday evening, which was supervised by Miss Jane Thayer.

Nashwauk Election Returns.

Nashwauk, Minn., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Arrangements have been made by the local Owls' lodge to receive the election reports tonight over a private wire at the Grand theater. This will be the only leased wire in Nashwauk for the election returns on that night.

Gun Toter Fined.

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Steblaj was arraigned before Judge Lafayette Bliss yesterday on a charge of having firearms on a game refuge in the township of Fayal, having been arrested by Deputy Game Warden Marco Buyck. He pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $25.

Gun Toter Arrested.

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Samuel Vokich, arrested yesterday for carrying concealed weapons, will appear before Judge Thomas Brady today.

Report for Hibbing Practice.

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—First call for practice of the Hibbing Junior college basket ball squad resulted in the appearance of fourteen players who have notified Coach Lehman of their intentions to try out for places on the college five, as follows: Murphy, Darlington, Kaiser, Forsberg, Ranta, Dodson, Phelps, Dwyer, Belanger, Danahey, Quayle, Imbertson, McEachin, Hall and Lundquist.

Loses Jewels and Fined $5,000.

New York, Nov. 2.—Charged with smuggling a diamond ring and a pearl necklace valued at $10,500 into the United States, Victory Vivaudou, millionaire perfume manufacturer, yesterday pleaded guilty in Federal district court and was fined $5,000. The gems were confiscated by the government.

NOTED SUFFRAGIST ISSUES STATEMENT

Mrs. Annie M. Sloan of Buffalo Declares She Would Not Take All the Money in the World for Good Tanlac Did Her.

MRS. ANNIE M. SLOAN, Prominent Buffalo, N. Y., Club Woman and Suffragist.

"I will just say frankly I think Tanlac is perfectly wonderful and I wouldn't take all the money in the world for the good it has done me," said Mrs. Annie M. Sloan, recently, residing at 275 Huntington Avenue, Buffalo, N. Y.

Mrs. Sloan has resided in Buffalo for the past forty years and is very prominent in club circles, being an active member of the Buffalo City Club, the Lincoln Republican Club, and the Women Voters' League.

She represented the women of her city in their appeal to the United States Senate at Washington when the Suffrage Bill was first introduced, and was honored with a membership to the Washington Suffrage Club. Mrs. Sloan is also deeply interested in church and charity work. Her statement regarding the benefit she has derived from Tanlac will be of widespread interest. She said:

"I have only been taking Tanlac about four weeks, but I am already feeling better than I have felt in years. Why, it just seems as though I have been awarded a new lease on life, and I would be doing an injustice to others who are trying to find relief not to tell what this grand medicine has done for me.

"Some time ago I was compelled to undergo an operation for gallstones, after which I got along very well until about a year and a half ago, when I had a very severe bilious attack. These attacks became frequent and with each one I would have to remain in bed for four or five days.

"About six weeks ago I had another of these attacks and was in such awful pain I almost gave up hope. This spell left me without any energy and so weak I could hardly walk across the room.

"Tanlac has relieved my troubles entirely. I am enjoying splendid health now and am brimful of new strength and energy. Everyone should know of Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Duluth at the W. A. Abbett drug stores under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative. Also the leading druggist in every town throughout the Northwest. Wm. Isaacson, Gowan; Geo. W. Swanson, Culver; Floodwood Merc. Co., Floodwood; Wilfrid Longtin, Grand Lake, P. O. Saginaw; Fairbanks Store Co., Fairbanks.—Advertisement.

NEW YORK RENT LAWS UNCONSTITUTIONAL

New York, Nov. 2.—The rent laws passed to safeguard the interests of tenants at the recent session of the New York state legislature were declared unconstitutional in a decision handed down late yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Henry T. Hotchkiss.

Justice Hotchkiss, in rendering his decision, which was against Mortimer Osterweis, a tenant, named defendant in ejection proceedings, said the law was unconstitutional because "it deprives landlords from all remedy for repossession of their property" and "it is discriminatory because, as between owners of old and new buildings and those who seek to regain possession for other purposes, the act denies the equal protection of the laws."

The decision gives Osterweis permission to answer the complaint so that the suit may be brought to trial in open court.

WOMAN THROWS RADIUM IN SEWER

Utica, N. Y., Nov. 2.—In an effort to locate radium valued at $13,000, carelessly dropped by a woman patient in the Faxton hospital here yesterday, workmen began to dig up the sewers in the vicinity of the hospital.

The mineral was the property of Dr. George M. Fischer of this city, and was being used on the woman's breast in the hope of curing cancer. Because it irritated her, the woman, who did not appreciate the value of the radium, went to a bathroom, took the bandage off and threw it away.

MILITARY FUNERAL HELD AT BAGLEY

Bagley, Minn., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of Nels Kleppe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gunsten Kleppe of the town of Minerva, who was killed in France, arrived here for burial. The local post of the American Legion took charge and gave the dead a military funeral.

Charged With Negligence.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 2.—The United States inspector of steam vessels here has brought charges of negligence, unskilfulness and violation of pilot rules against Capt. H. A. Biggins, master of the steamer Cape Fear, which sank in Narragansett bay Friday night with a loss of seventeen lives after colliding with the steamship City of Atlanta of the Savannah line.

GAINED 60 POUNDS IN A FEW WEEKS

Cough Was Getting the Best of Him But He Got Rid of It Quickly.

"I had a chronic cough for a long time, in fact it was getting the best of me. I could not find anything that would do me any good. A friend recommended Milks Emulsion. The third bottle cured the cough completely, made me healthy and well and I feel like a new man. Before taking Emulsion I was down to 125 pounds and now I weigh 185 pounds. It don't seem possible that 3 bottles of medicine would cause a man to gain 60 pounds but it is a fact."—William Gilton, R. F. D. No. 4, Chuckey, Tenn.

Mr. Gilton was fortunate in commencing to use Milks Emulsion when he did. A run-down system invites disease. Milks Emulsion costs nothing to try.

Milks Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended by those whom sickness has weakened, and is a powerful aid in resisting and repairing the effects of wasting diseases. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. Truly wonderful for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion under this guarantee—take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 75c and $1.50 per bottle. The Milks Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, In. Sold by druggists everywhere.

The best lease for Wisconsin, the writers say, is probably a three or five-year lease, with provisions for renewal, termination and compensation for disturbance and unexhausted improvements.

Wisconsin cash leases, they point out, have had comparatively few restrictions and as a result cash-rented farms have been robbed and run down much more than the share-rented farms. Cash-rented farming can be as successful as share-rent if landlords will put proper restrictions in their leases, choose their tenants carefully and then give proper supervision, the bulletin says.

In the final determination all comes back to the relation between the landlord and tenant. If landlords and tenants could be kept on better terms with one another, leases would be made for longer periods, herds would be broken up less often and equipment would be better maintained, the writers declare.

Before leasing it is urged that the tenant consider the type of landlord and determine whether he will be able to keep on good terms with him; the landlord is urged to consider the type of tenant, while both should take into consideration the farm, whether it is large enough, productive enough and well enough located so that it will yield the tenant a good living after the rent is paid.

GOOD OUTLOOK FOR BUSINESS

Duluth Bankers Optimistic; Dangers of Financial Stringency Past.

Duluth bankers are generally optimistic in their views regarding the outlook for business in Duluth and district for the coming winter. The danger of any serious financial stringency is considered to have been passed, it being thought that funds will be available to meet any emergency, either for crop moving or for commercial and industrial requirements.

Woods operations of lumbermen in this district promise to be on a larger scale during the coming winter than in several season's back, with all of the leading operators planning for large outputs of sawlogs, pulpwood and ties. Large camps are being put in by companies operating over Northern Minnesota, and with wages of $75 a month and board being offered, it is believed that the surplus labor in this territory will be taken up after the closing down of other outdoor operations for the season.

Lumber Prices Cut.

An interesting development yesterday was the announcement of reductions $2 and $4 a 1,000 feet in the prices of white pine lumber. Said the sales manager of one of the lumber companies yesterday:

"The reduction was made with a view to showing that the lumber trade is endeavoring to function in the general movement to bring down the prices of commodities, in spite of the high scale of wages prevailing for woodsmen and mill operators. We are sanguine that building work will be speeded up after the beginning of the year as a result of the paring down being made in the prices of materials."

SIX POLICEMEN KILLED IN SOUTH OF IRELAND

Dublin, Nov. 1.—There were at least fourteen attacks on the police and military in the west and south of Ireland Sunday evening. Six police were killed and eighteen wounded. One civilian was killed.

OVERPOWER CREW AND SEIZE LIQUOR

Boston, Mass., Nov. 2.—Customs officers who made a raid on the White Star liner Cretic at Commonwealth pier yesterday for contraband liquor, were set upon by members of the crew and beaten back with crowbars and other weapons. Police boats and patrolmen responded on a riot call, and a request was made on the navy yard for a squad of marines. With the aid of a detail of sailors armed with bayonetted rifles, the customs officials and police overpowered the crew, some of whom attempted to resist with knives. The raid was then completed, 400 bottles of cognac being found under the floor of the engine room, where 600 bottles were removed yesterday. A quantity of drugs, secreted in garlic, was also found.

Correct appearance is more than outward attire

Richmond Union Suits give the wearer the feeling of being well dressed that means so much to efficiency and peace of mind.

This feeling is the result of skillful designing; of comforting fabrics; of skilled workmanship and of that indefinable something called character which has a place in merchandise as well as in people. In this case it is the fruit of 20 years unceasing effort to produce the best union suit that can be made.

The cuffs and ankles of Richmond Union Suits are knit on spring-needle machines and attached with a flat elastic seam that means a permanently snug fit. They are absolutely non-crawling.

This is only ONE of EIGHT exclusive Richmond features. Ask the salesman to show you the other seven.

Learn what clean teeth mean

See the results of the new way of teeth cleaning. They are quick and decisive. You will know at once that they mean a lifetime of cleaner, safer teeth.

Millions of people employ it. And the glistening teeth seen everywhere show what it means. See what it means to you.

A film combatant

Most tooth troubles are now traced to film—to that viscous coat you feel. Film clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays.

The ordinary tooth paste does not end film. So the film remains—much of it—and may do a ceaseless damage. Nearly all people suffer from it, more or less.

It is the film-coat that discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. So, despite the tooth brush, all these troubles have been constantly increasing.

New methods now

Dental science, after years of searching, has found new ways to fight film. All have been proved by many clinical tests. They are so efficient that leading dentists everywhere advise them.

These methods are combined now in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. It has brought a new era in teeth cleaning. This is the tooth paste we urge you to try.

Watch the new effects

The use of Pepsodent at once reveals many new effects.

One ingredient is pepsin. One multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva, to digest starch deposits that cling. One multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, to neutralize mouth acids.

Two factors directly attack the film. One of them keeps the teeth so highly polished that film cannot easily cling.

Pepsodent is the new-day tooth paste, complying with all modern requirements. It does what never before was done. You should learn its benefits at once.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. Watch the teeth whiten as the film-coat disappears.

Every one in your family needs Pepsodent daily, and a week will prove this to you. Cut out the coupon now.

WANT MONTREAL TO JOIN LEAGUE

Montreal, Nov. 2.—Roger Bresnahan, former major league baseball star, arrived here yesterday for the purpose of enlisting local sportsmen in a project to restore Montreal to a place in the International league. Jean Dubuc of Montreal, who was manager of the Toledo team last season, also is interested in the undertaking, it was stated, and will be manager if a team is organized.

WEEGHMAN DROPPED.

Former President Eliminated From Directorate of Chicago Nationals.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Charles H. Weeghmann, for several years president of the Chicago National league baseball club, was dropped from the directorate at the annual meeting of the stockholders yesterday. William L. Veeck, president of the club, was chosen in his stead. Other member of the board were re-elected. Selection of John J. Evers as manager of the Cubs was approved.

ASK EARLY TRIAL FOR ATTELL AND SULLIVAN

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Attorneys representing Abe Attell and John J. ("Sport") Sullivan, indicted as members of an alleged gambling "ring," which were said to have bribed eight Chicago White Sox players to throw the 1919 world's series games, arrived yesterday to arrange for the appearance of the two. The attorneys announced they would produce the two men as soon as bonds were arranged for and added that they would ask for an early trial.

Attell Returns to New York.

New York, Nov. 2.—Abe Attell, former featherweight boxing champion, under indictment in Chicago in connection with the alleged "fixing" of the 1919 world's series, returned here yesterday from Montreal and declared he would go soon to Chicago to tell what he knew of the case.

Cutler Victorious.

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 2.—Chadley Cutler of Chicago defeated "Farmer" Bailey of Rochester, N. Y., in a wrestling match here last night, winning the first and third falls.

CLYDE BOWLERS IN MAJOR FORM

Ironworkers Flare in Opening Game, Then Fall Back.

The Clyde team gave the other members of the Major Bowling league a rousing thrill last evening at the Gray alleys when they hung up a count of 993 in their opening game and promised to do even better as they warmed up to their work. But the promise was never kept for the Clyde fell down in their next two games, but, at that, managed to gather enough wood to defeat the Patricks three straight.

Big Duluth showed a flash of its oldtime form when, after losing the first game to the Wold Lunch, turned in a win in the second game and then cracked the maples for 935 in their closing efforts. The Grands took every one of three games from the Good Fellowship team and the Strands took the odd game from Proctor.

The high single game team of the evening was copped by the Clydes with 993, while the Grands annexed the high three-game team total with 2,765. Leone of the Grand team lugged off all of the individual honors, taking the single game record of the evening with 221 and the three-game count with 586.

FOOTBALL INJURY CAUSES PARALYSIS

Michigan City, Ind., Nov. 2.—Kept alive for three days by artificial respiration, Edwin Wolff, a senior at Purdue university, Lafayette, Ind., today was said by doctors to be near death.

Wolff, son of a wealthy Indiana hotel proprietor, suffered an injury to his spine in an interclass football game between the seniors and juniors at Purdue ten days ago. He was taken to Michigan City where he became paralyzed gradually. Specialists diagnose the disease as a spinal disease similar to meningitis and affecting the brain.

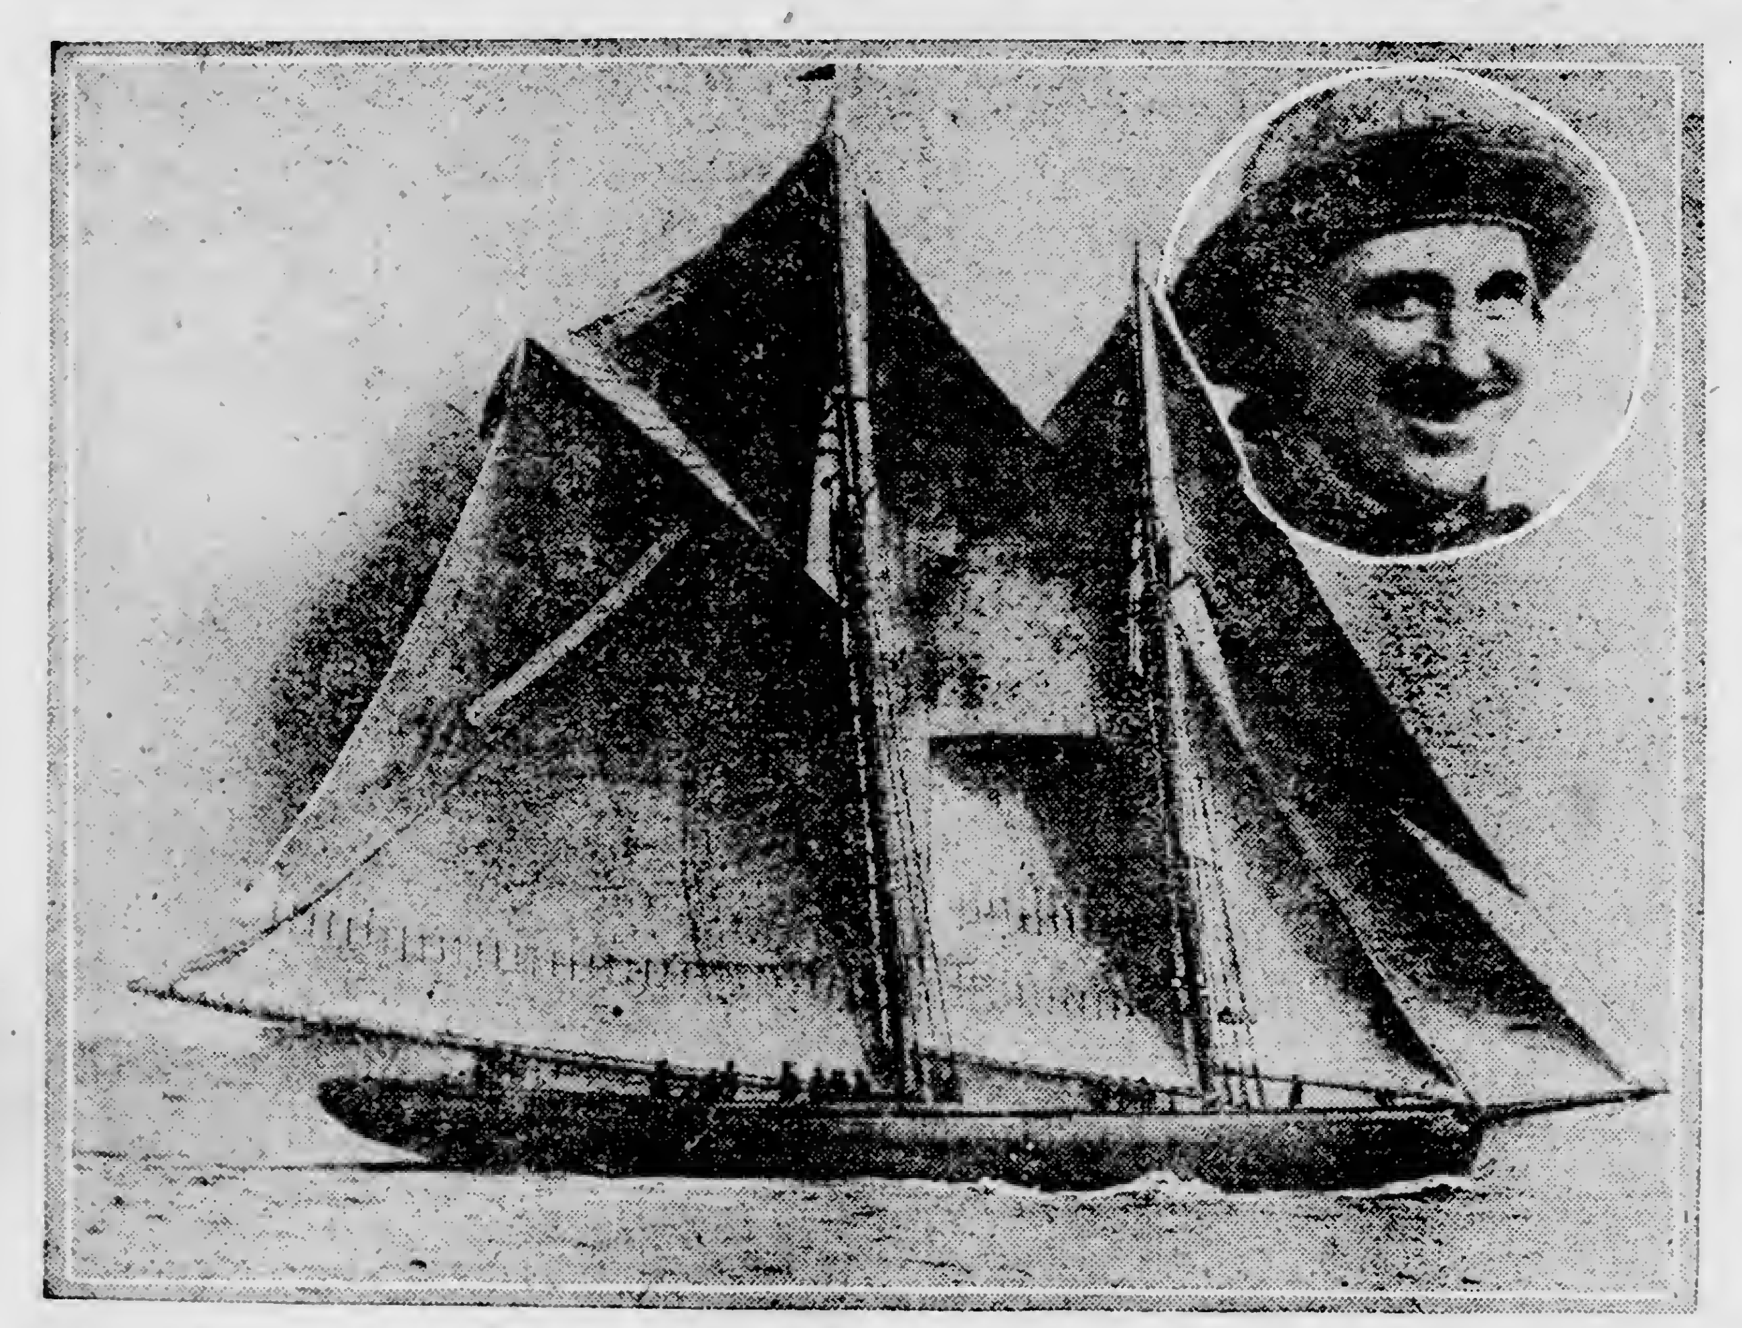
AMERICAN FISHING BOAT WHICH BEAT CANADA'S BEST



This photograph was taken during the final tuning up of the fishing schooner Esperanto, which represented the United States in the recent international race off Halifax, and which defeated the Canadian challenger, Delawana, in two straight races for the North Atlantic cup. These schooners were the pick of the Nova Scotia and Gloucester fishing fleets, and every member of the two crews is a bona fide fisherman. In the circle is shown Capt. Marty Welch of the Eperanto.

HOUSE IS SOLD FOR GRID GAME

Army-Navy Game Over Top a Month in Advance.

New York, Nov. 2.—The rapid development of the small college as a more or less dominant factor has made intercollegiate football what it is today; that is, from the standpoint of the box office at least.

Modern rules, exemplified by the forward pass and the consequent clarity of the play in general, have done the rest. They have been sufficient to gain many converts to the gridiron game, where once there was a disposition to look upon it as a sort of cross between a mob scene and a Graeco-Roman convention.

They also have been a great leveller in the matter of giving the small institution a chance to come up for air. Weight, strength and a football haircut no longer decide the issue: they still have their place in the scheme of things—Harvard against Centre college, by way of example—but skill, courage and speed afoot now get the call.

Public Appreciates Change.

This makes for faster, cleaner and more interesting football, and the great American public is never slow of appreciation.

A true test of a sport's popularity is found not in the number of persons who read and discuss it but in those who display their interest and a bit of principle, as it were, at the box office.

The present season gives every indication of reaching the high water mark in this respect. Boston college and West Virginia, two unknown quantities only a few years ago, drew upward of 60,000 persons to the Yale bowl on successive Saturdays. Centre college came out of the heart of the Kentucky hills to face a capacity crowd at the Harvard stadium. What would Centre have drawn two years ago?

Our own Columbia eleven is not playing a particularly vigorous schedule, yet 12,000 is an average crowd at South field.

What, then, of the big games to come? One may feel eminently justified in drawing one's own conclusion. There is some talk down at Princeton of building a special stand for photographers on the theory that, otherwise, they will interfere with the standees, of whom there is expected to be some 5,000. Every seat in the Palmer stadium was sold weeks ago.

No More Tickets.

So, also, are the Polo grounds accommodations at the forthcoming Army and Navy classic. Our good friend, Joe O'Brien, the Giants' secretary, wishes us to make this sufficiently clear. Otherwise, Mr. O'Brien will be constrained to climb through the transom at the Giants' headquarters every morning in order to get past a man's size mountain of seat applications.

There are no more tickets for the game; that is the sense of Mr. O'Brien's message to the world in general.

We can remember Army and Navy games of the past, particularly those held at Franklin field in Philadelphia, where tickets were in great demand, but never before has the house been sold out a month before.

All of which only serves to further strengthen and amplify the point at issue.

GREAT CROWD TO SEE GAME

Superior and Duluth High Schools to Clash on Grid Saturday.

Central high students are polishing up their yells, tuning up the old songs of battledom and dry-cleaning their banners in preparation for next Saturday, when their football eleven will clash at Athletic park with Superior Central in what promises to be the most bitter grid contest of the local season.

There will be more hue and cry, more cheering and yelling, more singing and joking at Athletic park next week-end than during all of the previous school games of the fall. The scene will recall the olden, golden days when Al Cummings, Mack Cook, Matt Brown, Henry Meining and other stars were playing with Central and when every mother, brother, sister and chum trooped out to the old football yard to root and roar.

The Central high eleven is tuning up strong this week in preparation for this special tussle and will present a front at game time which Superior will have difficulty in getting past—if at all. Duluth will fight Superior to the last inch of the last ditch. Other high school elevens may defeat Central in contests which show an absence of spirit, but Superior will have to battle all the way to get any place.

It is said that Hancock, the big fullback who looked so good in the Superior Central lineup last season, is the whole Badger team. True, there are ten other boys playing with him, but he is advertised as the show. If that is so, Duluth Central will stop him and then beat the Badgers. Superior will have to have more than one class performer to beat Duluth.

HOCKEY PLAYERS TO REPORT TO LEGION

Duluth hockey players, every one, is requested to gather tomorrow evening at the local American Legion headquarters, 312 West Superior street, when the legion committee will meet with the boys and from their number pick a hockey team which will represent Duluth this coming season. The meeting will be called at 7:30. Prospects for the coming season will be discussed, schedule matters will be gone into and arrangements will be completed for training quarters.

The legion team will use the Duluth Curling club ice this coming season and play all of the leading septets in the country.

HIBBING ASKED TO JOIN LEAGUE

Big Village Still Undecided as to Hockey Rink.

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Whether Hibbing has a closed skating rink this winter or not, a local hocke yorganization is extended an invitation to enter the United States Amateur Hockey league, a letter from R. T. Robertson of Houghton, Mich., secretary-treasurer of the league, to George Fisher, secretary-treasurer of the Hibbing Hockey club, says.

An annual meeting of the league will be held in Marquette soon and delegates from the Mesaba range have been invited to attend. Six-man hockey will be discussed at the meeting and the proposition of using teams comprising six men instead of seven will be decided.

The matter of dividing the league so that St. Paul, Duluth, Eveleth and Hibbing will form one circuit and the two Saults, Calumet and Portage Lake the other, will also be taken up.

Robert Geiselman, manager of last season's septet, is in receipt of a letter from J. Skinner, formerly with the Portland, Or., septet, and one of the best known left wings in the game. Skinner offers his services to the local club if a septet is formed here this winter. Three members of the American Olympic team of St. Paul, which went to Antwerp to participate in the Olympic games, have also offered to come to Hibbing if good inducements are forthcoming.

BOXING FANS IN RUSH FOR SEATS

Neil Allison-Kid Alberts Mix Proves Magnetic Match.

Duluth boxing fans must look upon the Kid Alberts-Neil Allison quarrel as a toothsome sporting morsel, for they are already making their reservations before the tickets have come from the printers. This is most unusual and augurs for a record crowd for the carnival of fistic combats which the Duluth A. C. will stage on Friday, Nov. 12, at the New Armory.

The town seems to be pretty well divided as to which boy will win. Fans in the western part of the city and especially at Morgan Park feel certain that Alberts will not respond for the final gong in this encounter. They say Allison will set that old Mary Ann of his against the Jewish lightweight's chin and knock him heels, hocks and hips into the arms of Old Bill Morpheus.

In the uptown districts Alberts has a mighty following which will back him to the guards in what promises to be the toughest fight of his career. Alberts has met several boys who ca both box and sock and yet the Jewis mitt-slinger has never yet been foun osculating with the resined canva And let it be remembered that Alber throws a pretty nasty mitt himse one that does not pack much thunde but which has a wearing down effe that all of his opponents will acknow edge.

Kid Billings Returns.

Kid Billings, the Superior welte weight, who has been a great favori at the Head of the Lakes for sever years, but who has been idle since th war bugles were being blown, will do his mittens and spangles at the com ing show. Just who "Copie" will tack is not certain. He was booked to cu Charles Fuhrman, the St. Paul welte weight, but the latter has to keep a appointment with Gunner Joe Quinn o Nov. 13 which forbids his going into a tion here the day previous. Jimm Potts, the veteran Minneapolis welte who has officiated as referee in th last two shows here; Bill Burns, clev local welter; Battling Hugo of Minn apolis, and several other worthy opp nents are being lined up for Billi and one of these may be named to b

There is a big demand among certa of the fans for an argument betwe Dandy Dillon of Minneapolis and Per Buzza of Winnipeg and, in the eve no opponent can be signed up for Bil ings, the flyweight fighters will pro ably be ushered in. But there is noth ing certain as yet as to just what th semi will be, but it will have class.

Bob Johnson, the local heavyweig who stopped Jack Gordon of Butte two rounds at the last show, will pro ably tackle Kid Clancy, a road-buildi boxer, who is now out in the hinte land smoothing off the highways f the auto owners. Clancy, while France with the American army, foug right up to the finals of the A. E. He can kick with either hand and ju dotes on battle.

The D. A. C. matchmaker is worki on the remainder of the bill. In all will include at least four and, mo likely, five fights.

COLLEGE STUDENTS IN BADGER NORMALS

Madison, Wis., Nov. 2.—Only a small percentage of students attending normal schools are enrolled in regular college work to the exclusion of teachers' training courses, registration figures for the nine state normal schools on Sept. 20 show, according to reports on the registration just issued. Three schools, at Platteville, River Falls and Whitewater, do not include college studies in their curriculums.

Superior has the largest percentage of college students, according to the report, with 125 enrolled out of a total student body of 374. Milwaukee has 297 college students in its registration of 941, Eau Claire, 94 out of 261; Oshkosh, 80 out of 402, and La Crosse, 75 out of 404, while Stevens Point has but a scattered few taking other than normal courses.

Legislation passed in 1911 authorized the normal schools to include college courses in their curriculums. As a result several of the schools have started courses of commerce and medicine.

The program of the state department of education to be presented to the legislature calls for a separation of all courses other than those involved in teachers' training from the normal schools. There is a feeling among some of the normal school superintendents that the college work should be extended, it is said.

TO GET MONTHLY DATA ON BADGER EMPLOYMENT

Madison, Wis., Nov. 2.—Reports from 170 employers of the state with 80,000 shop employes and a weekly payroll of $2,500,000 will be utilized by the industrial commission to collect monthly data concerning employment conditions in the state, the commission said yesterday. These tabulations will include between 25 and 30 per cent of the total number of factory employes in the state.

While reports will be secured covering office as well as shop employes, only data covering shop employes will be tabulated monthly. Office employes are not affected by changing industrial conditions in the same degree as shop employes, the commission says, and so comparative figures concerning them would not afford such a complete index of industrial conditions.

HAS BEEN IN INDIAN SERVICE FIFTY YEARS

Bismarck, N. D., Nov. 2.—In the Indian service for fifty years, probably a record, is the proud boast of Col. James McLaughlin of the interior department, chief of the Indian service, who was here visiting old friends, coming here from Standing Rock reservation, Fort Yates, and going to Fort Totten near Devils Lake from here. He was for many years stationed at Standing Rock agencies and in Montana, and is well known to the older residents of Bismarck. After visiting Fort Totten, Col. McLaughlin returned East by way of St. Paul, Minn., to meet Mrs. McLaughlin visiting there.

Pale, sallow skins

The new steam treatment for them

If your skin is pale and colorless, try this new steam treatment for it. Steam penetrates the skin in a way water alone cannot do. It enables you to cleanse thoroughly the pores that have become clogged, to stimulate inactive blood vessels and give the skin new color.

To make your skin soft and colorful, one night a week fill your bowl full of hot water—almost boiling hot. Bend over the top of the bowl and cover your head and the bowl with a heavy bath towel, so that no steam can escape. This opens the pores wide, stimulates the tiny blood vessels of the face and brings the blood to the surface.

Now lather a hot cloth with Woodbury's Facial Soap. With this, wash your face thoroughly, rubbing the lather well into the skin in an upward and outward motion. Then rinse the skin well, first with warm water, then with cold, and finish by rubbing it for thirty seconds with a piece of ice. This closes the pores and makes the skin firm in texture.

The very first time you use this Woodbury steam treatment, your skin will begin to show more color. The other six nights of the week, cleanse your skin thoroughly in the usual way with Woodbury's Facial Soap and warm water.

Get a cake of Woodbury's and begin tonight the treatment your skin needs. You will find Woodbury's Facial Soap on sale at any drug store or toilet goods counter in the United States or Canada. A 25 cent cake will last a month or six weeks.

Fargo, N. D.—Building permits for October totaled $342,000, according to George L. Tibert, city building inspector. The permits included fourteen dwellings, and the new Roosevelt school, the estimated cost of which was listed at $220,000.

Jamestown, N. D.—Two crops of potatoes in one season was an achievement accomplished by Charles Yetterdahl, living near Jamestown. The two crops were raised on the same plot, the first crop being planted May 1 and harvested July 3 and the second planted July 15 and harvested Oct. 15.

Dickinson, N. D.—John P. Berringer has five potatoes weighing an even eleven pounds or an average of two and a fifth pounds each. Mr. Berringer raised fourteen acres of potatoes on his fine farm south of the city this year which yielded him 2,000 bushels.

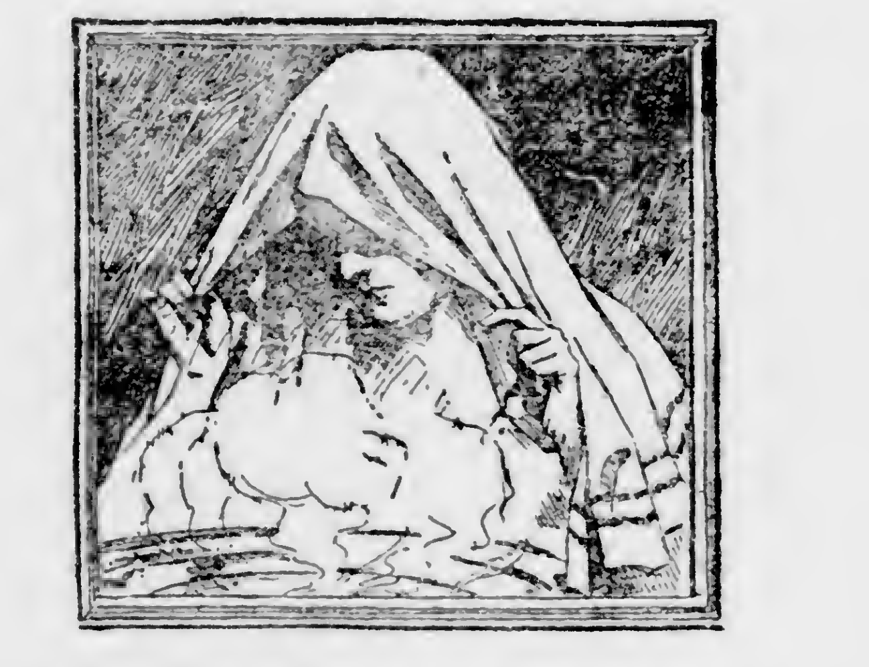
Pale, sallow skins

The new steam treatment for them



If your skin is pale and colorless, try this new steam treatment for it. Steam penetrates the skin in a way water alone cannot do. It enables you to cleanse thoroughly the pores that have become clogged, to stimulate inactive blood vessels and give the skin new color.

To make your skin soft and colorful, one night a week fill your bowl full of hot water—almost boiling hot. Bend over the top of the bowl and cover your head and the bowl with a heavy bath towel, so that no steam can escape. This opens the pores wide, stimulates the tiny blood vessels of the face and brings the blood to the surface.

Now lather a hot cloth with Woodbury's Facial Soap. With this, wash your face thoroughly, rubbing the lather well into the skin in an upward and outward motion. Then rinse the skin well, first with warm water, then with cold, and finish by rubbing it for thirty seconds with a piece of ice. This closes the pores and makes the skin firm in texture.

The very first time you use this Woodbury steam treatment, your skin will begin to show more color. The other six nights of the week, cleanse your skin thoroughly in the usual way with Woodbury's Facial Soap and warm water.

Get a cake of Woodbury's and begin tonight the treatment your skin needs. You will find Woodbury's Facial Soap on sale at any drug store or toilet goods counter in the United States or Canada. A 25 cent cake will last a month or six weeks.

GRAIN BOARDS TAKE HOLIDAY

Duluth Operators Count on Better Wheat Movement From Now On.

With the grain and stock markets closed today, brokers were afforded the opportunity to catch up with their office work and to lay their plans for future marketing operations.

Duluth commission houses and elevator interests are looking forward to a better movement of grain developing from country points between now and the close of the lake navigation season. Farmers in many districts are showing a greater disposition to market their crops, according to reports being received by houses here with line elevator connections over the Northwest. Numbers of growers are being forced to sell through the decision of bankers to decline to make advances to borrowers for the purpose of holding commodities off the markets. Well posted farmers are also reported to be giving greater consideration to the fact that the European countries are arranging for their import requirements in the cheapest markets, and that some of them are offering wheat and coarse grains under the prevailing price basis in this country. That was pointed out by Julius H. Barnes in the course of a statement yesterday. He asserted that British buyers have been practically out of this market during the last three months, as they had been able to arrange for their wheat supplies elsewhere at 25 cents under American prices.

Another bearish factor in the market situation is that the cutting of wheat will begin in Argentina early next month, and that the outlook is for a large crop and a heavy surplus available for export.

REPORTS OF FRAUD COME FROM CHICAGO

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Reports of fraud at polling places and indications of a vote which would tax the capacity of the election machinery of the city quickened interest in the balloting in Chicago during the first few hours of voting. Reports of a record breaking vote were received from all sections of Illinois before noon.

Illinois is voting on the largest ballot in the history of the state. Seven candidates for the presidency, and ten gubernatorial aspirants are listed.

GRAND FORKS HOTEL BELLBOYS WOUNDED

Grand Forks, N. D., Nov. 2.—Cecil Gahagan, bellboy in the Frederick hotel here, is in a hospital with a bullet wound in the lung, sustained, it is said, Sunday night when a .38-caliber pistol accidentally went off in the hands of Joseph A. Edelin, St. Paul, in a room in the hotel as he was exhibiting the weapon. Art Wilson, also a bellboy, was shot in the hand by the same bullet before it hit Gahagan, whose condition today is reported as critical.

HEAVIEST WOMAN IN THE WORLD HAS DIED

Bristol, Eng., Oct. 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—Lucy Moore, reputed to be the heaviest woman in the world, has just died here. At one time she weighed 668 pounds.

Miss Moore was born in Kentucky and had been in the show business for many years. She traveled all over the world and was said to have received many offers of marriage.

FRANCE INTERESTED IN ELECTION IN U. S.

Paris, Nov. 2.—The election in the United States overshadowed all other topics in Paris today. All the newspapers printed columns of leading articles, Excelsior devoting the entire front page to portraits of the American presidents from Washington to Wilson. It dwelt at length on the executive powers of the president, which it is said, were far reaching as compared with those of the president of France and the king of England.

Expect 700,000 Votes in Iowa.

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 2. — There probably will be 700,000 votes cast in Iowa today. Bad weather early this morning, which it was thought might keep the farmers from the polls changed to cold clear weather.

GOOD GAINS IN FLAXSEED

Prices Advance 4 to 7 Cents; Oil Demand Expected to Be Larger.

Net gains of 4@7c developed in the flaxseed market during the last week. Specialists in that market operating on the long side were more confident, taking the view that present figures for seed have discounted the most unfavorable possible developments in the linseed oil trade and that going quotations are below farmers' costs of production. While stocks of seed on hand and current receipts are large, it was claimed by some of the authorities that any revival in linseed oil demand, as is confidently hoped for early next year, would take care of all stocks in the hands of Western operators.

Spot Seed Strong.

It was noted that the spot market was relatively strong at 1c over the November price and that the large offerings from day to day appeared to be readily absorbed. That was taken to indicate that some sizable contracts have been made recently for linseed oil.

The Argentine news of the week continued bearish in that the late rains are asserted to have been sufficient to render conditions favorable for the new season's crop. Strength was imparted to the market at Buenos Aires, however, by reports of damage in parts of Argentina through frosts, but later on it was asserted that loss from that cause was small.

Large Elevator Receipts.

Receipts of flaxseed at the elevators during the week aggregated 267,582 bu, against 450,547 bu last year, and stocks in the houses were brought up to 1,646,000 bu.

Closing prices of flaxseed on the Duluth market on Saturday, as compared with the previous Saturday and last year, were:

HARDING AHEAD OF TICKET IN KANSAS

Kansas City, Mo.—Incomplete returns from fifty-six scattered precincts in Kansas at 1:30 this afternoon showed the following result:

Harding, 1,136; Cox, 592.

For governor—Allen, Rep., 848; Davis, Dem., 612.

For United States senator—Curtis, Rep., 744; Hodges, Dem., 463.

The returns from several parts of the state, indicated Senator Harding was running far ahead of the other candidates on the Republican ticket. Senator Curtis and Governor Allen were running ahead of their Democratic opponents at approximately the same ratio.

The voters were from populous centers, where the double counting system is in operation.

Topeka for Harding.

Topeka, Kan., Nov. 2.—A tabulation of the vote counted in this city up to 2 o'clock in 30 out of 36 precincts for president shows: Harding, 2,130; Cox, 899.

Gives Cox Majority.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 2.—Incomplete returns from three of the fifty-eight precincts in Oklahoma City at noon today gave Cox 222 and Harding 87.

Muskogee Strong for Cox.

Muskogee, Okla., Nov. 2.—Incomplete returns at noon today from eleven out of nineteen city precincts gave Cox 1,875 and Harding 367.

Unprecedented Vote.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 2.—All means of transportation were utilized by voters in going to the polls during the early morning hours, when an unprecedentedly heavy vote was recorded in nearly all precincts of the state. Order was preserved by guards and watchers and special detachments of police in the cities. No trouble had been reported up to noon.

Woman Vote Heavy.

Philadelphia, Nov. 2.—Heavy voting was reported from all parts of Pennsylvania today, the women in many precincts outnumbering the men. This was partly due to the fact that appeals had been sent out advising women to vote during the day so as not to crowd the polling places when men returning from work go to vote at the closing hour.

Heavy Vote in Missouri.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 2.—A heavy vote was being cast in Missouri today, despite threatening weather. In St. Louis women formed lines at the balloting places long before they were opened and held their places despite freezing temperature and a cloudy sky.

HEARD IT ALL RIGHT.

London Answers: Sternly the prosecuting counsel cross-examined the witness for the defense. At last the latter got so confused that instead of replying audibly to one question he nodded his head.

Whereupon the counsel demanded sternly:

"Why don't you answer the question?"

"I did answer it," the witness retorted, "I nodded my head."

"Yes," was the retort, "I heard it rattle, but could not tell whether it was up and down or from side to side."

HEAVY RAIN; HEAVY VOTE

Women Outnumber Men in Early Hours at Columbus.

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 2.—Notwithstanding a steady downpour of rain during the first hours for voting today, reports from over the state were that the voting was exceptionally heavy and that in most cities two-thirds the total vote probably would be in the ballot boxes by noon. By 9 o'clock the rain had ceased, though the skies remained overcast.

Women voters surprised election officers by their early appearance, some instances the women outnumbering the men during the first few hours. In one Columbus precinct at 6:20 o'clock forty-seven women had voted to twenty-nine men.

Fair and Cold in Texas.

Dallas, Tex., Nov. 2.—With generally fair but cold weather promised an unusually large vote was expected in Texas today. The Democrats predicted the usual success for their entire state ticket. The Republicans claimed victory in the Ninth and Fourteenth congressional districts and also characterized the Sixth district as "doubtful."

Chief interest in the newly formed American party, which waged a vigorous state campaign, centered in the number of votes it would poll. This party, formed a year ago is headed by Former Governor James E. Ferguson for president of the United States and T. H. McGregor for governor of Texas.

"Scratching" at Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 2.—Voting started in Milwaukee with a rush, many women being among the early voters. Indications were that there was much "scratching."

Chief interest centers in the outcome of the senatorial and gubernatorial contests. All parties had their workers out in full force. The weather early was cloudy and cold.

Women Show Interest.

Bismarck, N. D., Nov. 2.—Women voters were showing more interest and enthusiasm in the election than the men here today. Many women were gathered about the polling places before they opened this morning.

Many Candidates.

Helena, Mont., Nov. 2.—Fair or only slightly overcast weather over Montana early today gave rise to predictions of a heavy vote in this state, especially in the country districts.

A long list of candidates, with eleven separate ballots on initiative and referendum measures and constitutional amendments, slowed the voting.

On Pacific Coast.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 2.—Along the Pacific coast, where the presidential election of 1916 was finally decided, record votes were expected today. Fair weather with a tang in the air was predicted for the entire West, with the exception of Western Washington, where rain was predicted.

Voters in San Francisco went to the polls early.

Big Vote at Milwaukee.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 2. — Police reports at noon showed a total of 53,285 votes cast in the city of Milwaukee. This is two and a half times the vote cast up to same hour in the primary, and if the same ratio is continued will mean a total vote for the city of 150,000.

Pair Drown at Fort William.

Fort William, Ont., Nov. 2.—Alderman D. A. Gordon of Fort William, and Stanley Wintermute, wealthy grain man, were drowned here Sunday night when their launch fouled a sand scow cable. They tried to go in between a tug and the sand crow and the launch was upset by the steel cable. Two occupants were saved.

Takes Issue on Census.

Washington, Nov. 2.—Director of Census Rogers joined issue today with Mayor Peters of Boston, who, in a letter to the census bureau, asserted that the population of Boston was 801,670 instead of 747,923, as announced by the bureau.

President's Ballot Not Received.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 2.—The ballots of President and Mrs. Wilson mailed from the White House had not been received at 1 o'clock this afternoon at the Seventh election district. The ballots were expected to go to the county election board before being forwarded to the district.

PRESIDENT, SENATE AND HOUSE REPUBLICAN

CARSS PROBABLY WINS OVER LARSON FOR CONGRESS

INDICATIONS ARE FOR CLOSE FINISH IN RACE

Larson Takes City and County; Carss Wins Outside.

Magney Apparently Victor in Contest for District Bench.

Johnson Beats Shaver; G. O. P. State Ticket Strong Here.

At 2:15 this afternoon Democratic headquarters reported Carss several hundred votes ahead with further gains in sight. Totals for the city, with the exception of the Twenty-eighth, Fifty-sixth and Sixty-seventh precincts, were reported as 12,307 for Larson and 11,825 for Carss, giving the Republican nominee a lead of only 482 in Duluth. This was reported overcome, however, by a report from ten out of fourteen precincts in Lake county, which gave Carss 1,382 and Larson 649. Reports from St. Louis county range towns showed the advantage varied as each new precinct reported. Reports from headquarters expressed confidence in further gains in reports from Itasca, Cook and Koochiching counties.

Late official city returns show that Carss carried the Thirty-fourth district, 222 to 112, and the Sixty-fourth by 210 to 158. The only missing precincts are the Seventh, Twenty-eighth, Forty-fifth, Fifty-fourth, Fifty-sixth and Fifty-seventh. It is declared that Larson will probably carry the Seventh by a good margin, the Twenty-eighth will be close and the others will go for Carss by a large margin.

While Congressman Carss was loser in Duluth so far as returns made to the city clerk up to 1 o'clock today are concerned, and is behind in the county, including Duluth, by approximately 515 votes, indications are that the other counties in the district will elect him. The returns are far from complete, but in most of the outside districts as they come in, the trend is shown to be toward the congressman, and outside counties are coming in for him strong. One of the best majorities he received was from his home town, Proctor, which gave him 762 votes to 77 to Mr. Larson. That materially pulled down the margin that Larson held in this county up to that time.

Lake county reports that nine out of [illegible] precincts, the Fourth ward of Two Harbors not being included, give Carss 1,142 votes to 602 for Larson, a majority of 540, enough in itself to overcome the lead given Larson by St. Louis county. Then Grand Rapids wires in that twelve precincts out of sixty in Itasca county give Carss, estimated, 1,200 to Larson's 800.

Cloquet for Carss.

Cloquet gave Carss 705 votes to Larson's 670, but sixteen other precincts in Carlton county out of thirty-five, Cloquet not included, give Larson 933 to Carss' 729, so up to that point Larson leads in Carlton county by 169 votes. Both sides claim the county, and word from Cloquet today indicates that the expectation is that the finish will be very close.

A wire to The Herald from International Falls this afternoon says that twelve out of fifty-three precincts in Koochiching county give Carss 939 votes to Larson's 561, a majority of 378. Cook county is also expected to give him its favor.

Virginia gave Larson 1,772 votes to 1,164 for Carss, a majority of 608; but this still leaves the congressman a small margin and further returns from Koochiching and Lake county are expected to increase it materially. Both sides are claiming the rest of St. Louis county not yet heard from, and it is expected that it will be a garrison finish.

Preus 6,000 Ahead.

Duluth and St. Louis county went for Harding for president by a vote of nearly two to one over Cox. Preus' majority over Shipstead is in the neighborhood of 6,000 with the largest precincts of the county in and only a few belated returns from the city and county districts to be heard from. Collins, Hilton and the rest of the state Republican ticket trailed along with Preus.

Judge Dibell, candidate for re-election as associate justice of the supreme court against George Siegel, Nonpartisan league candidate for the bench, polled the largest vote of any candidate on the state ticket in the county, defeating his opponent here by a vote of five to one.

In St. Louis county 124 out of 214 precincts, including sixty-four districts

HARDING GIVEN BIG VOTE IN PENNSYLVANIA

Philadelphia, Nov. 3.—Senator Harding carried Pennsylvania by probably the largest plurality ever given a candidate in this state. The Democratic representation in congress was reduced.

Returns indicate that Senator Harding's vote will exceed that given to Theodore Roosevelt in 1904, when the colonel carried the state by 505,519 and may reach 600,000. Figures received from 3,552 districts out of 7,219 early today showed: Harding, 689,130; Cox, 263,187.

Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist candidate for president, polled 17,527 votes in Philadelphia, a gain of 12,811 over the Socialist vote of four years ago.

Senator Penrose in 2,983 districts out of 7,219 received 515,669 as against 198,403 for John A. Farrell, his Democratic opponent, for re-election.

Patrick McLean and John J. Casey, the present Democratic congressmen from the Tenth and Eleventh districts, were defeated.

SMITH MAKES GAME FIGHT IN EMPIRE STATE

New York's Governor Faces Unheard-of Plurality for Harding.

Has Small Margin Over Miller Which Is Likely to Be Wiped Out.

New York, Nov. 3.—(By the Associated Press.)—Interest in New York state on the day after election centered on the game fight Governor Smith was making on the Democratic ticket against Nathan L. Miller, his Republican opponent, for the honor of being the state's chief executive.

With the Empire state giving the Harding-Coolidge ticket an unheard-of plurality of about 1,000,000 votes, Governor Smith nevertheless was leading by 18,065 on returns received before noon today.

But, although with the count in New York city complete, Governor Smith had 1,193,298 votes up and downstate to the 1,175,233 tabulated for Mr. Miller, his margin soon will be eaten up by returns from the 921 districts still missing upstate if the Republican nominee maintains his present average plurality of eighty-two in each district outside Greater New York.

Million for Harding.

New York, Nov. 3.—(By the Associated Press.)—New York state went Republican in the presidential election yesterday by the unprecedented plurality of approximately 1,000,000 votes.

With the exception of the contest for governor, which is still in doubt, with Governor Smith leading on the face of actual returns, but the potential figures for the missing districts indicating the election of his Republican opponent, Nathan R. Miller, the landslide was complete.

United States Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., Republican, was elected by a substantial plurality over his Democratic opponent, Lieutenant Governor Harry C. Walker.

A remarkable feature of the election in New York city, was the Socialist vote.

For Eugene V. Debs, the party's presidential candidate, were cast 131,836 votes, more than four times the total Socialistic candidate received here in 1916. Debs received more than a third as many votes as were chalked up to Cox's account.

HARDING HAS GOOD LEAD IN WASHINGTON

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 3.—Senator Harding had a lead of more than 47,000 votes over Governor Cox in returns received from 693 precincts out of 2,378 today. The vote was: Harding 76,496; Cox 26,576.

Parley P. Christensen 17,700.

In the gubernatorial contest Louis F. Hart, Republican incumbent, was leading Robert Bridges, Farmer-Labor nominee, by 28,137 in returns from 626 precincts.

Returns from 498 precincts out of 2,378 in Washington give:

For United States senator—Jones, Republican, 52,610; Cotterill, Democrat, 15,071; France ,Farmer-Labor, 23,551.

IOWA GIVES HARDING 400,000 PLURALITY

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 3.—Iowa apparently gave Senator Harding a plurality of approximately 400,000 votes over Governor Cox at the election yesterday, returns Senator Cummins to his seat by a 2-to-1 vote over Porter, his Democratic opponent, re-elected all of its Republican representatives and elected the entire Republican state ticket.

COX CONGRATULATES SENATOR HARDING

Dayton, Ohio, Nov. 3.—Governor Cox, the defeated presidential candidate, today wired his congratulations to Senator Harding, the president-elect, pledging support "as a citizen to the executive authority in whatever emergency might arise."

His message, the first act of the defeated candidate, today read:

"In the spirit of America, I accept the decision of the majority, tender as the defeated candidate my congratulations and pledge as a citizen my support to the executive authority in whatever emergency might arise."

HARDING PLURALITY IN CALIFORNIA GROWS

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 3.—With a little more than one-third of the precincts heard from, Senator Harding's lead over Governor Cox was 151,815, and mounting as additional returns were tabulated, while the lead of Samuel M. Shortridge, Republican candidate for senator, over James D. Phelan, Democratic incumbent, was slightly reduced by today's tabulations, the vote showing: Shortridge, 99,358; Phelan, 89,645.

The California alien land law restricting land tenure by Orientals, on the surface of returns from 684 precincts had a favorable vote of about 3 to 1. The vote was yes, 68,412; no, 22,471.

CHAMP CLARK RUNS BEHIND IN MISSOURI

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 3.—T. Hukreide, Republican, today passed Champ Clark, Democrat, former speaker of the house of representatives, in the race for representative from the Ninth congressional district.

REPUBLICANS MAKE GAINS IN HOUSE, SENATE

Partial Returns Show Net Increase of Twenty in Lower House.

G. O. P. Leaders Claim Gain of Eight to Ten in the Senate.

New York, Nov. 3.—Republican control of congress for another two years with an increased house majority and a prospective increase in the senate, was a major part of the election sweep.

A net gain of twenty votes in the house was shown with complete returns from only seventeen states, but with most of the Democratic strongholds reporting.

Eight of the fifteen Republican senatorial candidates had come in winners today, the seven others had substantial leads, while in ten other states all of the Republican entrants were reported in the van.

For the nineteen Democratic senate seats, nine of the minority party had been returnd winners—all from Southern states—while with the border and Western states the others were fighting an uphill battle.

That the general Republican landslide would seat several more Republican senators was predicted confidently by Republican campaign managers, whose claims include a majority of eight to ten in the next senate.

Ahead in Several States.

Both the Republican presidential and senatorial tickets were reported early today as ahead in California, Nevada, Missouri, Colorado, South Dakota, Idaho, Ohio and Washington. In Ohio Former Governor Frank B. Wills, who nominated Senator Harding at the Chicago convention, was reported in the lead.

Of the Democrats, Senator Underwood of Alabama, minority leader, was re-elected and Representative Heflin chosen to succeed the late Senator Bankhead. A new face in the senate on the Democratic side will be Representative Caraway of Arkansas, who defeated Senator Kirby in the primaries and was elected yesterday. Among the Republican leaders reelected were Senators Brandegee, Wadsworth, Dillingham, Watson and Penrose.

In the house, most of the veterans, both Republicans and Democrats, were re-elected including Speaker Gillett, now holding the record for continuous service and elected for his fifteenth term.

"Uncle Joe" Re-elected.

Former Speaker Cannon, who has served twenty-two terms, but not continuously, also was re-elected as were Representative Mann of Illinois, former Republican leader; Chairman Good

BERGER DEFEATED IN FIFTH WISCONSIN

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 3.—Victor L. Berger, unseated Socialist congressman from the Fifth district of Wisconsin, at noon today conceded his defeat to William H. Stafford, Republican.

The vote was: Stafford, 25,938; Berger, 24,207.

House — Wisconsin, Fifth, J. C. Kleczka, re-elected.

Harding Leading Five to One.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 3.—Returns from all but five counties of Wisconsin, representing 1,076 out of the 2,435 precincts show Harding leading Cox almost 5 to 1 and Debs, Socialist, polling a heavy vote.

The senatorship and state contests were closer, according to the figures available this morning, with the Republican candidates leading by moderate majorities. Except in the Fourth and Fifth congressional districts (Milwaukee county), where the Socialist vote is especially strong, and the rather meager returns show nip and tuck results, a solid Republican delegation appears to have been elected.

Returns from 1,268 precincts out of 2,425 in Wisconsin for president give: Harding, 249,236; Cox, 60,713; Debs, 18,079.

Returns from 1,389 precincts out of 2,425 for United States senator give: Lenroot, Rep., 117,973; Reinsch, Dem., 35,037; Weber, Soc., 33,173; Thompson, Ind., 94,593.

Returns from 1,217 precincts for governor give:

Blaine, Rep., 164,351; McCoy, Dem., 109,449; Coleman, Soc., 35,735.

The Socialist party, which for four years has held virtually all of the county offices in Milwaukee county, lost every contest at yesterday's election, according to incomplete returns compiled here this morning.

MISSOURI CLAIMED BY BOTH PARTIES

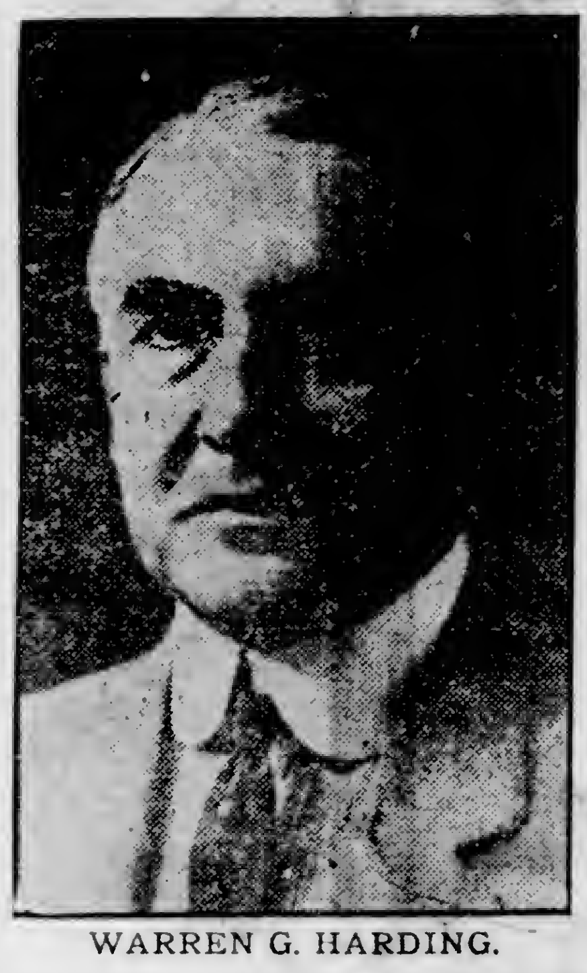
St Louis, Mo., Nov. 3.—Although both parties today still claimed to have carried Missouri in yesterday's election, the Republican candidates for the principal state and national offices continued to increase their majorities.

With half the state's 3,810 precincts in, Senator Harding led Governor Cox by 35,000 and Senator Selden Spencer was about the same number of votes ahead of his Democratic opponent, Breckenridge Long. Arthur M. Hyde, Republican candidate for governor, was running well ahead of the national ticket and had an advantage of more than 50,000 votes over Atkinson, the Democratic nominee.

Gets Big Vote in New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 3.—Senator Harding polled the unprecedented total of 17,090 in New Orleans, with five of 157 precincts missing. He carried ten known country parishes, the Third congressional district and eight city precincts.

NEXT PRESIDENT AND VICE PRESIDENT



WARREN G. HARDING.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

PREUS, HILTON, DIBELL LEAD IN THE STATE

Nearly 400 Precincts Give Judge Dibell 58,863; Siegel, 35,307.

Latest Returns Give Senator Harding 130,133 and Governor Cox 34,214.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 3.—Returns in 593 precincts out of 3,220 in the state gave Hilton a lead of 56,250 against Sullivan in the race for attorney general. Partial returns from 63 counties out of 88 in the state were received. The vote stood: Hilton, 98,947; McOuat, 9,925; Sullivan, 42,697.

For associate justice of the state supreme court, 390 precincts out of 3,220 in the state give Dibell 58,863 and Siegel 35,307. These returns are from 51 counties.

Returns from 874 precincts out of 3,220 in the state give for president: Harding, 130,133; Cox, 34,214.

These returns are from 75 counties, none of them complete.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 3.—Six hundred and sixty-nine precincts in sixty-eight counties at 9 a. m. today gave Preus 130,408; Shipstead 78,546; Hodgson, 26,267.

For attorney general, 408 precincts out of 3,220 in the state gave: Hilton, 65,791; Sullivan, 30,608; McOuat, 6,706.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 3.—Republican state leaders early today predicted that the decisive plurality apparently given Harding for president in Minnesota would carry into office the Republican state ticket.

Returns early today from 571 precincts out of 3,220 in the state gave Harding 99,556 and Cox 27,169. For governor, 663 precincts gave State Auditor Preus, Republican, 109,056, as against 67,675 polled by Shipstead, Independent, indorsed by the Nonpartisan league.

Congressional contests had not been decided in returns early today.

Representative Carss was being hard

RESULT IN NORTH DAKOTA IN DOUBT; O'CONNOR LEADING

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 3.—With 158 precincts in North Dakota reported, the race for governor:

O'Connor, Democrat, 46,316; Frazier, Republican-Nonpartisan, 26,547.

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 3.—Fourteen precincts out of 2,091 in North Dakota give: Harding, 1,250; Cox, 278; Debs, 59.

For United States senator, thirteen precincts give: Perry, Dem., 1,055; Ladd, Rep., Nonpartisan, 763.

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 3.—With practically no returns on the election in North Dakota in except on the race for governor, the Courier-News, Nonpartisan league organ, this morning claimed victory for Lynn J. Frazier, league candidate for governor, and also claimed the lead for the rest of the league ticket.

The Forum, supporting the Independent Voters' association, claimed that O. B. Burtness, First district candidate for congress, had defeated John M. Baer, present incumbent.

Figures on the gubernatorial race, with 273 precincts, mostly in cities and towns, heard from, gave Frazier (Republican-Nonpartisan), 17,465, and O'Connor (Democrat), 34,677.

COX GETS SUBSTANTIAL MAJORITY IN KENTUCKY

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 3.—Kentucky gave Cox a substantial majority, reelected Senator Beckham, Democrat, and chose seven Democratic and three Republican congressmen. In the Eighth congressional district King Swope, Republican, incumbent, apparently was losing to his Democratic opponent, Judge Ralph W. Gilbert.

HARDING PLANS FOR VACATION

Will Leave Shortly to Be Gone Until Middle of December.

Marion, Ohio, Nov. 3.—No longer a party nominee, but president-elect, Warren G. Harding turned his thoughts toward rest and recreation today.

He plans to take a real vacation trip, which will give him two weeks of seclusion on the Texas coast and a week of scouting in the Panama canal zone before he goes seriously to work choosing his cabinet and mapping the work he is to do after March 4.

A few fag-ends of the campaign remain to be cleared away first. He probably will leave Saturday, not to return again until about mid-December.

One task today was to acknowledge hundreds of telegrams of congratulation that had been pouring in since the balloting began yesterday. During the night, the Marion telegraph offices were flooded beyond capacity and today the influx of messages of greeting and good wishes continued.

The senator was not at his office until late in the forenoon, having been kept awake until long after midnight by his exultant fellow townsmen, who chose his lawn as the forum for a succession of celebrations over the honor that had come to Marion and to their neighbors.

Respond to Serenade.

They brought along every variety of noise-making device and both Mr. and Mrs. Harding responded to every serenade by coming out and shaking hands all around.

The new president-elect carefully watched the congressional returns today to determine how great would be the party's strength in senate and house. With particular interest he scanned reports of party elections because of the important part he expects the next senate to play in the formulation of a foreign policy.

Mr. Harding voiced delight that the outlook was for retention of a party majority in the upper branches of congress.

To Avoid Annoyances.

The vacation trip will have as its purpose not only rest and recreation, but avoidance of many of the small annoyances that fall to the lot of a coming chief executive. Office seekers already have begun their siege of the successful candidate.

Mr. Harding remains a member of the United States senate, but as his plans shape up he probably will not make more than a short visit, at most, to the national capital before inauguration day. He has a standing pair with Senator Underwood of Alabama, the Democratic senate leader, and his friends say that unless some emergency arises he will let that arrangement protect the Republican majority in the opening of the session that begins early next month.

On Jan. 1, when election figures indicate that Governor Cox will be succeeded by Harry L. Davis, a Republican, Mr. Harding probably will resign his senate seat. Because of the slender Republican margin at present in the upper house he does not desire to step out sooner and let the governor fill the vacancy by appointment of a Democrat.

WEST VIRGINIA IN HARDING COLUMN

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 3.—Formerly classed as a doubtful state, West Virginia today continued to maintain a wide margin in favor of Harding for president, and Morgan, Republican, for governor. The election of candidates to congress was in doubt, although the Republicans were leading in all six districts.

Indications were that Harding carried the state by approximately 78,000.

HARDING MAINTAINS LEAD IN NEBRASKA

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 3.—Senator Harding maintains his plurality over Governor Cox in Nebraska, 990 of the 1,877 precincts compiled today giving him a lead of 71,529.

On the governorship race the contest was close, Governor McKelvie, Republican, having 84,504 to 70,023 for Former Governor Morehead, Democrat. Arthur G. Wray, independent, with the Nonpartisan league's support, had 47,956. On other state races, returns indicated average pluralities of 40,000 to the candidate, while all six Republican candidates for congress were re-elected.

ELECTORAL VOTE

Without final official returns, decisive pluralities and leads indicated certainty of the following:

MIXED VERDICT AT THE POLLS

People Led to Forget Original Objects of the League.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

(Copyright, 1920, by The Duluth Herald.)

Marion, Ohio, Nov. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eight years ago in the little town of Princeton, N. J., a group of correspondents stood beside the then governor of New Jersey and watched the returns come in which registered the triumph of Woodrow Wilson. He was surrounded by his wife and daughters. Happiness and joy were theirs. The victorious candidate breathed the enthusiasm of the great occasion. College boys came to seranade him. He stepped to the veranda and, addressing them, said it seemed to him not a moment of triumph but of "solemn responsibility."

It has been responsibility ever since. And now as a new man is elected, as another takes up the task of serving the American people from the White House, it is pardonable for the correspondents who are accustomed to the joyfulness of election victories to think of something else—to think more of the immense responsibilities that nowadays weigh down the chief magistrate of the nation. Perhaps it is pardonable, too, to tell of an incident in a railroad station last night where our train stopped for a few minutes.

But a Feeble Aftermath.

The railroad station is deserted—it might have been any station for that matter, because a thousand such scenes must be enacted in different parts of the United States nowadays. There's a trooper in full uniform half asleep on a bench near the baggage room. He wears an ammunition belt and revolver. He is on duty. A few feet away on a baggage truck is a white pine box and draping it is an American flag.

Hundreds of American boys are coming home from France that way. Their votes were cast on the battlefields of France. It's two years this month since the guns stopped roaring in the Argonne. Both sides in the political campaign have talked either of the League of Nations as a provocative or preventive of war. The election result is a mixed verdict on domestic and international affairs. Yet the writer cannot help thinking today of the scene at the railroad station at night—the lonely remains of a boy that had given up his life for the nation. It seemed but a feeble aftermath of the cry that went up during the war to stop war forever.

Boys are coming back from the other side with beautiful flags draped about them, soldiers escort them to the hundreds of villages where the heart-

TREMENDOUS VICTORY WON BY HARDING

G. O. P. Landslide Rolls Along in Greater Proportions as Returns Come In.

Likely to Be Greatest Republican Victory in History of the Party.

Shift From Democratic Column Apparent in Many Doubtful States.

New York, Nov. 3.—The Republican landslide continued to roll along in even greater proportions today as belated election returns came in from the West.

Besides electing Harding, it was assured that the Republicans would increase their margins in both houses of congress and in the senate, in particular, would change their precarious control by one to a substantial working majority.

Congressional returns from many states were slow, as were, indeed, the returns on the vote for president. But the basis of actual returns were at hand and indications from partial returns coming in, it seemed that Harding would not have less than 330 votes in the electoral college, with a probability of more than 350, while all that could be counted in the Cox column were the 127 votes from the solid South.

Prediction Made Good.

Unless some sudden change were to appear, it seems that the returns were making good the Republican prediction that Cox would not carry a Western or a Northern state.

In many aspects the election was very unusual. It developed what may be the greatest Republican victory of party history. Both the Democratic candidate and his chief managers conceded defeat before enough returns actually were in to show it in figures.

Everywhere the shift toward the Republican column was heavy. Many states which went to the Democratic strength when Wilson defeated Hughes in the sensational election of 1916 returned to the Republican column in yesterday's balloting.

Boston Republican.

Boston going Republican for the second time in its history; New York giving Harding an unheard of plurality and ratios of two to one in many states, giving indications of the proportions of the Republican slide which apparently left the Democratic candidate nothing but the traditional solid South.

This morning twenty-four hours after the national balloting began, it appeared that complete returns from all districts would not be in for another day, but the trend of those being reported gave no indication of altering the situation.

State Elections.

With the presidency and congress went loss to the Democrats of governors, state legislators and other state and local candidates. The break even threatened to extend into the border states hitherto "solid South" with Republican gains in some Southern states larger than any since the Civil war.

Senator Harding's victory in what Governor Cox of Ohio, his Democratic opponent, and other Democratic leaders and many prominent Republicans hailed as the "solemn referendum" upon the League of Nations, was impressive. In the absence of final figures, the swelling tide of huge pluralities, early today gave him assurance of 329 votes in the electoral college as against 127 for Governor Cox with seventy-five doubtful, inclusive of states

CLEAN SWEEP FOR G. O. P. IN MICHIGAN

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 3.—A clean sweep for all Republican candidates for state offices, the thirteen seats in the lower house at Washington, all Republican candidates for the state legislature and an overwhelming majority for the Republican national ticket was indicated by latest returns.

With approximately half of the state reporting, Senator Harding had a lead of 223,000 over Governor Cox and Attorney General Groesbeck, Republican for governor, was leading the Democratic candidate, Woodbridge N. Ferris, by 162,000.

JACOBSON HAS DOUBLE VOTE OF OPPONENTS

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 3.—O. P. B. Jacobson is getting double the number of votes than all his opponents combined, according to returns early this afternoon in the race for the railroad and warehouse commissionership. The vote at 1 p. m. today was: Jacobson, 41,161; Mackenzie, 14,492; Robinson, 6,268, and May 1,417 in 353 precincts in 42 counties in the state.

Henry Rines was out in the lead with more votes than his two closest opponents together a little before 1 p. m. today. With returns from 362 precincts in 44 counties the vote stood: Rines, 40,298; Wagner, 15,731; Lueders, 6,052.

OHIO DECISIVE FOR SENATOR HARDING

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 3.—Ohio, the home of the Democratic and Republican candidates for president, yesterday cast its vote decisively in favor of Senator Harding.

On returns from 4,128 out of 7,145 precincts in the state, Senator Harding was leading his opponent by 196,070. If this ratio continues, Harding would carry his home state by approximately 339,000. The vote from the 4,128 precincts was: Harding, 631,109; Cox, 435,039.

Former Governor Frank B. Willis, Republican, had a substantial lead of 81,533 over W. A. Julian, Democrat, for United States senator.

PRESIDENT, SENATE AND HOUSE REPUBLICAN

CARSS PROBABLY WINS OVER LARSON FOR CONGRESS

INDICATIONS ARE FOR CLOSE FINISH IN RACE

Larson Takes City and County; Carss Wins Outside.

Magney Apparently Victor in Contest for District Bench.

Johnson Beats Shaver; G. O. P. State Ticket Strong Here.

At 2:15 this afternoon Democratic headquarters reported Carss several hundred votes ahead with further gains in sight. Totals for the city, with the exception of the Twenty-eighth, Fifty-sixth and Sixty-seventh precincts, were reported as 12,307 for Larson and 11,825 for Carss, giving the Republican nominee a lead of only 482 in Duluth. This was reported overcome, however, by a report from ten out of fourteen precincts in Lake county, which gave Carss 1,082 and Larson 649. Reports from St. Louis county range towns showed the advantage varied as each new precinct reported. Reports from headquarters expressed confidence in further gains in reports from Itasca, Cook and Koochiching counties.

Late official city returns show that Larson carried the Thirty-fourth district, 222 to 112, and the Sixty-fourth by 210 to 158. The only missing precincts are the Seventh, Twenty-eighth, Forty-fifth, Fifty-fourth, Fifty-sixth and Fifty-seventh. It is declared that Larson will probably carry the Seventh by a good margin, the Twenty-eighth will be close and the others will go for Carss by a large margin.

While Congressman Carss was loser in Duluth so far as returns made to the city clerk up to 1 o'clock today are concerned, and is behind in the county, including Duluth, by approximately 515 votes, indications are that the other counties in the district will elect him. The returns are far from complete, but in most of the outside districts as they came in, the trend is shown to be toward the congressman, and outside counties are coming in for him strong. One of the best majorities he received was from his home town, Proctor, which gave him 762 votes to 77 to Mr. Larson. That materially pulled down the margin that Larson held in this county up to that time.

Lake county reports that nine out of [illegible] returns, the Fourth ward of Two Harbors not being included, give Carss 1,142 votes to 602 for Larson, a majority of 540, enough in itself to overcome the lead given Larson in St. Louis county. Then Grand Rapids wires in that twelve precincts out of sixty in Itasca county give Carss, estimated, 1,200 to Larson's 800.

Cloquet for Carss.

Cloquet gave Carss 705 votes to Larson's 170, but sixteen other precincts in Carlton county out of thirty-five, Cloquet not included, give Larson 933 to Carss' 729, so up to that point Larson leads in Carlton county by 169 votes. Both sides claim the county, and word from Cloquet today indicates that the expectation is that the finish will be very close.

A wire to The Herald from International Falls this afternoon says that twelve out of fifty-three precincts in Koochiching county give Carss 939 votes to Larson's 561, a majority of 378. Cook county is also expected to give him its favor.

Virginia gave Larson 1,772 votes to 1,164 for Carss, a majority of 608; but this still leaves the congressman a small margin and further returns from Koochiching and Lake county are expected to increase it materially. Both sides are claiming the rest of St. Louis county not yet heard from, and it is expected that it will be a garrison finish.

Preus 6,000 Ahead.

Duluth and St. Louis county went for Harding for president by a vote of nearly two to one over Cox. Preus' majority over Shipstead is in the neighborhood of 6,000 with the largest precincts of the county in and only a few belated returns from the city and county districts to be heard from. Collins, Hilton and the rest of the state Republican ticket trailed along with Preus.

Judge Dibell, candidate for re-election as associate justice of the supreme court against George Siegel, Nonpartisan league candidate for the bench, polled the largest vote of any candidate on the state ticket in the county, defeating his opponent here by a vote of five to one.

In St. Louis county 124 out of 214 precincts, including sixty-four districts

HARDING GIVEN BIG VOTE IN PENNSYLVANIA

Philadelphia, Nov. 3.—Senator Harding carried Pennsylvania by probably the largest plurality ever given a candidate in this state. The Democratic representation in congress was reduced.

Returns indicate that Senator Harding's vote will exceed that given to Theodore Roosevelt in 1904, when the colonel carried the state by 505,519 and may reach 600,000. Figures received from 3,552 districts out of 7,219 early today showed: Harding, 689,130; Cox, [illegible]187.

Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist candidate for president, polled 17,527 votes in Philadelphia, a gain of 12,811 over the Socialist vote of four years ago.

Senator Penrose in 2,983 districts out of 7,219 received 515,669 as against 198,403 for John A. Farrell, his Democratic opponent, for re-election.

Patrick McLean and John J. Casey, the present Democratic congressmen from the Tenth and Eleventh districts, were defeated.

SMITH MAKES GAME FIGHT IN EMPIRE STATE

New York's Governor Faces Unheard-of Plurality for Harding.

Has Small Margin Over Miller Which Is Likely to Be Wiped Out.

New York, Nov. 3.—(By the Associated Press.)—Interest in New York state on the day after election centered on the game fight Governor Smith was making on the Democratic ticket against Nathan L. Miller, his Republican opponent, for the honor of being the state's chief executive.

With the Empire state giving the Harding-Coolidge ticket an unheard-of plurality of about 1,000,000 votes, Governor Smith nevertheless was leading by 18,065 on returns received before noon today.

But, although with the count in New York city complete, Governor Smith had 1,193,298 votes up and downstate to the 1,175,233 tabulated for Mr. Miller, his margin soon will be eaten up by returns from the 921 districts still missing upstate if the Republican nominee maintains his present average plurality of eighty-two in each district outside Greater New York.

Million for Harding.

New York, Nov. 3.—(By the Associated Press.)—New York state went Republican in the presidential election yesterday by the unprecedented plurality of approximately 1,000,000 votes.

With the exception of the contest for governor, which is still in doubt, with Governor Smith leading on the face of actual returns, but the potential figures for the missing districts indicating the election of his Republican opponent, Nathan R. Miller, the landslide was complete.

United States Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., Republican, was elected by a substantial plurality over his Democratic opponent, Lieutenant Governor Harry C. Walker.

A remarkable feature of the election in New York city, was the Socialist vote.

For Eugene V. Debs, the party's presidential candidate, were cast 131,856 votes, more than four times the total Socialistic candidate received here in 1916. Debs received more than a third as many votes as were chalked up to Cox's account.

HARDING HAS GOOD LEAD IN WASHINGTON

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 3.—Senator Harding had a lead of more than 47,000 votes over Governor Cox in returns received from 693 precincts out of 2,378 today. The vote was: Harding 76,196; Cox 26,576.

Parley P. Christensen 17,700.

In the gubernatorial contest Louis F. Hart, Republican incumbent, was leading Robert Bridges, Farmer-Labor nominee, by 28,137 in returns from 626 precincts.

Returns from 498 precincts out of 2,378 in Washington give:

For United States senator—Jones, Republican, 52,610; Cotterill, Democrat, 15,071; France, Farmer-Labor, 23,551.

IOWA GIVES HARDING 400,000 PLURALITY

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 3.—Iowa apparently gave Senator Harding a plurality of approximately 400,000 votes over Governor Cox at the election yesterday, returns Senator Cummins to his seat by a 2-to-1 vote over Porter, his Democratic opponent, re-elected all of its Republican representatives and elected the entire Republican state ticket.

COX CONGRATULATES SENATOR HARDING

Dayton, Ohio, Nov. 3.—Governor Cox, the defeated presidential candidate, today wired his congratulations to Senator Harding, the president-elect, pledging support "as a citizen to the executive authority in whatever emergency might arise."

His message, the first act of the defeated candidate, today read:

"In the spirit of America, I accept the decision of the majority, tender as the defeated candidate my congratulations and pledge as a citizen my support to the executive authority in whatever emergency might arise."

HARDING PLURALITY IN CALIFORNIA GROWS

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 3.—With a little more than one-third of the precincts heard from, Senator Harding's lead over Governor Cox was 151,815, and mounting as additional returns were tabulated, while the lead of Samuel M. Shortridge, Republican candidate for senator, over James D. Phelan, Democratic incumbent, was slightly reduced by today's tabulations, the vote showing: Shortridge, 99,358, Phelan, 89,645.

The California alien land law restricting land tenure by Orientals, on the surface of returns from 684 precincts had a favorable vote of about 3 to 1. The vote was yes, 68,412; no, 22,471.

CHAMP CLARK RUNS BEHIND IN MISSOURI

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 3.—T. Hukreide, Republican, today passed Champ Clark, Democrat, former speaker of the house of representatives, in the race for representative from the Ninth congressional district.

REPUBLICANS MAKE GAINS IN HOUSE, SENATE

Partial Returns Show Net Increase of Twenty in Lower House.

G. O. P. Leaders Claim Gain of Eight to Ten in the Senate.

New York, Nov. 3.—Republican control of congress for another two years with an increased house majority and a prospective increase in the senate, was a major part of the election sweep.

A net gain of twenty votes in the house was shown with complete returns from only seventeen states, but with most of the Democratic strongholds reporting.

Eight of the fifteen Republican senatorial candidates had come in winners today, the seven others had substantial leads, while in ten other states all of the Republican entrants were reported in the van.

For the nineteen Democratic senate seats, nine of the minority party had been returnd winners—all from Southern states—while with the border and Western states the others were fighting an uphill battle.

That the general Republican landslide would seat several more Republican senators was predicted confidently by Republican campaign managers, whose claims include a majority of eight to ten in the next senate.

Ahead in Several States.

Both the Republican presidential and senatorial tickets were reported early today as ahead in California, Nevada, Missouri, Colorado, South Dakota, Idaho, Ohio and Washington. In Ohio Former Governor Frank B. Wills, who nominated Senator Harding at the Chicago convention, was reported in the lead.

Of the Democrats, Senator Underwood of Alabama, minority leader, was re-elected and Representative Heflin chosen to succeed the late Senator Bankhead. A new face in the senate on the Democratic side will be Representative Caraway of Arkansas, who defeated Senator Kirby in the primaries and was elected yesterday. Among the Republican leaders re-elected were Senators Brandegee, Wadsworth, Dillingham, Watson and Penrose.

In the house, most of the veterans, both Republicans and Democrats, were re-elected including Speaker Gillett, now holding the record for continuous service and elected for his fifteenth term.

"Uncle Joe" Re-elected.

Former Speaker Cannon, who has served twenty-two terms, but not continuously, also was re-elected as were Representative Mann of Illinois, former Republican leader; Chairman Good

BERGER DEFEATED IN FIFTH WISCONSIN

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 3.—Victor L. Berger, unseated Socialist congressman from the Fifth district of Wisconsin, at noon today conceded his defeat to William H. Stafford, Republican.

The vote was: Stafford, 25,938; Berger, 21,207.

House — Wisconsin, Fifth, J. C. Kleczka, re-elected.

Harding Leading Five to One.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 3.—Returns from all but five counties of Wisconsin, representing 1,076 out of the 2,435 precincts show Harding leading Cox almost 5 to 1 and Debs, Socialist, polling a heavy vote.

The senatorship and state contests were closer, according to the figures available this morning, with the Republican candidates leading by moderate majorities. Except in the Fourth and Fifth congressional districts (Milwaukee county), where the Socialist vote is especially strong, and the rather meager returns show nip and tuck results, a solid Republican delegation appears to have been elected.

Returns from 1,268 precincts out of 2,425 in Wisconsin for president give:

Harding, 249,236; Cox, 60,713; Debs, 18,079.

Returns from 1,389 precincts out of 2,425 for United States senator give: Lenroot, Rep., 117,973; Reinsch, Dem., 35,037; Weber, Soc., 33,173; Thompson, Ind., 94,593.

Returns from 1,217 precincts for governor give:

Blaine, Rep., 164,351; McCoy, Dem., 109,449; Coleman, Soc., 35,735.

The Socialist party, which for four years has held virtually all of the county offices in Milwaukee county, lost every contest at yesterday's election, according to incomplete returns compiled here this morning.

MISSOURI CLAIMED BY BOTH PARTIES

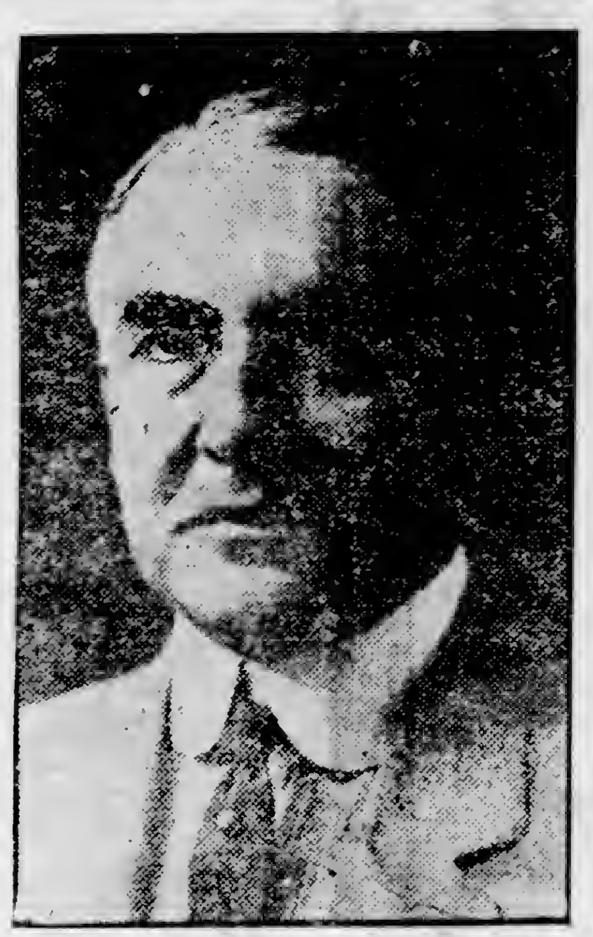
St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 3.—Although both parties today still claimed to have carried Missouri in yesterday's election, the Republican candidates for the principal state and national offices continued to increase their majorities.

With half the state's 3,810 precincts in, Senator Harding led Governor Cox by 35,000 and Senator Selden Spencer was about the same number of votes ahead of his Democratic opponent, Breckenridge Long. Arthur M. Hyde, Republican candidate for governor, was running well ahead of the national ticket and had an advantage of more than 50,000 votes over Atkinson, the Democratic nominee.

Gets Big Vote in New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 3.—Senator Harding polled the unprecedented total of 17,090 in New Orleans, with five of 157 precincts missing. He carried ten known country parishes, the Third congressional district and eight city precincts.

NEXT PRESIDENT AND VICE PRESIDENT



WARREN G. HARDING.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

PREUS, HILTON, DIBELL LEAD IN THE STATE

Nearly 400 Precincts Give Judge Dibell 58,863; Siegel, 35,307.

Latest Returns Give Senator Harding 130,133 and Governor Cox 34,214.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 3.—Returns in 593 precincts out of 3,220 in the state gave Hilton a lead of 56,250 against Sullivan in the race for attorney general. Partial returns from 63 counties out of 88 in the state were received. The vote stood: Hilton, 98,947; McOuat, 9,925; Sullivan, 42,697.

For associate justice of the state supreme court, 390 precincts out of 3,220 in the state give Dibell 58,863 and Siegel 35,307. These returns are from 51 counties.

Returns from 874 precincts out of 3,220 in the state give for president: Harding, 130,133; Cox, 34,214.

These returns are from 75 counties, none of them complete.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 3.—Six hundred and sixty-nine precincts in sixty-eight counties at 9 a. m. today gave Preus 130,408; Shipstead 78,546; Hodgson, 26,267.

For attorney general, 408 precincts out of 3,220 in the state gave: Hilton, 65,791; Sullivan, 30,608; McOuat, 6,706.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 3.—Republican state leaders early today predicted that the decisive plurality apparently given Harding for president in Minnesota would carry into office the Republican state ticket.

Returns early today from 571 precincts out of 3,220 in the state gave Harding 99,556 and Cox 27,169. For governor, 663 precincts gave State Auditor Preus, Republican, 109,056, as against 67,675 polled by Shipstead, Independent, indorsed by the Nonpartisan league.

Congressional contests had not been decided in returns early today.

Representative Carss was being hard

RESULT IN NORTH DAKOTA IN DOUBT; O'CONNOR LEADING

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 3.—With 458 precincts in North Dakota reported, the race for governor:

O'Connor, Democrat, 46,316; Frazier, Republican-Nonpartisan, 26,547.

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 3.—Fourteen precincts out of 2,091 in North Dakota give: Harding, 1,250; Cox, 278; Debs, 59.

For United States senator, thirteen precincts give: Perry, Dem., 1,055; Ladd, Rep., Nonpartisan, 763.

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 3.—With practically no returns on the election in North Dakota in except on the race for governor, the Courier-News, Nonpartisan-league organ, this morning claimed victory for Lynn J. Frazier, league candidate for governor, and also claimed the lead for the rest of the league ticket.

The Forum, supporting the Independent Voters' association, claimed that O. B. Burtness, First district candidate for congress, had defeated John M. Baer, present incumbent.

Figures on the gubernatorial race, with 273 precincts, mostly in cities and towns, heard from, gave Frazier (Republican-Nonpartisan), 17,165, and O'Connor (Democrat), 34,677.

COX GETS SUBSTANTIAL MAJORITY IN KENTUCKY

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 3.—Kentucky gave Cox a substantial majority, re-elected Senator Beckham, Democrat, and chose seven Democratic and three Republican congressmen. In the Eighth congressional district King Swope, Republican, incumbent, apparently was losing to his Democratic opponent, Judge Ralph W. Gilbert.

HARDING PLANS FOR VACATION

Will Leave Shortly to Be Gone Until Middle of December.

Marion, Ohio, Nov. 3.—No longer a party nominee, but president-elect, Warren G. Harding turned his thoughts toward rest and recreation today.

He plans to take a real vacation trip, which will give him two weeks of seclusion on the Texas coast and a week of scouting in the Panama canal zone before he goes seriously to work choosing his cabinet and mapping the work he is to do after March 4.

A few fag-ends of the campaign remain to be cleared away first. He probably will leave Saturday, not to return again until about mid-December.

One task today was to acknowledge hundreds of telegrams of congratulation that had been pouring in since the balloting began yesterday. During the night, the Marion telegraph offices were flooded beyond capacity and today the influx of messages of greeting and good wishes continued.

The senator was not at his office until late in the forenoon, having been kept awake until long after midnight by his exultant fellow townsmen, who chose his lawn as the forum for a succession of celebrations over the honor that had come to Marion and to their neighbors.

Respond to Serenade.

They brought along every variety of noise-making device and both Mr. and Mrs. Harding responded to every serenade by coming out and shaking hands all around.

The new president-elect carefully watched the congressional returns today to determine how great would be the party's strength in senate and house. With particular interest he scanned reports of party elections, because of the important part he expects the next senate to play in the formulation of a foreign policy.

Mr. Harding voiced delight that the outlook was for retention of a party majority in the upper branches of congress.

To Avoid Annoyances.

The vacation trip will have as its purpose not only rest and recreation, but avoidance of many of the small annoyances that fall to the lot of a coming chief executive. Office seekers already have begun their siege of the successful candidate.

Mr. Harding remains a member of the United States senate, but as his plans shape up he probably will not make more than a short visit, at most, to the national capital before inauguration day. He has a standing pair with Senator Underwood of Alabama, the Democratic senate leader, and his friends say that unless some emergency arises he will let that arrangement protect the Republican majority in the opening of the session that begins early next month.

On Jan. 1, when election figures indicate that Governor Cox will be succeeded by Harry L. Davis, a Republican, Mr. Harding probably will resign his senate seat. Because of the slender Republican margin at present in the upper house he does not desire to step out sooner and let the governor fill the vacancy by appointment of a Democrat.

WEST VIRGINIA IN HARDING COLUMN

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 3.—Formerly classed as a doubtful state, West Virginia today continued to maintain a wide margin in favor of Harding for president, and Morgan, Republican, for governor. The election of candidates to congress was in doubt, although the Republicans were leading in all six districts.

Indications were that Harding carried the state by approximately 78,000.

HARDING MAINTAINS LEAD IN NEBRASKA

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 3.—Senator Harding maintains his plurality over Governor Cox in Nebraska, 990 of the 1,877 precincts compiled today giving him a lead of 71,529.

On the governorship race the contest was close, Governor McKelvie, Republican, having 84,504 to 70,023 for Former Governor Morehead, Democrat. Arthur G. Wray, independent, with the Nonpartisan league's support, had 47,956. On other state races, returns indicated average pluralities of 40,000 to the candidate, while all six Republican candidates for congress were re-elected.

ELECTORAL VOTE

Without final official returns, decisive pluralities and leads indicated certainty of the following:

MIXED VERDICT AT THE POLLS

People Led to Forget Original Objects of the League.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

(Copyright, 1920, by The Duluth Herald.)

Marion, Ohio, Nov. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eight years ago in the little town of Princeton, N. J., a group of correspondents stood beside the then governor of New Jersey and watched the returns come in which registered the triumph of Woodrow Wilson. He was surrounded by his wife and daughters. Happiness and joy were theirs. The victorious candidate breathed the enthusiasm of the great occasion. College boys came to seranade him. He stepped to the veranda and, addressing them, said it seemed to him not a moment of triumph but of "solemn responsibility."

It has been responsibility ever since. And now as a new man is elected, as another takes up the task of serving the American people from the White House, it is pardonable for the correspondents who are accustomed to the joyfulness of election victories to think of something else—to think more of the immense responsibilities that nowadays weigh down the chief magistrate of the nation. Perhaps it is pardonable, too, to tell of an incident in a railroad station last night where our train stopped for a few minutes.

But a Feeble Aftermath.

The railroad station is deserted—it might have been any station for that matter, because a thousand such scenes must be enacted in different parts of the United States nowadays. There's a trooper in full uniform half asleep on a bench near the baggage room. He wears an ammunition belt and revolver. He is on duty. A few feet away on a baggage truck is a white pine box and draping it is an American flag.

Hundreds of American boys are coming home from France that way. Their votes were cast on the battlefields of France. It's two years this month since the guns stopped roaring in the Argonne. Both sides in the political campaign have talked either of the League of Nations as a provocative or preventive of war. The election result is a mixed verdict on domestic and international affairs. Yet the writer cannot help thinking today of the scene at the railroad station at night—the lonely remains of a boy that had given up his life for the nation. It seemed but a feeble aftermath of the cry that went up during the war to stop war forever.

Boys are coming back from the other side with beautiful flags draped about them, soldiers escort them to the hundreds of villages where the heart-

TREMENDOUS VICTORY WON BY HARDING

G. O. P. Landslide Rolls Along in Greater Proportions as Returns Come In.

Likely to Be Greatest Republican Victory in History of the Party.

Shift From Democratic Column Apparent in Many Doubtful States.

New York, Nov. 3.—The Republican landslide continued to roll along to even greater proportions today as belated election returns came in from the West.

Besides electing Harding, it was assured that the Republicans would increase their margins in both houses of congress and in the senate, in particular, would change their precarious control by one to a substantial working majority.

Congressional returns from many states were slow, as were, indeed, the returns on the vote for president. But the basis of actual returns were at hand and indications from partial returns coming in, it seemed that Harding would not have less than 330 votes in the electoral college, with a probability of more than 350, while all that could be counted in the Cox column were the 127 votes from the solid South.

Prediction Made Good.

Unless some sudden change were to appear, it seems that the returns were making good the Republican prediction that Cox would not carry a Western or a Northern state.

In many aspects the election was very unusual. It developed what may be the greatest Republican victory of party history. Both the Democratic candidate and his chief managers conceded defeat before enough returns actually were in to show it in figures.

Everywhere the shift toward the Republican column was heavy. Many states which went to the Democratic strength when Wilson defeated Hughes in the sensational election of 1916 returned to the Republican column in yesterday's balloting.

Boston Republican.

Boston going Republican for the second time in its history; New York giving Harding an unheard of plurality and ratios of two to one in many states, giving indications of the proportions of the Republican slide which apparently left the Democratic candidate nothing but the traditional solid South.

This morning twenty-four hours after the national balloting began, it appeared that complete returns from all districts would not be in for another day, but the trend of those being reported gave no indication of altering the situation.

State Elections.

With the presidency and congress went loss to the Democrats of governors, state legislators and other state and local candidates. The break even threatened to extend into the border states hitherto "solid South" with Republican gains in some Southern states larger than any since the Civil war.

Senator Harding's victory in what Governor Cox of Ohio, his Democratic opponent, and other Democratic leaders and many prominent Republicans hailed as the "solemn referendum" upon the League of Nations, was impressive. In the absence of final figures, the swelling tide of huge pluralities, early today gave him assurance of 329 votes in the electoral college as against 127 for Governor Cox with seventy-five doubtful, inclusive of states

CLEAN SWEEP FOR G. O. P. IN MICHIGAN

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 3.—A clean sweep for all Republican candidates for state offices, the thirteen seats in the lower house at Washington, all Republican candidates for the state legislature and an overwhelming majority for the Republican national ticket was indicated by latest returns.

With approximately half of the state reporting, Senator Harding had a lead of 223,000 over Governor Cox and Attorney General Groesbeck, Republican for governor, was leading the Democratic candidate, Woodbridge N. Ferris, by 162,000.

JACOBSON HAS DOUBLE VOTE OF OPPONENTS

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 3.—O. P. B. Jacobson is getting double the number of votes than all his opponents combined, according to returns early this afternoon in the race for the railroad and warehouse commissionership. The vote at 1 p. m. today was: Jacobson, 41,161; Mackenzie, 14,492; Robinson, 6,268, and May 1,417 in 353 precincts in 42 counties in the state.

Henry Rines was out in the lead with more votes than his two closest opponents together a little before 1 p. m. today. With returns from 362 precincts in 44 counties the vote stood: Rines, 40,293; Wagner, 15,731; Lueders, 6,052.

OHIO DECISIVE FOR SENATOR HARDING

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 3.—Ohio, the home of the Democratic and Republican candidates for president, yesterday cast its vote decisively in favor of Senator Harding.

On returns from 4,128 out of 7,145 precincts in the state, Senator Harding was leading his opponent by 196,070. If this ratio continues, Harding would carry his home state by approximately 339,000. The vote from the 4,128 precincts was: Harding, 631,109; Cox, 435,039.

Former Governor Frank B. Willis, Republican, had a substantial lead of 81,533 over W. A. Julian, Democrat, for United States senator.

READY FOR S. S. MEETING

State Sunday School Convention to Open in Duluth Friday.

Duluth is rapidly getting ready for the state Sunday school convention, which will open here Friday evening with a public mass meeting at the First Methodist church. Two noted speakers will address the delegates. These are Dr. H. C. Swearingen, pastor of House of Hope Presbyterian church, St. Paul, who is one of the leading preachers of Minnesota and well known throughout the entire country, and Dr. William A. Brown of Chicago, who is the leader of international Sunday school work in evangelism and is a vigorous speaker of national repute.

Local registrations are coming in fast. Partial reports indicate a record-breaking registration. Some hundreds more are expected. Many churches are closing up their work in this department and will pass their quotas. To make good, it is expected all the churches will enroll the full number assigned.

The out-of-town delegates will come from all sections of the state. There will be men and women interested in every phase of Sunday school life and work, and young people who are just starting out in service of this character. All will attend the many conferences of the convention, where they will be students of the latest approved methods of religious education.

The program is of high grade and will make a new record for Minnesota. The chorus work and mass singing will be in the hands of George W. Campbell, a capable song leader from Omaha. There are ten speakers and expert leaders and for three days Duluth is to have an unusual opportunity to receive great messages and learn how to do things in Sunday school work. Many Duluth leaders will also have part in the program.

The reception committee, of which Rev. James Mills is chairman, is planning to meet the trains, welcoming the out-of-town delegates.

Churches are asked to report the remainder of registrations at once to 206 Y. M. C. A. building, where persons may register.

CLINTON-MEYERS PLAN THEATER FOR WEST END

The Clinton-Meyers Investment company has purchased the property at 2017 West Superior street and will remodel the building for a moving picture theater, according to C. P. Meyers of this firm. The building is at present occupied by the John Moir grocery, which has a lease on it until next May. It is expected that the work of remodeling the building will be started next spring. The theater will be 50x140 feet and will have a seating capacity for 900 people.

PARIS PAPERS ISSUE EXTRAS ON U. S. VOTING

Paris, Nov. 3.—Several thousand Americans, including Hugh C. Wallace, ambassador, gathered at a theater where election returns were flashed upon the screen last night by Paris editions of American newspapers.

When dispatches telling of the sweeping victory by Senator Harding were received at about 4 o'clock this morning, extra editions were issued by newspapers, but all were cautious in their statements relative to the election. This conservativism was due to the sudden change on the occasion of the last election in the United States, when for several days it was conceded that Charles E. Hughes had won.

Soldiers Hear Returns.

Coblenz, Nov. 3.—Three thousand officers and doughboys of the American army of occupation assembled last night to hear election returns, which were flashed on the screen a few minutes after they were received in Paris. There was cheers, singing, blowing of horns and whistles and not a dull moment until the early hours this morning.

MINERS CALL OFF BRITISH COAL STRIKE

London, Nov. 3.—(By the Associated Press.)—The executive officers of the miners' federation have decided to declare the coal strike ended and advise the men to resume work. This action was resolved upon at a conference of the executives today, although the ballots of the miners showed a majority of more than 8,000 against accepting the government's settlement proposals.

FUNERAL FOR MAJ. PRUDDEN AT MASONIC TEMPLE FRIDAY

Funeral services for Maj. C. E. Prudden, who died while going overseas Oct. 7, 1918, will be held at the Masonic temple at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. The American Legion will be represented at the services. Interment will be at Forest Hill cemetery.

Railroad President Drops Dead.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 3.—George W. Stevens, president of the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad, dropped dead today at the Greenbrier White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia, said a message received here.

Costly for Government.

Washington, Nov. 3.—Private operation of the railroads for the first six months after the end of Federal control will cost the Federal government a total of $656,000,000, according to figures made public today by the interstate commerce commission.

GOOD EVENING! We expect partly cloudy and warmer weather tomorrow; moderate to fresh southerly winds.

INDIANA FOR G. O. P. BY ABOUT 250,000

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 3.—Indiana will give Senator Harding a plurality of 250,000, it is estimated from returns from half the state. The re-election of United States Senator James E. Watson, Republican, and election of Warren T. McCray, Republican, for governor, by slightly smaller pluralities, seems assured.

South Dakota Republicans Win.

Mitchell, S. D., Nov. 3.—South Dakota has given Harding a plurality of over 50,000. The entire state and congressional Republican ticket has been elected. Governor Norbeck, Republican, for United States senator, will have more than 35,000 plurality.

Attacks and Reprisals Continue.

Dublin, Nov. 2.—Another series of attacks on police and reprisals was reported today, involving several deaths and many injured at Tralee, where the situation was so serious that the townspeople were fleeing, fearing worse things would happen tonight. Wholesale raids and searches were carried out in Dublin today. The duke of Leinster's residence and university college were among the places visited.

Negro Lynched.

Orlando, Fla., Nov. 3.—A negro named Perry, who shot and killed two men at Ocoee after he had been refused a vote, was lynched early today outside the corporate limits of Orlando. He was hanged to a tree and his body riddled with bullets.

Crow Wing Grand Jury.

Brainerd, Minn., Nov. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge W. S. McClenahan today resumed the November session of Crow Wing county district court here which adjourned over election and charged a grand jury which began investigating cases presented. About twenty naturalization cases were heard. Trial of civil cases will start tomorrow.

Beltrami County.

Bemidji, Minn., Nov. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—In fifteen precincts of Beltrami county Preus leads Shipstead by a majority of 1,109. In eleven precincts A. E. Rako, for representative, leads W. N. Weber, Nonpartisan candidate, by a vote of 1,050 to 356. O. M. Skinvik, for judge of probate, now has 688 votes against 692 for J. E. Harris. Preus carried Bemidji by 510 votes.

To Courtmartial Soldiers.

London, Nov. 2.—Winston Spencer Churchill, secretary of war, announced to the house of commons today that a military investigation in Ireland had resulted in the decision to courtmartial several soldiers and noncommissioned officers.

Ex-King Constantine Depressed.

Geneva, Nov. 3.—Former King Constantine is greatly depressed by the report that Great Britain and France, which guaranteed the kingdom of Greece, would refuse, even if the elections were favorable to him, to allow his return to the Greek throne.

Crosby's Vote.

Crosby, Minn., Nov. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Complete Crosby returns: Harding 672; Cox 98; Debs 58; Preus 681; Shipstead 138; Hodgson 43; Collins 647; McDonald 53; Hilton 607; Sullivan 131; Knutson 633; Lindbergh 191. Amendments 1, 2 and 3 are carried by a big majority.

You Can't Kill Half a Duck......

"Look here," said the guest, "how long must I wait for that half portion of duck I ordered?"

"'Til somebody orders the other half. We can't go out and kill half a duck," replied the waiter.

With that for a text we want to drive home this fact—YOU CAN'T ORDER HALF A VALUE at this store this winter, because every other customer is receiving a FULL DUCK so to speak—there are no half portions to be had.

If the last three years of unholy prices have deviled your diet to be contented with half portions—you need our kind of values to help you recuperate.

Or, if the dollars you have panned on putting into winter clothes still have the appetite of a longshoreman—there is one store in Duluth to usher them into.

And we are talking to you about ducks—to make you see our special clothing values for men.

COURT SEEKS MORE JURORS

Several Fail to Respond to Subpenas; Thirty Cases to Be Probed.

When the members of the St. Louis county grand jury were polled in District Judge Fesler's court room this morning, it was found that only thirteen of the number subpenaed were present. The law says there must be sixteen. For this very good reason an adjournment was taken until 2 o'clock this afternoon and the deputy sheriff went scurrying into the highways and byways to gather in several more jurors to fill out the list.

There are thirty cases to come before the jury, the principal one being a manslaughter charge preferred against Wilfred McDonald, a 19-year-old boy, who fatally injured W. B. Thompson last Oct. 9 when he ran him down with an automobile on Garfield avenue.

One-third of the cases coming before this jury come under the head of bad bank checks, three of the prisoners arrested being accused of issuing checks without having in the banks sufficient money to meet them while seven of the men held are charged with forgeries.

Indictments will be asked on several charges of abandonment, desertion, burglary and grand larceny.

APPROVAL FOR EATING PLACES.

Health Inspectors Order Some Improvements But Make No Arrests.

Duluth hotels, restaurants and other eating houses were given a clean bill of health for the month of October, according to the figures submitted by the health inspectors to Dr. E. W. Fahey, city health director. In all there were 520 places inspected, including bakeries, basements, boarding houses, restaurants, candy factories, soda fountains and soft drink parlors. While a number of orders were issued to make changes and improvements, there were no arrests made and no one censured.

Among the activities of the inspector in issuing notices and abating nuisances were included many different classes of work. They include such orders as to clean up basements, repair sewers, remove drinking cups, provide separate conveniences for different sexes, painting interiors, repair plumbing, clean-up yards and even to abandon kitchens.

Among the articles condemned by the inspector were drinking cups, silverware with the plating worn off and different articles of food.

CLOSE CHECK ON MEATS.

Many Inspections Made and Decomposed Meats Condemned.

The health department of the city of Duluth is keeping a close check on the meat consumed by residents and any found unfit for use is quickly condemned. During the month just past the meat inspector has caused to be dumped 587 pounds of miscellaneous sausage, which was found to be decomposed, according to the monthly report which he has filed with Dr. E. W. Fahey, city health director.

Other meat condemned includes two veal, one of 175 pounds and the other of 114 pounds. He condemned an additional 200 pounds of sausage, which was found to have been decomposed.

The inspector reports that 235 inspections were made at retail markets and 130 visits and inspections at packing houses.

BRIGGS MUST FACE CHARGE OF RECKLESS DRIVING NOV. 10

The case of Reynold J. Briggs, who is charged with reckless driving, was continued to Nov. 10 at the hearing held in police court this morning. Briggs was the driver of the death car in which Geneva Lewis was killed some time ago near the poor farm. Recently he was driving east on First street and crashed into one of the autos of the health department going up Tenth avenue east. The police charge him with driving at a reckless speed.

It is understood that the parents of Miss Lewis are going to prosecute him on a charge of manslaughter in an effort to fix the responsibility for the death of their daughter.

CO-OPERATIVE CONVENTION

Consumers to Gather at Cincinnati to Discuss Co-operation.

New York, Nov. 3.—The Co-operative League of America has issued a call for its second national convention to be held in Cincinnati, Ohio, on Nov. 11, 12, 13 and 14.

This call is signed by James P. Warbasse, president of the Co-operative League of America, and Albert Sonnichsen, secretary of the league, and has been sent to some 3,000 co-operative consumers' societies throughout the country.

All co-operative societies in the United States which comply with the following requirements are entitled to be represented by at least one delegate and an additional delegate for every 200 members above the first two hundred:

(1) One vote for each member, no proxy voting.

(2) If capital is paid interest, it shall not be more than the legal current rate.

(3) If there is surplus-saving or profit it shall be reserved for expansion, used for the general social good, employed for the common benefit of the members or paid back as cash savings-returns, or dividends, in proportion to patronage or service.

(4) Democratic control.

Consumers' distributive societies, agricultural co-operative societies, other producers' societies, co-operative credit unions and banking organizations which comply with these requirements are recognized as co-operative and have been invited to send delegates to the convention.

Trade Unionists Invited.

Individual members of co-operative societies and trade unionists who are interested in the promotion of the co-operative movement are also invited to attend the convention, while trade unions, educational societies and other organizations interested in the promotion of the Co-operative league may send fraternal delegates.

The convention will take up the various kinds of consumers' societies in the United States, such as independent co-operative societies, chain stores, cost-plus stores, agricultural buying and selling societies, trade union stores and employes' stores. Methods of organizing such societies and the relative merits of each type will be discussed as well as store problems, such as the qualifications of a good manager, training employes, employes as consumers, leakage, the credit evil, wages and working conditions, competition with private stores, the store as a meeting place, where and how to buy, accounting, standardization and bookkeeping, practical suggestions for improving co-operative stores.

Co-operative Recreation.

One session will be given over to the discussion of co-operative education and recreation, taking up such co-operative types of recreation as motion pictures, plays, concerts, dances; co-operative magazines and papers; women's guilds. Another will be given over to discussions on co-operative banking and credit unions, co-operative housing, co-operative bakeries, restaurants, milk distribution, laundries and coal yards.

The first national co-operative convention was called in Springfield, Ill., in 1918.

Among those who will be present representing large groups interested in co-operation will be Warren Stone of the Brotherhood of the L. F. & E., Frederic Howe of the Railroad bank, Sidney Hilman of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, A. P. Bower of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, John F. McNamee, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, Robert McKechen of the Central States Co-operative Wholesale society, Waldemar Niemela, manager of the New England Co-operative Wholesale society, and T. D. Stiles of the United Mine Workers.

An Enemy to Good Health.

Good health has no greater enemy than constipation. You cannot "keep fit" for work or play if the bowels are irregular or clogged with a decomposed mass of undigested food from which the blood picks up disease-causing impurities and carries them throughout the entire system. Foley Cathartic Tablets are mild but sure in action. They banish biliousness, sick headache, sour stomach and other ills caused by indigestion. Take one tonight and you will feel better in the morning.

KNOTTY PROBLEM FOR THE BELGIANS

The Hague, Oct. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—Holland, which refused to surrender the former German emperor to the Allies for trial, has another knotty problem in a demand from the Belgian government for the extradition of Prof. de Vreeze, formerly librarian of Ghent university, a political refugee and now librarian at Rotterdam.

Prof. de Vreeze is one of the Flemish Belgians, who during the German occupation of their country sought, with German aid, to separate Flanders, the Dutch-speaking part of Belgium, from the French-speaking part. Many of them, when the armistice showed Germany beaten, fled to Holland. In their absence, they were convicted of treason and some of them are under sentence of death. Prof. de Vreeze is accused as a leading "activist" in the Flemish separation movement. Considering this a political offense and therefore not extraditable, the Dutch government would not give him up.

Now, at a time when relations between Holland and Belgium are strained because of commercial treaty complications and the renewed efforts of Belgian-Flemish activists toward the separatist movement, Belgium has demanded the extradition of De Vreeze, this time on grounds, which, if proved, Holland might consider, while it would not consider a political offense.

The charge, however, is only that Prof. De Vreeze used for fuel at his house in Ghent some government property, such as old boxes, old books and some coal which were on the premises of the library at Ghent.

It is hinted in Holland that this is only a subterfuge to get the professor across the frontier.

The Dutch government has named a commission to decide the case.

HEARING AGAINST PROPOSED HATCHERY

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. E. Barber of the state conservation commission is here today hearing the members of the North Wisconsin Rod & Gun club and others against the granting of a license for a private fish hatchery to C. F. Wiehe on Spring Lake, near Delta, in Bayfield county.

The stream on which Mr. Wiehe wishes a private fish hatchery is considered one of the best natural trout propagating grounds in the state and the North Wisconsin Rod & Gun club objected to a license granting Mr. Wiehe authority to close this stream to the fishermen. The state conservation commission stated that it would give the sportsmen a chance to be heard before a license was granted to Mr. Wiehe and for this reason Mr. Barber come to Ashland today.

To Lock Out Workers.

Saragossa, Spain, Nov. 3.—The Employers' association decided last night to lock out the workers in every factory of the city. Twenty-four thousand men, including municipal workers, are affected.

RECEIVED AT ORECK'S INC
DULUTH MINN

Just completed a purchase of five hundred fine coats made out of season's finest materials such as Marvellas, Chamoistyne, DeLuxe Veldecygnes, Velondes, in such shades as Zanzibar, Malays, and other beautiful soft colors; from Printz Biederman Company, makers of the famous Printzess garments, at less than actual manufacturer's cost. We will offer these garments to our trade at prices such as we never have been able to offer before. We will be enabled to retail one-hundred-twenty-five-dollar coats for fifty-five dollars, one-hundred-dollar coats at forty-five dollars, seventy-five-dollar coats for thirty-five dollars. Advertise largest sale ever attempted in Duluth. I feel very happy to conclude this transaction.

LYLE A ORECK.

The above telegram, received from Mr. Lyle A. Oreck, Friday, tells the story—$125.00 "Printzess" Coats to sell at $55.00; $100.00 "Printzess" Coats to sell at $45.00, and $75.00 "Printzess" Coats for $35.00. Not a mere handful but over FIVE HUNDRED of them! No wonder he was "Happy to conclude this transaction." During our merchandising career we have made some really wonderful purchases, but this beats them all. We were AMAZED when we saw them and you, too, will wonder how it is possible to sell such stunning coats at these prices.

Never Before Were "Printzess" Garments Sacrificed at Such Drastic Reductions—Not Even at the Season's Very End!

Unfavorable weather conditions and the downward trend of prices are directly responsible for this unusual event. Under ordinary conditions this sale would be an utter impossibility—just think of it—"Printzess distinction in dress" coats at LESS than HALF PRICE! Less than actual cost to manufacture—and at the very beginning of the season! Can you afford to pass up an opportunity like this? We believe not.

We advise every woman and miss who needs a new winter coat to be in our coat department tomorrow for the finest coat she ever bought at these prices. We mean every word we say—we don't care whether it was in 1914 or 1920, when prices were low or high—whether it was in or out of season—we REPEAT, you NEVER bought finer coats in all your experience at $35.00, $45.00 and $55.00 and we're ready to prove it!

ALL women's and misses' sizes are included—extra salesladies have been engaged to insure prompt service to all.

THOUSANDS AT HERALD SHOW

Election Returns, Films and Music Provided at Post-office Square.

Five thousand persons crowded along First street last night and cheered The Herald's entertainment and election service results. A continual flash of bulletins from 7 o'clock until midnight brought news gathered from every available source through telephone, telegrams and wireless.

It was a happy, eager crowd. Each bit of news was awaited eagerly and in the lull between dispatches the music of the American Legion band and various moving picture features provided a satisfying form of entertainment.

P. F. Schwie, general manager of the Duluth Theater company, supplied the films, which aided materially in creating the spirit of jollity among the thousands in the street. His services to The Herald proved very valuable. To Roy L. Brainerd, chief operator at the Grand theater, belongs credit for keeping the entertainment moving without interruption. He was in personal charge of the machines and the display of bulletins.

Music furnished by the American Legion band, led by Glen Locker, proved popular and the American Legion quartet received a hearty response for its group of songs.

"It all came off like a well-managed wedding," said Col. W. F. Henry, business manager of The Herald.

Elsewhere throughout the city, dense throngs crowded theaters, clubs and all public places where election returns were received. Bulletins were displayed between acts at the Orpheum, Grand, New Garrick, New Lyric, New Astor, Zelda, Strand and Sunbeam. Large numbers were also present at the Commercial club, Kitchi Gammi club, Y. M. C. A., West Duluth Commercial club and other institutions.

Beginning early in the evening, the crowd apparently took the election of Harding for granted. Pictures of Republican candidates were greeted with cheering and yelling. Women vied with men in eagerness displayed as each bulletin was flashed to the public.

Bury Superiorite's Sister.

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Funeral services were held at the family home yesterday afternoon for Miss Daisy Utman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Utman of this city and sister of Mrs. Hazel Wasmuth of Superior, who died Sunday, aged 37.

Finds Engineer Dead in Bed.

La Crosse, Wis., Nov. 3.—Joseph Bang, aged 36, Minneapolis, engineer on the river division of the Milwaukee railroad, was found dead in bed in a hotel here when a callboy went to arouse him to start back to Minneapolis on his run.

Mining Congress Delegate.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 3.—Governor J. A. A. Burnquist appointed Dean William R. Appleby of the University of Minnesota school of mines, the Minnesota delegate to the twenty-third annual convention of the American Mining congress in Denver, Nov. 15 to 21.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or head and ear noises or are growing hard of hearing go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.—Advertisement.

Dandruff Soon Ruins the Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff wil be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.—Advertisement.

LONDON CRIES GONE.

Brooklyn Eagle: London's once-famous street cries are no more, and any attempt to revive them meets with instant suppressive measures by the police.

Such an attempt, followed by a prompt suppression, was made recently by an old clothes huckster who was caught shouting: "Rags, bottles and bones," and declined to desist when told by a constable to ply his calling without strident vocal accompaniment.

He pleaded that he had lost the address of a customer and wanted to let him know that he was in attendance if required.

"Instead of calling my customer," he ruefully added, "I only brought the policeman." He was later fined.

SWORD MAKING SECRETS.

Detroit News: In the famous sword factory at Toledo, in Spain, absolute secrecy surrounds some of the processes employed in the making of these celebrated blades. No one is permitted to look upon the final secrets of tempering. In the first room there may be seen a curious large round shield fastened against the wall, where the last test of a finished sword is made. It is thrown against this target as an arrow is thrown from a bow. If its point is perfect, well and good; it does not turn a fraction of the finest hair's breath. If the blade makes an escape from this trial, and it usually does, it is worthy to be marked with the royal sign, and the word "Artilleria," that proves that it was made in Toledo. If the point wavers, even in a matter imperceptible to the unpracticed eye, the blade must go back to a renewal of its fiery discipline.

At one table a man, working by aid of wax and a sharp pointed needle-like instrument, is busily engaged in the lettering of a blade. At another table is an artisan pounding with a tiny sharp-edged sort of hammer, working out a handle pattern. There are several hundred employes in this sword factory, and a great many of them are boys under 20, but the most trusted workers are not often young.

In twenty-one years no fewer than 230 slight shocks of an earthquake have been recorded in the British Isles—an average of almost exactly one a month.

The British treasury expects to derive $40,000,000 a year from the new taxes on motor vehicles which come into force next January.

MOVING THE SECRETARIAT

Transferring the Headquarters Force of the League of Nations.

London, Oct. 22.—The secretariat, or permanent headquarters force, of the League of Nations, although organized barely a year ago, has developed into a smooth-running piece of human machinery. For economy and efficiency of operation this body of workers, recruited from all parts of the world, furnishes a model that does not suffer by comparison with the best examples of American business management. Incidentally the "establishment officer" of the secretariat, who is largely responsible for this frictionless operation, is a young American, Howard R. Huston, who served as officer of engineers in the expeditionary forces.

Just at present Mr. Huston has his hands full supervising the transference of the league headquarters from its temporary quarters in London to its permanent abode in Geneva. Orders have been issued that the entire personnel leave London not later than Oct. 28, and a special train has been engaged to accomplish the removal with the least delay and confusion.

Study in Efficiency.

As evidence of the businesslike methods of the secretariat in handling its household affairs, a memorandum dealing with the removal to Geneva recently distributed to the members by the secretary-general, Sir Eric Drummond, is an interesting study in efficiency. Nothing is left to chance. Everything is arranged for well in advance. For example, the members are informed that the league will pay the moving expenses of themselves and their families, including the expenses of mothers, "in case it is conclusively shown that the mother is entirely dependent for support upon a member of the secretariat." Servants allowed to be conveyed at the expense of the league are limited to one for unmarried officials and two for married members. It is provided that servants must travel second class, except nurses, who have to go first class in order to care for small children or invalids. Officials are granted an extra subsistence allowance on the journey of £1 sterling a day for a wife and 10 shillings a day for all children over the age of 2 years.

Each married member is permitted to move, at the league's expense, three van loads of furniture, the capacity of each van being fixed at 2,100 cubic feet. Unmarried members are granted expenses for only one van load. "In order to insure the charges for the removal of furniture from London being as low as possible," says the official memorandum, "all estimates for the removal must be first approved by the etablishment officer, and where removal is effected from some other point than London, at least three competitive tenders should be obtained wherever possible."

Housing Problems.

The housing situation at Geneva promises difficulties, and until the members of the secretariat can make "definite and permanent arrangements" for the leasing of apartments there they will be granted subsistence allowances. The proviso is made, however, that no such allowances will be paid after the termination of the league assembly which meets on Nov. 15. After permanent residences have been established, subsistence allowances will be paid to members only when absent from Geneva.

Although these secretariat has been established only a year it has accumulated already a great quantity of important documents, books and papers. Representatives of the department of works are now visiting each section making estimates of the number of cases needed to ship these documents etc.

Sixty-six persons from the secretariat are now in Brussels attending the council meeting that began on Oct. 20. This force includes, in addition to officials, twenty-one typists, seven interpreters and eight clerks from the duplicating section. Nearly all of these will go to Geneva direct from Brussels at the close of the meeting.

BIG STRIDES BY FRANCE

Half of Farm Land Devastated by War Under Cultivation.

New York, Nov. 3.—Within two years after the armistice France has practically remade the vast area of her agricultural soil which was pitted and scarred beyond usefulness, by the ravages of the war. Figures received by the French commission, in New York, show that out of 7,000,000 acres which were rendered unfit for cultivation by the effects of battle from 1914 to 1918, only 280,000 acres will not be in a condition to permit of sowing next spring.

The rest of the agricultural area has been restored, or will be restored, by the end of the current year. The reports to the commission show that 4,000,000 acres, or more than half of the devastated farm land are already under cultivation. The harvest has been so good that the French government has been enabled to cancel contracts for the import of South American wheat into France.

Comparative Figures.

The French department of agriculture has compiled the following figures giving the progress of France's efforts to feed herself.

	1920. Cwts.	1919. Cwts.
Wheat	62,706,270	49,653,700
Mixed grain	1,076,140	967,940
Rye	8,426,600	7,299,370
Barley	7,707,310	4,999,840
Oats	42,228,010	24,935,840

Considering that rye and barley are used for bread-making in France, it is reckoned that the crop situation practically insures complete success in feeding the nation with home-grown cereals. Last year it was necessary to import 41,000,000 hundredweight of wheat. The improvement means a national saving in money and an agricultural restoration which brings a measure of prosperity to a large proportion of the population, which had previously been deprived of the means of livelihood.

FIGHT IS LAUNCHED ON FRATERNITIES

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 3.—The board of education here has launched a fight against fraternities and sororities in the high schools and has issued an ultimatum to the pupils declaring membership will be cause for immediate suspension. "Secret organizations in the high schools are undemocratic and undesirable and injurious to the free and wholesome life of the schools," the board declares.

"Your Medicine Is O. K."

Mrs. Chas. Rule, New Diggins, Wis., writes: "Your medicine is O. K. I think Foley's Honey and Tar is the best for coughs. I think your medicine is all you say it is. I know I would never be without it. You may use my name." Foley's Honey and Tar acts quickly, checks coughs, colds and croup, cuts the phlegm, opens air passages and allays irritation. It stops sleep-disturbing coughing at night. Children like it. Contains no opiates.

CELEBRATES HIS BIRTHDAY

Harding Presented With Greatest Gift by People of Country.

Marion, Ohio, Nov. 3.—Warren G. Harding last night had the greatest birthday party of his life.

Surrounded by members of his family and a circle of neighbors and personal friends, he received quietly at his home the tribute of the millions who had voted to present him on his fifty-fifth anniversary with the presidency of the United States.

The smile of confidence he has worn for weeks broadened as he read the early returns and began to receive a flood of congratulations hailing him as president-elect. He deferred any formal comment, however, until the result should have been established beyond all doubt.

During the day he outwardly had concerned himself very little with the pending national decision. With Mrs. Harding he voted during the morning and made off for a forty-mile automobile ride and a game of golf near Columbus. Returns collected by the Associated Press were delivered to the senator in his home.

Presented With Gold Rule.

While the senator was at dinner last night a committee of employes of the Marion Star, his newspaper, called to present him with a printer's gold make-up rule and he came out on the front porch and with his voice choking with emotion, thanked them.

"I don't know of any call," he said haltingly, as tears rolled down his cheeks, "that has aroused my emotions more than this. I have worked with you, and I have tried to be honest with you, and God knows if I am called to responsibility I am going to be honest with everybody in the world. I don't know if I can meet these responsibilities fully, but I know that I can meet them with the same honesty that I have treated you.

"I am just a plain, ordinary fellow, but I can be on the square, and that's all there is to it."

Makes Statement.

Later in the evening the senator made the following statement:

"Assuming that the early returns are wholly dependable, I do not hesitate to say that I am pleased, of course. I am happy to utter my gratitude But I am not exultant. It is not a personal victory. It is a renewed expression of confident Americanism and a national call to the Republican party.

"It is all so serious, the obligations are so solemn that instead of exulting, I am more given to prayer to God to make me capable of playing my part, and that all these calls to responsibility may meet the aspirations and expectations of America and the world.

"I am sure the people who have voted the Republican ticket will understand my feeling that I should make no unstudied statement of policies at this time, beyond the expression made throughout the campaign."

The senator's trip to Texas will begin Friday night or Saturday morning, and Mr. Harding will arrive at Point Isabel, Tex., near Brownsville, next Monday. He plans to spend about twelve days there and then leave for Panama by way of New Orleans.

Leaving Colon about Dec. 1, he will land at New Orleans and will travel by train to Bedford, Va., where he speaks Dec. 5 at an Elks' celebration. Afterward he is to return to Marion, to remain, under present plans, most of the time until March 4. He may take a trip during this interim, however, to some Southern resort.

As president-elect, Mr. Harding still would be a United States senator, but his friends say he probably would remain away from Washington and devote this attention to the choice of a cabinet and formulation of his administration policies.

CONFERENCE OF STATE GOVERNORS

Madison, Wis., Nov. 3.—State governors will consider housing problems and ways to promote ownership of homes in their twelfth annual conference at Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 1 to 3. Other subjects coming before the governors this year, as announced here by Miles C. Riley, secretary of the conference, are:

Decentralization of governmental functions and activities, in relation to the developing tendency toward centralization in the national government.

The Kansas industrial relations court.

Sources of income and the disbursements of state government.

The general agricultural situation.

Reports will be presented to the governors from the commissioners on uniform laws and the national organization of state railroad commissioners.

"The coming conference promises to be one of the most largely attended and important gatherings of governors of our states that has ever been held," according to Secretary Riley. "Not only will most of the present governors be in attendance but a large number of new governors elcted on Nov. 2.

"The conference will be held just prior to the convening of legislatures in most of the states and will be of great interest to the governors who must submit their recommendations to these bodies."

FRAZEE RAIDS YIELD MEN, BOOZE AND CARS

Frazee, Minn., Nov. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—In three days Deputy Special Officer Leeman Mayers of the Indian service confiscated over $15,000 worth of whisky, consisting of American and Canadian stuff, at and near Frazee. He also confiscated two Buicks, one Essex, one National and one Nash automobile, all new cars, in splendid condition. He also lodged in the county jail at Detroit in violation of the liquor laws, seven men and one woman. He was assisted in the work by Herman Schrandt of Frazee.

Gopher Hunter Injured.

Canby, Minn., Nov. 3.—Knute Nelson, 26 years old, is in a hospital in a serious condition as the result of the accidental discharge of his shotgun. Nelson was hunting and while crawling through a fence his gun was discharged, the full charge of shot striking him in the leg.

A Home Recipe for Gray Hair

Gray, streaked or faded hair can be immediately made black, brown or light brown, whichever shade you desire, by the use of the following remedy that you can make at home:

Merely get a box of Orlex powder at any drug store. It costs very little and no extras to buy. Dissolve it in 2 oz. of distilled or rain water and comb it through the hair. Full directions for use and a $100.00 gold bond come in each box, guaranteeing the user that Orlex powder does not contain silver, lead, zinc, sulphur, mercury, aniline, coaltar products or their derivatives.

It is safe, does not rub off, is not sticky or gummy and leaves the hair fluffy. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger.—Advertisement.

A SWEEPING REPUBLICAN VICTORY.

Well, here we are: landed "back to normalcy" with a bang that leaves the opposition star-gazing.

The people couldn't beat both of them, so apparently they beat one of them badly enough for two.

Senator Harding and Governor Coolidge have won a sweeping victory, one of the most sweeping in history, over Governor Cox and Franklin Roosevelt, the irresistible tide carrying a Republican congress with it. For that consistency, at any rate, there should be thanksgiving. The country has had enough and to spare during the last two years of a government divided politically and so virtually deadlocked.

And we may be glad, too, that the victory is so overwhelming that it is possible to deny that the hyphen vote, actuated by motives other than those relating to American interests, did it. It would be a shocking and disastrous thing to have the hyphen decide a presidency.

The Republican party, in full control of the executive and legislative branches of the government, has a clear field before it. So far as its program squares with the interests of all the people, it is entitled to best wishes and full and complete support. The time is too critical, and the immediate future too doubtful, to make jockeying between partisans safe business now.

Mr. Harding was not our candidate, but he is OUR PRESIDENT; and our earnest wish for him at this moment is that he will have heartier co-operation from his countrymen, and more merciful treatment, than his great predecessor has had.

* * * *

The biggest question now, though, is what has happened to the League of Nations. Mr. Harding from now on will have to speak less in the fashion of the Delphian oracle, which, as you may remember, used to respond to inquirers with cryptic utterances which inquirers could interpret according to their hopes and desires.

One Republican element, interpreting Mr. Harding's Delphic utterances as evidencing bitter hostility to the League in any form, has pleaded for votes on the ground that he will junk the League.

Another Republican element, interpreting the same utterances precisely the opposite, has been pleading for votes for him on the ground that his election means the ratification of the peace treaty and America's participation in the League of Nations.

There is no question whatever about this: that the element that has represented that the election of Mr. Harding means ratification is the responsible element of the party, the element closest to Mr. Harding, the element with which he has always affiliated and to the advice of which he is most likely to listen.

The country will look to this element—to Mr. Root, Mr. Taft, Mr. Hoover, Mr. Wickersham, Mr. Hughes and the rest—to see to it that this talk of repudiation of the peace treaty and the League is ignored, and that America, under the best possible arrangement, shall do its duty for peace and human well-being. They have pledged their candidate, and they must make their pledge good.

Indeed, unless the world is brought into better order with America's help, so that foreign exchange can be adjusted and exports made possible, this country is in danger of unpleasant industrial conditions; and the best way, if not the only way, for America to correct this situation is to enter the League and join hands with the nations to get the world back to peaceful and prosperous production.

* * * *

The Republican party and Mr. Harding are entitled to congratulations on their smashing victory, even though with it come tremendous responsibilities that should leave them awed and prayerful rather than merely jubilant.

SENSE FROM NEW YORK.

Opposition to the Duluth-to-tidewater plan is by no means unanimous in New York. Indeed, even there, where the hottest opposition arises, are people who can see the broader good involved and can realize that it is greater than a selfish local interest.

The other day W. E. Fitzsimmons of Albany opposed the plan of developing an ocean highway to the heart of the continent by improving the St. Lawrence on the ground that "this would be creating an American Dardanelles problem, with a foreign government dictating the movement of American merchant vessels, and perhaps war vessels, in and out of the Great Lakes."

> We are all clever enough at envying a famous man while he is yet alive, and at praising him when he is dead.
> —Mimnermus.

Well, even if there were anything to that, it couldn't be much worse than it is now when a few obstacles, that can easily and cheaply be removed, PREVENT any movement of American vessels in and out of the Great Lakes.

The New York World, however, gave the right answer to this absurd contention:

> How to extract from such a situation a semblance to that of the Dardanelles is not exactly clear. No warships either of Britain or the United States exist on the Great Lakes or have existed for a hundred years or are likely to exist there in the next hundred years. What is possible and should continue indefinitely to be possible in neutralizing the waters of the Great Lakes is possible in neutralizing the waters of a deep-sea channel on either side of the international line to the Atlantic ocean.
>
> What these Middle Western states want is cheaper transportation for their great staple products to Europe. It is a legitimate aspiration. A route from their lake ports for ocean-going ships would provide the cheaper transportation. They have waited many years for New York and its Erie canal to provide that route and it has not been provided, nor can it be save at a costly vastly in excess of what is needed thus to open the St. Lawrence route, which is the natural route.
>
> There may be objections to this Middle Western proposal, but a prospective state of war with our northern neighbor is not one of them. We have acted for a century on a presumption of peace in complete disarmament along the border and we have had unbroken peace in consequence. To shift our actions over to a presumption of war would be idiotic.

THE VANQUISHED.

Governor Cox made a gallant and vigorous fight against tremendous odds. He is badly beaten, but he can take this comfort: that probably nobody that could have been nominated could have overcome the tremendous disadvantage under which the Democrats entered the campaign. He made the best fight he could, and it was one that under ordinary circumstances would have been victorious. But the correspondent in the Springfield Republican who a month ago declared despondently that if the Savior of the world were running on the Democratic ticket this year there would have been a Republican victory just the same, seems to have been right.

The Democrats won the argument, but the Republicans won the election. It wasn't a situation where argument and reason were influential.

As to the sick man in the White House, who is also among the vanquished, he must look to history for the righting of this wrong; and he will not look there in vain. In the meantime he may know that there are still thousands of Americans who, though recognizing that, being human, he has his faults, believe that history will rank him in a trilogy with Washington and Lincoln, and to the end of their days will be proud that they followed his standard of high ideals for human welfare, justice and peace, even when the attacks of malignant partisanship trampled it in the dust of the forum.

CHARLEY MITCHELL.

Charles S. Mitchell, for fifteen years editor of the News Tribune, has resigned to go to Washington as editorial writer for the Washington Herald, the newspaper which Julius Barnes, Herbert Hoover and others recently acquired.

The Herald keenly regrets to see Mr. Mitchell leave Duluth, for his going and that of his brilliant and capable wife will leave a vacancy that can hardly be filled. We are going to miss him, and Duluth is going to miss him. Mr. Mitchell is not only one of the best and most vigorous editorial writers in the country, but a forceful speaker. Both in his professional capacity and as a private citizen, he has been throughout his residence in Duluth a vigorous contender for constructive things. His ebullient spirits, his perennial good temper—outside of politics—and his cheerful fellowship have become factors in the community which we shall sadly miss. With tongue and pen he has kept everlastingly at it, never stinting his energies in public causes. Mrs. Mitchell, too, has been an outstanding factor for good, making and filling a most useful place in the community.

Before coming to Duluth Mr. Mitchell was for many years one of the leading country editors of the state.

Duluth loses two good citizens, and Washington gets them. The best wishes of The Herald go with Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell in the new and wider field which they are so abundantly fitted to adorn.

"Sheridan 20 Miles Away"

Jefferson Winter in the Saturday Evening Post: Joseph Jefferson was strongly and—I think—very foolishly condemned for altering Richard Brinsley Sheridan's comedy of "The Rivals" when he revived it in 1880, and that condemnation persists to the present day.

When the alteration was first acted in Boston, William Warren—a superb actor, famous as Sir Anthony Absolute and a stickler for the original text—was asked by an acquaintance whether he had seen Jefferson in "The Rivals."

"Yes, I have," he answered, "with Sheridan more than twenty miles away!"

It is a witty quip, but it is not warranted. What Jefferson really did was to throw away the dross and save the gold of that old comedy, the dross being principally those insufferable pumps, Mr. Falkland and Julia.

It is the more difficult to understand why anybody should feel that "The Rivals" ought to be treated as sacrosanct when it is remembered how its author felt about it. Moore, in his "Life of Sheridan," states that the dramatist always said "The Rivals" was one of the worst plays in the language, and that he would give anything if he had not written it. It was not a success when first acted, and had to be cut with an ax at that time.

Living With Oneself

From the Marion, Ohio, Star.

"I have to live with myself, and so
I want to be fit for myself to know;
I want to be able, as the days go by,
Always to look myself straight in the eye;
I don't want to stand with the setting sun—
And hate myself for the things I've done.
I don't want to keep on a closet shelf
A lot of secrets about myself,
And fool myself, as I come and go,
Into thinking nobody else will know
The kind of a man I really am.
I don't want to dress myself up in sham!"

Who wrote the metrical lines printed above? I don't know—to a certainty. They have been credited to one of our martyred presidents—to James A. Garfield. If Mr. Garfield wrote them, he did well. They are not poetry of a high order; but they are poetry, after all. They are a bunch of old-fashioned poetical posies, fragrant with homely truth, dew-drenched with common sense. They sound like a man of the character of Garfield, Lincoln or McKinley might have written them. Because they embody and shadow forth the innate nature of the writer. They are plain and simple; they are sturdy; they are clean, moral, elevating; they are as direct and convincing as Longfellow's "Psalm of Life."

Let's examine these lines carefully. Each one of us has to live with himself—more intimately than with any one else in the whole wide world. Each human being is his own environment, so to speak, and he should be fit for himself to know—and to respect—and to emulate. He shouldn't be a stench in his own nostrils; he shouldn't be a scarecrow in his own field of vision. He should be able to face his reflection in the mirror of life—and be not afraid; be not dismayed or repelled. At the close of any day, or at the dawn, he shouldn't have to hate himself for the things he has done. The very best epitaph any poor mortal could have on his tombstone would be: "He did the best he could."

And, friend, don't essay to keep under cover a lot of secrets which, if discovered, would disgrace you, discredit you—if their revelation didn't entirely ruin you. Don't essay to lead a double life; folks will eventually spy out your psychic twin self. Don't try to play "Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde;" at last you will be able to impersonate the character of "Mr. Hyde" only. Don't keep a skeleton in your closet; or, some day, when you least suspect such thing is coming, the grinning, gibbering, rattling, uncanny thing will stalk forth into the broad light of day—and shout your shame from the housetops.

Each of us is his own environment; each of us makes himself what he is—in the largest measure.

You may boast of the fact that your work is complete—
That you've done what in youth you began;
That you've fashioned yourself—and from forehead to feet
You're a self-made and self-modeled man.
To the image you face in the glass you may bow,
And may brag of your prowess and pelf;
But the question I ask, and I'm asking you now—
Is: What have you made of yourself?

A Hard Way to an Old Truth

Columbus Dispatch: What is in the worker's mind? That is what an officer of a steel company set out, on the first of the year, to find out. He went to work as a day laborer and, after five months, emerged from his disguise to report that men are men wherever one finds them, and in every place and under all conditions are more alike than they are unlike. The gist of this message is that the worker wants his daily job; he wants a permanent job, a job that will not, through its long hours, reduce him to a state of nervous exhaustion and dangerous irritability, a job that will for a reasonable exertion yield him an adequate pay, a job at which he can work with a fair knowledge of the character and purpose of his employer, a job in which he is dealt with in kindness and sympathy as a human being, not as a machine.

The harshness of foremen, thinks this writer, has had much to do with the hostile attitude of labor to employing capital. Clothed with a little brief authority, these foremen have too often borne themselves as autocrats and have been permitted to obscure what benevolence there was in industrial enterprises. At any rate, he insists, there must come a more sympathetic and human contact of men who are employed and men who are employers, and they are so much alike as human beings that there is no reason why there should not be.

But there is nothing new in that, nothing that any one should have had to pass through his experience to get. It was all written centuries ago and might have been found in five minutes in the simple words of the Golden Rule. However, it is something that the truth should be discovered, however difficult the method employed.

An Empty House

This place was home; and here were hearts made glad
With simple things, bread, laughter, wind and sun,
Red dawn, gray dusk, and rest when day was done.
(O House, have you forgot the dreams they had?)
Around it was a whisper of the leaves,
The smoke curled skyward in the evening air,
And there were children's feet upon the stair,
And twittering swallows wheeled about the eaves,
But now no footfall crosses any room;
No finger lifts the latch. The hearth is cold
And black with ash. Nor through the deepening gloom
Does any window cast its bar of gold.
O House of Dreams, will you remember yet
The hearts that loved you, when all else forget?

Rippling Rhymes

By WALT MASON.

Lack of Worry

There's nothing I can worry o'er, in all my daily round, and so my heart is sad and sore, and briny tears abound. The larder's stocked with luscious pies, the cellar's full of spuds, and every morning, when I rise, I have a change of duds. The diamonds on my harness clank, I have silk shirts galore, and I have money in the bank, and credit at the store. No man can say I am in debt, for this or that or those, and so I've no excuse to fret or nurse a string of woes. And, having no excuse to brood, I brood and fret and cuss, and in a fierce and bitter mood I make a ghastly fuss. For worry is a state of mind that every man enjoys, and he grows weary of his grind if not a thing annoys. Without a grievance man is lost, his mental innards ache; he'll find a woe at any cost, e'en though it be a fake. And so I grumble when it rains and file a savage roar, and when the sunshine gilds the plains, I grumble all the more. Man wasn't born to go his way without a cross or care; some ill should prod him every day, or he is in despair. A sugar diet fattens men, but undermines the spine; a dash of bitters now and then, or vinegar, is fine.

Some Sources of Revolution

Editorial in the Chicago News.

Great nations, some one has said, do not have revolutions—they anticipate them. Inflexibility in the face of perpetual change of conditions results in shattered authority and bloodshed.

"Thus," says the Manchester Guardian, commenting on the letters of the czarina to the czar, first given to the world by the Daily News—its staff correspondent, Isaac Don Levine, having brought copies of them from the government archives in Moscow—"because she had not enough sense to let the liberals make reforms, she brought Russia to the point at which more dangerous forces have made a revolution."

The historical question which the American revolution, the French revolution and the Russian revolution in turn answered with violence is this: Is government a flexible medium of reform or is it rigidly obstructive?

Dangerous ossification of government is inevitable in any nation where the governed do not participate intelligently. In a democracy where they will not and in an autocracy where they cannot the results are much the same. In the Russia of the czars, however—as also now in soviet Russia—were erected bleak walls of censorship. The czarina could not have dismissed a famous and competent general such as Grand Duke Nicholas, for example, in a country where free interchange of intelligence was possible. Nor could the summary replacement for frivolous reasons of good men by bad have been carried on so habitually and so extensively as to cause the fall of the dynasty.

Censorship that makes the public immobile suppresses no vicious ideas. Artificial attempts to segregate incorrect from correct doctrines result in the formation of noncommunicating classes. They build barriers across society. The healthful interchange of views is stopped. Restricted from beneficial evolution by the very nature of the system of repression, the state at last finds itself precipitated into revolution and civil war.

Denial of free speech thus creates class consciousness and class hatred. Failure to differentiate between free speech and speech inciting to crime—that is to say, criminal speech—has been a conspicuous fault in recent years of some of our own governmental agencies. Now that accredited agents of Russian communists are in this country endeavoring to incite radicals to armed revolution, errors of repression, not arrests of criminal agitators, give them a sort of basis for their destructive arguments.

A democracy has only to be true to its principles in order to stand invincible against every form of error. But no democracy can be true to its principles or even a true democracy unless the people actively and intelligently participate in its government.

Higher Bond Prices

New York Tribune: The lambs are reported a poor crop in Wall Street this year, and neither the bulls nor the bears seem getting rich in a stock market like the present; but there are two elements keenly interested in the bond market—the public and the canny but inconspicuous individuals who buy high class investments at low prices and hang on to them. Many of the latter group already have done their part, for on the greatest volume of trading in four years bonds have taken a sharp spurt upward in price in the last few days and weeks.

Here is one instance where the ultimate consumer can take solid comfort in rising prices, because rising bond prices and falling commodity prices go together, and the relation is that of cause and effect. Besides, the movement of the securities precedes and forecasts that of the goods. Bonds started the present upward movement last spring, about the time that John Wanamaker delivered one of the first blows at high prices, and the chart for forty issues showed a sharp upturn before Henry Ford and the rest of the automobile crowd unlimbered their heavy artillery.

It is axiomatic that a bond is worth more when its yearly yield, say $4, will buy four bushels of wheat than it is when the $4 will buy less than two, and that is the reasons bonds decline in price when consumers' costs go up, and vice versa. By the same token stocks move the opposite way, because profits, and consequently dividends, decline with prices as a rule.

All of this is elementary to those familiar with economics, but it is The Tribune's experience, revealed by the hundreds of investment inquiries received each month, that there is a large body of thrifty people who buy speculative stocks unwisely because they cannot be convinced that high prices, huge profits and swollen dividends are not going to continue forever.

The man who is in a position to buy a bond, which is simply lending dollars, now will collect dollars when his loan comes due. In all human probability his dollars will buy more then than they could now.

Better Business Is Coming

Forbes Magazine: Better business looms ahead. Our business body has become fat, overfed. It is now reducing. The process is disagreeable, sometimes painful. But it makes for greater strength and vigor. Had not corrective measures been taken, business would have collapsed from hardening of the credit arteries. At the opening of 1920 we were heading toward trouble. At the opening of 1921 we should be heading toward sound prosperity. Every fundamental development is making for greater solidity and stability. We have the greatest wealth of resources in the world; we have the greatest body of intelligent, progressive manpower in the world; we have the greatest system of transportation in the world; the greatest stock of gold in the world; the greatest amount of confidence and optimism and enterprise of any nation in the world; and the least amount of worries and handicaps of any people in the world.

We have the material, the men, the money and the will to prosper. Everything combines to indicate that, after the disagreeable but necessary readjustments now under way, we shall prosper.

Oxford Holding Out the Olive Branch

Baltimore Sun: Oxford university has been for so many centuries a stronghold of British conservatism that its attitude toward the World war excited no surprise and, in fact, little attention. That its faculty and students should be united in their support of the British government and of the military operations of the Allies was taken for granted. No one, and least of all the university, has forgotten the counter-offensive which it led to defend the Allies against the astonishing and disingenuous charges of the hundred professors, in the early days of the war. It is true that many of these German and Austrian professors repudiated, more or less promptly, the document which they were supposed to have signed; but enough of them stood by it to justify the belief that the academic circles within the central powers were not less free from militaristic pressure and propaganda than were the rank and file of the populace.

In view of all these circumstances, the news that fifty-seven professors and doctors of Oxford university are suggesting to their confreres in Germany and Austria that the time has come to forget the spirit of war and its bitterness, and to unite their efforts for the advancement of civilization, is not to be interpreted as an outburst of emotion, but rather as a dispassionate acknowledgment that the present duty of mankind is to save whatever good is possible from the wreckage of the war.

A Theory

Arkansas Gazette: All sorts of reasons have been assigned for the fact that men stay home more than they did a few years ago. Maybe they are just trying to get their money's worth out of rented houses.

Health Talks

By William Brady, M. D.

Can We Increase Growth?

A frequent query sent by readers and one which I am unable to answer satisfactorily, is this: Has any remedy, appliance or method of treatment been found which will increase growth or stature?

No specific remedy or treatment is known to increase growth. Yet we have acquired a certain insight into the mystery of growth in the past few years, and there is no doubt that a definite stimulation of growth can be produced in certain cases by the skillful and judicious administration over a period of many months or years of appropriate ductless gland hormones. Readers need not write to ask me what these ductless gland hormones are and where they may obtain them. I don't know. The physician with personal knowledge of the case is the only one who can answer that question. I have mentioned here the case of a girl of 14 years who grew over an inch in height in three months of such treatment, the case of a boy of 2 years who had ceased to grow but increased rapidly in height and weight on hormone treatment, and the case of a boy of 13 years whose growth had been for some time at a standstill but who increased two inches in height in ten months, and three more inches in the next ten months of appropriate ductless gland hormone treatment. If curious, ask your doctor: I can tell no more about the question.

Everyone who reads has learned something about certain as yet chemically unidentified food accessory factors known as vitamins, something present in some foods and lacking in other foods; something apparently indispensable in the human dietary; something essential for normal growth and nutrition.

Fresh raw milk is rich in vitamins; milk which has been pasteurized, sterilized, boiled, canned, condensed or dried is poor in vitamins. The whole grains or cereals are rich in vitamins; the ultra-refined cereal products of our day are uniformly poor in vitamins—for example, polished rice is lacking in essential vitamins, whereas unpolished (whole rice, brown rice, red rice) is rich in vitamins; and likewise refined or patent white flour is vitamin-poor, whereas whole wheat flour is vitamin-rich. The green relishes, leafy vegetables which are eaten raw, fruits eaten with skins, the skins of potatoes (baked), seed or grain wheat unground and very thoroughly cooked as a breakfast cereal, fresh meats in preference to preserved or salted meats, fresh eggs as the equivalent of fresh meat, are all valuable items of the dietary by reason of their vitamin content. There is good reason to believe that an ample supply of such items favors normal growth; and that a shortage or inadequate variety of such vitamin-rich items in the dietary tends to impair growth. Probably nothing favors normal growth in children and youths more than a liberal daily allowance of fresh milk as a beverage.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Chronic Appendicitis.

Can chronic appendicitis be cured without a surgical operation, and if so, how? (Mrs. G. G. S.)

Answer: No.

Decay of Children's Teeth.

What causes the teeth of a child 4 years old to decay? Can you suggest anything to give to prevent such decay? (C. D. L.)

Answer: Insufficient use (food too refined, and hence little need for mastication), a diet containing too much carbo-hydrate and insufficient mineral matter, such as the sickly "breakfast foods" commonly fed instead of wholesome natural cereals, insufficient fresh fruit and vegetables.

Lotion for Blackheads and Pimples.

Please recommend a good lotion to use for a mild case of blackheads and pimples on the face. (A. W. L.)

Answer: Each alternate night give the face a hot soap and water scrubbing, rinse well, and then apply this lotion over night:

Equal parts of sublimed sulphur, alcohol, compound tincture of lavender, glycerin, camphor water.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinius, the Sunshine Man, Dayton, Ohio.

Lord Jesus, we thank Thee that a new day affords another opportunity for consecration and devotion. Thou hast turned a fresh page in our life's story. It comes from Thee without blemish or soil, help us to keep it so. Forgive the past blotted with out failures and sins; and help us to walk in the light.—From Daily Prayer.

Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of other.— ii. 4.

No man has come to true greatness who has not felt in some degree that his life belongs to his race, and what God gives him, He gives him for mankind.—Phillips Brooks.

The law imprinted on the hearts of all men is to love the members of society as themselves. The eternal, universal, unchangeable law of all beings is to seek the good of one another, like children of the same Father.—Cicero.

Songs of the Winds

Sing to us, O East Wind, as you sang in that great morning
When the wond'ring world took shape from out the wordless deep;
Sing to us of life and hope and faith, that come with dawning—
Sing to us, O East Wind, till you sing us out from sleep!

Sing to us, O South Wind, of the varied way of beauty;
Earth and sea and sky were made to glorify our days,
Lest our willful lips complain too much of human duty,
Sing, to hush their murmuring and open them to praise.

Sing to us, O North Wind, of the joy of our endeavor;
Ours to work and ours to win before the light is fled.
Sing to us of sturdy souls who never faltered, never—
Sing of glorious deeds to do and fuller days ahead.

Sing to us, O West Wind, when the day is almost over—
When we have no further trysts with eager Life to keep.
When we turn to some cool rest beneath the wistful clover,
Sing to us, O West Wind, till you sing us back to sleep.

—Esther Hill in the Kansas City Star.

Which

Answers, London: He wanted to purchase a birthday present for his wife, and, as he knew she liked pictures, and their sitting room walls were rather bare, he soon hit upon a satisfactory gift.

"Where shall I find something really nice in oils for the sitting room?" he asked an assistant at a large shop.

"On the third floor," began the man. Then he paused and looked doubtfully at the inquirer.

"Did you mean a painting or something in the sardine line, sir?" he asked uncertainly.

A Threatened Industry

Columbia, S. C., Record: There should be some protection for the infant industry of home-brewing: it is being ruined by bootlegging competition.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Breezy Comments on Current Topics by State's Live Newspapers.

Too Many Elections

Carlton Vidette: If we had our way there wouldn't be an election only once in a lifetime. The referendum and recall would be the only system of selecting officers. This thing of ripping the country up the back every four years is expensive and upsets every country that does it, so that its business policies are mostly shaped with an eye to the coming election, and to the avenging of defeated friends for the election lately passed.

Good Advice

Grand Rapids Independent: They'll soon be advising us to do our Christmas shopping early. If the merchants do their Christmas advertising early the "do your Christmas shopping early" problem will take care of itself.

Enjoying Their Politics

Baudette Region: A woman's meeting at Spooner to discuss the League of Nations broke up in a row yesterday. The question was settled to the dissatisfaction of everybody.

True to His Convictions

Chisholm Mesaba Miner: MacSwiney—lord mayor of Cork—martyr! "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends." Lord Mayor MacSwiney of Cork deserves the credit of being one of the greatest fighters for freedom in the world's history.

The ethical lesson of MacSwiney's death should serve as food for thought. He laid down his life in a cause for which he was sincere. He was true to the end. He was a patriot.

Worthy of Boosting

Winnebago City Enterprise: The crying need in Minnesota today is for more boosters—more men and women who will cheerfully spread the propaganda of the opportunities that abound on every hand in this great and glorious commonwealth.

Northern Minnesota a Paradise

Le Sueur News: Minnesota still has room for many farms, and the soil and conditions offered for them is as good as may be found anywhere for certain kinds of farming. The north part of this state is a paradise for the man interested in dairying and there is a vast field open to him. Minnesota, as a whole, can look forward to a bright future in its industries and greatest among these is farming.

The Campaign's Over

Buhl Advertiser: Will some politician answer and let us know whether it is the tariff or the lack of it that makes the price of wool garments so high and the price of wool drop to its present level.

Collegiate Tact

Manchester Guardian: There is a story which is perfectly authentic going round about Dr. T. B. Strong, dean of Christ church, Oxford, who is about to be consecrated bishop of Ripon. During the war many bodies of Colonial troops were stationed, while in training, at Oxford, being billeted at different colleges. Several such bodies had proved themselves very difficult to handle, and serious damage had been done at more than one college. When a particularly rough draft was sent to Christ church the dean invited them to meet him the first afternoon in the college hall, took them all round the college, showing them everything, then entertained them to tea in hall, and finally addressed them as follows: "Gentlemen, what I have shown you this afternoon has been going on without interruption for 700 years. Now the men who should be here are in the trenches, and it is for you to take their places for a time and carry on the traditions of the college. I create you honorary Christ church men for the rest of your lives." The idea of being honorary members of the most famous of Oxford colleges caught the fancy of the men, and from that moment discipline was perfect. Indeed, there was only one difficulty. The men wished to attend chapel twice daily.

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of This Date, 1900

A Pekin dispatch says: The foreign ministers continued today the discussion of the peace propositions to be presented to the Chinese. The French proposals were accepted. On account of the necessity for thorough accord between the different cabinets, the final vote will not be presented for several weeks. As the result of inquiries made by the international commission, the Allies are convinced that the grand treasurer and the governor of Pao Ting Fu and a Chinese colonel were instrumental in the murder of an American and an English missionary, and they have been condemned to death and will be executed soon.

J. J. Wall still has on deposit with him $1,500 to bet on the election of Bryan as president at odds of one to four. He also has $2,000 to bet even that McKinley will not have 100,000 majority in the state of New York.

There was an informal meeting of about half a dozen aldermen last evening, called by Alderman Rothermel for the purpose of discussing the taxation without illumination predicament in which Lakeside and Lester Park citizens find themselves. The matter of changing lights was discussed, and it now appears that Lakeside and Lester Park will be given about fifteen arc lights and that an effort will be made to light Woodland with incandescent lights.

M. H. Alworth and others have sold a big tract of timber tributary to the Cloquet river, which they had owned for some time, to the Muscatine Lumber company of Muscatine, Iowa. The tract is supposed to contain about 50,000,000 feet. The consideration was $255,000. The timber will be cut, loaded on cars at Cloquet and shipped to Muscatine, where it will be manufactured and go into the Southwestern lumber territory.

Pete Deloyia of West Duluth has received eighteen game cocks from Bay City, Mich., and there is said to be a prospect of some very interesting mains here this winter.

Miss Minnie Baker, formerly connected with the postoffice in West Duluth, and now residing in Canada, is visiting Mrs. Noxon of Fifty-seventh avenue west.

Governor John Lind was to have spoken at the West end and West Duluth last night, but he failed to arrive, owing to an accident on the Duluth Short Line at Hinckley. Two rousing meetings were held, however, and Henry Truelsen, the fusion candidate for congress, made stirring speeches.

"Sis Hopkins" was presented at the Lyceum last evening, with Miss Rose Melville in the title role.

THE OPEN COURT

Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about topics of general interest, but discussion of sectarian, religious differences is barred. Letters must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.

All letters must be written on one side of the paper only.

The Herald does not publish original verse. Contributions of this nature that are submitted for the editor's perusal must be accompanied by a stamped and addressed envelope, if their return is desired. Otherwise no manuscript will be returned.

A MOTHER'S INFLUENCE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

A few lines to "Just a Woman" in the Open Court. You are right about selfishness, and if more mothers would bring up their boys and girls the way you are doing there would be no need of their voting for their rights, for if they stayed at home and taught their boys right, the future generation of men would see that women had their rights. See what President Lincoln's stepmother did for him; can you find a nobler man than he was?

May God bless you and give you strength for many years to bring up your children in the way you say.

THE IRISH QUESTION.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I read the article on the Irish question by H. T. W. of Gilbert, Minn. I do not believe there are many paid agitators in Ireland. England has made them for centuries by such a series of persecutions as has never been equaled in history.

No nation's flag should be spoken of as a rag; it represents too many lives, hopes, and fears. But let me say that Canada and Australia are happy under English rule today because England learned a lesson from thirteen little colonies, that refused to be taxed without representation, to have their homes searched, to support soldiers sent to keep them in order—very much as in Ireland today. And they laid their wrongs before the world in no uncertain terms in the Declaration of Independence. There are those who would cut the pages of the American revolution from our histories for fear we'd remember old wrongs. That was only 125 years ago but England learned a lesson in dealing with Anglo-Saxon colonies who were a long way off.

St. Patrick's cross may have been added to the Union Jack in 1801 but that didn't save the lives of the million who starved in the famine of 1840 in the reign of the beloved Victoria. Starving Belgium made England's heart bleed but not dying Ireland.

The tax on a dog or gun may be light in Ireland. Englishmen may need a hunting ground.

Ireland's identity was well concealed in the World war, but they died by the hundred at Gallipoli, volunteered by the thousand, until they learned that home rule was again a mockery and that Wilson's wonderful speech about "Making the world safe for democracy, and a war for the freedom of small nations" could not be for them. That as always England would promise, only to break her promise. What wonder they fought conscription. Yet they still volunteered, led on by a dream.

"England, a champion for the weak and a pillar for justice." It is to laugh! How about the revolution and the War of 1812? How about her opium trade in China? How about the conditions in Persia since the war? The famines in India during the years when wealth from that country poured gold into England's coffers?

"Remove the agitator from this country." Franklin was an agitator when he went to France and got that aid without which we would still be under the Union Jack.

You need not fear the red flag in Ireland. If persecution could bring the red flag it would be there, but as the Herald of Oct. 13 stated, "where the Roman Catholic religion is practiced the red flag does not fly." At the same time it is well to remember that Ireland's most tragic days are illumined by such Protestant names as Parnell, Casement and Sarsfield.

Ireland hoped that she as well as Slavonic races might be granted self-determination. She hopes that America may sympathize with her as she did with Cuba. She asks no nation to fight her battles, but she has fought many, and England's history as well as America's, Canada's and Australia's is bright with Irish names.

A WOMAN'S VIEW OF DULUTH.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In regards to the person quoting a few lines from the Wall Street Journal about Russia, I would like to advise him to read at least a labor paper and not try and get information from their open enemy.

As I just recently received my vote, I thought it was my duty to find out something about the different candidates, so I went to a Republican meeting and what I did not know about the Democrats in the line of badness and crookedness was not worth knowing. Next I went to a Democratic meeting and "oh boy" just getting anywhere near Harding's shadow was enough to knock you dead. So I don't think you can go by the opposition very well. At a Socialist meeting I understood they wanted to use the money from natural resources for the good of all. This, at least, would not harm Duluth.

I had for years before coming here to live, heard of the enormous wealth taken from mines around this city and had made a picture of Duluth in my mind as the center of this wealth. But when coming in the first time via the lakes I saw, instead of monuments and statues as I had thought, cute little backyard outhouses built on the rocks where you could see them even before landing. Instead of flower beds there were piles of empty cans. And for water fountains we had bill boards and tumbling down shacks. I used to close my eyes when riding between Fifth avenue west and Garfield avenue.

I am sure if we could use one-tenth of the money taken from the mines to improve our city, we could do wonders. But the present owners insist on spending most of it in New York and Los Angeles.

A WOMAN.

Duluth, Oct. 30.

THE MOTHER-IN-LAW AGAIN.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In answer to "A Mother-in-law" in the Open Court of Oct. 25, I am very sorry for you and your daughters who have to suffer just as I have suffered.

I am a daughter-in-law and I have suffered untold misery at the hands of my mother-in-law.

Now I have a mother, too, but she does not want to make any more trouble for me, so she just stays away.

You explain that your sons-in-law abuse your daughters. Don't you suppose they know any better? Of course they do and no one need to tell them so, for they know they are doing wrong and they don't need to be told. If you were to go and try to talk to a man who is brute enough to abuse a woman you would only get the same abuse and you would be butting in and not doing any good, only stirring up a new trouble.

My mother-in-law thinks I am abusing her son and all I do is good for him. She has spoiled him and keeps promising him many things if he will but get rid of me. His mother upholds him in every mean thing he says or does to me and by so doing encourages him to do wrong.

Sometimes when I feel a little bit cheerful if things are going pretty fair I hum a little tune as I do my work or I call up a girl friend and have a little laugh with her, but as sure as I do try to forget some of my troubles all of a sudden the house begins to shake and mother-in-law starts to jump on the floor right over my head, for she lives upstairs. If I didn't stop talking or singing the house would sure come down and, it being "our" house, we don't want that to happen. So daughter-in-law has to walk on her ears; can't use the telephone at any time, can't talk, can't hum, can't go out any place without being watched and can't lock her own part of the house when she goes out. Now if you would want to live under those conditions and "your mother" not even allowed to come in your house and couldn't go to see her when she was sick, do you blame me for condemning the "mother-in-laws?

I have made my bed and now I have to lie in it or move.

DAUGHTER-IN-LAW.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Herald to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner, or that ask for advice on legal or medical questions.

To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the person asking it. This is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

C. L., Cusson, Minn.: I saw in your Monday paper that the resident licenses for hunting big game is $10. When did they change the law?

Ans.: Resident hunting licenses are $1.00, not $10.00.

Reader, Ironwood, Mich.: Will you kindly publish in your paper where I may get information concerning the chautauqua, i. e., to whom to write if one wishes to be one of the speakers or singers?

Ans.: There are a great many chautauqua courses; if you mean the original organization write Chautauqua Lecture association, Jamestown, New York.

Reader, Two Harbors, Minn.: Will you please inform me if there is or was a game law to prevent a man from killing more than one buck deer? Is he not allowed to kill the doe?

Ans.: The law now in effect limits a person to one deer in the open season, and no reference is made to does.

L. R., Cloquet, Minn.: Please publish in your column the address of Funk & Wagnalls Publishing Co.:

Ans.: New York City.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

The House by the Side of the Road.

There are hermit souls that live withdrawn
In the place of their self-content;
There are souls like stars, that dwell apart,
In a fellowless firmament;
There are pioneer souls that blaze their paths
Where highways never ran—
But let me live by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

Let me live in a house by the side of the road
Where the race of men go by—
The men who are good and the men who are bad,
As good and as bad as I.
I would not sit in the scorner's seat
Or hurl the cynic's ban—
Let me live in a house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

I see from my house by the side of the road,
By the side of the highway of life,
The men who press with the ardor of hope,
The men who are faint with the strife.
But I turn not away from their smiles nor their tears,
Both parts of an infinite plan—
Let me live in a house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

I know there are brook-gladdened meadows ahead
And mountains of wearisome height;
That the road passes on through the long afternoon
And stretches away to the night.
And still I rejoice when the travelers rejoice
And weep with the strangers that moan,
Nor live in my house by the side of the road
Like a man who dwells alone.

Let me live in my house by the side of the road,
Where the race of men go by—
They are good, they are bad, they are weak, they are strong,
Wise, foolish—so am I.
Then why should I sit in the scorner's seat,
Or hurl the cynic's ban?
Let me live in my house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

—Sam Walter Foss.

AMBASSADOR IS TO ADDRESS EDUCATORS

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 3.—An outstanding feature of the three days' convention of the Minnesota Education association which opens here this evening will be an address tomorrow evening by Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador to the United States, at a dinner of association members on his first visit to the Northwest.

It is expected that 6,000 members of the association will attend the annual meeting which will be opened formally in the St. Paul hotel at 7:30 tonight by L. R. S. Ferguson, commissioner of education of St. Paul, who will deliver the address of welcome. Florence Rood, vice president, will preside, and Hester M. Pollock, director of school work in the ninth district for the savings division of the United States treasury department. Henry C. Morrison, professor of school administration, University of Chicago, will speak on "Educational Legislation."

Thursday at the early session the first business meeting will be conducted in the St. Paul auditorium, when L. C. Lord, president of the Illinois state normal school, will address the convention on "What Shall We Do Now?" The public is invited to a historic pageant to be presented in the afternoon by several hundred St. Paul public school children of the division of social centers.

Prize Baby Dies.

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 3.—Fargo's prize baby, Virginia Lee Weston, died a victim of scarlet fever. It was the second death from this contagion in a week. Virginia Lee Weston won both the sweepstakes and the first baby girl's prize in the 1919 North Dakota state fair. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Weston.

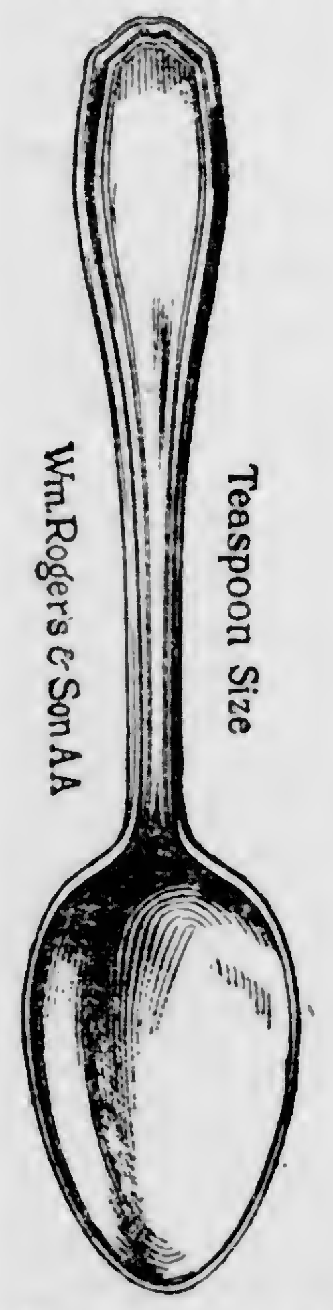
One Dessert Free

A Real-Fruit Jiffy-Jell Dessert—At Your Grocery This Week

Gifts to users



Dessert Spoons

We supply dessert spoons, teaspoon size, in this exquisite pattern of Wm. Rogers & Son AA silverplate. Guaranteed 20 years. No advertising on spoons. For the first spoon send 2 (JJ) trade-marks, plus 10 cents for postage and packing. Then we will offer you balance of a set.

This week we will buy you a Jiffy-Jell dessert. Get it from your grocer and we will pay him for it. See offer below.

It will be Loganberry Jiffy-Jell—our finest berry flavor. It is free to you if you will buy one other flavor with it.

For Every Woman

This offer is made to old users and new. It is made to the lovers of Jiffy-Jell to start the new season. It is made to new users to let them know the Jiffy-Jell delights.

Every home should now put in a variety of Jiffy-Jell. People need fruit daily. Here you have eight fruits on call, at trifling cost, with a moment's trouble.

Fruit in Bottles

Jiffy-Jell alone contains the real fruit essence, in liquid form in glass. We crush the fruit, condense the juice and seal it. A bottle of this rich fruit essence comes in every package.

Thus you get a real-fruit dainty, not a mere fruit taste. You get the delights and healthfulness of fruit.

Fruit in Plenty

You get a wealth of fruit. We use, for instance, half a pineapple to flavor one Jiffy-Jell dessert. The fruit is crushed in Hawaii—fruit too ripe to ship.

Ten Flavors in Glass Vials

A bottle in each package

Mint Lime Cherry
Raspberry Loganberry
Strawberry Pineapple
Orange Lemon Coffee

Loganberry

Our finest berry flavor. A wealth of this condensed fruit juice comes in the bottle—sealed.

PINEAPPLE
JJ
Jiffy-Jell

Bottle in Package

Each fruit flavor is condensed fruit juice, and each comes sealed in glass.

Made with style—H—mold

Dessert for Six

A package serves six in mold form, or 12 if you whip the jell. And it usually costs less than the fruit alone would cost.

Jiffy-Jell
Real-Fruit Desserts
With condensed crushed fruits in liquid form in vials

So with all fruits. Each bottle contains the essence of much ripe fruit condensed. The fruit alone would often cost you more than the whole dessert.

Jiffy-Jell comes ready sweetened. It comes acidulated with lemon or grape acid. You simply add boiling water, as directed on package, then the fruit essence from the vial, and let cool. Thus, for a few cents, you can serve a real-fruit dainty, rich in fruit—light, healthful and delightful.

Millions of homes now enjoy it. You also will adopt it when you once compare it with the old-style gelatin desserts.

One-Week Offer

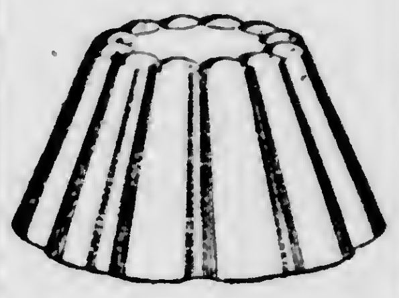
For this week only we make this offer. Buy from your grocer one or more packages. Then present the coupon and he will give you a package of Loganberry Jiffy-Jell free. We will pay him for it.

Serve it as our treat—enough for six. Accept this offer, then use the circle trade-marks to get the molds you want. Cut out the coupon so you won't forget.

For Salad Jell Jiffy-Jell in lime-fruit flavor makes a tart, green salad jell. Serve with your salads or mix the salad in before cooling. Then you have a zestful salad loaf. Or mix in meat scraps and make an appetizing meat loaf.

For Mint Jell Mint flavor makes a green mint jell to serve with meats, hot or cold. Or serve as an appetizing side-dish.

Gifts to users



Set of Six Dessert Molds

These individual dessert molds in aluminum come in sets of six, assorted styles. The six will serve a full package of Jiffy-Jell. Send 6 (JJ) trade-marks for the set, valued at 60 cents. We pay postage.

See also the offers on aluminum pint molds below.

Jiffy-Cup

An aluminum half-pint measuring cup. Fill twice with water to dissolve one package Jiffy-Jell. Use as a standard cup in all recipes. Send 2 trade-marks for this cup, postpaid.

Other Gifts to Users

Send us the (JJ) trade-marks in the circle on the front of each Jiffy-Jell package. Send 6 for any pint mold or the Set of Six. Send 2 for the Jiffy-Cup or 2 and 10 cents for the spoon.

The Pint Molds are as follows, valued at 50 cents each.
....Style—B—Heart-shaped.
....Style—C—Fluted.
....Style—D—Salad mold.
....Style—E—Pinnacle mold.
....Style—H—Star-shaped.

With any mold we send a recipe book, also pictures of all the molds, etc., which we offer free. Thus we help you serve this dainty in attractive ways,

STATE SYSTEM TO BE AIRED

Badger Educators to Be Told Wherein Methods Are Deficient.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 3.—Wisconsin's educational system is to have a thorough airing at the sixty-seventh annual meeting of the Wisconsin Teachers' association, which opens here tomorrow, C. M. Barr, its president, said today. Far-reaching results are expected from its discussions and recommendations, he said.

Three fundamental problems are to be considered by the meeting, including a proposed reorganization of the teachers' association, unification of the state educational system and a proposed state-wide educational survey. The underlying consideration of all discussions will be to determine why Wisconsin ranks thirty-third among the states of the country as judged by certain important particulars in the educational system, Mr. Barr said.

The most serious, and in many respects stormy, session in the history of the association is expected to result. There are already a number of sharply divided issues on which educators have differed and on which heated discussions are looked for. The president said that these issues would be brought out tomorrow and on Friday.

A committee of 100 on reorganization of the association is in session today. It has been called by the executive committee to combine and correlate the educational forces of the state in the establishment and maintenance of higher educational standards, according to Mr. Barr. The body will continue in session throughout the week and present its findings Friday morning.

With the opening of the regular meeting tomorrow afternoon John H. Finley, commissioner of education in New York, will explain the "New York Plan. With Comment." A general discussion will follow. This discussion is with a view to consideration of concentrated and unified power over education in Wisconsin as it now exists in New York, it is stated.

Educational Survey Report.

The proposed state-wide educational survey will come up for presentation Friday afternoon. At that time President F. A. Cotton of the La Crosse normal school will speak on the results secured by investigations in other states. Other speakers will be C. I. Harper, assistant state superintendent of schools; Philip P. Edwards of the Citizens' bureau, Milwaukee, and M. C. Potter of Milwaukee.

According to Mr. Barr a clash is expected Thursday evening when E. A. Fitzpatrick, secretary of the state board of education, and C. P. Cary, state superintendent of public instruction present their ideas of the situation. They are said to be opposed on practically all issues before the meeting and are expected to take this opportunity to say what they think to be the situation in Wisconsin.

The new governor is to speak on "Education and the State" tomorrow night. His stand on the present state educational issues is expected at that time.

A partial list of outside speakers to address the meeting includes P. P. Claxton, national commissioner of education; Irving Babbit, Harvard university; R. L. Lyman, University of Chicago; Olive Jones, principal special elementary schools, New York city; K. G. Smith, director of trade industrial education of Michigan; John H. Finley, commissioner of education, New York; George A. Works, professor of rural education, Cornell university, and Adelaide Baylor, Federal agent in vocational economics, Washington, D. C.

Addresses will be interspersed with discussions that will occupy considerable of the attention of teachers present, Mr. Barr said. With sharp division on all issues before the meeting, he said that some definite conclusions would be reached which would be presented to the legislature on behalf of the teachers of the state.

TO NORTHERN WILDS IN INTEREST OF JUSTICE

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 3.—Once more the Royal Canadian mounted police have gone into the far northern wilds in the interest of justice. This time it was to Belcher island, on the east coast of Hudson's bay. An Eskimo, who killed another member of his tribe, was sought.

Inspector J. W. Phillips and Sergeant A. H. Joy made the trip. They left Halleybury, Ont., Aug. 6 last, for Belcher island, and while they located the man wanted, he will not be brought from the North for trial, because it was established at the inquest that the Eskimo who did the killing acted in self-defense.

Inspector Phillips and his party went North by way of Moose Factory. From there they proceeded by a Hudson Bay company's boat to Charlton island. At this point they fell in with a couple of men who were prospecting and who accompanied the little force to Belcher island. They formed part of the jury.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 30c.

Mr. Hoffman Develops in Troco the flavor which made his butter famous

The process of making is essentially the same. Troco is churned from rich, snowy coconut fat instead of butter fat. Care and skill imparts the fine flavor which gives both Troco and butter their sweetness.

Thus the man who can make the finest butter knows how to make fancy Troco. Such a man supervises its production.

Famous in the butter world

He is A. E. Hoffman, for 30 years butter maker, judge and teacher.

Mr. Hoffman is famous in the butter world for the peculiar sweetness and delicacy of his butter. He puts the same sweetness and delicacy into Troco.

Finest plant in the country

We have built Mr. Hoffman a fine plant—of white tile and concrete—elaborate in equipment—perfect in sanitation.

This enables him to standardize the perfection of Troco and assure the user the unvarying deliciousness of every pound.

MORE STUDY TO BE RULE

Less Outside Activities Allowed Among Badger "U" Students.

Madison. Wis., Nov. 3.—The University of Wisconsin is no place for the scholastic loafer. A tightening of classroom requirements is following the wartime period, and is going to result in the curtailment of superfluous outside activities. Dean S. H. Goodnight said yesterday.

A convocation of freshmen in the college of letters and science called for this week is to be addressed by Prof. William H. Keikhofer. The need for more earnest application to work will be emphasized by him in his effort to inspire the first year men with a realization of the importance of study.

The freshman convocation is but the beginning of a series of meetings that will be held at regular intervals, Dean Goodnight said. It represents only one of the methods that are to be used in bringing about a higher scholastic average, he said.

University Exposition Plan Off.

The student life and interest committee of the faculty has already decided that the university exposition planned for this year will not be held. It has also determined to arrange the student calendar of events in such a way that various activities will be divided between the first and second semester so that there will not be such a heavy call on student interest.

Recently it was announced that examinations would be held earlier than previously and that they would be repeated at shorter intervals. A number of outside activities that previously have caused students to divert their attention from school work [illegible] .. attention will be cancelled as a result.

The dean had [illegible] said that while students [illegible] down more thoroughly this year than in the last there still remained great room for improvement of their attitude.

OBTAINS FILES OF OLDEST NEWSPAPER

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 3.—The American Antiquarian society has come into possession of a file extending over 130 years of what is said to be the oldest newspaper in the English-speaking world, the London Gazette. The file runs from the first issue of the paper, which was started as the Oxford Gazette, on Nov. 14, 1665, through the year 1796.

President Waldo Lincoln of the society says the Gazette "In many cases is the sole source of information for material relating to the American colonies. During the Revolution it is, of course, also of value in presenting the English side of the conflict."

PROFITS GO TO THE PENSION FUND

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Four hundred thousand dollars, the profits of the Methodist Book Concern this year, will be distributed as pensions to the retired ministers, and to the widows and orphans of ministers of the Methodist Episcopal church. There are 3,154 retired ministers, 3,601 widows and 563 orphans who will receive help from this fund, according to a statement issued by Robert H. Hughes, publishing agent at the Chicago headquarters, 740 Rush street.

The total sales to the end of September were $2,755,262, said Mr. Hughes. The banner depository is New York, which did a business of $1,380,760; Cincinnati, $546,306, and Chicago, $500,000. There has been a steady growth in book selling and other business done by the book concern. In 1917 the total sales amounted to $1,750,811; in 1918 to $1,880,554; in 1919 to $2,132,228. In 1920 there is an increase [illegible] over 1919 of over $600,000. [illegible] over for the last [illegible] the gross sales said, [illegible] years, Mr. Hughes [illegible] $8,519,855.

GRAPE FRUIT OR ORANGES DEMANDED BY THRESHERS

Granum, Alta., Nov. 3.—"Grape fruit or oranges for breakfast or we quit." This ultimatum was made to the operator of a threshing outfit east of here. Juicy Alberta-grown beef steak and porridge was not enough for the epicurean appetites of these men. They demanded a "balanced" diet. But they could not convince this particular thresherman of the justice of their claim, so they quit.

Society and Women's Clubs

It is none too soon to think of the Christmas gifts you are planning to make, and among the attractive things seen this fall are the fancy handkerchiefs for men as well as women. The work of making them is delightful and you could make a dozen or more and not have two alike—so many pretty ideas are possible.

The handkerchiefs for men are of white linen, and colored threads are set in at intervals and an initial embroidered in the colored thread, making a beautiful gift.

Those for women are made of all colors and shades of fine linen and in addition to the threads set in, there is generally a little embroidery in one or all corners.

Look on the remnant counters for linen and only buy a good quality. Of course linen is expensive and one or two of these handkerchiefs will make a lovely gift. Men's handkerchiefs are usually eighteen inches square, and women's any size you wish to make them, from ten to thirteen inches.

WOMEN ELIGIBLE TO HOLD OFFICE NOW

Attorney General Gives Ruling With Publication of Nineteenth Amendment.

The existing disability of women to hold office in Minnesota is effectively removed as a result of the ratification of the Nineteenth amendment to the United States Constitution, Clifford L. Hilton, attorney general, ruled yesterday in answer to an inquiry submitted by the National League of Women Voters.

The opinion follows:

"You ask whether the newly enfranchised women voters are eligible to hold public office under the Constitution and laws of this state.

"Our state constitution contains the provision that every male person of the age of 21 or upwards belonging to certain defined classes, who has resided in this state for six months next preceding any election, shall be entitled to vote at such election in the election district of which he shall at the time have been for thirty days a resident, for all officers that now are, or hereafter may be, elective by the people.

"Another section contained in this same article of the Constitution provides that: 'Every person, who by the provisions of this article shall be entitled to vote at any election, shall be eligible to any office which now is or hereafter shall be elective by the people in the district wherein he shall have resided thirty days previous to such election, except as otherwise provided in this Constitution and laws of the United States.'

"By the nineteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States it is provided that: 'The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any states on account of sex.'

"I am of the opinion that this section operates not only to expunge from the Constitution of this state the disqualification of women to vote at the election, but also that it expunges the provision restricting the right to hold office to male voters, and accordingly your question is answered in the affirmative."

MANY AT MEETING OF MATINEE MUSICALE

Mrs. Siewert, Myrtle Hobbs and Leonard Wilson Appear on Program.

Their first exercise of the complete elective franchise or the enthusiasm and keen interest attendant on election did not keep music lovers of Duluth from attending the second in the series of biweekly meetings of the Matinee Musicale, given at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the auditorium of the Masonic temple.

Announcement made by Mrs. Ernest Lachmund, president of the Matinee Musicale, that at the last minute it had been made impossible for Mrs. Frances Berg Ober to contribute her group of four piano numbers to the afternoon's program, was received with disappointment by the capacity audience. The excellent rendition of numbers by the other musicians went far, however, toward dispelling the feeling of thwarted expectation.

In her offering of two organ solos, Mrs. A. B. Siewert, displayed a thorough understanding of the technique of the organ and a sympathetic apprehension of the theme. The first gave particularly good opportunity for displaying this art when she offered the Second Sonata from Mendelssohn in which she brought out the low and deep, the slow, the quick and sprightly, and an interweaving of several melodies into a complex whole. The full message of the author was revealed in the other number, the Swan Song, by Saint Saens.

Three songs of childhood as sweet and lovely as they were truly characteristic of childhood days, were offered by Miss Myrtle Hobbs, soprano, together with "There Is a Garden," and "If You Would Love Me," the former by Proctor and the latter by MacDermid. Miss Hobbs won whole hearted applause in each of her offerings.

His tenor voice of winning and pleasing qualities, was displayed by Lionel C. Wilson in his group of three numbers "Mother o' Mine," Tours; "Morning Hymn," Henschel; "Onaway, Awake Beloved," from Hiawatha's Wedding Feast," by Coleridge-Taylor, and to which he added upon request from the program committee two numbers, "Out of the Darkness," by d'Havelot and "Loves Philosophy," Huhn. Mr. Wilson displayed beauty and a particularly endearing quality of tone.

Mrs. R. W. Hotchkiss, who is better known for her musical compositions, was accompanist for Miss Hobbs and for Mr. Wilson. In each part she displayed a gripping power of bringing out the central theme with feeling modulated to the several parts.

On Nov. 8, Miss Carlotta Simonds will give a talk on the Percy Grainger program at Miss Josephine Carey's studio, 203 Eighth avenue east, to which all members of the musicale are invited. Percy Grainger will open the artist's course at the First M. E. church on Nov. 12. Tickets for the recital may be had for men and nonresident members, from members of the Matinee Musicale.

Rev. E. C. Kreitlow To Talk at Bethel

The women's meeting will be held at the Bethel, Mesaba avenue and West First street, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. E. C. Kreitlow, pastor of Hope Evangelical church, will be the speaker. A social half hour will conclude the afternoon.

Home Environment for Girls Urged

That the home environment is the greatest factor in developing in the lives of the young Americans those characteristics and qualifications which are conducive to the better things in life, was the theme of a talk made by Mother Mary Elleker, O. S. D., when she addressed members of the Duluth Council of Catholic Women at the cathedral clubrooms yesterday afternoon.

As a means of giving to working girls of Duluth who do not live at home something more closely akin to the atmosphere of a home life than that afforded in the average rooming house, the Duluth council has combined effort and financial aid in procuring and furnishing a home within walking distance of the city for the girls who wish to avail themselves of the benefits and pleasures of such. The Corpus Christie sisters will be in charge.

Addressing the meeting, Rt. Rev. John T. McNicholas called upon the council members and all others friendly to the work of that society for 100 per cent support in carrying out such measures as will be undertaken in the near future in making a city-wide campaign for welfare workers, which he will conduct.

Mrs. J. F. Killorin, president, called upon the following chairmen who gave reports of their departments: Mrs. T. A. Wells, membership; Mrs. M. H. Kelley, girls' welfare; Mrs. C. E. Van Bergen, Tabernacle society; Mrs. W. H. Magie, St. James' orphanage. Mrs. Magie asked for donations of men's clothing, particularly the trousers, for the orphanage, as the sisters have found that the made-over suits will outwear two of those purchased at the present time, owing to the poorer quality of materials used.

Mrs. Fred Sermon, who was a delegate to the Minnesota Conference of Social Agencies in Minneapolis recently, gave an interesting account of the meetings, outlining the stress placed upon the home surroundings, the mental test, and the legal status of illegitimate children, by all the speakers in the department of delinquency, the one to which she was attached.

At the close of the meeting, which was largely attended, a social hour was spent. Presiding at the tea table was Mrs. John Foran, assisted by Mrs. E. F. Donahue and Mrs. T. F. Sheridan.

There will be a meeting of the board of directors of the council in the clubrooms on Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Opportunity Given for Playground Workers

Announcement has been given out at the Y. W. C. A. that beginning today and continuing through tomorrow and Friday a special course in recreational work will be given at the "Y" afternoons from 4:30 to 5:30 and evenings from 7 to 8 o'clock, to be conducted by Miss Edna Giester of the national board, author of "Icicles," that book on playground work which is generally conceded by persons engaged in recreational work to be the most comprehensive book of its nature to date. This course is designed particularly for playground workers, Sunday school teachers, leaders in "Y" clubs, extension secretaries and leaders of girls' clubs.

The retirement of Miss Geister from the national board of the Y. W. C. A. is one of the changes effected in bringing the "Y" back to pre-war organization.

AT THE THEATERS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

ORPHEUM—Victor Moore-Emma Littlefield and company; other acts.
NEW GARRICK—Royal Harmony Five; other features.

ORPHEUM—When the dancing vogue was at its height, dancers came into prominence very much as mushrooms do. The supply increased manyfold over night. Dancing still continues and always will be a popular pastime and entertainment. But the dance-mad craze is over and most of the mushroom dancers have gone back to their various trades leaving only a survival of the fittest. Among these most fit are the dancing Kennedys. This pair have been stable entertainers for some time. They worked their way to the top and like artful craftsmen, made the ascent so assured that once they reached the summit they were capable of staying there. For a season they were the featured dancers of Weber and Fields all-star jubilee. They have been featured dancers with other musical comedies and are always feature dancers whenever they are in vaudeville. They have an attractive program, which is attractively executed.

Sousa Coming Here Saturday.

John Philip Sousa and his world-famous band will be in Duluth Saturday. During the afternoon thousands of children from Duluth, Superior, Two Harbors and many other neighboring towns will welcome the march king at the New Armory and in the evening Sousa and his band will give their regular concert. Mrs. Stephen H. Jones, who is sponsoring this engagement, has made elaborate preparations for Sousa's reception and virtually all of the musical bodies of the city will be at the Armory.

Sousa has done more to popularize music among the people than any other leader, it is said, and his marches have won for him the title of the "march king."

NEW GRAND—Vaudeville goers always delight in hokum, so-called—airy nonsense, which has no other excuse than to get a laugh. In the offering of Hawthorne and Cook, one of the two headlined acts on the bill closing at the New Grand tonight, they have an example of what it is as well as what it is not. There is so much in the act that is real wit and real humor, not dependent upon "nut comedy," one hesitates to rank them as anything but real comedians. They evidently are intimately acquainted with the thousand and one ways to strike the funny-bone. The act is only one of many good things on the bill, which has made one of the biggest hits of any show in recent weeks. There will be an entire change of bill tomorrow with "The Quaker Village Follies," a frolic of songs and dances, and Eugene Emmett, "The Irish Minstrel," among the attractions.

PHOTOPLAYS

NEW LYRIC—Emma Dunn in "Old Lady 31."
ZELDA—Shirley Mason in "Merely Mary Ann."
STRAND—"Humoresque" with Alma Rubens.
NEW GARRICK—Pauline Frederick in "Madame X."
NEW ASTOR—"The Return of Tarzan."

NEW GARRICK—There are a number of exciting and yet funny scenes in "High and Dizzy," Harold Lloyd's comedy feature at the New Garrick with "Madame X," which are causing much comment and speculation among patrons. Lloyd is shown on the ledge of a high building, in the characterization of a man suffering from imbibing too much home brew. He wobbles around on the edge, one foot even slips off, and then, to cap the climax, a girl sleepwalker comes out and he follows her. In the various scenes one can very plainly see the people moving along the sidewalk, four or five stories below, and there is no evidence of any precaution the players may have taken to prevent being dashed to pieces in a tumble from their precarious situation. The picture is without question one of the most entertaining in which Lloyd has been seen here recently. The program, with "Madame X," generally admitted to represent the triumph of Pauline Frederick's brilliant career, is one with greater and more general appeal than any of the season.

NEW LYRIC—Toward the sunset of his and Angie's life, Abe found he had lost what little money he had, that he had to give up his snug little cottage, and—bitterest of all—Angie, too. There was no place for her but the old ladies' home. He solved the dilemma by entering the institution himself as "Old Lady 31," but he found, despite the success of his scheme, that one man to thirty women, as he expressed it, "a kinder belittlin' ratio." The complications which ensue, first the interest, then the jealousies of the widows and old maids, provide some of the most humorous and most interesting scenes to come to the New Lyric screen under the name the home gave Abe that he might be admitted, "Old Lady 31." Emma Dunn, who made a tremendous artistic success of the role of Angie when the play was presented on the stage, has the role in the picture. Henry Harmon, also in the stage production, has the role of Abe in the picture. A comedy special and other pictures will make up the list of additional attractions.

STRAND—Regardless of the weather, "Humoresque" continues to attract capacity crowds at the Strand. There is real humor and real pathos in the film version of the Fannie Hurst story. There is also real characterization of real people.

Vera Gordon is a name worth remembering, for the owner thereof, comparatively unknown to the cinema, has impressed it indelibly upon the pages of time as truly representative of ardent mother love, a filial affection so intense that it is concerned with nought else but the happiness of her offspring. You will understand her inherent discovery of the musical genius of her youthful boy even though he manifests this talent by preferring the "feedle" (violin) to the toy cash register which, his commercial father holds, makes the most agreeable music. You will chuckle at her tolerant treatment of her half dozen or more children; you'll laugh heartily at the comic passages of her family rearing, and you'll weep copiously during the tender moments.

For such is the skill of Vera Gordon as the mother and such is the intensity of "Humoresque" which all Duluth must see to witness fine acting and a rare picture.

ZELDA—Israel Zangwill's famous play, "Merely Mary Ann," produced as a motion picture by the Fox Film corporation, with Shirley Mason as the star, will begin a three-day engagement at the Zelda theater today. The role of the young "slavey" in the London boarding house is admirably suited to Miss Mason's dainty quaintness. The play owed its success on the stage to its delightful blending of humor and pathos, and the force of every situation is intensified in the film version, which was scenarized and directed by Edward J. Le Saint. Miss Mason is expected to overtop the success she made with "Her Elephant Man," "Love's Harvest" and "The Little Wanderer"—all Fox productions. She is supported by an exceptional cast, containing such well-known players as Casson Ferguson, leading man; Harry Spingler, Georgia Woodthorpe, Babe London and "Kewpie" Morgan.

NEW ASTOR—The New Astor was thronged from early morning until late last night with enthusiastic admirers of the "Tarzan" stories and characters to see the latest, "The Son of Tarzan," the story of the exploits of the son of "Tarzan of the Apes," who got back in an unusual manner to the wilderness where his father grew up to manhood, nurtured by an ape family. The natural instincts inherited from his father enable him to become master of the jungle and its denizens, and he proves his right to reign in many combats. He gains a fair companion by heroic rescue from cruel hands and these two grow up to manhood and womanhood in the wilderness, facing innumerable dangers together. The production lives up to the enthusiastic laudations given it, and with William S. Hart in "The Devil's Double" makes a remarkably entertaining show. It will run today and tomorrow. Friday Mary Miles Minter in "Anne of Green Gables" and "Trailed by Three" will be the chief attractions.

Early "U" Graduate Dies.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 3.—Mrs. Elizabeth Bingham, one of the first graduates from the homeopathic college of the University of Minnesota and former superintendent of Maternity hospital, Minneapolis, died Monday at the home of a son in Tomahawk, Wis., of heart trouble. She was born in Glasgow, Scotland, in 1840, and moved to Minnesota with her family in 1860. Funeral will be held here, burial in Greenwood.

Air Pilot Killed.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 3.—L. E. Tucker, commercial airplane pilot of Riverside, Cal., was killed here yesterday when his airplane fell 200 feet. M. M. Langley, Los Angeles, a passenger, suffered a fractured skull.

HOW NOT TO JUDGE MARRIED PEOPLE.

All successful married life is a compromise.

No one who has been married more than a week needs to be told that.

Nine-tenths of the couples you and I know, are conducting their lives on a basis that represents a course midway between the way that each would conduct it if he or she were unmarried. Perhaps, though, I'd better qualify that. Midway means right in the middle, doesn't it? And where one of the parties is more self-willed than the other the course the two take is not in the middle, it is well over to the side of the one with the stronger determination to have his or her own way.

But be that as it may, unless one of them has an absolutely abnormal selfishness the conduct of their life does not represent one personality, but two. Why, then, do we persist in judging a married person's act as if they were committed by an individual, and criticizing them accordingly?

They Have to Compromise.

For that is just what we are constantly doing. Just the other day I heard some people criticizing a woman in our neighborhood because she does not have her mother come to live with her except for a few months in the summer, but lets her live with an unmarried sister in a tiny apartment. "And just think, Mrs. P. has that big house and no one but herself and her husband in it. She always was selfish, though."

Now how do they know that not having her mother represents Mrs. P's own wish and not that of her husband? "They" (meaning the married women who were making the criticisms) know they have to compromise with their husbands on family affairs. Why not have the decency to realize that she probably has to do the same.

How Can He?

Again, one hears a man criticized for not saving money. But how can a man who has a hopeless spendthrift for a wife save money? Their course very likely represents a compromise between getting in debt as she would if left to herself, and saving a tidy sum as he would if he were ganging his own gait.

The way the children are brought up cannot be credited to (or blamed upon) either parent, either. I know a man who is one of the most democratic, simple hearted men living. His children go to exclusive private schools. This represents a compromise (the kind I spoke of in the third paragraph) between his wishes and that of an extremely self-willed wife.

Would You Expect This?

It is as absurd to judge the acts of any married man or woman just the same as you would judge an unmarried adults' acts, as it would be to expect the chemical combination which two elements fused together will form to have the same properties as either individual element. Marriage is, or should be, a chemical combination. Sometimes, of course, it is only a mixture and not a combination at all. But in that case it is exceedingly likely to dissolve into its component parts, with the help of the court.

REQUESTED PICKLING RECEIPTS.

N. C.—Sweet Pickled Citron melon: Cut a heavy citron melon into quarters, pare and remove the seeds, then cut the quarters into small cubes. Put these into the preserving kettle with water to cover and boil until tender enough to be pierced with a broom splint. Drain and put the citron back into the preserving kettle with the following sirup: 1 quart of vinegar and ¾ of a pound of granulated sugar boiled for five minutes together with 2 ounces of stick cinnamon and 2 ounces of whole cloves. This quantity of sirup is sufficient for 7 pounds of citron. Let the sirup and citron cook down until rich and heavy, when it should be turned into either glass jars or a stone crock.

Mrs. S.—Green Tomato Mincemeat: Slice a quantity of green tomatoes and sprinkle them well with salt. Put them into a large cheesecloth bag and let them drain over night. In the morning do not wash off the salt that is left on the tomatoes. Cook equal weights of granulated sugar and the drained tomatoes until tender. To 7 pounds of the combined, cooked tomato and sugar mixture add 3 pounds of seedless raisins with mace and cinnamon to suit the taste. Cook for a few minutes after adding the seasoning and put into jars. This will keep without being sealed.

Apple-Tomato Mincemeat: 1 peck of green tomatoes, 2 quarts apples, 3 pounds granulated sugar and 2 pounds brown sugar, 2 lemons, ½ pint cider, 3 tablespoons ground cinnamon, 2 tablespoons ground allspice, 2 tablespoons ground cloves, 1 teaspoon grated nutmeg, 2 pounds dried currants, 2 pounds seedless raisins, 1½ tablespoons salt. Put the tomatoes through the food chopper and place them in the preserving kettle with water nearly to cover; let boil until they begin to take on a yellowish color, then drain. Chop the lemons, rejecting the seeds, and also chop the peeled apples; add these to the drained tomatoes with the sugar, salt and cider, letting this mixture boil slowly until almost thick enough to use for pie filling, then add the raisins, currants and spices and boil for 20 minutes longer. Pack into hot, sterilized jars and seal.

Bride—Pumpkin to Use Later for Pies: Peel pumpkin, remove seeds and cut into convenient size. Place in wire basket and blanch in boiling water for 3 minutes; then cold-dip, pack into hot, sterilized water, adjust rubbers and cover, partially seal, and sterilize under boiling water for 90 minutes. Completely seal. Invert to test for leaks. When you wish to open the jars to make your pies, simply proceed as though you were using the fresh pumpkin and follow a recipe for pumpkin pie.

Squash may be canned in exactly the same way. Tomorrow's article, entitled "Pumpkin Pie as the Dinner Dessert," will contain recipes for squash and pumpkin pies which you will find delicious.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

"TINKER BOB" STORIES

By CARLYSLE H. HOLCOMB

RED FOX HAS A SECRET.

I wonder if you have guessed who it was that the king saw through the underbrush? Well, I'll tell you—it was Red Fox, and he had come to see Tinker Bob for the same purpose that Jerry the Jay had been there for a few moments before. Yes, just to tell a secret.

"You don't need to be afraid," said Tinker Bob, "for there's no one here that will harm you." Tinker knew there was something on Red Fox's mind.

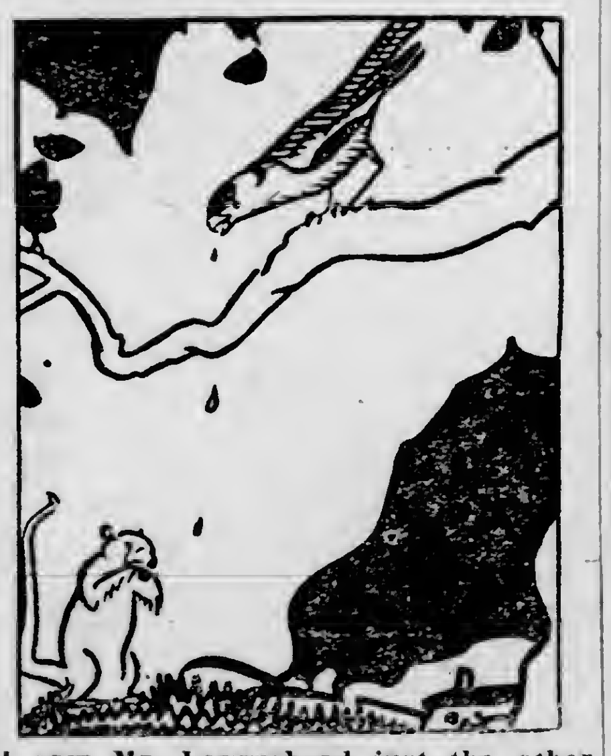
Red Fox was not the kind of a fellow that took advice from even the king of the forest. He was born that way. So he looked first to one side and then to the other side to satisfy himself that all was well, then he came close to the king and began to speak.

"Oh king of the forest, I know a stranger thing than ever the saucy Jay Bird told, for he told you something that was not new."

"Red Fox," said Tinker Bob, "you are quite a wonderful fellow. I knew your father when he was carrying Lady Duck to the river and I knew all of your brothers, but you have the reddest hair of all and I like you even though you are a daring fellow of the forest. Pray tell me what do you know that is more wonderful than the things that Jerry told. You know that it is very wonderful to run away with the moon. It will be more wonderful if O Possum doesn't fall off his swing and break his nose on the ground. But tell me what is your secret?"

Red Fox stood very close to the king, so close that his cold nose touched the king's cheek. "Oh king, I know more about Mr. Loggerhead than Jerry the Jay ever did. You see, Mr. Loggerhead didn't know the fellow he was quarreling with when he started a fuss with Rufus the Tree Mouse. Really, Mr. Rat, Rufus' grandfather, is a good friend to Mr. Loggerhead, and to think that he would start a fight with the grandson of such a fellow as Mr. Rat is terrible. I saw Mr. Loggerhead just the other day dropping food down from the tree top to Mr. Rat.

"And that isn't all, Oh king. Do you know that the bundle of food that Rufus the Tree Mouse had on his shoulder was the food that Mr. Loggerhead had dropped down to Mr. Rat from the top of a beech tree?"



I saw Mr. Loggerhead just the other day dropping food down from the tree top to Mr. Rat.

Tinker Bob was astonished at the thought of such a thing. "Then," said he, "you mean to say that Mr. Loggerhead gathered the food for Rufus in the first place?" Tinker Bob shut the door of his palace. "Now, Red Fox, you and I shall see whether this fellow gathers the food the second time. You stand right here till I call the wonderful creature of my desire and she will take us to the place where we can know it all."

Tinker Bob tapped the stone of knowledge and the beautiful creature came quickly.

PRESIDENT, SENATE AND HOUSE REPUBLICAN

where the Republican tide was running strong.

Large Majority.

The unofficial results presaged a larger majority in the electoral college for Senator Harding and his running mate, Governor Coolidge of Massachusetts, than any since 1888, except alone the vote of 435 for President Wilson in 1912, during the Republican "split."

The Republican congressional swing was as strong, increased majorities in both senate and house being marked up. Early today victory for virtually all fifteen Republican senators for reelection was spelled by the returns, while about a half dozen of the nineteen Democratic candidates were battling against Republican leads.

The first trial of woman suffrage contributed largely to the Republican majorities and also was a factor in delaying the count in many states. The millions of women's ballots also swelled the popular vote beyond all records.

Senator Harding accepted his victory without exultation, stating that he was "more given to prayer to God to make me capable of playing my part." To Governor Coolidge, the next vice president, he sent a message stating:

"We've got a real job and we'll tackle it together."

Cox Withholds Comment.

Governor Cox also received his defeat without untoward show of feeling. He withheld any comment, after remaining at his newspaper office at Dayton, Ohio, until almost midnight and seeing his own paper issue an early extra edition recounting his defeat.

Senator Harding, Governor Coolidge, Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican national committee, and other Republican leaders exchanged telegrams of congratulations. Senator Harding commended Mr. Hays "upon successful management of a great campaign" and also told Governor Coolidge that he would expect him to "play a full part in the coming Republican administration."

The League of Nations issue was stressed by Senator Borah of Idaho, prominent among the league's foes, in a statement declaring that he regarded the election as "the triumph for nationalism and the death of the League of Nations."

Minor Parties Not in It.

None of the minor parties—the Socialist, Farmer-Labor nor Prohibition—figured in the presidential result. Socialist headquarters at Chicago claimed an increased vote and the party re-elected three New York Socialist assemblymen who had been expelled. The first woman Socialist ever elected to the New York assembly, Marion H. Laing, also was successful.

Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist presidential candidate, received the returns in Atlanta penitentiary.

The Farmer-Labor candidate, Parley P. Christensen of Salt Lake City, had not been located at an early hour today.

Senator Harding, with the receipt of the ballot tidings on his fifty-fifth birthday, announced plans for vacation begining next Friday. He will spend several days near Brownsville, Tex., and then tour the Panama canal zone. Governor Cox also is planning a vacation on a hunting trip in Mississippi.

New York, Ohio—the home of both Senator Harding and Governor Cox—Illinois and Pennsylvania furnished the largest Republican pluralities. That of New York, where Governor Smith, Democrat, and Nathan L. Miller, Republican, were neck-and-neck in the gubernatorial fight—was close to the million mark; Ohio was around 150,000; Illinois, at the present ratio about 800,000, and Pennsylvania about 400,000.

In California, where Senator Phelan, Democrat, was trailing far behind Samuel M. Shortridge, Republican, and with Senator Harding even farther ahead on the ticket, adoption of the alien land law amendment, relating to Japanese land tenure, had a wide majority.

Prohibition was a subject not reflected upon the face of erturns, but Representative Volstead of Minnesota, author of the prohibition enforcement law, was in a close race.

Republican governors in Connecticut, Illinois, where Former Senator Lewis was defeated by Len Small—Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan and New Hampshire were successful and in Tennessee Governor Roberts, upon unofficial returns was behind Alf Taylor, Republican, but the Democrats claim Roberts election.

MIXED VERDICT AT THE POLLS

broken parents welcome even at this late date some faint reminder of their sons' heroism. These silent voters are received into the soil of the land they sought to defend.

Original Objects Forgotten.

And yet in the great presidential election where party bitterness and the friction of the contest has prevailed, the thought has unquestionably been of issues and subjects far afield from the sacrifice these troopers have made. The effort to stop war has gotten little encouragement from America in the last two years. Had the fatalities been as great in the American army as they were in the French, the people of the United States might have felt more deeply the wounds of war. There might have been more demand for constructive ideas on the prevention of war. The campaign has unfortunately centered on domestic grievances. Such scant attention as was given to the greatest of all problems—world peace—was concentrated on violent criticism of the one plan offered, and thus many people have been led to forget the original objects and principles of the whole thing.

The new president of the United States will have great responsibilities. He deserves sympathy as much as congratulations For the thousands of boys who are returning home in the white plue boxes come as mute reminders of American duty still undone. It may be "the" league or "a" league, but it will be some kind of a league of nations, something that will fulfill the pledges made when America entered the war—and it will be that responsibility which the new president will face.

Such is the underlying psychology of this election—and when the parades of triumph and the happy plaudits of victory have died down there will come stronger and stronger the spirit of these silent voters to demand a real contribution from America to world peace.

PREUS. HILTON, DIBELL LEAD IN THE STATE

pressed by O. J. Larson, Republican, in the Eighth district, and while other contests also were close, the incumbents had slight margins in every case, including Congressman A. J. Volstead in the Seventh district.

For attorney general, 354 precincts out of 3,220 in the state give: Hilton, 45,967; McOuat, 4,263; Sullivan, 21,573, including 52 precincts in Hennepin county, giving Hilton, 12,415; McOuat, 1,528; Sullivan, 7,873 and 20 precincts in Ramsey county giving Hilton, 1,983; McOuat, 547; Sullivan, 1,915.

Dibell Leading.

For supreme court, 276 precincts out of 3,220 in the state give Dibell 23,768; Siegel, 15,876. This includes fourteen precincts in Hennepin county, which gave Dibell 2,220; Siegel 1,282 and twenty precincts in Ramsey county giving Dibell 1,712, Siegel 2,100.

Congressional results were only meager up to an early hour, due to precedence given by precinct judges in tabulating other contests.

Congressional summary:

First district—31 precincts give Anderson, 4,698; Reiter, 1,951.

Second district—18 precincts give: Clague, 2,562; Simon, 167; Fuller, 519.

Third district—50 precincts give: Davis, 6,958; Millett, 3,322; Pomadt, 2,260.

Sixth district—81 precincts give: Knutson, 7,949; Lindberg, 3,553.

Seventh district—54 precincts give: Volstead, 5,222; Mitchell, 524; Kvale, 4,185.

Eighth district—27 precincts give: Larson, 1,736; Carss, 1,902.

Ninth district—60 precincts give: Steenerson, 3,860; Thormodson, 2,499; Jeffers, 1,142.

Tenth district—23 precincts give: Schall, 3,521; Finlayson, 201; Soltis, 1,063.

REPUBLICANS MAKE GAINS IN HOUSE, SENATE

of the appropriations committee and other prominent committee chairmen.

Comparatively few changes in committee chairmanships are expected to result in either senate or house, but an increase of Republican membership and decrease in the Democratic usually follows a marked change in political lineup.

Taxation, tariff and other fiscal measures will remain in charge of Senator Penrose, chairman of the house ways and means committee, both of whom were re-elected.

To Continue as Chairman.

Senator Wadsworth of New York is expected to continue as chairman of the senate military affairs committee and, under the seniority rule, Representative Kahn of California, also reelected, would continue in like capacity for the house committee.

Most of the important senate committee chairmanships remain in the hands of senators not involved in yesterday's elections.

By defeat of Senator Gronna of North Dakota in the primaries, Senator Norris of Nebraska is next in line to head the agriculture committee. Senator Cummins of Iowa, chairman of the interstate commerce committee, was reported in a hard fight, but leading his adversary.

Among prospective changes in house committee heads is probable promotion of Representative McFadden Pennsylvania banker, who clashed with John Skelton Williams, comptroller of currency, to the chairmanship of the house banking committee, succeeding Representative Platt of New York, retiring.

Magney	9,556	6,097	15,649

Magney Is Victor.

C. R. Magney, former mayor of Duluth, appears to be a sure winner for the third place on the district court bench made vacant by the retirement of Judge J. D. Ensign. Judges Cant and Fesler were re-elected to their places and Magney has a lead of about 2,700 votes over his nearest opponent, Warren E. Greene, for the third place to be filled.

The returns on the judgeship fight show the standing to be as follows:

	Cant.	Fesler.	Magney.	Greene.
St. Louis Co., Incomplete	24,319	22,209	15,649	13,560
Lake Co., 9 out of 15 precincets	1,297	1,163	924	612
Carlton Co., without Cloquet	1,147	997	976	615
Totals	26,763	24,369	17,549	14,787

Johnson Is Winner.

One of the contests that has roused the most interest is that for clerk of district court between J. P. Johnson, incumbent, and W. B. Shaver of Virginia. All indications up to this afternoon are that Johnson has been reelected by a wide margin. The range supported Mr. Shaver to some extent, but not as much as was expected, while Duluth stood by Johnson strongly and gave him an almost 2-to-1 vote. In the county, outside of the city, he ran reasonably close to the range man. This afternoon with most city precincts in and in the neighborhood of thirty from the county reporting, the vote stood as follows:

	City.	County.	Total.
Johnson	12,092	3,035	15,127
Shaver	6,760	3,711	10,471

In Legislative Fight.

For the legislature some interesting contests have resulted and some close fights are resulting. However, in the Fifty-seventh, Marcus B. Cullum appears to have it pretty easy. With most precincts in his district reporting Mr. Cullum has 6,282 votes to 1,545 for Skrove. In the Fifty-eighth district, with most precincts reporting, Frank Scribner leads with 2,749 votes, Bob Patterson next with 2,175, just one more than that scored by George Lockhart, and Charles Esse brings up the rear with 1,199 votes. In the Fifty-ninth district John Goodwin leads with about 1,850 votes and Representative Bernard comes next, close up, with Jedlicka trailing. A good many precincts are still to report in this district.

In the county commissioner fights, Alex Fraser is apparently returned, having, with most precincts reporting, 1,673 votes to 1,474 for Schneider. In the Third, Griffith came up from behind since morning and is leading Commissioner Swanstrom this afternoon and in the Fifth, Commissioner Becks is considerably ahead of Charles Kauppi and his lead is increasing as returns come in.

Stanfield Leads.

Portland, Or., Nov. 3.—Robert Stanfield, Republican, has a lead over United States Senator Chamberlain in 713 precincts. Chamberlain received 13,161 votes and Stanfield 15,173.

WHERE FOSSILS ARE MINED.

Popular Mechanics: If the skeleton in a museum is a "dinohyus" or a "moropus," one may be quite sure that it came from farm of James Henry Cook in the northwest corner of Nebraska, and the chances are almost equally good if the specimen happens to be a saber-toothed cat or a many-toed horse, or almost any of those queer animals that belong to the early Miocene period.

Most ranchmen and farmers are quite content to raise the ordinary sort of stock, but here is a ranch that is most widely known because of its output of prehistoric animals.

The Cook farm and ranch, located close to the Wyoming line, comprise some 15,000 acres. On the eastern edge of the ranch the Niobrara river has laid bare two hills, from both of which scores and scores of fossil skeletons have been quarried.

ONE OR THE OTHER.

Kansas City Star: "My cousin, Dood Durnitt, from over in Shellback county, that's visiting at our house, says the day before he left home a passel of fellers digging in the bluff extricated a mummy," related Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge, Ark.

"What in thunder will they do with a mummy?" surprisedly asked an acquaintance.

"Dodd says they hadn't done nut'n with it when he came away but some folks were advising 'em to go into the op'ry business and show it around the fairs in a tent, and others thought they ort to elect it to the legislature."

BAGPIPES ONCE GREEK.

Detroit News: While bagpipes are now identified with Scotland only, and the sound of them instantly conveys a picture of plaids and highland flings, the fact is that the bagpipes are one of the most ancient instruments known to man, and at one time were universal throughout Europe, Scotland being the only nation to retain them as an active musical instrument, although the Irish pipes are but a variation of the bagpipes and are still to be heard in rural Ireland.

The invention of the pipes is credited to the ancient Greeks, and a similar instrument to the Hebrew tribes. In the fifteenth century the bagpipe was the favorite instrument throughout Germany. The first instruments were constructed from the hide of a sheep, and through holes in the side four pipes were thrust. One of them, the chanter, had holes similar to those of a flute and was capable of reproducing a number of notes. The other three were drones and could sound but a single note. Little change has been made in the instrument through the centuries except in the matter of decoration and the range of tunes that are identified with the harsh skirling.

CHINESE PRINTING.

Detroit News: The Chinese method of printing still in operation was in use five centuries before Caxton's discoveries in Europe in the Eleventh century. It is a system of block printing similar to the methods used by the modern engraver, although without the latter's machine aids. A block of plum or pear wood about the size of a sheet of foolscap is used, each block containing two pages of type matter. It is smoothed down and then soaked for some time in water. The matter to be printed is transferred to the block exactly as school boys transfer the colored pictures that once came from Germany, the Chinese printer using a cloth instead of his tongue, however.

After the characters are transferred a cutter digs out the wood a quarter of an inch deep wherever the impression shows, and the plate is ready for the printer. That individual merely fills up the hollow spots with ink, places a sheet of paper over it, and then passes a pad over the back of the paper, thus pressing it into the ink. The blocks are good for from 16,000 to 18,000 impressions, after which they can be retouched, and another 10,000 made.

NEW YORK'S FLY MARKET.

New York Sun: New York once had a district known as the "Fly Market." A variety of other businesses now occupy the old site of the market, and the name itself is no longer to be found except in old histories of lower New York.

Despite the name, the fly market had nothing to do with flies, though from its proximity to the famous swamp of the leather district it no doubt had more than its share of the pestiferous insects. The site was on the corner of Maiden Lane and Pearl street, and the name was conferred in this wise:

Cornelius Clopper, a brawny blacksmith, set up in business on that corner and did a thriving trade with Brooklyn and Long Island farmers, who had to pass to and from the East River ferry. Soon the smithy completely overshadowed the quieter laundering that gave Maiden Lane its name and Clopper's location was called the Smith's valley, or in Dutch, the Smit's V'Lei. This was soon shortened into V'Lei and later corrupted into Fly.

It became the popular name for the section, and when the first public market sheds were built on land reclaimed from a little tract of salt marsh at that point, every one called them the fly market.

PEARL FISHERS.

Detroit News: At the top of Australia, where the Cape York peninsula ends in the sea, are the Torres straits. Here the pearl fisherman comes with his lugger. The pearling fleets are large and small, and put to sea every few weeks, attended by a mother schooner, which carries the stores and cares for them as a hen cares for her chicks. Each lugger has a crew of four or five Japanese, who live amidships in a box of a cabin.

The luggers reach the fishing grounds and drift across the beds. Some divers use dresses, others descend naked.

The dressed divers descend to a considerable depth and can stay below an unlimited time, but have the disadvantage of demanding high wages.

The naked divers, from long practice, can remain on the bottom three or four minutes, in which time, if the beds are good, a basket is filled with shell. Coming to the surface, they are sent to lie on the decks and recover. In the meantime another man descends. Where the beds are shallow and the shell is plentiful these men work as effectively as the dressed divers, but where the beds are deep and shell is scarce, the diving dress is essential.

JOHN L.'S APOLOGY.

Philadelphia Ledger: We were discussing the differing scales of values that make one man's meat another's poison.

A friend of Theodore Roosevelt told a story of John L. Sullivan's visit to the White House to make intercession in behalf of a nephew who had been discharged from the navy.

"What sort of a chap is he?" asked the president, in his straight-flung fashion.

"Mr. President," said the great and only "Jawn," laying a hairy paw confidingly on Mr. Roosevelt's knee, "the boy's all right, except he's got a few low tastes. He's fond of music and them things."

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

MINIMUM WAGE LAW AIDS BADGER WOMEN

Madison, Wis., Nov. 3.—Women's wages in Wisconsin, although they have increased more proportionately, still are below those of men workers, the industrial commission reports after tabulating the average pay of 220 women who were injured and drew compensation in the first half of 1920. Wages of the women averaged $14.69 a week compared to $9.42 two years ago, while men receive an average of $22.99 weekly now.

A check-up on wages has resulted from the application of Wisconsin's minimum wage law enacted in 1919. Through the industrial commission 206 telephone operators have collected $22,439.23 back pay under the law up to Oct. 15, it is reported.

Back pay has also been paid to 1,442 women employes in tobacco stemming warehouses, the total amounting to $5,564.76. In miscellaneous industries pay amounting to $1,284.63 due to sixty-eight women has been collected.

The commission says that while the Wisconsin minimum wage law of 22 cents an hour is less than the rate in most other states having such laws, there is no question but that the establishment of the rate has had the effect of materially increasing women's wages throughout Wisconsin.

CHANGING SLEIGHS' WIDTH TO MEET LAW

International Falls, Minn., Nov. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Local teamsters are busy widening their sleighs to conform with the law which requires them to be of standard width—fifty-four inches from center to center—after Jan. 1. The sleighs will then travel in the tracks and ruts of the wagons and autos, which fact it is believed will improve road service during the winter for all vehicles.

The teamsters fear that it is going to be hard for them to pass with loads on account of ruts and that the latter will be cut to the dirt and gravel by the autos, thus making it hard lugging for their horses.

MANY BADGER "U" STUDENTS CAST VOTES

Madison, Wis., Nov. 3.—Approximately 1,500 students from the university voted in the presidential election it is estimated from registration figures. During the four days preceding Nov. 2 notaries placed by the university in principal buildings to take care of students voting by mail.

A large number of student voters took advantage of their location in Madison and registered locally. The vote cast was unusually heavy.

Kerosene in Fire Fatal.

Medford, Wis., Nov. 3.—Miss Leonora Crane, 18, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Crane, died here last night as the result of burns received while attempting to start the kitchen fire with kerosene. An explosion followed which blew out the windows and enveloped her with fire.

GOPHER WEAKENS IN SUICIDE AGREEMENT

Sleepy Eye, Minn., Nov. 3.—Gates Phillip, a former Sleepy Eye man, is under arrest at Rawlings, Wyo., charged with the murder of Mrs. Charles Knapp. Phillips and the woman he is alleged to have murdered lived in Sleepy Eye for some time, two years ago, conducting the depot lunch counter here. Since leaving Sleepy Eye, the couple separated and the woman married Charles Knapp at Rawlings.

It is alleged Phillips went to Mrs. Knapp's home and shot her five times with a pistol. Mrs. Knapp died.

Phillips, according to information received in Sleepy Eye, does not deny the killing of his former common law wife. He says he went to her home and that they agreed he should kill her and then commit suicide. After the murder, Phillips said he lost his nerve, and could not kill himself.

He is being held on a charge of murder in the first degree.

GOPHERS MAIMED BY CORN SHREDDER

Tracy, Minn., Nov. 3.—George Vollmer, 16 years of age, and his brother Henry, aged 18, both had their left hands amputated as a result of having them crushed in the same corn cutter. The younger boy was the first to be injured. While trying to dislodge some corn in a corn shredder on his father's farm near Glencoe, George's hand was caught between rollers and badly mangled. The following day Henry was at work with the same shredder and was injured in almost the same manner as his brother.

Warmest Ironwood October.

Ironwood, Mich., Nov. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Gust Peterson, in charge of the local government weather instruments, reports last month was the warmest October since the government began keeping tab here. The average maximum temperature was 62 deg. and the minimum 42. The coldest October on record at the local bureau was 1911 when the maximum temperature was 50 and the minimum averaged 34. Last year's record almost equaled that of 1911, the maximum average being 50 and the minimum 35. Until this year, October, 1914, held the record for warmth, the average maximum temperature being 61 and the minimum 42.

ALLEGED FRAUD IS BASIS OF ACTION

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 3.—Carl H. Tepe, a St. Louis automobile manufacturer, yesterday started suit against the Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light company for $200,000 damages as a sequel to alleged fraudulent practices against the Laclede Gas Light company of St. Louis, Mo. The trouble originated in a petition for lower gas rates filed in St. Louis and disallowed by the Missouri public service commission.

The Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light company is a subsidiary of the North American company which also controls the St. Louis Street Railway company.

Marquette Judge's Pay Boost.

Marquette, Mich., Nov. 3.—The salary of the municipal judge was increased to $175 a month by resolution of the city commission, upon recommendation of Mayor Clark. The judge's salary has been $100 a month since the establishment of the municipal court. The increase will be effective Jan. 1, 1921.

Wakefield Plant Completes Season.

Wakefield, Mich., Nov. 3.—The season's work at the Wakefield Iron Mine company's drying plant has been completed and the plant will be closed for a thorough overhauling. During the winter it is expected that the plant will be equipped with mechanical stokers. About 20 per cent of the product of the Wakefield Iron company's mines in this vicinity must be dried to make it a commercially desirable ore.

St. Paul Woman Killed.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 3.—Mrs. Margaret Doyle, 68 years old, St. Paul, died yesterday from injuries suffered when she was struck by a street car at Moore and Marshall avenue, St. Paul, early Sunday. Mrs. Doyle slipped on the wet pavement while crossing in front of a street car and was knocked down before she could regain her balance. Her skull was fractured.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

St. Cloud—The body of Patrick E. Stafford, who died in Seattle, was brought here and buried Tuesday in Calvary cemetery following services at the cathedral.

Ruthton—R. M. Sumption, 71 years of age, received fatal injuries when he fell from a railroad pushcar. A handcar, loaded with section hands, ran over Sumption after he had fallen from the pushcar.

East Grand Forks—Funeral services for John A. Eichhammer, East Grand Forks, who was killed when the transport Tuscania was torpedoed in February, 1919, were held Sunday afternoon at the Ashley funeral chapel. The East Grand Forks post of the American Legion had charge of the funeral and a large number of members were present in uniform.

Bemidji—Ralph Grace post, American Legion, conducted a military funeral here Sunday for Private Herman Eickstadt. Private Eickstadt is survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Eickstadt of this city; five brothers, Emil G. Eickstadt, Paul, Aldrich, Ewald and Richard, who is still in the service, and three sisters, Mrs. C. R. Young of Colorado Springs, Col., Miss Edda, also of Colorado Springs, and Miss Ida Erickstadt of Bemidji.

Crookston—Funeral services were held Tuesday for Ernest, son of Mrs. Emma Wolverton of Crookston, who died Sunday as a result of inflammatory rheumatism, contracted over four months ago. He was born at Fargo, N. D., July 22, 1910, and has lived in the city for the past six years. He attended the Lincoln school here for five years.

Bemidji—Fire of unknown origin, discovered at midnight Sunday, caused a property loss estimated at $5,000 to the Dalton hotel and the Baker Jewelry store in the Dalton building. The damage by fire was confined close to the source, the stairway leading to the sleeping rooms on the second floor, while the damage by water and smoke was considerably heavier.

Stillwater—Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Lyman were married in Stillwater fifty years ago Sunday, Oct. 31, 1920, and observed the anniversary by spending the day quietly at their home here.

Rochester—Sheriff and police officials are searching for the possible location of thieves who broke in the O. E. Anderson store at Wanamingo, thirty-one miles northwest of Rochester and made off with sixty suits of clothing, twenty-five overcoats and merchandise of other descriptions, to the total value of $5,000.

St. Cloud—The marriage of Miss Emalyn Marie Scow, daughter of Mrs. Karen Scow of Long Prairie and Raymond A. Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Lee of the same place took place Monday morning at Long Prairie. Mr. Lee made his home in this city at the time his father was superintendent at the reformatory and is a graduate of the St. Cloud normal. He is now vice president of the bank at Long Prairie.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Grand Forks, N. D.—Carl C. King, who has been manager of the Northwestern Telephone office in this city for some time, leaves this week for Fargo to become district commercial manager for the company. Mr. King is succeeded here by R. R. Borman, who has been in the Fargo office of the Northwestern Telephone company for some time.

Hebron, N. D.—Franziska Fleck, 11 years old, was burned to death at her home here when her clothing caught fire from a newspaper which she was burning in the process of singing the pin feathers from a chicken.

Wahpeton, N. D.—Fire in the heating plant of the United States Indian school here destroyed the building and about 200 tons of coal.

Grand Forks, N. D.—David H. Seymour, aged 73 years, died Monday afternoon at the home of his sister, Mrs. Thomas Earl. Mr. Seymour had been ill of cancer of the stomach for the last year, having been taken ill shortly after coming here from his home in Toronto, Ont., last fall.

Grand Forks, N. D.—The annual fall reunion of the Scottish Rite bodies in the valley of Grand Forks, orient of North Dakota, will be held Nov. 8, 9, 10 and 11. There will be a large class of candidates for each body and a number of them will take the shrine work on Friday, Nov. 12.

Bismarck, N. D.—J. A. McDougall, single, former mayor of Mandan, one of the pioneers of Western North Dakota, was found dead in bed Monday. He probably had been dead twenty-four hours. Mr. McDougall was a contractor and built some of the oldest buildings in the Slope territory. He was a strong Democrat and a leader in his party. He served as state senator in the '90s.

Anamoose, N. D.—Miss Olive Presler of Anamoose, junior at the University of California, was a member of the all-women's debating team which defeated an all-men's team at the above institution. She was on the affirmative side supporting the Irish freedom question.

Grand Forks, N. D.—C. C. Carpenter was seriously injured Monday morning when he stepped into the open elevator shaft in the Moore Auto company building. An examination showed that his head was severely bruised and his left hip fractured. Dr. W. C. Wilson, the attending physician, said that Mr. Carpenter would recover.

Fargo, N. D.—Announcement of the purchase by the North Dakota Children's Home society of a tract of land containing six acres, located at Thirteenth street and Thirteenth avenue south, is made by Frank D. Hall, superintendent.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Iron Mountain—Donald, the 10-year-old son of James Mitchell, engineer at the water works station here, is receiving treatment for a bullet wound from a small caliber rifle sustained while he was hunting rabbits with his father.

Houghton—Fred Nelson of Copper Harbor is displaying a live red fox which he captured near that place. The animal was caught in a steel trap.

Hancock—H. B. Cowdrich of the weather bureau station at Houghton delivered an illustrated lecture Monday evening at the Hancock high school.

What We Know About Incandescent Lamps

Lamps are one of the most important items in our stock. We handle over a million of them every year. So it is only natural that we should know something about them.

Mazda lamps are pretty much alike—all good.

But lamp manufacturing and sales organizations are not alike. From some organizations the buyer gets prompt service, exact fulfilment of orders, co-operation in the economical and effective use of the lamps purchased. From other organizations he gets—lamps.

After thorough investigation we decided to handle and we have never had cause to regret it.

BRYAN-MARSH MAZDA LAMPS

Bryan-Marsh Mazda Lamps are the National Quality kind. We get from the Bryan-Marsh organzation perfect lamps and practically perfect service; so we are able to give our agents the best lamps and service, and they give you the same perfect lamps and equally good service.

There are many of our agents in this territory. Each one is thoroughly reliable—otherwise he wouldn't be our agent. Deal with him confidently.

Here Is a Fine Laxative For a Little Baby

Millions of Mothers find Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin safe for infants

WHAT young mother has not often asked herself the question, "What is the best thing I can give my baby for constipation?" It is a very important question, as constipation is the basis of most ills of infancy and childhood.

Give half a teaspoonful of a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin. You can obtain it at any drug store under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a mild, gentle medicine that children willingly take, and a bottle that costs only sixty cents is enough to last an average family several months.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has been used by millions of mothers, for the prescription has been sold in drug stores for thirty years. It is the same prescription Dr. W. B. Caldwell, who is now in his 82nd year, used in his extensive practice for half a century. It is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. Last year eight million bottles were bought in drug stores.

You can make no mistake in giving Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to your baby.

TRY IT FREE

Send me your name and address and I will send you a free trial bottle of my Syrup Pepsin. Address me Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 513 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Everybody now and then needs a laxative, and it is well to know the best. WRITE ME TODAY.

The Housewifes Burden

When a woman is almost distracted from overwork, her home is in disorder, crying children, and on top of all is suffering from backache, bearing down pains, or some other form of feminine ills, then she should remember that hundreds of women in just her condition have been restored to health and regained their youthful strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and not rest until she has given it a fair trial.

Proof that it Restored the Health of These Two Women

Cairo, Ill.—"Some time ago I got so bad with female trouble that I thought I would have to be operated on. I had a bad displacement. My right side would pain me and I was so nervous I could not hold a glass of water. Many times I would have to stop my work and sit down or I would fall on the floor in a faint. I consulted several doctors and every one told me the same but I kept fighting to keep from having the operation. I had read so many times of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped my sister so I began taking it. I have never felt better than I have since then and I keep house and am able to do all my work. The Vegetable Compound is certainly one grand medicine."—Mrs. J. R. MATTHEWS, 3311 Sycamore Street, Cairo, Ill.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my baby came when I could no longer keep up. It strengthened my back and relieved me of the ill effect which so often develops at such times. That was my first experience with the Vegetable Compound. Years afterwards I took it during the Change of Life and got along so well I scarcely ever had to lie down during the day and seldom had dizzy, fainting spells. I am now well and strong, can do all my housework with perfect ease and it is a comfort to me to be able to say to other suffering women 'take Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine and be strong.' I will be glad to have you use my name if it will be the means of helping any one." — Mrs. R. A. FAIRBURN, 606 Orchard Knob Ave., Chattanooga, Tenn.

NEW YORK FANS LIKE JENNINGS

Former Tiger Manager Has Many Friends in Gotham.

New York, Nov. 3.—Hughey Jennings, he of the famous "E-yah," and for fourteen years leader of the Detroit Tigers, who has been appointed assistant manager and coach of the Giants, will meet with the approval of the New York fans, as the "E-yah!" person has a legion of baseball friends and is one of the best-liked men associated with the two big leagues.

Not only will Jennings help McGraw in his fight for the pennant next year, but his appearance in the National league will add color to the old organization. Although getting along in years, Jennings is still spry on the coaching line and his "E-yah!" and his pet grass pulling stunt will be welcomed wherever he goes.

At first it was reported that Jennings was going to succeed McGraw as manager of the Giants. This report gained much headway. However, Joseph O'Brien, secretary of the club, announced that Jennings had been engaged as assistant manager and coach and that McGraw would remain as the field general.

However, when McGraw gets tired of managing the Giants, and some say that this will be shortly, Jennings will be his successor. Jennings and McGraw have been warm pals for many years, their friendship dating back to the days of Ned Hanlon's famous Baltimore team.

This is not Jennings' first appearance in the National league. He came to the Brooklyn team away back in 1899 from Baltimore and helped the Robins to win their first National league pennant in 1900. Jennings started out as a shortstop, but after his arm went bad he played first base. From Brooklyn he went to the Phillies, where he was placed in charge of the team. He played first base for the Phillies the first day that McGraw took charge of the team. The game was played at the Polo grounds and Jennings retired McGraw for the final out, the Phillies winning by a close score.

Jennings was appointed manager of the Tigers in 1907 and won the pennant that year. He also succeeded in landing the Tigers home in front in the two following years, but fell twice before the Cubs and once before the Pirates in the world's series. Since 1909 the Tigers failed to win another pennant.

The Tigers had a bad season this year, the club getting away to an exceptionally poor start and never recovering from its slump. After the world's series Jennings, deeply disappointed over his team's poor showing, turned in his resignation as manager.

TO REST IN TEXAS.

Dick Kerr, Sox Southpaw, Will Hunt in Lone Star State.

Paris, Tex., Nov. 3.—Dick Kerr, now the "ace" of the Chicago White Sox pitching staff, arrived in this city recently from St. Louis, accompanied by his wife and mother. Kerr was offered a lucrative position at Wichita Falls for the off season, but refused it and will pass the winter in Paris, as has been his custom for several years.

Kerr, with Ray Schalk as a battery partner, took part in a number of exhibition games after the season closed and picked up a bit of extra money. He intends to take things easy for this winter and will not return to his job at a cotton compress. He is in fine shape physically and intends to put in his time hunting and following other outdoor sports.

When asked about the scandal that has stirred baseball to its depth, Kerr stated no one regretted the affair more than he but that it was not unexpected.

MAN O'WAR SHOES ARE GIVEN AS SOUVENIRS

Philadelphia, Nov. 3.—All the dainty chorus ladies whose slippers are at a premium have nothing on Man o' War. His shoes are considered the greatest trophies of the age. Every time the wonder horse wins a race his owner, Samuel Riddle, has the shoes taken off and silver-plated and engraved with the date and the record of the race. These silver souvenirs are given by Mr. Riddle to his friends. Requests for the shoes far exceed the number worn by Man o' War in his short career, Mr. Riddle said today.

SPECIAL COURSE TO HELP CADDIES

Michigan Golfer Hopes to Make Boys More Proficient.

Believing that the best way to make boys good caddies is to teach them how to play golf themselves, Maurice McCarthy, the Brooklyn golf professional and course constructor in the links he has developed at Battle Creek, Mich., has installed a special course for caddies. This is not merely for the pleasure of the little fellows. Even if that were all, it would justify itself in that it would make for the contentment of the caddies and tend to keep them from falling into idle and mischievous ways in their off time.

But this special course will do something more. It will teach the boys how to play the game and thus make them understand better what their duties as caddies are. It is this that Mr. McCarthy says is undeniably true.

Don't Know Game.

"Many boys are considered bad caddies when, as a matter of fact, the poor little lads don't know a blessed thing about golf. They know only that they will be paid for carrying clubs.

"Until they have played themselves the boys cannot understand the seriousness of losing a ball in a match. Let them play regularly on their own links and they will soon appreciate the necessity of keeping track of their employer's ball.

"Golfers who see caddies swinging clubs about the caddie house think that the boys know all about playing, but where can they play except now and then a hole or two clandestinely on the club course?

Could Arrange Competition.

"Competition could be arranged for the caddies on their course on dull days. These special links, I believe," concludes Mr. McCarthy, who as a man of family knows the needs of children, "will do more good for the boys than many of the elaborate schemes of 'caddie welfare' of which we have heard so much."

Connected with this caddies' course a small clubhouse is being built for the boys. It will be supplied with shower baths, so that a boy, after caddying all morning and coming in tired out, can take a refreshing bath and be ready for good work in the afternoon.

In this clubhouse will be provided games at which the boys can amuse themselves on rainy and off days without being obliged as now to have recourse to their only entertainment—shooting craps

NEW YORK FANS THINK GIANTS WILL GET STAR

New York, Nov. 3.—Talk that Roger Hornsby will play at second base next season for the New York Giants has been revived here with rumors from St. Louis that the Cardinals' star would be sold this winter.

St. Louis fans and writers in Cleveland for the world's series claimed to have official information that Hornsby would not be with the Cards next summer.

Following the Giants' offer of $150,000 last summer, Hornsby became dissatisfied, it is said, and reached an open break with the St. Louis management, which resulted in a fine for him.

The Giants, it is thought, are the only club that could afford the money the Cards will ask for the champion batter.

NEBRASKA ELEVEN DEFEATS RUTGERS

New York, Nov. 3.—Nebraska's eleven defeated Rutgers at the Polo grounds yesterday, 28 to 0, making two touchdowns in each half. In the fourth period Moore scored on a line plunge and Swanson made another touchdown on a forward pass from Thompson after two Rutgers' players had touched the ball in the air.

DEMPSEY TO FIGHT JESS WILLARD AGAIN

Montreal, Nov. 3.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, announced here yesterday that he had agreed to a fifteen-round bout with Jess Willard, former world's champion, to take place next March 17. The location of the fight, he said, had not been decided.

Every Drop of Your Blood Should Be Absolutely Pure

You can not overestimate the importance of keeping the blood free of impurities. When you realize that the heart is constantly pumping this vital fluid to all parts of the body, you can readily see that any impurity in the blood will cause serious complications.

Any slight disorder or impurities is a source of danger, as every vital organ of the body depends upon the blood supply to properly perform its functions.

Many painful and dangerous diseases are the direct result of a bad condition of the blood. Among the most serious are rheumatism, with its torturing pain; eczema, tetter, erysipelas and other disfiguring skin diseases; general debility, which makes the strongest men helpless, and many other diseases are the direct result of impure blood.

You can in a large measure avoid liability to disease by the use of S. S. S., the wonderful blood remedy that has been in constant use for more than fifty years. S. S. S. cleanses the blood thoroughly. It is sold by druggists everywhere.

GREAT COACHES BORN MENTORS

Zuppke, Heisman, Warner, Not Famed as Players.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 3.—With the football season approaching the important stage when championship elevens in various parts of the country can be determined with a degree of certainty, it is interesting to note that some of the elevens have been developed by men who were not recognized as great players in their college days.

It does not follow that a great player makes the best coach. It is the man who knows fundamentals and then makes a study of the game, who succeeds. The successful mentor is the man who spends most of the college year on the campus and does not teach football as a side issue.

Different Ways to Handle Men.

The successful coach also must be a good judge of men. He must discover quickly the best way to get the best results out of his squad. It is a well known fact that football men are temperamental. Some must be driven and can stand all sorts of hard work. Others must be told in a mild manner how certain plays should be executed, as a harsh word from the coach may hurt their feelings and influence their playing efforts.

Some candidates are physically constituted different from others. In many cases a fine looking athlete has been unable to stand the wear and tear of a hard game, while other frail looking candidates have developed into great football players. The conditions of the men must be watched closely at all times, and the coach who does not heed the trainer's advice may find his team in a bad physical way when the championship struggles are played.

Fame as Coaches, Not Players.

In the East and Middle West there are striking examples of successful football coaches who were not looked upon as great players in their day. These men have startled the football world on many occasions by developing elevens which are far superior to others in their sections.

Glenn Warner, present coach at University of Pittsburgh, and Robert Zuppke of Illinois, are two striking examples of successful coaches who did not cause opposing elevens any worry when they were members of their respective college teams.

Warner played guard at Cornell university and Zuppke was a substitute at Wisconsin. Unlike other players, Warner and Zuppke absorbed the teachings of their coaches and enlarged upon the ideas. They have kept alive to the possibilities of the new game, but have not forgotten the best plays of the old regime.

Former Oak Park High Mentor

Zuppke started his coaching career as mentor of the Oak Park (Illinois) high school eleven. His success in developing the prep school boys attracted the attention of Illinois officials, including George Huff, the grand old man of Orange and Blue athletics

Many persons believed Zuppke was not "heavy" enough for the job. In this they were sadly mistaken, for the high school coach made good from the start, and today is the most respected coach in Middle West football. He makes his home in the college town, and there is hardly a day that he is not in touch with the football players. From the time the season ends until it opens in the fall Zuppke experiments with new plays. As the athletic term goes, he eats and sleeps football, and he should develop strong elevens as long as he remains at Illinois.

Warner gained country-wide recognition as a football mentor when he coached the Carlisle Indians. The Redskins were a respected eleven in the old days, and they could play two and three times a week. Warner went to Pitt after leaving the Indian school, and today is recognized as one of the leading strategists of the section.

Lays Plans During Off Season.

Unlike Zuppke, Warner does not live in Pittsburgh. During the off season the coach plans plays for the next season. He is alive to the possibilities of his players, and he builds formations around his best ball carriers. Unlike other coaches, Warner believes that if a team is well drilled in fundamentals, such as tackling, blocking, and charging, a set defense for every game is not needed.

Fielding H. Yost, who has had such great success at Michigan, was not considered a great forward in his day. He played his football with West Virginia and Lafayette, and until last year has turned out powerful elevens at Ann Arbor. "Hurry Up," as he is known in gridiron circles, does not spend the off season in the college town, but devotes his time to a business in Tennessee.

Heisman in Charge at Penn.

J. W. Heisman present coach at University of Pennsylvania, was not looked upon as a great player when he played on the old Penn teams. His coaching ability was shown at Georgia Tech where he developed several strong elevens. Numbers of other coaches could be mentioned who have had great success in developing football players, but who were not regarded as really great players.

NEW PLAYERS FOR YANK BALL TEAM

Two Outfielding and New Pitchers to Be Signed by Huggins.

New York, Nov. 3.—Having failed to win the American league pennant with brute batting strength, Miller Huggins, who was a visitor at the offices of the Yankees yesterday, said that next year he would depend upon speed and a greater defense to land his players home in front in the American league race.

Huggins had a conference with Col. Jacob Ruppert and Ed Barrow, the newly appointed business manager, and plans for next season were briefly discussed. While Huggins has not as yet signed a contract, the terms are satisfactory to him and he will attach his signature to the document before he leaves for his home in Cincinnati.

Huggins talked with newspaper men about his club and gave the impression that several new faces will be seen on the team when the 1921 race gets under way. He stated that he would have two new outfielders to help Babe Ruth chase fly balls. He would not reveal the names of his two new outfielders.

The little manager also will look about for a couple of first-class pitchers who can stand a long and hard pennant race. Huggins has several trades in sight and he hopes to put them through before the end of the year. He is going to the meeting in Chicago next week and will attend the minor league affair in Kansas City.

In the course of the conversation he stated that he expected Fewster to be at his best next year. "Fewster showed no effects from being hit by Pfeffer in the few games that he played," said Huggins, "and I expect him to have a good season next year. I would prefer that he wear a headgear while batting."

Huggins added that he talked to Pratt about retiring just before the season closed and that the second baseman declared he wanted to continue playing ball. Huggins is of the opinion that he will return next season. Pratt recently signed to coach the Michigan basket ball and baseball teams.

The Yankees have been invited to train at Palm Beach next season. The question of the training camp will not be settled until later.

WILL NAME BOY FOR BILLINGS

Superior Boxing Star Will Not Meet Burns Till Later.

"Copie" Billings of Superior, welterweight champion of Wisconsin, will not meet Bill Burns of Duluth in one of the windup bouts of the show which the Duluth A. C. will stage at the new Armory a week from next Friday. Burns, when offered the mill by the D. A. C. matchmaker, gladly accepted but Billings held off till this morning when he sent in word that he is not anxious to battle the Duluth star just yet but would be glad to accommodate him later on.

There has been talk for several weeks of matching Billings and Burns in a ten-round mill for the welterweight championship of the Head of the Lakes, the bout to be pulled off on this side of the bay. There is little question but what such a row would pull a big gate from both sides of the pond and the Superior welter probably has this in mind. He wants to meet Burns in a show in which his mill will be the big, outstanding feature. And, he's probably right, at that.

But Billings will make his coming-out bow on the Nov. 12 card, just the same but just who his opponent will be is still in doubt. However, the promoters have lined up Jimmy Potts, the veteran Minneapolis welter; Battling Hugo, a pupil of Potts, who makes his home in the Mill City and Gus Bloomberg, well-known Minneapolis welter. Negotiations were opened with this precious trio this morning and from their number an opponent for the Badger battler will be signed.

There is a rumor going the rounds that Bob Johnson, the local heavyweight, who defeated Jack Gordon of Butte, Mont., in two rounds here recently, has no hankering desire to meet Kid Clancy, the biffing ex-soldier who is building rural highways near Duluth. Inasmuch as Clancy weighs only about 175 pounds and Johnson moves the beam around the 200 mark, it is hardly probable that he would sidestep Clancy. The latter is a tough, game battler who loves to mix and who can swat right hard with either paw. But Johnson is big enough and young enough so that he should not have any hesitancy in tackling Clancy.

Kid Alberts and Neil Allison, the local lightweights who will headline the bill, are both hard in training for their city championship mill. Alberts is working with Steve Gardner, his manager, and Jack Sharkey, local middleweight. Allison has a flock of boys helping him in his preparation out at Morgan Park. He is making 138 pounds for Alberts and stated this morning that he will not have to reduce much to get under the weight limit. He expects to weigh in at 137 on the day of the fight. Betting on the outcome of the Alberts-Allison setto is most lively, the wagering being done from several different ways.

VIRGINIA-BEMIDJI CONTEST SATURDAY

Bemidji, Minn., Nov. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—A hard fought high school football game is expected Saturday when the Bemidji and Virginia high school teams, both hitherto undefeated and both contenders for the state championship, will meet at the athletic park here.

In weight the teams will average about the same. Both are fast and both have a good understanding of football. Virginia won the championship of Minnesota last year, Bemidji being eliminated from the championship game by the flip of a coin.

The Bemidji team is in excellent condition and it is expected that the game Saturday will be one of the best in the history of the city. If the locals win they will be in direct line for state championship as Virginia and Bemidji are recognized as the two fastest teams in the northern part of the state, neither being defeated in the past three years.

GOOD GAMES IN GRAND LEAGUE

Columbia, Culbertson and Fitwell Teams Are Winners.

Three good contests were staged last evening in the Grand Bowling league, at the Grand alleys, in which the Columbia five took three straight from the Oak Hall, the Culbertsons copped all three games from the Big Fours and the Fitwells took the odd game from Rust-Parker.

The Fitwell team nailed the high three-game team total with 2,496 while the Columbias hung up the high single game team count with 845. R. E. Johnson of the Fitwells hung up the high individual single game count with 219 while Bill Johnson of the Rust-Parker quint nailed the high individual three-game count with 526.

HIS EXECUTION.

London Tit-Bits: The ardent enthusiast had inveigled his Philistine friend to the recital by an eminent pianist.

The program was severely classical and of lavish length. During a pause—to allow the virtuoso to extract his hair from his eyes before returning to the attack—the enthusiast whispered ecstatically: "Wonderful, isn't it! What do you think of his execution?"

"I'm for it," growled the Philistine. "But I'm afraid some idiot like you might get him a reprieve."

West Duluth Briefs.

Not since "The Brute Breaker" and "Lasca" has Frank Mayo appeared in a role which so well fits him as that of Norman Aldrich, the border customs officer, in "The Red Lane," now being shown at the Empress theater. It is a strong, virile, manly part that not only permits the star to display his youth and vigor, but to do a bit of romancing in an admirable fashion.—Advertisement.

Secretary J. W. Osbourne made a detailed report of the district convention held in St. Paul Oct. 23. According to his report, there are eleven clubs now in the district, which comprises Minnesota and North Dakota, with a membership totaling $1,050. The clubs are in Duluth, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Winona, Red Wing, South St. Paul, Hibbing, Virginia, Chisholm, Minn., and Sioux Falls and Watertown, S. D. The officers elected at the convention were as follows: Governor, L. A. Muessell, St. Paul; lieutenant governors, W. S. McCormick, Duluth, and George Burnside, Sioux Falls, and secretary-treasurer, J. H. Marshall, Minneapolis. The next convention will be held in Red Wing, Oct. 1, 1921.

M. G. Tondel spoke to the members on the membership drive for the Curling club and asked each to join the club. J. J. Moe told of his recent trip to Europe.

AMONG THE MAGAZINES

The November number of Scribner's Magazine opens with a short story, "Awakening," by John Galsworthy, an interlude in the Forsyte Saga. It is the story of a little boy and the sympathetic relationship that exists between him and his mother, of the gradual awakening of the child to a sense of beauty and the things of the ideal. Needless to say, it is full of poetic thought, and marked by exquisite literary style. It will make every reader eager to follow the boy's career in Mr. Galsworthy's new serial, "To Let," that will begin in the January number. Judge Franklin Chase Hoyt of the Children's Court contributes the last of his articles. His book will be published shortly. "Sore Let and Hindered" tells of the lives of the little children that come before his court, who are the victims of irresponsible vicious and dissolute parents, and the way the court provides opportunities for giving such children a new start in life. In these days of international quarrels, "Scandinavia's Lesson to the World," made manifest by Lothrop Stoddard, is instructive and encouraging reading. It points out how Norway, Sweden and Denmark have been able to adjust their misunderstandings without a resort to war. New York is unceasingly picturesque, but it is perhaps the artist from outside who most quickly grasps its striking scenes. Frederick Polley, a young artist from Indianapolis, contributes a series of eight sketches of New York, done in lithographic pencil.

* * *

While the presidential election naturally heads the tables of contents of most of the standard magazines for the month, few if any have as strong a group of political leaders as the October Yale Review. Ex-President William H. Taft holds the first place in this group with a strong argument for Harding. Norman Hapgood, editor and diplomat, follows with a strikingly able exposition of the Democratic appeal to the electorate. Prof. Wilbur C. Abbott of Harvard, historian and publicist, concludes the group with a penetrating criticism of the trend by both parties, as he sees it, away from large political vision and back to old-fashioned methods. Prof. Abbott gives voice to a not unusual feeling that the present campaign has not risen to the occasion demanded by the sacrifices of the war. These three papers will be read with keen enjoyment and profit. In addition, this now widely recognized leader among American periodicals has a broad range of other interests in its October number. The cost of living and what the financial outlook is, is intelligently studied in "Paying the Piper," by C. Reinold Noyes, prominent business man and writer on economic questions. "Bolsheviks in the Crimea" is the first published article in this country from Ivan Petrunkevitch, founder of the Constitutional Democratic party in Russia and a refugee now living in this country.

LAURIER STATUE, WIDOW OF PREMIER UNVEILED

[illegible] Wilfrid Laurier, recently unveiled the first statue that has been erected to the memory of the famous Canadian premier and statesman. It stands in the little town of Iberville in the Richelieu valley, Quebec. The memorial is a four-foot bronze bust mounted on a fourteen-foot granite pedestal. It was erected by Sir Wilfrid's fellow townspeople.

ACTRESS WHO SAYS HER MARRIAGE TO GATLING IS MERELY POSTPONED

MISS NORA SPRAGUE.

The marriage of Miss Nora Sprague, an actress, appearing in a New York theater, and Addison Barnes Gatling, grandson of Dr. Jordan Gatling, inventor of the rapid fire gun, which was to have taken place Oct. 2, has been merely postponed, not given up, according to a statement made by Miss Sprague. Invitations had been sent out and all arrangements made. Mr. Gatling has been married twice, although only 23 years old. Miss Sprague is a graduate of the Western college at Oxford, Ohio.

Elks May Bring Show Here.

Duluth Elks at their meeting tonight will decide whether to bring the Elks' minstrel and vaudeville show of Minneapolis here for two shows, Nov. 6 and 7. A representative from Minneapolis suggested the idea to Edward Stevens, Elks' secretary. The plan will also be put to a vote among the performers.

Tire Explosion Causes Stir.

Considerable excitement was caused last night about 8 o'clock when a tire on the automobile of F. A. Phinney, 4818 West Sixth street, burst while large numbers were watching for election returns on Superior street. The rim of the tire was thrown fully twenty-five feet and forced through the plate glass window of the fruit store of Sam Tappas between First and Second avenues east.

Many at Commercial Club.

The rooms of the Duluth Commercial club were well filled last night by those who wished to hear election returns. Entertainment features included dancing and games and the main hall and the lobby were packed until 1 o'clock. A large number of women were present.

Old Settlers to Meet.

Members of the Old Settlers' association will meet at the Duluth Commercial club tonight to arrange for the annual banquet, which is to take place during the winter. At the meeting tonight arrangements will be made to have chairmen of different committees compile reports to be read at the annual meeting. This yearly banquet is one of two features of the year for the old settlers. The other is the annual picnic held during midsummer.

Convention Reports for Nurses.

Nurses of St. Mary's and St. Luke's hospitals, members of the nurses' alumnae of these two hospitals, gathered at the St. Luke's Nurses' home to hear reports of the recent state nurses' convention held at St. Paul. About forty members were present. A class of thirteen nurses at St. Luke's will be graduated from the hospital on Nov. 30, it was announced by hospital officials yesterday. The class will be entertained at a dinner on the day of graduation at the Kitchi Gami club.

Mrs. Katherine Tardif Dies.

Mrs. Katherine Tardif, aged 38, 118 Park avenue, died Wednesday morning. She is survived by her husband and two children. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon from Grady & Horgan's undertaking rooms. Interment will take place at Forest Hill cemetery.

Glen-Hunt-Wood Club Meeting.

A meeting of the Glen-Hunt-Wood club will be held tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the Washburn school. Needs of the community, including fire hall and addition to the school building will be discussed. An illustrated talk will follow the business meeting. Women are wanted.

Election Day Orderly.

Election day turned out to be rather quiet at police headquarters, only three drunks being listed. These were disposed of in police court, Frank Downer and H. Peterson with fines of $22 and the third, Amel Larson, an old offender, with $52. Robert S. McMartin was charged with exceeding the speed limit and had his case continued until December. Erwin G. Keuhlthan drove his auto at a speed that was considered dangerous and was taken in tow by the police. Not wishing to take chances with Judge Funck this morning, he forfeited his bail of $15 by not showing up.

Harvest Supper at Lakeside.

There will be a harvest supper given at the Lakeside Presbyterian church tomorrow at 6:30 p. m. Everybody in the community is invited. A good program will be given after a regular old-time harvest supper.

Funeral for Carl Ouse.

Funeral services of Carl Ouse, 719 West Second street, who died of pneumonia Monday, will be held at Olson & Hoppenyan's undertaking rooms, 2014 West Superior street, at 2 p. m. tomorrow. The interment will be in Park Hill cemetery. Mr. Ouse was an old resident of Duluth and had been a clerk in the registry department of the postoffice for the last fifteen years.

N. Y. EDITOR, WIFE SLAYER, WHO HAS WRITTEN BOOK WHILE SERVING LIFE TERM

CHARLES E. CHAPIN.

The first convict in Sing Sing prison at Ossining, N. Y., to write a book in prison and have it published while serving his term, is Charles E. Chapin, for many years city editor of the New York Evening World. He is now serving a life sentence for the murder of his wife in 1918. Chapin had planned to commit suicide, but changed his mind and surrendered to the police. The title of his book is "Charles E. Chapin's Story."

WHERE SOLOMON'S TEMPLE STOOD

J. F. Scheltma in Asia: The Mahommedan sanctuary in Jerusalem on the Mount of Abraham's and David's sacrifices echoes the splendor of Solomon's temple that once stood in that locality. With its latticed screens of ebony, its brocaded curtains, its stained glass and mosaics in their somewhat faded glory, the dome of the rock stands in the solitude of the sacred precinct like one of those palaces hewn of a single opal or turquoise we read of in oriental fairy tales.

Approaching it, the Moslem pilgrim has to observe a strict ceremonial. As he enters, he puts his right foot forward, begging pardon for his sins and invoking God's mercy. Walking round the rock, he must keep it on his right hand, reversing the process followed when making the circuit of the Kaaba at Mecca. Before proceeding to the cave underneath, he must probe his heart and strive for humility of spirit, uttering the prayer of Solomon: "O God forgive those that have sinned and relieve the injured!"

He firmly believes that the rock is supported by a palm tree rooted in one of the fair rivers of Paradise, the tree in the shade of which the beautiful, martyred Asia, wife of Pharoah, and Miriam, the sister of Moses, will slake the thirst of the Faithful on the day of resurrection.

After paying his respects to the dome of the rock, to its "tongue" (a broken column, slanting to the roof of its cave), to the marks of the Angel Gabriel's fingers and to the sword of Ali, Mahomet's valiant son-in-law, he visits the other shrines of the Holy Enclosure. There, in the heart of Jerusalem, are the dome of the ascent, where the prophet was lifted up when starting on his heavenly journey, and the dome of the chain. The ceiling was supposed to be possessed of miraculous properties. Whenever a judge had to decide in a difficult case between litigants who supported their conflicting claims by contradictory statements, he transferred his tribunal hither and invited them to touch the links of the chain while repeating their assertions. Then the truth came to light, for the chain could easily be seized by the veracious but eluded the grasp of the iniquitous who tried by falsehood to get the best of his opponent.

One day, however, the oracle was baffled by a man accused of having borrowed money without paying it back. Now he kept this money concealed in a hollow staff which he asked the plaintiff to hold for him while he, too, gripped the chain swearing that the sum he owed had been returned. The bystanders marveled greatly at the chain's failure to unravel the mystery of such clashing testimony, and soon afterward the wonder working chain disappeared because, tradition says, it began to despair of sustaining its reputation for perspicacity among a population so full of fraudulent resources.

CLEVER PHOTOGRAPHY

Detroit News: An ingenious method of making photographic copies of plates and engravings in books that can not be removed from libraries and where the use of the camera is prohibited, has been devised by Jervis-Smith, an Englishman.

He coats a cardboard with luminous paint, exposes it to sunlight or electric arc light and then places it at the back of the engraving, while a dry photographic plate is placed on the face of the engraving. The book is closed and after a period varying from eighteen minutes to one hour, depending largely on the thickness of the paper, a satisfactory negative is produced. The book is inclosed in a black cloth during the manipulation, from which the book takes no harm.

This Actually Removes Superfluous Hair Roots
(Entirely New and Quick Method)

By the introduction in this country of what is known as the "phelactine process," any woman can now rid herself completely of annoying superfluous hair or fuzz. The process is entirely new, different from all others, and far better—because it actually removes the roots, as well as the surface hair. It is almost instantaneous, perfectly harmless, odorless and nonirritating.

Just get a stick of phelactine from your druggist, follow the simple directions—and see the hair roots come out, with your own eyes! No depilatory or electrical treatment can produce this result. The skin is left soft, smooth and hairless as a child's. Phelactine can be used with absolute safety—one could even eat it with impunity.—Advertisement.

PRESIDENT WILSON NOT AFFECTED BY ELECTION

Washington, Nov. 3.—The Republican landslide in the solemn referendum on the League of Nations has had no apparent effect upon President Wilson's health, Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, his personal physician, said today after a visit to the president at noon. Dr. Grayson said he found Mr. Wilson unaffected by the result. He added that the president had spent a good night.

Mr. Wilson, it was said at the White House, did not vary from his usual routine attending to official business and reading the morning newspapers. He spent some time on the south portico.

The White House officials were not prepared to say whether the president would send a message of congratulations to Senator Harding today. They did not expect him to have any comment to make on the election at this time.

BELTRAMI FAMILY LOSES EVERYTHING

Bemidji, Minn., Nov. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Salvation Army is inviting donations for Mr. and Mrs. Nick Hentgen and seven children who are without food or clothing as the result of the destruction of their home and contents, six and one-half miles south of Bemidji, by fire Monday noon. An overheated stove caused the fire which spread rapidly before any personal effects could be saved.

The Luxurious Beauty of These Soft, Warm Mohair Plushes Rivals Nature's Handsomer Furs!

No wonder women are making their own scarfs and muffs.

"Soft as plush"—how often you hear it—and here are very wonderful mohair plushes which look so like, and feel so like them, that it is hard not to believe them high-priced furs.

The vogue for scarfs and muffs to match finds us ready with beautiful 50-inch fabrics in most natural fur colors which you can easily make up into luxurious scarfs.

AND REALLY THE COST IS VERY LITTLE

We cut them in 16 to 18-inch widths in two-yard lengths for the most stylish scarfs and offer them at the following prices:

$16.50 for 2-yard length, 16 to 18-inch widths, of $25.00 50-inch black mohair plush.
$16.50 for 2-yard length, 16 to 18-inch widths, $25.00 50-inch seal mohair plush.

The Much Heralded "Clouds o' Glory" Are Here

Radiant as the rainbow, "Clouds o' Glory" are the latest triumph in ribbons.

They are sensationally new—they are different—they are fittingly described by the name—"Clouds o' Glory."

They have taken New York, Boston and Chicago by storm, and Duluth will follow suit. They are the hit of the hour for vestings, for panels, for flaring sashes and for trimmings, and what a gorgeous hat they will make!

They are not cheap—such lovely rich silks cannot be. They are works of art—they will transform the commonplace costume to a stunning success. They are the new Batik motifs, adapted for the American woman of fashion.

Ask to see them at Gray's Ribbon Department—let the saleswomen show you how artful they lend themselves to the new and brilliant winter style season.

There's Positive Witchery in These New Veils

New veilings favored on Fifth Avenue yesterday are here tomorrow. Duluth is only forty-eight hours behind New York in offering the successful novelties as they appear.

You will find some veilings which seem to have a touch of magic in allurement and charm.

ON THE IRON RANGES

SOUTH HIBBING FIRE DAMAGES GARAGE

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire of unknown origin caused about $5,000 damage to automobiles in the Frank & Firth garage, South Hibbing, early this morning. Automobiles belonging to Gordon Fayle and to Andrew Hulstrand, both of Hibbing, were badly damaged and many more were partially damaged. Quick work on the part of the fire department prevented greater loss to the building and the automobiles.

The blaze was reported at 1:10 o'clock this morning and whether it was of incendiary origin is undetermined.

Damage to the building, commonly known as the F. & F. garage, is estimated at $1,000. The building was valued at $20,000 and the cars in it at approximately $50,000. All were insured.

W. C. T. U. WOULD REACH MOTHERS OF RANGE

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 3.—(Special to The Herald)—Social welfare and Americanization work will be included in the program of the activities of the W. C. T. U. organization in the Hibbing district the coming year, following national plans as outlined by Mrs. Josephine Sizer, who visited the range last month.

Social efforts will be made to reach the mothers and to establish more friendly relations between mothers of all nationalities.

"The children are given an opportunity in school, the men of the family through their work and other channels, but it is the mothers of the foreign-born families who have very little opportunity to learn and benefit from the customs and privileges of this country," a W. C. T. U. leader said today. "It is these women the W. C. T. U. wants to reach in its work. The plan of the W. C. T. U. will be to make visits into other homes and in this way promote neighborly spirit."

The W. C. T. U. will hold regular meetings on the last Tuesday of each month at the public library.

Officers of the local organization are: Mrs. Lester Atkinson, president; Mrs. Beckstad, vice president; Mrs. J. Borrison, secretary, and Mrs. E. Haire, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. McKnight, treasurer.

Mrs. Beckstad, who is superintendent of the district, helped in the organization of three new associations at Mountain Iron, Gilbert and Buhl last month with Mrs. Sizer.

A RAW, SORE THROAT

Eases Quickly When You Apply a Little Musterole.

And Musterole won't blister like the old-fashioned mustard plaster. Just spread it on with your fingers. It penetrates to the sore spot with a gentle tingle, loosens the congestion and draws out the soreness and pain.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. It is fine for quick relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds on the chest. Nothing like Musterole for croupy children. Keep it handy for instant use.

35c and 65c jars; hospital size $3.00.

RHEUMATISM
A Remarkable Home Treatment Given by One Who Had It

In the spring of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Subacute Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally I found a treatment that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bedridden with Rheumatism, some of them 70 to 80 years old, and results were the same as in my own case.

I want every sufferer from such forms of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent, simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of getting rid of your rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

KELLY LAKE LIKES HEALTH PLAY GIVEN

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Teachers of the Kelly Lake school are given credit for the success of the health play, "Who Gets the Germ" at that school yesterday. Miss Marjorie Benjamin and Miss Lila Hegvold were in charge. The play was well attended by parents who were so pleased with the program that they remained after its close and consulted the school nurses in regards to the health of their children, particularly the children's teeth, tonsils, eyes and ears.

The cast of the play follows: Germ victims—Ellen Haley, Glenn Smith, Kenneth Milon, Winfred Clarke, Fred Sanderson, Thelma Brennan and Virginia Cornack; germ, Leslie Taggart; parents of germ victims, Dorothy Dorman, Edward Consolin, Fay Sanderson, Charles Hiltz, Allee Bartlett, Addison Devereux, Mabel Miller; germ eradicators, James Adams, Margaret Patterson, Allen Carlson, Florence Karl, George Clarke, A. Bartlett, Lillian Carlson. Those who participated in Act 4, "The Surprise," were, Dorothy Drayna, queen; Mamie Szanek, Iris Sanderson, Fern Griffith, Hazel Conner, Ellen Karl.

HIBBING GOBS ARE TO WELCOME SOUSA

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Plans of the bands of the Mesaba range to entertain the Sousa organization here Friday night fell through because of the expense involved.

Local organizations, however, will see that the bandsmen are entertained, possibly at a luncheon. The Commercial club will campaign the Mesaba range and the mines for Sousa, while the Kiwanis club will be asked to arrange for an entertainment in honor of the bandsmen, many of whom are Kiwanians.

The sailors of Hibbing will have Sousa for a reception and will have a couple of squads meet the Great Lakes band leader and escort him from the depot to the hotel and from the hotel to the Armory.

LEONIDAS SHOP WORKER INJURED

Eveleth, Minn., Nov. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Harold Thorne, son of Rev. and Mrs. I. J. Thorne, was seriously injured at the Leonidas mine shops Monday when he was struck by a traveling crane which, under heavy pressure, slipped off a beam and fell upon him.

Thorne and another mechanic were manipulating a chain in hoisting a heavy piece of frame work from outside of the shop into it and were hauling it from an angle. No accident of this nature had ever occurred before and the men did not fear anything of the kind as the apparatus had been tested with much heavier loads, the heaviest approximately fifty tons, and the load they were attempting to carry Monday weighed only about seven tons.

The victim was taken to the More hospital and it was at first feared by physicians that he had sustained a broken back, but the back was not broken, although he suffered severe bruises.

CHAUFFEURS' EXAMS AT VIRGINIA NOV. 4

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. H. Healy, Duluth, of the state board of examiners of chauffeurs, announces that there will be an examination of chauffeurs held at Virginia Thursday, Nov. 4, all day, in the city hall.

Carlton Railroader Buried.

Carlton, Minn., Nov. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. Charles Ramshaw of Morgan Park officiated at funeral services held here this afternoon under auspices of the Masonic bodies, Odd Fellows and other organizations for Edward Watt, locomotive fireman for the Northern Pacific, living here, who died in Brainerd hospital Saturday night, aged 36. Burial was made here.

Eveleth Schools Closed Tuesday.

Eveleth, Minn., Nov. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The board of education has decided to employ a couple of new teachers and to furnish the Section 36 school a teacher. The board established a precedent in the way of closing the schools when it voted to have them closed all day yesterday on account of election.

SULPHUR CLEARS A PIMPLY SKIN

Apply Sulphur as Told When Your Skin Breaks Out.

Any breaking out of the skin on face, neck, arms or body is overcome quickest by applying Mentho-Sulphur. The pimples seem to dry right up and go away, declares a noted skin specialist.

Nothing has ever been found to take the place of sulphur as a pimple remover. It is harmless and inexpensive. Just ask any druggist for a small jar of Mentho-Sulphur and use it like cold cream.—Advertisement.

Resinol
for tired aching feet

For grateful relief from that swollen, dry and stiff sensation, bathe your feet with Resinol Soap and hot water. Then apply Resinol Ointment, rubbing it in thoroughly and allowing it to remain on for ten or fifteen minutes or over night, if possible.

This mild treatment rarely fails to soothe and invigorate tired, aching feet. All druggists sell Resinol Soap and Ointment.

EVELETH CLUB WILL BOOST FOR FAIR TAX

Eveleth, Minn., Nov. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Commercial club Monday evening voted to conduct another membership drive for the Minnesota Fair Tax association and left the matter in the hands of a committee of five to be appointed by President C. B. Hoel.

R. M. Heskette, member of the club, in a letter to the secretary pointed out that the city might, if the proposition were properly handled, prevail upon the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific Railway company to run its tracks here and make this a stopping point. The company's trains pass within a short distance of the city and it might be induced to run a spur to Eveleth. This idea is popular, as the Missabe, Iron Range and D., W. & P. roads have agreed to erect a union depot in Virginia. It was referred to the committee on civic affairs.

Mr. Heskette, chairman of the census committee, reported that the census had not been entirely completed, but that from reports that have already been turned in, in all probability the total population would run about 9,000. He said that the committee had planned to have a directory of the city published from facts gathered.

The club favored turning the Eveleth-Wolfe-Ellis road, the Hibbing short cut, over to the county for upkeep, because the township of Nichols is without sufficient funds to have the proper work done. The secretary was instructed to write the county commissioners to that effect.

DULUTH PRIEST IS TO CONDUCT FUNERAL

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. Father Powers of Duluth, formerly of Virginia, will officiate at funeral services to be held in Our Lady of Lourdes church here Thursday morning for Daniel Coffey, pioneer citizen, who died at his home here yesterday, aged 51, after living here twenty-seven years and is survived by his wife, two brothers, John, of Cleveland, and Pat, of this city, and three children, Mary Daniel and Margaret.

Nashwauk Bowling Tourney.

Nashwauk, Minn., Nov. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eight bowling teams of six players each, with captains, have been organized for the coming tournament to be staged on the Hawkin's club bowling alleys. A schedule of the games to be played will be drawn up and posted soon. The tournament will be run the same as last year and there will be prizes for the winning team, the high bowlers and other winners in features of the tournament, according to C. J. Murphy, secretary of the committee. The tournament will be under way this week. The captains and their teams were announced by the committee of which G. V. Brannen is chairman and the other member is S. A. Jenkins.

Hibbingite Takes Milwaukee Bride.

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. .—(Special to The Herald.)—Kenneth Buzzell, son of Mrs. Iola Buzzell, of Railroad avenue, was married on Sept. 30 to Miss Margaret Lee of Milwaukee, at Milwaukee, the announcement being a complete surprise to his local relatives and friends. Mr. Buzzell is a former member of Company M of Hibbing and had been in the employe of the Oliver Iron Mining company for a number of years. Mr. and Mrs. Buzzell have left for Florida on a wedding trip and are expected to be at home in Hibbing on Dec. 25.

Coleraine School "Election."

PARTLY CLOUDY; WARMER

PARTLY CLOUDY

Now that election is over, the weather has decided to warm up a little, possibly on account of the large amount of hot air that has been let loose during the campaign just closed; others, however, credit it just to the natural elements. But whatever the cause, it is warm and just a little cloudy. This morning the sun rose at 6:54 o'clock and will set at 4:49 o'clock tonight, giving 9 hours and 55 minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Precipitation (mostly rain) fell during Tuesday or last night over the Lake region, Ohio valley, North Atlantic states and extreme East Canada in connection with the low pressure, which in the meantime moved its center from Northern Lake Michigan to the St. Lawrence valley. A disturbance of marked intensity centered over North Saskatchewan has caused snow in that district and rain in British Columbia, West Washington and West Oregon, and rising temperature throughout the Northwest, Rocky mountains and plains states. High pressures overlying the West Gulf region and Southwest Oregon have respectively caused colder weather over Southwestern states, Utah and Alberta."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours, ending at 7 p. m. Thursday:

Minnesota—Generally fair tonight and Thursday, except somewhat unsettled in north portion; warmer tonight; colder in west portion Thursday afternoon or night.

Wisconsin—Generally fair tonight and Thursday; rising temperature.

North Dakota—Somewhat unsettled tonight and Thursday; warmer in southeast portion tonight; colder Thursday, strong southwest winds, shifting to northwest Thursday.

Upper Lakes—Fresh west backing to south winds tonight; cloudy tonight; Thursday unsettled, probably local rains or snows.

LOCAL FORECAST

For Duluth and vicinity: Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday. Somewhat warmer tonight with lowest temperature near 32 deg. Moderate to fresh southerly winds.

DISTRICT 43 SETS RECORD

Returns Issued Twenty-Seven Minutes After Polls Are Closed.

District No. 43 holds the record for early returns. Twenty-seven minutes after the polls closed at 9 o'clock, they telephoned the count on the national ticket and some of the state ticket. When it is understood that this district had 349 votes cast, 228 for Harding and 121 for Cox, it is evident, according to City Clerk Fred D. Ash, that the judges made haste in canvassing the vote.

Instructions to the judges were that the national ticket should be canvassed first and then the ballots for governor and judges. This gave the anxious ones an opportunity of knowing how candidates for these important offices were running. Owing to the large vote cast, which is estimated at 26,500, the returns generally were slow in coming in and up to midnight only about six or seven districts had been heard from. From that time on, however, they came in fast. At 9 o'clock this morning virtually 80 per cent of the districts had reported a final count.

Borgen Helps in Checking.

Arrangements at the city hall had been made to care for the returns as they came in with the least possible delay and within a few minutes after returns were received, they were transmitted to every section of the city. Bulletin boards were shown in the council room where a crowd assembled until a late hour. The work at the city hall was hastened by the co-operation of County Auditor Walter H. Borgen, who assisted in the checking until an early hour this morning.

One of the first districts to report a full canvass was the Seventy-second district at Fond du Lac where there were fifty-seven ballots cast. This was telephoned in about 11:30 o'clock.

WEST END

Mass for MacSwiney.

A requiem high mass was celebrated at St. Clement's Catholic church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, at 8:15 o'clock this morning for the late Lord Mayor MacSwiney. The service was held at the request of the women's division of the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTE BOOK

By Lee Pape

WE was having joggriffy in skool today and the windows was open and it felt almost as mutch like summer as wat summer does, and I hadent studied my homewerk and I was afraid maybe I mite not be able to make up a anser in case Miss Kitty asked me a question, and all of a sudden I had a ideer to get out erly, thinking, G, Ill ack as if I thawt I was sick and maybe Miss Kitty will tell me to go home and go to bed.

And I started to put my hand on my forhed and quick take it away agen as if it couldent stand the hot fever, and after a wile Miss Kitty sed, Benny Potts, wot in the werld do you think youre doing?

I must be sick, I sed.

Nonsents, wy, wats the matter with you? sed Miss Kitty, and I sed, It feels something like the meezles coming on.

My goodniss, sed Miss Kitty. And she quick came down to my desk and everybody started to look jelis on account of thinking I was going to get out early, and Miss Kitty put her hand on my forhed, saying, Do you feel eny fever?

Lots, I sed. And she keep her hand there a minnit, saying, O, I see, and do you feel eny other simptoms of meezles, are your elbows stiff?

Yes mam, awfill stiff, I sed.

Have you got suddin panes in the end of your nose? sed Miss Kitty.

Yes mam, suddin as enything, I sed.

Youre suffering from acute imagination, thats wats the matter with you, young man, sippose you stay an hour after skool and see if that will make you feel better, sed Miss Kitty.

Wich I did, making me feel werse insted of better.

HALLOWEEN PARTY FOR "Y" BOYS ON FRIDAY

The boys' annual Halloween party will be held at the boys' "Y" Friday evening at 7:30. Secretary N. D. McLeod asks all members to come. Many things have been planned for the boys this year.

This party was to have been given last week, but on account of the membership campaign, it was put off until next Friday. Mr. McLeod says that he will have more boys at this party than ever before.

All the lights in the building will be put out and the boys will be led through many secret places. There will be ghosts and all sorts of horrifying creatures. After the party the boys will all have a swim.

AUTO THIEVES ACTIVE; TWO MORE CARS STOLEN

Automobile thieves are still busy in Duluth and are making good hauls while the weather is good. Last night two cars were appropriated and have not been recovered by the police. One of these was a White roadster owned by C. C. Willets, and was taken from East First street between First and Second avenues where Mr. Willets had left the car for a short time. The license number was Minnesota D-1023.

The other car was a Cadillac, the third of this kind that has been taken recently and not recovered by the police. The car was owned by J. W. Miller who had left it standing in front of the St. Louis hotel. It was a seven-passenger car with a dark blue body. The license number was Minnesota 149477.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat If You Feel Backachy or Have Bladder Trouble.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

HE WILL NEVER BE WITHOUT IT

St. Paul Man Says Since Taking Tanlac He Is Feeling Just Fine.

Had Such Pains in Back Could Hardly Turn Over in Bed.

"Before I was half through my first bottle of Tanlac I began to straighten right up," declared Ernest Kluegel of 1476 Gelhart avenue, St. Paul, Minn., recently.

"About four months ago my kidneys got all out of fix, and I suffered untold agonies from pains in the small of my back. Actually, I couldn't turn from one side to the other in bed without my back hurting me so I could hardly stand it. Then my appetite failed me, nothing looked good or tasted right to me, and I got to feeling dull and languid and had little strength.

"Well, sir, I have just finished my third bottle of Tanlac and my back never hurts me a particle and I sleep fine. Mealtime never comes quick enough for me now, and everything agrees with me perfectly. I feel good all the time, and have as much strength as I ever had in my life. I never expect to be without Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Duluth at the W. A. Abbett drug stores under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative. Also the leading druggist in every town throughout the Northwest. Wm. Isaacson, Gowan; Geo. W. Swanson, Culver; Floodwood Merc. Co., Floodwood; Wilfrid Longtin, Grand Lake, P. O. Saginaw; Fairbanks Store Co., Fairbanks.—Advertisement.

WHEAT SELLS AT LOW LEVEL

Prices Again Break Under Selling Pressure; Flax Market Still Sags.

Duluth Board of Trade, Nov. 3.—The wheat market was weak up to the close. December wheat closed 3¾c off at $1.99½ bid and March 3⅜c off at $2.02¼ bid; December winter, 3¾c off at $1.98½; December durum, 2½c off at $2.03 and March 3c off at $2.03.

Rye closed 1¾c off at $1.68 for spot; December ¾c off at $1.60 bid and May unchanged at $1.58½ asked. Oats closed ¼c off at 51¼c for spot and barley unchanged at 78c and 98c for spot.

Wheat was under selling pressure in today's market and prices receded from the opening. Bidding by Eastern millers was lacking. One specialist mentioned in that connection that by this time last fall, he had sold 8,000,000 bu of wheat to millers down there, while this fall he has not sold a bushel in that quarter so far. Milling demand in the East had, he asserted, been met through importations of Canadian wheat. He considered it poor policy for Northwest farmers to hold back their grain and permit Canadian operators to fill up the holes. The durum market was also slow today and the spot basis was about unchanged in relation to the futures.

December wheat broke 3¼c to $2.00¼ asked up until the noon hour. March broke 2⅝c to $2.03¼. December durum broke 1½c to $2.04, and March, to $2.03¾.

Rye was also easy. December eased to $1.60 and May ½c at $1.58.

Barley offering on the sample tables was absorbed at an unchanged basis from 78 to 98c for spot.

Some improvement was shown in receipts, there being on track for the two days 532 cars of all grains, including spring wheat, 15; durum, 269; winter, 2, oats, 16, rye, 165; barley, 35; flax, 36, and bonded spring, 54. Advices received by elevator interests are that a better movement of grain from the country may be looked for from now on up until the close of the navigation season.

Flax Breaks.

Trade in flax was limited with crushers out of the market in view of the limited call for linseed oil. It is estimated that 1,000,000 bu of the seed now in Duluth elevators could be picked up at a small premium. In the meantime receipts of seed continue liberal. Quotations in flax again sagged of their own weight. November flax closed 2½c off at $2.70 bid, December, 3c off at $2.73 bid and May 3c off at $2.87 asked.

At Winnipeg November flax closed 7¾c off from Monday at $2.73 bid and December 3c off at $2.78.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Logan & Bryan wired from Chicago: "Under normal conditions the statistical position of wheat would call for higher prices, but taking into consideration the enormous over-production of feed-stuff, the large importation of Canadian wheat, the high money market, the poor demand for wheat and flour, the general business depression and the declining tendency of all other commodities, with not a few down to and below a pre-war basis, we can see no reason why wheat should stand on a pedestal by itself. Influential buying will undoubtedly be in evidence from time to time and will probably cause good upturns, which we believe should be taken advantage of to make sales. This is no time, in our opinion, to be long on grain."

There was imported from Canada into the United States during the first fifteen days of October, 4,950,000 bu of wheat, and 65,946 barrels of flour. That was more than three times as much as the shipments in any October during the last seven years.

• • •

An estimate of the Canadian grain crops for 1920, issued by the Dominion bureau of statistics at Ottawa, showed that Canada should have 100,000,000 bu of wheat for export in excess of last year. The bureau's estimate of the wheat crop is 293,361,000 bu against 193,260,000 bu last year. Other estimates are: Oats 513,000,000 bu against 394,000,000 bu last year, and barley 65,-000,000 against 56,000,000 bu last year.

• • •

The weak market in oats for some time back is accounted for by the fact that supplies are greatly in excess of the demand. The trade has been interested in advices that some oatmeal plants have been compelled to close on account of accumulations of surplus stocks.

• • •

B. W. Snow claims that the acreage sown to winter wheat shows a sharp reduction from last year. The crop was sown late, and dry weather up to the end of October retarded its growth so that the plant is small. Reports as to its appearance and vigor are, however, favorable.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Moderate declines in wheat resulted today from lack of support. Some buying on the part of a house with seaboard connections led to a little show of firmness at the outset, but demand otherwise proved small, and the market sagged, despite assertions in some quarters that this country is now practically on a domestic basis, even including the amount of wheat which will be received yet from Canada. Opening prices, which varied from unchanged figures to ¼c higher, with December $2.09½ to $2.10 and March $2.02¼, were followed by declines all around to well below Monday's finish.

Contentions that there had been an enormous overproduction of feedstuffs tended subsequently to handicap the bulls. As a market factor, the election was ignored. Prices closed unsettled, 2½@3¾c net lower with December $2.06¾@2.07, and March, $1.98½@1.98¾.

Corn eased down with wheat. After opening ⅝c off to ½c up, including December at 84½c to 84¾c, the market suffered a general setback but then rallied somewhat.

Bearish crop estimates brought about increased selling pressure later, and forced values sharply downward. The close was nervous, 1⅞@2⅜c net lower with December, 82⅛@82¼c.

Oats were governed by the action of other cereals, starting unchanged to ¼c higher, December 55c to 55⅛c and later weakening.

Higher quotations on hogs had only a transient strengthening effect on provisions, being soon offset by the downturn in grain.

COPPER STOCKS SLIGHTLY EASIER

There were no fireworks in any direction in the market in mining stocks at New York today. The advances set on Monday were not quite sustained. Anaconda sold around the close a shade up at $51.37; Butte & Superior fractionally up at $15.75; Chino fractionally off at $25.87; Great Northern Ore 25 cents off at $33.75; Inspiration 50 cents off at $42.75 and Utah 50 cents off at $60.

Logan & Bryan wired Robinson-Macaulay company from New York: "We look for a gradual restoration of confidence from now on with regard to business conditions in particular. Being of this opinion, we quite naturally feel that stock market values in most directions will begin to reflect this prospective change in sentiment."

A New York wire said: "A large producer has sold copper at 14¾c a pound delivered, according to several metal dealers. This is the lowest price since the spring of 1919."

• • •

Prices of steel rails are expected to be fixed at $55 a ton for 1921 instead of $55, the present figure. The placing of heavy orders is expected before the end of the year.

Raw Cuban sugar is available for November shipment at 7½ cents a pound, cost and freight. It is thought, however, to be doubtful if any quantity of Cuban sugars could be purchased at under 8 cents. In July, 1914, raw sugar sold in New York at 3.29 cents, duty paid, equal to a little over 2 cents cost and freight. It is noted by experts that hides and leather are back to about a pre-war basis. Coffee has recently sold below the pre-war price and crude rubber is at the lowest price in the history of the trade. Crude rubber is now selling at 24 cents a pound as against 50 cents six months ago.

Wall Street Journal says: "At a special meeting of the board of directors of the Southern Pacific held Monday the board approved the general principle of the separation of its California oil properties and its stockholdings in the Associated Oil company from its railroad properties, and referred the matter to the executive committee to work out a plan. The board intends that the benefits from this arrangements shall insure to the stockholders, and this advance notice is given for their protection."

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Southern Pacific Rises Eleven Points and Other Rails Strong.

New York, Nov. 3.—Stocks were firm and trading was broad at the opening of today's session but the general tone of the market indicated that financial and speculative interests have discounted the results of the presidential election. The only striking feature was the heavy trading in Southern Pacific. That stock opened with a sale of 25,000 shares at 110½ to 109½, a maximum gain of 5 points. This was due to an announcement made on Monday last of the company's intention to separate its oil properties from the railroad system with substantial benefits to shareholders. Other leading stocks were higher by fractions of a point and some of the specialties gained 1 to 3 points.

Southern Pacific was the leader of the session, holding greater part of its gain of 5 points despite heavy selling for profits. Associated Oil, its subsidiary, gained 4 points and Royal Dutch also was strong, but other oils reacted with steels, equipments and numerous specialties. Heaviness was shown by Crucible Steel, United Fruit, American Woolen, International Paper and several of the leather issues, which lost 3 to 6 points.

Investment rails were steady, but the cheaper issues, particularly Southern Railway, Pittsburgh & West Virginia, Rock Island and St. Louis Southwestern, eased 1 to 1½ points. Call money opened at 9 per cent and exchange on London and Paris were lower.

Trading quieted perceptibly at midday, Southern Pacific and Royal Dutch still standing out as the only prominent issues of marked strength. Coppers, motors and food shares were under professional pressure with specialties of the class represented by Sears-Roebuck and Montgomery Ward.

Renewed buying of Southern Pacific at an advance of 11 points and the strength of other rails, especially Reading, lifted the market out of its rut in the final hour. The close was strong.

PREUS LEADS WITH 72,691

Republican Candidate Well Ahead With One-Half Ballots In.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 3.—When one-third of the total number of precincts in Minnesota had reported early this afternoon, J. A. O. Preus, Republican candidate for governor, had a lead of 72,691 votes over Dr. Henrik Shipstead, independent candidate, indorsed by the Nonpartisan league, and Preus' nearest opponent.

These figures were shown when 1,078 precincts out of 3,220 in the state had reported: Preus, 189,145; Shipstead, 116,454; L. C. Hodgson, Democrat, 37,-119; Peter J. Samson, Socialist, 855.

This showed a total vote of 343,573 tabulated in the gubernatorial contest, and if preliminary estimates by Secretary of State Julius A. Schmahl prove correct as to the total vote, this figure represents more than one half the total vote cast for governor.

Decisive Plurality.

This vote on governor, it was pointed out, coming from eighty-three of the eighty-six counties in the state could be accepted as representative, and was taken to assure a decisive plurality for Preus.

For president the landslide for Senator Harding continued, the Republican candidate polling a plurality of 139,398 votes over James M. Cox, the Democratic nominee, when returns had been tabulated from 1,130 precincts, or more than one-third of the state's total.

The vote for president then stood: Harding, 190,065; J. M. Cox, 50,667; W. W. Cox, Industrial, 594; Eugene Debs, Socialist, 20,233; Aaron Watkins, Prohibitionist, 1,458.

This showed a total vote so far tabulated for president as 264,147, which was estimated to be somewhat less than one-half the total vote cast yesterday in the state.

Nearly Every County.

As in the case of the gubernatorial contest, the returns on president represented nearly every county in the state, including incomplete returns from eighty-two counties. It was predicted that Harding would maintain this approximate ratio until the state was completely reported.

For other state offices, the Republican candidates continued to hold their leads over their nearest opponents, which in every case were the candidates indorsed by the National Nonpartisan league.

In the congressional fights, the situation was still in doubt, except in one or two districts, where the trend of the vote reported up to an early hour this afternoon indicated return of the incumbent.

The battle in the Seventh district between Congressman A. J. Volstead, author of the prohibition enforcement act, and Rev. O. J. Kvale, the Independent candidate indorsed by the Nonpartisan league, continued to hold attention. Volstead was maintaining a slight lead this afternoon as the rural precincts started coming in.

State Amendments.

The three state amendments fared variedly, while the referred law, calling for amendment of the law on contracts between the state and railroad companies to enable municipalities to tax local property of railroads for permanent improvements, apparently had passed with a marked majority.

The good roads amendment, known as Amendment No. 1, was running strong in returns available this afternoon, but the rural vote was problematical and the outcome could not be forecast with any assurance of accuracy until a greater number of outlying precincts had been heard from. It had a good lead at 2 p. m.

The amendment proposing extension of the term of county probate judges from two to four years passed by a big majority, while the amendment proposing certain tax exemptions and permitting the legislature to levy income tax and occupational and privilege taxes in its stead if deemed advisable, has been defeated if first returns are borne out. However, it was realized that the rural vote would swing in its favor and might be strong enough to change the result as indicated in available returns.

While there continued some delay in getting outlying precincts, the trouble was not confined to the country districts, for in Minneapolis, for instance, at noon today, election boards in 116 of the 210 precincts in the city still were counting the vote. Only 64 precincts had reported complete returns at noon in Minneapolis.

Crookston Realtor's Funeral.

Crookston, Minn., Nov. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Funeral services were held here this afternoon for William I. Kords, well known local realtor, native of Guttenberg, Iowa, who died yesterday morning at his home after an operation performed last Friday, aged 51. The body was taken to his native town for burial. His wife and two sons survive.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

PRUDDEN—Funeral services for Maj C. E. Prudden, whose body just arrived from England, will be held Friday afternoon, Nov. 5, at 2:30 o'clock from Masonic temple. Interment will be in Forest Hill cemetery.

GIANT PECAN TREE

Kansas City Star: It is believed that the giant pecan tree, called "Jumbo," owned by J. C. Morris of San Saba, Tex., holds the record in the matter of annual revenue received from its crop. It has been producing big soft shell pecan nuts for many years, perhaps fifty or more. For many years past its annual yield of nuts has brought from $250 to $400. As far back as the time of the World's fair at St. Louis the product of this tree was famous. All of its crop that year was sold in St. Louis for 40 cents a pound, after the nuts had been awarded first prize for size and quality. The annual yield of the tree ranges from 800 to 1,200 pounds. While there is no means of knowing how old this tree is, it was in a state of production when the first white settlers came.

The people of Texas are just beginning to wake up to the commercial possibilities of the pecan industry, and it is estimated that if all home and land owners in Texas would plant a few pecan trees in their yards the productive wealth of Texas would be increased many million dollars. Pecan trees begin to bear at 5, 6, 7 and 8 years of age, depending somewhat on the quality and climate, but it is safe to say that a pecan tree is commercially profitable at 8 years of age, and its future life almost interminable.

The pecan crop of Texas for 1919 had a sale value of $350,000,000, most of the pecans growing wild or without any cultivation.

THE BRUTE.

London Answers: Mrs. Smarte believed in being in the fashion. More, if she could forestall "the latest" by even half a day she was a happy woman.

Her husband was getting sick of it. He didn't mind a woman looking attractive, but when it came to his wife—his wife—! becoming the talk of the neighborhood, he drew the line.

So, one morning when she appeared before him in the newest addition to her wardrobe, even more weird and wonderful than usual, he made a casual remark:

"One thing always puzzles me," he said.

"What's that dear?" asked the lady in an uninterested voice, as she gazed in the mirror and wondered if her gown was hanging sufficiently crookedly at the back to be really smart.

"Why is a scarecrow always represented as being a man?" retorted the wretch, unfeelingly.

One Hundred Investment Bargains in Railroad Bonds

In a circular prepared by one of the greatest bond authorities in this country, which we have just had printed, the bond situation is not only thoroughly covered, but there is a list of one hundred bargains in high grade railroad bonds yielding as high as

Ten Per Cent

Among this list are many unusual investment opportunities, and inasmuch as underlying factors are now favorable to rising bond prices, a selection of these bonds would unquestionably result in excellent market profits, in addition to an attractive income return.

The circular will be sent without obligation, together with a booklet describing a convenient method of purchasing the bonds.

ALL KINDS OF MONEY.

Literary Digest: It might be possible to buy almost every one of the fifty-seven famous varieties of pickles made in Pittsburgh with a different kind of paper money. Everybody knows that we have numerous kinds of paper currency, national bank notes, Federal reserve notes. But, observes the American banker, "it is doubtful if many realize that in all there are fifty-four different designs of various denominations," and it continues:

"Of ones, twos, and one thousands, there are five kinds; of fives, fifties and one hundreds, six kinds; of tens and twenties, seven kinds; of five hundreds, four kinds; of ten thousands, two; and of five thousands, one.

"Naturally, this makes counterfeiting easier, and treasury officials are discussing ways to reduce the variety. This should include printing all notes of the same denomination in the same color, with a distinct and different color for each denomination. No one then would have to scrutinize a bill to determine its value, and there would be no possibility of raising a note of low denomination to a higher one."

RULES.

St. Louis Times: Beth, aged 6, announced at dinner: "Papa, I have made up three rules to go by, and I am going to keep them all my life. First, 'Be kind to everyone'; second, 'Keep out of danger'; third and best of all, 'When I grow up and get married and have a little girl of my own—if I have one—and the house gets afire, save the child.'"

TENNESSEE GOES REPUBLICAN, BREAKING "SOLID SOUTH"

HARDING NOT EXCITED BY ELECTION TRIUMPH

Lawrence Sees Winning Candidate in First Flush of Victory.

Cautious in Accepting Result Until Returns Clearly Showed Success.

Has Not Made a Single Promise of Place in Cabinet.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

(Copyright, 1920, by The Duluth Herald.)

Marion, Ohio, Nov. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—How does it feel to be elected president of the United States?

Many of us who watched the victorious candidate receive the returns and saw him keep an even keel, never ruffled, never up stage, never exhibiting even the schoolboyish joy that one might expect upon such an occasion, could not but come to the conclusion that President-elect Harding will face all the big moments of his career with the same deliberateness, the same calmness and the same modesty that seemed to invest him as the greatest gift in the nation's power was slowly but surely bestowed upon him by the telegraphed returns of the vote in all parts of the United States.

Conservatively Senator Harding read the dispatches. The joyous expressions of the people at his home made him happy, yet only when a delegation of printers and employes from his own newspaper came to the front porch to rejoice with Warren Harding did he choke with emotion. It was their joy, their happiness, their enthusiasm which he caught. He broke for only a moment. Soon he was himself again and, calmly examining the returns, nodding here and smiling there, mingling among his guests and going about his own house with the same ease that a practiced host might display upon inviting a houseful of folks for a social occasion.

Cautious in Accepting Result.

Ever since the Chicago convention last June people have been assuring Warren Harding that he would be elected, people who ought to know the political trend of the country, but never did the senator permit himself to imagine that the contest was really over, that he was actually elected. Even when rival headquarters were conceding the election, he did not give vent to his innermost feelings. Per-

WILL STUDY ABORIGINES

Expedition to China to Discover Fossils of "Missing Link."

New York, Nov. 4.—The expedition sponsored by the American Museum of Natural History which will set forth for China next February will search not only for fossils of the ape-man, regarded by biologists as the "missing link" in the chain of evolution, but will study the aboriginal tribes now said to be fast disappearing in China.

"We know as little about some of the living natives as about the fossil history of the country," says Roy Chapman Andrews, who will lead the expedition. "Long before the Chinese arrived, China was inhabited by aboriginal tribes, which were pushed south and west just as the Indians were driven westward by white men who advanced across the American continent.

"Remnants of nearly thirty of these tribes, such as the Lolos, Mosos, Lisos and others, are rapidly disappearing, and the expedition expects to study them before they become extinct."

Describing these aborigines with whom he has hunted, Mr. Andrews said they are totally unlike Chinese, having tall and slender bodies, long faces, patrician noses and other characteristics of Caucasian blood.

Oldest Prehistoric Remains.

Mr. Andrews says that scientific men are now agreed in the belief that the oldest prehistoric remains of man and of many beasts, lie somewhere within the great Central Asiatic plateau, where few white men have ever penetrated.

One of the reasons why little is known of China's fossils and those of interior Asia is that material of this sort is carefully concealed by the Chinese, who term the relics "dragon's bones" and use them for medicinal purposes, said Mr. Andrews.

One result expected is the education of Americans in a knowledge of the immense continent across the Pacific. Whether success or failure meets the attempt to find the "missing link," hundreds of thousands of specimens of Asiatic animal and plant life are to be collected and brought to America. These it is planned to place in the proposed $1,000,000 Hall of Asiatic Life in this city.

Strange Wild Animals.

Hunts for wild animals, many of which the explorer hopes to bring alive to the United States, will furnish excitement. In a corner of the Gobi desert are herds of wild horses, while on the Tibetan steppes are enormous yak, snow leopards and giant pandas. In China is the takin, a strange ox-like animal with a veritable "golden fleece" that roams the highest mountain valleys and represents an intermediate stage between the antelope and the goat, says Mr. Andrews.

Headquarters for the exposition are to be at Pekin. The work of the expedition is to continue for five years. The first year will be devoted to studies in palaeontology and zoology in China. The second year the work is to be carried into Mongolia, with geologists added to the field staff. Then for the next three years the entire force will be scattered in widespread sections of Asia.

TO LEAD PARTY IN SEARCH OF FOSSILS OF "MISSING LINK"

RAY CHAPMAN ANDREWS.

HARDING OFF FOR THE SOUTH ON SATURDAY

To Leave Marion for Hunting and Fishing Trip in Texas.

Will Visit Panama Canal and Return to Some Gulf Resort.

Marion, Ohio, Nov. 4.—With only two days remaining before he leaves Marion for a month's vacation trip, President-elect Harding went to work today clearing his desk of the final left over details of his campaign.

With Mrs. Harding he will start at 7:30 Saturday morning for Point Isabel, Tex., where he will spend twelve days hunting and fishing prior to an ocean voyage to the Panama canal zone. He plans to be back in Marion Dec. 6, and after that may go to some gulf coast resort for a winter to be spent in choosing his cabinet and formulating the policies of his administration.

Except for an engagement to speak on Dec. 5 in Bedford, Va., Mr. Harding has no appointments for public speeches between now and inauguration.

Marion to Celebrate.

Tonight Marion will celebrate formally his election to the presidency, and several hundred people from other cities are expected to join in the occasion. There will be all the noise and red fire that his loyal neighbors and friends can produce, and many special features to give the Harding front porch and lawn one final baptism of campaign glory.

Mr. Harding was not inclined to regard the triumph as a personal one. As he told many of his audiences during the campaign, his feeling was that the decision would be made on issues rather than candidates, and the League of Nations and the record of the Wilson administration at home were the determining factors.

The avalanche of congratulatory messages addressed to the president-elect and Mrs. Harding increased in proportions, many prominent Democrats being numbered among those who sent their good wishes. The defeated Democratic nominee, Governor Cox, sent a brief telegram accepting the result, and the senator in a still briefer message thanked him. Late this evening no word had yet been received from President Wilson.

Cabinet Selections.

Now that the political complexion of the next administration is known definitely, gossip about cabinet selections is reviving. Both Mr. Harding and his close advisers have indicated, however, that all of these forecasts are purely speculative, and that the question of choosing a cabinet is one yet to be taken up.

In this undercurrent of speculation, which apparently is without sanction of authority, the names mentioned as cabinet officials include those of Elihu Root, Philander C. Knox and Henry

CHAMP CLARK LOSES SEAT IN THE HOUSE

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 4.—Champ Clark of Bowling Green, Mo., veteran of the house of representatives, to which he has been elected more times than the average voter can remember, yesterday surrendered his post of honor to T. W. Hukriede of Warrenton, Mo., the young Republican candidate, in Tuesday's election for representative in congress from the Ninth Missouri district.

Facing a handicap of 5,000 votes with five-sixths of the precincts in his district in—including the Democratic strongholds—the former Democratic leader sent a telegram to Hukriede congratulating the Republican "on his victory."

Two hundred and twenty of the 268 precincts, including four complete counties, gave Hukriede a vote of 30,421 to Clark's 25,679.

Mr. Clark was elected to the house in 1893. In 1895 he was not chosen but in 1897 he again was the choice of his district and has represented it ever since.

PREUS HAS PLURALITY OF 118,257

Complete Returns Not Expected to Make Any Material Change.

Thus Far Harding Has 442,479 Votes to Cox's 120,735.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 4.—With the election of J. A. O. Preus for governor assured by an overwhelming plurality over his three opponents, outlying precincts virtually discontinued reporting returns as it was evident the complete results from the 3,220 precincts in the state would not materially change the standing.

When 2,507 precincts had been reported on governor, the count today was:

Preus, Republican, 355,228; Hodgson, Democrat, 69,400; Shipstead, Independent Nonpartisan, 236,971; Samson, Socialist, 3,199. This represents a plurality of 118,257 for Preus.

For president, 2,443 precincts had reported up to noon today, and these gave this standing: Harding, Republican, 442,479; Cox, Democrat, 120,735; Cox, Industrial, 2,690; Debs, Socialist, 37,486; Watkins, Prohibitionist, 6,223.

One County Missing.

The returns on governor and president were from 85 of the 86 counties in the state, as efforts to get into communication with Ivanhoe in Lincoln county continued unsuccessful up to noon today. Returns from that county were expected by mail late today.

For amendment No. 1, the good roads amendment, 1,923 precincts showed this standing: In favor of the amendment, 336,550; opposed to the amendment, 128,707. The vote on amendment No. 1 is not holding pace with the vote on governor for the same precincts, and this will handicap it somewhat.

To be adopted, the amendment must receive a majority of all the votes cast at the election. The governor vote totals 664,798, while the total vote on president is 609,883.

It became apparent today that the total vote cast for governor would exceed the original estimate of 700,000. This, it was thought, was due to the unexpectedly heavy turn out of women. It had been estimated that the woman vote would be approximately 65 per cent of the male vote. Available returns indicate it was nearer 80 per cent.

O'CONNOR'S LEAD IN NORTH DAKOTA RAPIDLY REDUCED

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 4.—Returns on president, United States senator and congressmen in North Dakota still were meager today, the whole election returns handling machinery in the state being devoted to the single task of determining the outcome of the gubernatorial contest which holds first interest with the state.

Dr. E. F. Ladd, Republican, for United States senator, had 25,577 in 371 out of 2,091 precincts, and H. H. Herrick, Democrat, had 17,558. The Democrats concede Dr. Ladd's election.

In the First congressional district, O. B. Burtness, Republican, had 12,577, and John M. Baer, Nonpartisan, running as an independent, has 9,571. In the Second congressional district totals late this afternoon gave George M. Young 8,812, and Ole Olson 8,700. The latest vote available on governor is from 1,632 out of 2,091 precincts, giving Lynn Frazier, Nonpartisan, 91,828, and J. F. T. O'Connor, Ind., 96,698.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF SUGAR REMOVED

Washington, Nov. 4.—The last vestige of government control over sugar has been removed through signature by President Wilson of a proclamation providing for revocation Nov. 15 of licenses held by wholesalers, refiners, exporters and importers.

MAGNEY WINS IN RACE FOR JUDGESHIP

Leads Greene by About 5,600; Cant and Fesler Easy.

G. O. P. State Ticket Swamps Foe; Hot County Fights.

Fairly complete returns from the four counties in the Eleventh judicial district indicate that Clarence R. Magney, former mayor of Duluth, who resigned this fall to become a candidate for district judge, has been elected over County Attorney Warren E. Greene, his closest contender for the same office, by a plurality of about 5,600 votes. In St. Louis county alone, Magney had had a lead of 4,200 votes over Greene. At the primary election Greene finished third in the judgeship race and Magney was 1,200 votes behind him. Developments in the last few days of the campaign, however, apparently switched many votes to the Magney column.

Cant Leads the Ticket.

Judges William A. Cant and Bert Fesler were re-elected with handsome pluralities, Judge Cant receiving the greatest number of votes cast for any candidate on the state or county ticket. Judge Homer B. Dibell, who led the ticket in the primaries last June, was second to Judge Cant in the number of votes received at the present election.

Returns on the judgship race show the standing in the district of the candidates as follows:

Cant	38,359
Fesler	35,321
Magney	26,813
Greene	21,240
Haroldson	10,502
Funck	6,957

Returns from Carlton and Lake counties are complete. Lake county has one missing precinct and St. Louis county twenty-six.

League Candidates Beaten.

Preus carried St. Louis county almost two to one, coming out of the gubernatorial race with a plurality of about 13,000 over Shipstead, the Nonpartisan league candidate for governor. Corporal Collins, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, gave Capt. Mallon, the Nonpartisan league candidate, an even worse beating, the Collins plurality being in the neighborhood of 15,000.

Judge Homer B. Dibell, candidate for re-election as associate justice, defeated Siegel, the league candidate, by a majority of 19,000.

The vote on president, state offices and the district judgeship in 188 out of 214 precincts of St. Louis county, including all of the Duluth precincts, follows:

	City.	County.	Total.
President.
Harding	16,581	10,887	27,468
Cox (Dem.)	9,303	5,561	14,864
Cox (Indus.)	160	288	448
Debs	1,847	1,841	3,688
Watkins	220	310	530
Governor.
Preus	17,440	10,209	27,649

GEN. WRANGEL HOLDING WELL

Bolshevik Troops Make Unsuccessful Attack South of Perekop.

Sebastopol, Nov. 3.—(By the Associated Press.)—Russian Bolshevik troops are unsuccessfully attacking the line held by Gen. Baron Wrangel's army south of Perekop. The soviet army is battering at the seven-mile trench system which extends east and west across the narrow neck of land leading to the Crimean peninsula, but Gen Wrangel's position is quite strong. It has on its left the gulf of Perekop and on its right the gulf of Sivash, or Putrid sea. Back of his main lines Gen. Wrangel has heavy naval guns and other artillery.

The town of Perekop, which has been occupied by the Bolsheviki, is a mass of ruins.

Lithuanians Check Irregular Poles.

Riga, Nov. 3.—Offensive operations by irregular Polish troops commanded by Gen. Zeligouski have been checked along the front by the Lithuanians during the past few days, and as a result the evacuation of Kovno has been postponed. The only point where the Poles have not been defeated is on the northern section of the line, where they have occupied the railroad station at Dushti.

A Polish armored train, which attacked the station at Antiokole, was repulsed by Lithuanian artillery on Tuesday. Hard fighting has taken place on the line between Vilna and Kovno, where yesterday the Poles fired 3,000 shells. They have been forced out of the towns of Gedroisti and Dubinski.

Reports from Kovno attribute the Lithuanian successes to the assistance given by Prussians, who are said to

LARSON LEAD OVER CARSS APPEARS TO SETTLE IT

Congressman Evidently Defeated; Returns Are Fairly Complete.

His Manager Concedes Defeat When Carlton Is Heard From.

Possible Koochiching Lead Overcome by Missing St. Louis Precincts.

Fairly complete returns in the Eighth congressional district strongly indicate that Congressman William L. Carss has been defeated for re-election by O. J. Larson, Republican nominee.

With the city of Duluth, Carlton county and Cook county complete, only one precinct missing from Lake county, twenty-six from St. Louis county yet to be heard from, Itasca county 85 per cent in and Koochiching county incomplete, Mr. Larson has a lead of 789 over Mr. Carss.

It seems to have been a case where the sweep of Republican victory carried even so strong a candidate as the congressman away with it, and even though he ran away ahead of his ticket and was the sole hope of Democracy and labor in this state, the valiant fight that was made in his behalf has been rendered abortive.

Carlton county defeated Congressman Carss, for he and his supporters fully expected to carry that county. Contrariwise, the county, with complete figures in, gave Larson a majority of 663. This was a distinct blow to the Carss supporters, and when John E. Jensen, manager for the congressman, saw the figure, he gave up.

Jensen Admits Defeat.

"We expected to carry Carlton," said he, "and we also expected to carry Duluth, but the East end vote was too heavy for us to overcome. These two results about settle the question. Lake county did better for us than we expected."

Lake county gave Carss a majority of 737, according to figures received by The Herald this morning, only one precinct being missing.

Itasca county, or about 85 per cent of it, gives Larson a lead of 248, and that is another county which the Carss supporters expected to carry, and still have hopes of doing. But even should they carry Itasca, Mr. Jensen figures that there is no chance.

Cook county, complete, gives Carss a majority of 146.

Main Blow to Carss.

One of the main blows to the Carss interests, but in line with the Larson claims, is the result in Duluth and St. Louis county. With twenty-six small precincts in the county missing, Mr. Larson's total majority is 1,221 for the city and county. The city complete gave him 13,011 to 12,427 for Carss, and the county outside of the city, with twenty-six precincts missing, gave Larson 9,775 and Carss 9,138.

In Koochiching county, where the count is far from complete, Carss headquarters received word that the congressman is 460 ahead, with thirty-four precincts to hear from, and the most of these are claimed for Carss.

Outlying precincts all over the district are slow in arriving, and while in number they amount to considerable, it is not believed that they are sufficient to change the result. Koochiching, it is admitted, may give Carss still more of a margin there, but on the other hand, it is believed that most precincts to be heard from in St. Louis county will declare for Larson, so that there will be at least an offset. Itasca is uncertain, and Lake is pretty well determined.

Present Standings.

So far as received the returns show the following standings:

	Larson.	Carss.
City of Duluth (complete)	13,011	12,427
St. Louis county (26 precincts missing)	9,775	9,138
Lake county (1 precinct missing)	875	1,612
Carlton county (complete)	2,688	2,025
Cook county (complete)	143	289
Itasca county (85 pct.)	2,589	2,341
Koochiching (incomplete) majority		460
Totals	29,081	28,292

Larson's majority to date, 789.

Congressman Carss said today that while he has not fully given up until Koochiching and Itasca counties are heard from still further, it looks bad for his re-election.

"The wonder is, when everything is considered," said he, "that I made any showing at all. Everything seems to be going the other way."

MEXICAN WHO KILLED AMERICAN EXECUTED

Washington, Nov. 4.—Summary trial and execution of an unnamed Mexican, charged with the murder of Arthur L. Mosely and Gustave Salazar, American citizens, has been reported to the American embassy at Mexico City by the Mexican foreign office, the state department was advised today.

The Mexican government has not accepted responsibility for the killing of William H. Benton, British subject, although agreeing to compensate his widow "voluntarily and graciously," according to a copy of the agreement with the British government which reached Washington yesterday.

Under the agreement Mrs. Benton is to receive 20,000 pesos and a pension of five pesos a day so long as she remains unmarried.

SUCCESSFUL REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS

OSCAR J. LARSON.

VOLSTEAD IS RE-ELECTED

Author of Prohibition Enforcement Act Slips in After Close Fight.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 4.—Congressman A. J. Volstead of the Seventh Minnesota district, author of the prohibition enforcement act, has been reelected on the Republican ticket after a close fight. With only thirty small precincts missing he has 33,886 votes to 32,021 polled by the opponent, Rev. O. J. Kvale, Independent, and choice of the Nonpartisan league.

In the other close contests—the Eighth and Ninth—the vote was:

Eighth district, 205 precincts out of 391 in the district give: Larson, 25,571; Carss, 24,515.

Ninth district, 375 precincts out of 529 give: Steenerson, 28,854; Thormodson, 19,681; Jeffers, 5,314. Steenerson elected.

Other Results.

The other district contests were determined in yesterday's results.

WINNIPEG TELEGRAM CEASES PUBLICATION

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 4.—The Winnipeg Telegram, an evening newspaper, has ceased publication, largely the result of the abnormal increase in the price of newsprint and of nearly all materials which enter into the production of newspapers. The Telegram was established twenty-seven years ago as a morning newspaper but was transferred to the evening field a few years ago. There are now only two daily newspapers published in Winnipeg.

HARDING HAS 390 ELECTORAL VOTES CERTAIN

Oklahoma Shifts to Republican Ranks as Also Does Montana.

Several Precincts in Southern States Register Approval of Harding.

Republicans Thus Far Have Secured 257 Seats in the House.

New York, Nov. 4.—Tennessee has swung into the swelling Republican columns, shattering Democratic traditions of a "Solid South," unofficial but nearly complete returns from the Volunteer state showed early today.

Her shift from the Democratic ranks, coupled with a similar upset in Oklahoma, reported late last night, assured Warren G. Harding of 390 electoral votes as against 127 definitely in the James M. Cox column and left in doubt but fourteen seats in the electoral college, divided among Arizona (3), Nevada, (3); New Mexico, (3), and North Dakota, (5). In all of these states save New Mexico Harding was in the lead on available returns and even in New Mexico Republican managers were claiming a Harding plurality though available returns showed a Cox lead.

Tennessee, on the face of returns tabulated by the Memphis Commercial Appeal from ninety-three of ninety-five counties, with fifty precincts missing, gave Harding 199,759 votes and Cox 189,782, a Harding plurality of 9,977. Governor Roberts, Democrat, was swept out on the Republican tide and Alf A. Taylor, unsuccessful candidate for governor against his brother in 1886, was elected.

No further actual upsets were reported from the "Solid South," although several towns in Florida and Louisiana and several counties in Georgia and Alabama broke precedents by piling up Harding pluralities.

Congressional Sweep.

The Republican congressional sweep assumed large proportions as belated returns continued to come in. The victory of Samuel D. Nicholson, Republican candidate for the senate, from Colorado, assured President-elect Harding a majority of at least ten in the upper house, and of five states where senatorial choices had not been determined, the Republican candidates were in the lead in four—Arizona, Oregon, Nevada and North Dakota. In the fifth, Kentucky, Republican leaders still clung to the hope that late returns would overcome the advantage held by Senator J. C. W. Beckham over Richard P. Ernst, his Republican opponent.

The Republicans had secured 257 seats in the house of representatives to 132 for the Democrats. Four seats went to miscellaneous, including one Socialist and one Prohibitionist. Forty-two districts were unreported. On

BLAINE WILL BE GOVERNOR

All State Officers in Wisconsin of Repubiican Faith.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 4.—With more than two-thirds of the 2,425 precincts reporting and with even a larger proportion of the total vote tabulated, election of a Republican state administration from governor down, including a good majority in the legislature, seemed certain.

In practically every county Blaine was running ahead of McCoy for governor, exceptions being Forrest, Jefferson, Langlade, Racine, Rock, Walworth, Waukesha and Winnebago. These counties returns were nearly complete and the McCoy plurality not large. In 1,822 of the state's 2,425 precincts Blaine polled 281,474 and McCoy 198,033; Coleman, Socialist, received 59,831. This represents nearly 540,000 of the estimated 700,000 vote cast.

A dozen counties on the face of incomplete returns showed Thompson, independent, running ahead of Lenroot for senator and in Milwaukee county the Socialist candidate was ahead of both Thompson and Lenroot. Reinsch, Democrat, is running a few thousand ahead of Weber, Socialist.

Lenroot Well Ahead.

Returns from practically every county, twenty counties complete and representing more than 500,000 votes, gave Lenroot, Republican, 210,201; Reinsch, Democrat, 65,653; Weber, Socialist, 71,440; Thompson, independent, 1[illegible],674. The counties in which Thompson was leading Lenroot were Buffalo, Dane, La Crosse, Lincoln, Manitowoc, Milwaukee, Outagamie, Ozaukee, Sauk, Washington and Waupaca.

Returns from thirty-six counties, nine of which are complete, give the following:

Lieutenant governor—Comings, Republican, 193,362; Kleist, Socialist, 52,579. Secretary of state—Hall, Republican, 205,413; Silverthorne, Democrat, 62,566; Trojahn, Socialist, 53,133. Treasurer—Johnson, Republican, 207,[illegible]; Egerer, Democrat, 41,930; Bauersfeind, Socialist, 53,543. Attorney general—Morgan, Republican, 222,055, Larson, Democrat, 96,294.

Widely scattered returns on the Mulberger referendum show an affirmative vote, available figures being: Yes, 98,768; no, 39,536.

While the text of this law would legalize the manufacture of 2.5 per cent beer, this section is of "no effect because of the Volstead act, limiting the alcoholic content of beverages to less than one-half of 1 per cent. On account of some of its regulatory provisions the act received the indorsement of the Anti-Saloon league and others.

LIQUOR CASE BEFORE COURT

Corroboration of Fred Longfield's testimony through minor witnesses is the program of the prosecution in the liquor conspiracy case in United States court.

Longfield, Duluth taxi driver, who turned state's evidence, completed his testimony against the eleven defendants this morning. Cross-examination by Attorney Victor L. Power brought out only a number of minor contradictions in the original testimony. The substance of the charges remained unaltered.

Sessions were reopened yesterday afternoon after adjournment Saturday noon to permit defendants and jurymen to go home to vote.

Alibi for Defendants.

John H. McKinnon, superintendent of the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific railway, was the principal witness this morning. He testified that John Clayton, H. L. Mitchell and Joseph Trudell, defendants, were occupied as employes of the road from April 30 through May 6 in the vicinity of Fort Frances. Cross-examination by Attorney William Archer brought out the fact that the defendants were not near Virginia on those dates, as the indictment charges.

McKinnon also stated that it was common talk that liquor was being brought into the United States continually through the international waters that form the border. An auto road to Duluth, he testified, is also generally admitted to be the customary highway for the importation of liquor.

Registered in Ashland.

Louis M. Goeltz, proprietor of the Goeltz hotel at Ashland, identified his hotel register which showed that Fred Longfield and "Francis Brown" registered there May 4. The prosecution contends that "Brown" was the name assumed by John B. Clark, one of the defendants.

In case it becomes impossible to complete the trial by Saturday, Judge Page Morris will order a postponement of the Fergus Falls term of court, which is scheduled to open Tuesday.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

McKERROW PROPOSED ON NATIONAL BODY

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 4.—W. A. McKerrow, secretary of the Minnesota Central Live Stock Shippers' association and dairy specialist at the university farm, will be one member of the national committee of fifteen that is soon to be organized to find a way in which the marketing of cattle, calves, sheep and hogs can be handled in a more efficient manner, if the wishes of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation has its way.

His name has been sent to J. R. Howard, president of the national body, as the state's choice. Mr. Howard is expected to announce within a short time the personnel of the body that is expected to do for the livestock industry, what the marketing committee is undertaking to do for the grain farmers.

WILL ACT ON M'GEE'S ADVICE

Committee on Coal Situation Will Await Word From Administrator.

The committee appointed at the indignation meeting Monday night of West Duluth citizens over the alleged discrimination of the coal dock companies against West Duluth will meet in West Duluth Commercial club rooms tomorrow night. The committee will receive the communication from the state fuel administrator, J. F. McGee, at this meeting. The proposal of the fuel administrator will largely determine what action the committee will take in regard to relieving the coal situation in West Duluth, which local dealers and consumers have declared to be acute.

There will be another open meeting similar to the one of Monday night at the West Duluth Commercial club rooms tomorrow night. All persons interested in the coal situation in West Duluth are urged to attend this meeting. The committee will make a report on the course it has chosen to relieve the coal situation at this meeting. Two hundred people attended the meeting Monday night.

CLUB WOULD HAVE STREETS IMPROVED

The Fairmount Improvement club has drawn up a petition asking for the improvement and paving of several streets running from Grand avenue to the Canadian railroad. This petition will be presented to the city council on Monday by a committee from the club. Members of the club assert that these streets, especially at the railroad crossings, are unfit and unsafe for traffic of any kind.

The petition has been going the rounds the last ten days and has the indorsement of residents and property owners of that section of the city. More than the requisite number of signers have been procured in each instance.

The petition designates streets Seventy-sixth, Seventy-seventh, Seventy-eighth, Eightieth and Eighty-fourth as those to be repaired and put in shape. There will be a meeting of the club tonight at the clubrooms, Seventy-eighth street west and Grand avenue. The committee on this work consists of George F. Brill, F. E. Rusen, A. D. Martin, P. A. Anderson and E. G. Nelson.

W. C. T. U. WILL HONOR TWO DEPARTING MEMBERS

The West Duluth branch of the W. T. C. U. will meet at the home of Mrs. Harry W. Lanners, 5529 Highland street, this afternoon in its regular bimonthly session. A reception will be held in honor of Mrs. W. H. Keeler and Mrs. J. D. Meldahl, the treasurer of the branch, both of whom will leave for California shortly. Mrs. Keeler intends to remain in California permanently.

Mrs. H. H. Phelps is in charge of the program, which will include reviews of recent books. Several speakers will take part in the program.

PAVING JOBS COMPLETED: WORK AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

Today marks the completion of the paving which was let last spring. There are seven more miles of paving in West Duluth today than there were last spring before this work was started. Good weather has consistently favored this work so that in completing it today, the contractors have exceeded the most optimistic forecasts.

The jobs completed are: Grand avenue from Fifty-ninth to Eighty-fourth; Raleigh street from Central to Grand; Sixty-third avenue from Roosevelt to Front street; Eighth street from Fortieth avenue west to Elinor; Seventh street from Forty-sixth avenue west to Central; Fifty-fourth avenue from Elinor to Fifth street, and the alley of Fifty-ninth avenue from Elinor to Fifty-eighth avenue west.

Parent-Teachers to Meet.

The Parent-Teachers' association of the Jerome Merritt school, Fortieth avenue west and Sixth street, will hold its regular monthly meeting at the school tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 All members of the association are urged to attend this meeting.

Gosta Lodge Plans Dance.

Gosta lodge, No. 243, Vasa Order, will give a dance at the Great Eastern hall in West Duluth tomorrow night. This will be a benefit dance and all members are urged to attend. Refreshments will be served.

"Y" CABINET REPORTS SHOW GOOD PROGRESS

Activities Launched in Every Line; Special Programs Arranged For.

The regular monthly meeting of the boys' department Y. M. C. A. cabinet was held last night at the boys' building with fifteen members present. The monthly reports show progress in the club and nearly every activity of the club's program begun.

The membership report showed that the recent campaign was the most successful in recent years, 155 new boys being added to the list. The cabinet members will supplement the work of the membership committee, each member pledging himself to get one new boy during the month.

The high school club will begin work next Wednesday and Lindsley Edson, president of the club, announced a splendid program for the opening meeting. The club will be open to upper classmen and will meet every Wednesday for dinner at 6:15, closing at 7:30. William Coventry urged the support of the cabinet for the Sunday club. The challenge was accepted and this activity will get a boost.

The Y. M. C. A. national week of prayer will be observed at the boys' department every morning at 8 o'clock Nov. 14 to 20.

A special program will be arranged for Thanksgiving day. The Sunday club, athletic committee, social and entertainment committees will have charge of the day and evening program. Leif Shay for the athletic committee reported all classes organized. His committee will also form a Sunday school basket ball league and a Commercial league. Every Sunday school in the city is invited to enter a team. A banner will be awarded. Every shop, factory and store that has enough boys for a team, can enter the Commercial league. This will be something new, but Director Peterson is sure it will go strong. Gymnasium classes will have all begun and leagues in each division organized. Every Monday the beginners' swimming class meets and on Wednesday lessons in diving and fancy swimming for boys who can swim. The athletic department has planned a big program for the year.

The annual Minnesota boys' conference will be held this year at Faribault, Minn., Dec. 3 to 5. The cabinet will send two members and the high school club next week will decide how many they will send. The cabinet has decided that the annual boys' department banquet will be given this year in the middle of the year instead of the spring. The minstrel show will be staged in February.

The annual Halloween party will be given tomorrow and the social committee has many surprises to spring. Every member of the club is invited. The party will begin at 7:30 and the doors will close at 8 o'clock. New members are still coming in at the club as a result of the recent drive. A boy's membership is good for a year from the time he joins, which makes it possible for a boy to join any time.

MICHIGAN DEFEATS SCHOOL AMENDMENT

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 4.—A proposed amendment to the state Constitution that in effect would abolish parochial and private schools in Michigan was decisively defeated at Tuesday's election. Returns from 2,024 precincts, including practically complete figures from all the populous counties of the state, gave 454,062 against the amendment and 260,305 in favor of it.

Returns tabulated up to this forenoon on the presidential contest indicate that Harding received more votes than were cast for all candidates on the presidential ticket of four years ago.

Hear these famous Victor artists!

Extraordinary interest attaches to the recitals of these great artists because of the double opportunity they afford the music-loving public.

It is a privilege in itself to hear these famous artists, and added importance is given to the events in that they enable you to compare their exquisite interpretations with their Victor Records.

Attend the concerts of these artists and note the individual qualities that distinguish their renditions. Then go to any Victor dealer's and hear the Victor Records by the same artists. Note how faithfully their interpretations are portrayed on the Victrola.

It is because of this absolute fidelity that Sousa and Tetrazzini make Victor Records; that the greatest artists of all the world are Victor artists.

ANOTHER MURDER MYSTERY IN NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 4.—A murder mystery, baffling in motive, yesterday confronted the police investigating the death of Leads Vaughn Waters, wealthy clubman of London and New York, found early yesterday in a room in the Plymouth hotel here.

Death resulted from a fractured skull, caused, police believe, by blows from Waters' own cane, wielded by a man who accompanied him to the hotel Tuesday night and who rushed from the room, still carrying the walking stick, a few seconds before the body was found. He left as clews, upon which the police are working, finger prints on a mirror in the room, and the name "James Dunn, Milwaukee," upon the hotel register.

Waters registered at the hotel as "J. Talbot, Milwaukee." At that time, police say, he carried a gold-topped cane, and in his pockets had a gold watch, a gold cigarette case, a silver match box and some money. He also wore a diamond ring valued at $2,000. The cane and money are missing.

Sylvia Pankhurst Out on Bail.

London, Nov. 4.—Sylvia Pankhurst, who was sentenced to six months' imprisonment Oct. 28, on being adjudged guilty of attempting to cause sedition in the navy, was released yesterday on £2,000 bail pending an appeal. SHIPMENTS OF COAL LIGHTER

October Shows Big Falling Off; Gains During Last Week.

Coal shipments from the Head of the Lakes during October aggregated 20,286 cars, as compared with 31,388 during the same month last year and 22,441 two years ago. Shipments from Duluth docks came to 6,687 cars and from Superior 13,599 cars, according to data compiled by the Western Weighing bureau.

The movement of coal from the docks has increased materially during the last week as a result of heavier cargo receipts, and with an ample car supply, operators are sanguine that the fuel situation over the Northwest will be materially relieved shortly. Experts point out that the showing in shipments is much more favorable than would appear on the face of the figures in view of the fact that car loadings are now including but a small proportion of coal for railroad use, as the transportation companies of the Northwest are now drawing their supplies mainly from the Illinois and Indiana fields, while a year ago they were supplied almost exclusively from the Head of the Lakes docks. The continued mild weather for the season is also a factor in reducing coal consumption.

GOVERNOR COX WILL MAKE TRIP TO EUROPE

Dayton, Ohio, Nov. 4.—Governor Cox, defeated presidential candidate, announced last night that he was considering a trip abroad early next year to study conditions in Europe.

Today found the governor apparently in the same mental state as when he watched the returns Tuesday night, bringing in continuous unfavorable news. His smile was still apparent and the mass of telegrams seemed unanimous in declaring he had made a "good fight."

No formal statement was made by the governor over the election result, and his newspaper, commenting editorially, did not attempt to analyze the returns. It was the governor's message to Senator Harding that carried the defeated candidate's formal concession of his defeat. Little in the belated returns served to soften the sting of defeat. For the first time in the governor's political career his home county of Montgomery, including this city, went against him, Senator Harding carrying it by about 8,000 plurality. Middletown, in Butler county, where he lived as a boy, also went to Senator Harding by five votes, but the county itself gave a comfortable edge to the governor.

"I have not had a chance to travel much," the governor said last night.

"I began work quite young and I think I'll soon go to Europe to study conditions there."

NINE MEMBERS OF YARDMEN ARRESTED

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Nine alleged members of the so-called "outlaw" Chicago Yardmen's association were indicted by a Federal grand jury, it was announced yesterday after service had been made on the accused men.

According to the indictments, returned several weeks ago, they are charged with "stealing" a Chicago Junction railway locomotive from the yards and running it some distance from the city to the obstruction of traffic. They are indicted on five counts, each carrying a penalty of from one to five years' imprisonment.

Loman Mail by Auto.

International Falls, Minn., Nov. 4.—The mail carrying contract between this city and Loman is now being performed with automobiles, Gendey & Holler having received the contract, and yesterday placed a seven-passenger car in service, leaving here at 10:30 a. m. daily and returning at 1:30 p. m. Three years ago Mr. Gedney handled this mail route during the winter with a car, and it is said, gave the people living on the route the best mail and passenger service they have ever had.

PROBLEMS OF NEW FARMERS

Reasons Why Many Upper Wisconsin Settlers Meet With Setbacks.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 4.—Settlers buying land in Upper Wisconsin with less than $2,000 to start with, are facing a serious risk, Prof. Richard T. Ely, head of the economics department of the university of Wisconsin and D. H. Hibbard of the agriculture economics department point out in a bulletin to be issued shortly by the agricultural experiment station. They declare that the average settler in that section buys with not far from $500 capital.

After getting on the land, the development stage requires an available capital of at least $2,500, the bulletin says. In this period comes the erection of permanent buildings, the breeding of a good dairy herd and the accumulation of farm machinery.

Credit for these improvements can be obtained in Wisconsin at a lower rates than in any state west of the Alleghany mountains, the writers declare. The average rate in Wisconsin is not more than 1 per cent more than the state average, the bulletin says, and these mortgage loans are for an average of four and nine-tenths years.

It quotes the opinion of experienced farmers and land agents that small dairy farming with a money crop in rotation is the surest method of agriculture in the section.

In order to have a true picture, first hand observations were made in various sections supplemented by testimony of county agents, bankers, real estate dealers, successful farmers, settlers, merchants selling to settlers and editors, the writers explain.

Unable to Judge Farm Values.

The county agents, they say, declared that a majority of the settlers were unable to judge farm values; that land is being sold for agricultural purposes that ought not be sold for such purposes, the small dairy farming with some such crop as potatoes in rotation is the surest type of farming in Upper Wisconsin. The agents, it is said, gave as the chief causes of failure of settlers as lack of capital and credit, lack of knowledge of land clearing, wife dissatisfied, failure to appreciate the length of time it takes to develop a farm on cut-over land, and lack of ability on the part of the settler.

The number of failures, county agents report, vary from 2 per cent in one county to 75 per cent in another.

Real estate men report that about half of the settlers were native and half foreign-born; that about 90 per cent had had experience as farmers, that the average capital possessed by each was slightly over $500 and that the minimum payment demanded for forty acres was from $100 to $200

Farmers say the chief causes of failure in their opinion are:

Land sharks, high-priced land, lack of credit and difficulty in land clearing. They estimate, according to the bulletin, that where a settler has no clearing to begin with, it takes from two to five years to get enough land cleared on which to make a living and 90 per cent report that they cannot get as much credit as they need

The writers say that the great object of the state should be not to subsidize the farmer but to make his security as mobile as that of the merchant or manufacturer. They say that when once the dairy business and other desirable farm operations are established the rapidity with which money makes its way to the community is astonishing.

BOTH WILSON AND COX ARE BLAMED BY BRYAN

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 4.—In a statement last night W. J. Bryan placed what he termed the blame for Democratic defeat about equally between President Wilson and Governor Cox The president, he said, "laid the foundations for the disaster and the governor completed the structure."

The statement says, in part:

"The American people want the government to play its part in the abolition of war but they are indifferent as to whether we are part of a league or part of an association of nations. There is nothing in a name but everything in a sentiment. The real issue presented by the Democratic party was not whether we should co-operate with other nations interested in peace, but whether we should assume a moral obligation which had no weight except as it suspended the right of congress to act independently when the time arrived for action. The nation will do its part in aiding to prevent war, but it will not surrender into the keeping of any foreign group the right to determine when we shall declare war.

"Governor Cox, instead of repairing the injury done by the president, aggravated the situation by the manner in which he avoided domestic issues and misrepresented the position of the Republican party on the league issue, which he declared to be paramount."

NEGOTIATIONS WITH JAPS TO CONTINUE

Washington, Nov. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Adoption by the California electorate of the referendum measure restricting the right of aliens to lease or hold real property in that state will not affect, it was learned yesterday, the continuance of negotiations here between the Japanese ambassador and the state department as to the status of Japanese in California. The heavy majority in favor of the restricting measure, it was said, had been fully discounted in advance and negotiations have made such progress that should a treaty result, it may reach the senate during the winter session.

Rheumatism Left Him As If By Magic!

Had Suffered Over 50 Years!

Now 83 Years, Yet a Big Surprise To Friends

Regains Strength Goes Out Fishing Back to Business Laughs at "URIC ACID"

How the "Inner Mysteries" Reveals Startling Facts Overlooked By Doctors and Scientists For Centuries

"I am eighty-three years old and I doctored for rheumatism ever since I came out of the army over fifty years ago," writes J. B. Ashelman. "Like many others, I spent money freely for so-called 'cures' and I have read about 'Uric Acid' until I could almost taste it. I could not sleep nights or walk without pain, my hands were so sore and stiff I could not hold a pen. But now, as if by magic, I am again in active business and can walk with ease or write all day with comfort. Friends are surprised at the change."

HOW IT HAPPENED.

Mr. Ashelman is only one of thousands who suffered for years, owing to the general belief in the old, false theory that "Uric Acid" causes rheumatism. This erroneous belief induced him and legions of unfortunate men and women to take wrong treatments. You might just as well attempt to put out a fire with oil as to try and get rid of your rheumatism, neuritis and like complaints, by taking treatments supposed to drive Uric Acid out of your blood and body. Many physicians and scientists now know that Uric Acid never did, never can and never will cause rheumatism; that it is a natural and necessary constituent of the blood; that it is found in every new-born babe, and that without it we could not live!

These statements may seem strange to some folks, who have all along been led to believe in the old "Uric Acid" humbug. It took Mr. Ashelman fifty years to find out this truth. He learned how to get rid of the true cause of his rheumatism, other disorders, and recover his strength from "The Inner Mysteries," a remarkable book now being distributed free by an authority who devoted over twenty years to the scientific study of this particular trouble.

NOTE: If any reader of The Herald wishes the book that reveals these facts regarding the true cause and cure of rheumatism, facts that were overlooked by doctors and scientists for centuries past, simply send a post card or letter to H. P. Clearwater, No. 232-E street, Hallowell, Maine, and it will be sent by return mail without any charge whatever. Cut out this notice lest you forget! If not a sufferer yourself hand this good news to some afflicted friend.

HARDING NOT EXCITED BY ELECTION TRIUMPH

haps it was the caution which Mrs. Harding was always expressing.

"I salute you as the first lady of the land," exclaimed an enthusiastic neighbor to Mrs. Harding.

"Oh, it's too early for that," insisted the wife of the senator.

"And I shall not kiss Warren until I really know he is elected."

"It was Senator Harding himself who reminded me that four years ago the people were fooled by early election returns. I explained to him that the Hughes election was conceded before enough states had been heard from to warrant such a concession, and that this time the returns had come in from enough states to make the result more than certain, including Western states."

"That's true," he answered with a smile. "It does look good, doesn't it?"

Has Mind of His Own.

For innate modesty there are few men like Senator Harding in public life. For rugged honesty and conscientiousness, it would be well for the nation if more men emulated his example. Governor Cox has talked of a senatorial oligarchy. It is extremely doubtful whether the senatorial group will control Senator Harding. If the Republican senators expect to do so as they used to in other administrations, they will find themselves very much mistaken and disappointed. Warren Harding is loyal to his friends, but a sense of duty carries him even beyond friendships. He has a mind of his own and a will power which will surprise many who are reluctant to accept him as a vigorous character.

Senator Harding hasn't made a single promise of a cabinet portfolio. The inner circle is as much in the dark about that as the outer circle containing the great body of American citizens. Senator Harding has made up his mind to take a rest first and think about his new job afterwards. He goes to the southernmost end of Texas and then to Panama and will keep away from the horde of office seekers who camp on the doorstep of a president-elect.

As to League of Nations.

As for future policies the senator read carefully the election returns without comment as to their meaning. He answered the inquiry of one reporter as to whether America would enter the League of Nations by declaring that he need have no apprehension about America entering some kind of an association of nations.

But it was one of the most remarkable election parties in American history. Friends of the victorious candidate sat around as he himself read aloud the various press association reports that came to the home. Everybody in Marion seemed to feel the right to drop in and say "hello" with the same informality as if they were calling on any neighbor or fellow townsman. The simple home of the Hardings was, of course, alive with people. Fred Upham, William C. Wrigley, Jr., Albert D. Lasker, all of whom have had a prominent part in the financial or advertising side of the campaign, came from their homes in Chicago in a special train with George Getz of Chicago, and were with the senator as the news came over the wire. Harry Daugherty, Fred Starek and other close friends from pre-convention days were there, too, but it was not until midnight that the people of Marion evidently became convinced at the same moment that there could be no repetition of the surprises of 1916.

Town Screams for Joy.

Then came a fife and drum corps. It aroused the entire town and the procession started along Mount Vernon avenue to the Harding home. Such a noise as they did make! They yelled and shouted and blew horns and fairly screamed for joy. When Senator Harding came to the front porch he was given the cheer that comes only once in a lifetime when a man is elected to the presidency, when the voices of the people who have known him for years are lifted up in a chorus that comes from the heart, a chorus of congratulation that is sincere and spontaneous, that is at once an expression of pride and exultation. Mrs. Harding was kissed by her neighbors again and again. The president-elect's hand was shaken vigorously by thousands of his friends. Real love and affection for the Hardings was unmistakable in that crowd. They celebrated the victory of their neighbor with the noisy enthusiasm and ecstacy which Americans anywhere might display as they saw a struggling boy of humble parentage and modest means win out in the greatest of all contests in American public life.

HARDING OFF FOR THE SOUTH ON SATURDAY

Cabot Lodge, Charles Evans Hughes, Herbert Hoover, Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood, Governor Frank O. Lowden, Former Senator John Weeks, Harry M. Daugherty and many others.

Besides cabinet officials, Mr. Harding will have an army of other Federal appointees to select—a fact which was brought to his realization with new force as the petitions of office seekers began to pile into his office in full swing. His friends declare it is partially to avoid such annoyances during a period of rest that he will leave Saturday for his month's trip to Point Isabel, Tex., and the Panama canal zone.

Whether the president-elect and his party will sail for the canal zone from New Orleans or some other port is a question yet to be determined, a previous plan to go by way of the Louisiana city having been reconsidered because of the time required by that routing. It is possible that one of the regular passenger steamers running south through the gulf will be diverted to permit him to board it along the Texas coast.

Secret Service Men Arrive.

Mr. Harding parted formally with his privileges as a private citizen yesterday with arrival of the advance guard of the secret service detail that will go with him everywhere until the end of his presidency. Joseph Murphy, assistant chief of the service and formerly in charge of the White House detail, came here to make the detailed arrangements and spend the day in consultation with James Sloan, another former White House chief, who left the service last June to accept a private post as Mr. Harding's personal bodyguard during the campaign.

In the exchange of telegrams today between Senator Harding and Governor Cox, no words were wasted on either side in reference to the fighting lines or the issues of the campaign.

"In the spirit of America," telegraphed the governor, "I accept the decision of the majority, tender as the defeated candidate my congratulations, and pledge as a citizen my support to the executive authority in whatever emergency might arise."

To which Senator Harding replied:

"As the successful candidate I thank you for your message of congratulations and pledge of support."

Other Congratulations.

Former President William Howard Taft wired: Congratulations.

Charles Evan Hughes, who was the Republican nominee of four years ago, telegraphed:

"My heartiest congratulations on your splendid victory."

Governor Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts, the vice presidential nominee, joined Mrs. Coolidge in a message to the senator and his wife, congratulating them on the victory.

"Accept our congratulations on your efficient leadership and glorious victory," it said.

"The result passes every expectation. We are sure that you'll more than fulfill the confidence the American people have placed in you."

Among the prominent Democrats who sent congratulatory messages were Thomas Taggart of Indiana, a former national chairman, and Bernard M. Baruch of New York, and numerous Democratic members of the senate.

TENNESSEE GOES REPUBLICAN, BREAKING "SOLID SOUTH"

present returns, the Republicans have a plurality of 131.

Late returns also indicated possible turnovers in cases of some Democratic representatives reported elected. A notable instance was in New York, where three Republican candidates reported defeated—Ryan in the Fifteenth district, Ansorge in the Twenty-first, and Rosedale in the Twenty-third—had forged ahead of Dooling, Donovan and McKinry, earlier reported elected.

One Socialist Member.

The house will have one Socialist member—Meyer London of New York, who defeated Henry M. Goldfogle, fusion candidate in the Twelfth. The Prohibition party lost its lone representative, but an Independent Prohibitionist, Milton W. Shreve, was elected from the Twenty-fifth Pennsylvania district. Several notable upsets occurred in the congressional race—among them the retirement by Missouri voters of Former Speaker Champ Clark of the house, and the election by Texas voters of a Republican representative—Harry Waurzbach.

Post-election developments within the ranks of the beaten Democratic party included a tart statement from William J. Bryan, in which he divided blame for the defeat between President Wilson and Candidate Cox, asserting that the former had "laid the foundation for the disaster" and the latter had "completed the structure."

Wayne B. Wheeler, legislative counsel of the Anti-Saloon League of America, issued a statement declaring a check of the congressional election in forty states showed a "substantial majority" in both houses against any beer or wine amendment.

Returns early today showed the following states had given their electoral votes—a total of 390—to Harding:

California, 13; Colorado, 6; Connecticut, 7; Delaware, 3; Idaho, 4; Illinois, 29; Indiana, 15; Iowa, 13; Kansas, 10; Maine, 6; Maryland, 8; Massachusetts, 18; Michigan, 15; Minnesota, 12; Missouri, 18; Nebraska, 8; New Hampshire, 4; New Jersey, 14; New York, 45; Ohio, 24; Oklahoma, 10; Oregon, 5; Pennsylvania, 38; Rhode Island, 5, South Dakota, 5; Tennessee, 12; Utah, 4; Vermont, 4; Washington, 7; West Virginia, 8; Wisconsin, 13, and Wyoming, 3; Montana, 4—a total of 390.

Governor Cox had safely the following:

Alabama, 12; Arkansas, 9; Florida, 6; Georgia, 14; Kentucky, 13; Louisiana, 10; Mississippi, 10; North Carolina, 12; South Carolina, 9; Texas, 20, and Virginia, 12—a total of 127.

G. O. P. Success in Arizona.

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 4.—Returns from nearly one-half of the state indicated the success in Tuesday's election of the Republican presidential, senatorial and state candidates. Meager returns placed James R. Dunzeath, Republican, in the lead over Congressman Hayden, Democrat.

United States senator: Ralph H. Cameron, (R), 13,081; Marcus A. Smith, (D), 10,527.

Ferris Defeated.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 4.—Representative Scott Ferris, Democratic candidate for United States senator, late last night conceded the election of J. W. Harreld, Republican.

Harding Leads in Tennessee.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 4.—Unofficial returns gathered by the Nashville Tennessean from all but three out of ninety-five counties in Tennessee late last night give Senator Harding a lead of 10,177 over Governor Cox. The figures of the Tennessean, based on returns from all but fifty precincts of ninety-two counties were: Harding, 191,739; Cox, 181,562.

Oklahoma Republican.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 4.—Oklahoma swung safely into the Republican column at midnight tonight on the face of complete but unofficial returns from approximately 2,000 of the 2,685 precincts in the state. It appeared at that time that the state would split its congressional delegation, probably even.

Probably Thirteen Congressmen.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 4.—Republican leaders felt assured that their victory at the polls Tuesday was complete. Returns received during yesterday made almost certain the election of all thirteen of the Republican congressional candidates. The vote on United States senator was received from 2,823 precincts and gave Watson 579,268 and Taggart 439,984, a lead of 139,284 for Senator Watson.

Spencer Re-elected.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 4.—Senator Selden P. Spencer was re-elected in Tuesday's election by an estimated majority of 75,000 over his Democratic opponent, Breckenridge Long, former third assistant secretary of state. Mr. Long, in a statement to the Associated Press last night, conceded the re-election of Senator Spencer.

Washington Strongly Republican.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 4.—With nearly half the precincts of the state heard from, Washington bid fair to give the greatest Republican majority on national, state and congressional tickets in the history of the state, according to Republican leaders.

Returns from 1,106 of the 2,378 precincts in the state show that in the senatorial race Senator W. J. Jones had a vote of 110,805 to 48,215 polled by C. J. France, Farmer-Labor candidate, and 33,750 by George F. Cotterill, Democratic candidate. All five Republican representatives were re-elected.

Prohibitionists Lose One.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 4.—On the face of returns compiled the Republicans have gained three members of congress in California, the Democrats losing two and the Prohibitionists one—Charles H. Randall of the Ninth district, the only party Prohibitionist in congress.

Idaho Elects Republican Senator.

Boise, Idaho, Nov. 4.—James P. Pope, Democratic state chairman, concedes the election of Frank R. Gooding, Republican, as senator over John F. Nugent, incumbent, Democratic. With the Republican representatives in congress leading by two to one in returns from 482 precincts, this apparently settled all doubt that Idaho's entire congressional delegation would be Republican.

Nugent Loses in Idaho.

Boise, Idaho, Nov. 4.—The count in the 529 precincts reporting gives: Cox, 33,346; Harding, 65,239.

For senator—Gooding, Republican, 54,066; Nugent, Democrat, 45,195.

For governor—Davis, Republican, 54,104; Walters, Democrat, 28,000; Fairchild, 17,772.

Iowa Republicans Win.

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 4.—Scattered returns from various parts of the respective congressional districts in Iowa indicated that the Republicans were successful in all districts.

Results in Montana.

Helena, Mont., Nov. 4.—Additional returns from more than two-thirds of the precincts in Montana served only to accentuate the apparent general Republican success.

On returns from 598 out of 1,482 precincts in the Second congressional district, Congressman Riddick, Republican, was leading his Democratic adversary, M. McCusker, 46,425 to 23,602.

W. J. McCormick, Republican candidate in the First district, from 326 precincts, had a vote of 29,726, and Burton Watson, Democrat, had 11,967.

G. O. P. Landslide in Alaska.

Juneau, Alaska, Nov. 4.—Incomplete returns representing the larger portion of the vote in the First, Third and Fourth divisions of Alaska indicated a Republican landslide. The vote reported for delegate to congress was:

Grigsby, Democrat, incumbent, 2,426; Sutherland, Republican, 3,715.

It would take fifty Englands to cover the great Sahara desert.

THE NEXT U. S. SENATE

The next senate will be composed of fifty-eight Republicans and thirty-eight Democrats, according to the latest election returns, giving the Republicans a majority of twenty.

Following is a list of the senators by states, including the holdovers and those elected on Tuesday:

Alabama—J. Thomas Heflin (Dem.) and Oscar W. Underwood (Dem.).

HIBBING MEETING TO RETAIN PLANT

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Co-operation of merchants of Hibbing in the efforts of stockholders in the Mesaba Woolen company to keep their plant in Hibbing will be solicited at a get-together meeting of retail merchants and members of the company to be held in the offices of the company tonight at 8 o'clock. Whether the company will accept the invitation of Virginia civic organizations to move the plant to Virginia will be definitely decided.

Twenty-five thousand dollars' worth of stock in the company will be offered to Hibbing citizens, according to W. P. Boobar, manager of the company. Retailers at the meeting tonight will be asked to subscribe to the stock in order that a more intimate relationship between the company and the retailers may exist.

Business from local retailers will be solicited, and if a favorable attitude toward patronizing the local industry is shown tonight, the factory will probably remain in Hibbing, Manager Boobar said. At the present there are few local retailers handling products of the woolen factory, most of the goods now being made being sold to retailers in other range towns and in other towns of the Northwest. Mackinaws, coats and heavy work garments are manufactured in the local plant.

The meeting was called after repeated attempts to interest the Hibbing Commercial and Kiwanis clubs in the matter of keeping the factory in Hibbing have failed, Manager Boobar said. The present attitude of the local civic clubs is that of ignoring the matter, Boobar said.

May Move to South Hibbing.

The factory should have vacated its site in the Great Northern square forty-five days ago, Manager Boobar said. If the company decides to remain here the present building will probably be removed to South Hibbing where it will be enlarged. Twenty people are now employed in the factory and when operations are in full swing in South Hibbing at least sixty will be employed.

The factory, the first of its kind to locate here, has been in operation for about one year. The stockholders for the most part are Hibbing men: E. W. Coons, D. E. Harkins, Al Dyer, J. B. Messner, W. P. Boobar, E. P. Schafer, F. A. Klass, G. H. Alexander, D. D. Haley, Peter Mortenson, W. C. Barrett, P. R. Webster, J. E. Daugherty and A. P. Nelson.

Dandruff Soon Ruins the Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.—Advertisement.

EIGHTH DISTRICT LEGION MEETING

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representatives from American Legion posts of the Eighth congressional district will hold their regular monthly meeting in the Lincoln high school building here next Saturday evening, and will be guests of the Commercial club at a banquet in the cafeteria of the high school.

John Gannon is the delegate from the Hibbing post and Israel Sheris alternate.

Proposed methods of celebrating Armistice day will be discussed at the meeting.

WANT DULUTHIANS AT VIRGINIA NOV. 11

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Local men behind plans for the big Armistice day celebration here Nov. 11 hope to induce all of the Duluth naval militiamen to come for the affair which promises to be one of the largest on the range, a feature of which will be big barbecue with Mayor William Empie as mess sergeant.

An attempt will be made to secure a special train over the Missabe road from Duluth, as many residents of the Zenith City have signified their intentions of coming to Virginia if special service may be secured.

The football game between Hibbing and Virginia will be the big feature of the day, Hibbing coming here with the full intention of getting back at Virginia for last Sunday's decisive defeat.

The J. Burt Pratt post has formulated plans for a drive for new members. The post wants the remaining 150 of the possible 600 qualified for membership who live in Virginia and a persistent effort will be made to that end.

Inspect Eveleth Roads.

Eveleth, Minn., Nov. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The road committee of the Eveleth Commercial club made a tour of the roads in this vicinity yesterday afternoon to gain information to present to the county commissioners at their annual meeting with recommendations as to the appropriations of funds for certain improvements the coming year. Commissioner George Harvey made the trip with the committee.

A Splendid Hair Grower and Beautifier

Found at Last—Shows Results in Few Days or Nothing to Pay.

Parisian Sage Surprises and Delights—It Positively Does Not Change the Natural Color of the Hair.

Here is good news for all men and women whose hair is faded, dry, streaked and scraggly—is falling out badly, and whose scalps are covered with dandruff and itch like mad.

Your druggist can now supply you with the genuine Parisian Sage which is guaranteed to quickly and safely banish every sign of disgusting dandruff, stop itching scalp and falling hair and stimulate a new growth, or money refunded.

Thousands can testify to the excellent results from its use; some who feared baldness now glory in their abundant hair, while others who were annoyed for years with dandruff and itching head got a clean, healthy scalp after just a few days' use of this simple home treatment.

Parisian Sage is a scientific preparation that supplies hair needs. It's easy to use, perfectly harmless, not sticky or greasy, and even the first application usually makes the hair and scalp look and feel 100 per cent better.

If you want to save your hair, make it always look its best, and start a new growth, don't delay—begin using Parisian Sage now—tonight. A large bottle costs you nothing if it does not give perfect satisfaction.

VIRGINIA'S CHARTER MAKES MANY CHANGES

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new city charter will be given final readings at several meetings of the commission, the first of which will be held next Monday, and then it will be submitted to the electorate.

Important features of the new charter are built largely around the principle that only the mayor and the city council can legislate, while boards and appointive officers may only make rules to carry out the ordinances passed by these officials elected by the people.

All members of boards and commissions are subject to recall by petition and will have their budgets strictly limited. Elective officers are subject to recall in the regular way. The city will be divided into six wards, each running clear through the city from east to west. The First ward will be all that part of the city north of Ninth street north; the Second ward will lie between Chestnut and Ninth street north; the Third will lie between Chestnut and Third street south; the Fourth will be between Third street south and Sixth street south; the Fifth between Sixth street south and Ninth street south (part of the line Eight and One-Half street south) and the Sixth all of that part of the city south of Ninth street south.

Council of Nine.

The council will consist of nine members, one alderman from each of the six wards and three at large. The police and fire commission and the water and light board will have three members each, the board of health will have four members, the park board five members and the library board nine members. A charity board of five members has been created.

The assessment of property will be given greater prominence than in the old charter. The fiscal year for all departments of the city will begin on Jan. 1 of each year. City elections will be held in November each odd numbered year. Officers will take their places on the first Monday in January.

Members of commissions are made personally liable if they pass illegal bills or if they pass bills after the budget has been exhausted. The city attorney must inform the council and the several boards as to bills that in his opinion are illegal before action is taken thereon.

The city treasurer is forbidden to draw warrants on a fund that has been exhausted and is made personally liable if he does so. The street commissioner will be under the direction of the city engineer and the duplication of work by the park force and street force will be eliminated. The city board, athletics and a public welfare fund are recognized in the new charter.

The chapter on "eminent domain" has been reformed to conform to the state law on that subject and the city boundaries have been accurately defined.

WANTED TO SEE LIFE.

Elmer, Minn., Boy Who Ran Away Located in Hibbing.

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joseph Kamper, 16-year-old boy of Elmer, Minn., started out to see the world and Hibbing was his first stopping place. Running away from his parents, he thought he would seek a job on the Mesaba range. Approaching Mrs. McAuley, charity worker, he told a story of how his parents were dead and how he needed a home. Mrs. McAuley took the boy into her own home.

Yesterday the police were furnished a description of him. As a result the youngster will be returned home. He gave no reason for leaving his home, other than his "father was cross to him."

This is the second youngster this week who has run away from home and who has been picked up by the police.

Edward Carlson, who told the police he was from Canada, but who evidently knew little about that country was turned over to the probation officer, C. E. Everett, yesterday.

BOY ARTIST WINS PRIZE FOR POSTER

John Amon, eleven years old, is a clever young poster artist. The poster shown here, which he drew "all by himself," was entered in an art exhibit which the school held, and many thought it fine. His mother, in an interview said, "I give Father John's Medicine to my boy whenever he has a cold or cough. I myself have been using Father John's Medicine for eighteen months. In October, 1918, I had a severe cough, but nothing I tried would help me. I heard about Father John's Medicine, started to take it, and by March 1, 1919, my cough had completely disappeared. I still take it, however, to build up my strength. I am never without a bottle of Father John's Medicine." (Signed) Mrs. John Amon, 418 Chestnut St., Corapolis, Pa.

FAIR AND COOLER

It hardly seems possible that this is the first week in November judging from the weather. Yesterday was warm enough to be comfortable without an overcoat and today is not much different. Were it not for it being cloudy the temperature would be uncomfortably warm with winter togs on. This morning the sun rose at 6:56 o'clock and will set at 4:48 o'clock tonight, giving nine hours and fifty-two minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The Canadian disturbance is moving rapidly eastward, having advanced its center from North Saskatchewan to the region north of Lake Superior. During the last twenty-four hours rain or snow resulted over Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario, North Michigan, North Wisconsin, North Minnesota and northeast North Dakota, together with a marked rise in temperature over Upper Mississippi valley states. Another depression centered over Southwest Idaho; caused rain over West Oregon. A moderate high pressure overlying the eastern slopes of the Rocky Mountains is attended by a turn to somewhat colder from Montana northward. Southwest storm warnings were ordered at Lake Superior ports 10:30 p. m. Wednesday."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Friday:

Minnesota—Fair tonight and Friday; slightly cooler in north and east portions tonight.

Wisconsin—Fair tonight and Friday, except unsettled near Lake Superior; slightly cooler tonight.

LOCAL FORECAST

For Duluth and vicinity: Fair weather tonight and Friday. Slightly cooler tonight with lowest temperature near 32 deg. Fresh to strong westerly winds.

North Dakota—Fair tonight; somewhat cooler in east portion; Friday increasing cloudiness, probably becoming unsettled.

Upper Lakes—Strong west winds; unsettled this afternoon; generally fair tonight and Friday.

BREACH OF PROMISE ACTION SUBMITTED

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Trial of the breach of promise case of Barbara Matekovich vs. George Mihelich, both of Gilbert, to recover $20,000 for his alleged failure to keep a marriage agreement, which started in district court here yesterday before Judge Freeman and a jury, was concluded shortly before noon today and given to the jury. The plaintiff runs a Gilbert candy store, while the defendant until recently was in the grocery business in that village.

Judge Hughes and a jury are trying the case of Marie Grobelle vs. Frank Giacome to recover about $420 wedding presents the plaintiff claims because they were divorced, which she alleges the defendant will not surrender.

A stipulation of dismissal has been filed in the case of the Virginia Brewing company vs. Gerald Bros. The case of J. Michaels et al. vs. William O'Rourke has been continued.

TWO PRIESTS SAY RITES FOR COFFEY

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of Dan Coffey, one of the real pioneers of Virginia, who died Tuesday morning, was laid at rest this morning in Calvary cemetery after impressive ceremonies both at the church and at the grave.

Our Lady of Lourdes church was crowded this morning as Rev. Father Powers of Duluth who came here especially to officiate at the funeral of his former parishoner, and Rev. Father Limmer, pastor of the church, began the solemn ceremony. In the congregation that paid the last tribute to the man who blazed the trail into this section were many people from out of town who had known Mr. Coffey for years, some coming even from Duluth. A long line of conveyances followed the hearse to the cemetery.

SHOP WORKER NOW EXPECTED TO RECOVER

Eveleth, Minn., Nov. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Results of X-ray examinations by physicians of More hospital have shown that a fractured vertebrae resulted from the injury received by Harold Thorne when he was struck by a travelling crane at the Leonidas shops Monday morning. His parents, Rev. and Mrs. I. J. Thorne are consoled with the assurance that his health will be restored to normal. His condition is much improved today, it was stated at the hospital.

STRAND RE-ELECTED TO STATE LEGISLATURE

Two Harbors, Minn., Nov. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Almost complete returns from Lake and Cook counties show that Ernest G. Strand of Two Harbors has been re-elected to the state house of representatives from the Fifty-seventh district. The complete vote of Cook county is: Strand 195; Muth 381. Lake county, with one precinct missing, voted: Strand 1,467; Muth 1,001. Strand's majority is about 280.

Married Last July.

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Toman announce the marriage of their daughter, Marie, to Maurice A. Sheean on July 7 at St. James' church, West Duluth, by Mgr. Lynch. Maurice Sheean, better known as "Bud," is employed as a conductor on the D., W. & P. and Mrs. Sheean is a popular young lady of Virginia, having attended the public schools here and for the past six years has been employed by M. K. Baer & Co.

FOREIGN COMMENT ON U. S. ELECTION

London, Nov. 3.—The London morning papers devote considerable editorial space to the American election. They dwell upon what they characterize as the decisive rejection of the present government's policy and express the opinion that the turnover gives prospect that whatever policy President Harding and his cabinet may adopt will at least have a chance of acceptance by a congress strongly Republican.

The American elections on this occasion have a much greater interest for Europe than has ultimately been the case. The Times thinks there is no reason to doubt that President Harding will have a good working majority in both houses of congress, and is "pleased to think that Mr. Harding will not be his own prime minister and foreign minister."

It regards the elections as a distinct warning to Bolshevists and extremists of all kinds.

Both Idealists.

The Morning Post compares President Wilson with Lenine. It says both are idealists with identical methods, though different aims, and thinks that "America's rejection of such autocratic idealism will bring relief to the world."

"Americans," adds the paper, "have decided not in favor of strident and arrogant nationalism, but against prying and unworkable internationalism."

The Daily Chronicle admits that the battle raged around the body of the League of Nations but not in the sense that America is hostile to concerted measures to preserve peace, and believes that now that domestic problems loom large the average American desires above all things, "a policy the opposite of a policy of adventure."

The Daily Mail says "in electing Mr. Harding the American people declared emphatically for a spell of conservatism in home politics and cautious Americanism in the world outlook. The defeat of Cox condemns the League of Nations as constructed at Versailles. But, while Mr. Harding discards the league, he and his party are aware that the United States must sooner or later take their part in settling the troubles of the old world."

Not Love of Harding.

In its comment today on the United States election the Manchester Guardian says:

"The main political motive for the electors' choice is by general assent, accumulated dislike of Wilsonism and not love of Harding and his party. The national repudiation marks a tragic change from those weeks in the autumn of 1918, when the material power of America was deciding the World war and her foremost mind was leading the world towards such a peace as might have given us a tranquil, swiftly convalescent world instead of the present world's fare of spites, greeds and suspicions between nations and disunion inside each of them. The soiled, scarred world of international politics seemed to be on the eve of redemption on the day when the news came that Germany would surrender on the basis of Wilson's fourteen points.

"In what proportions a want of dynamic genius in President Wilson and an irredeemable viciousness of spirit in other politicians contributed to darken that opening prospect we cannot tell yet. It is gone now. Europe is snarling, grabbing and jockeying in the old slime, while all the remaining effect of Wilsonism in America is the decision of the presidential election by an overwhelming balance of public antipathy to it. The story is that of one of the most pitiful of all failures in the execution of a task nobly conceived."

French View.

Paris, Nov. 3.—Paris newspapers, commenting this afternoon on the American election agree that Senator Harding's success is a distinct defeat for the League of Nations as established by the Wilson Covenant.

The Temps says: "The election may be considered as a referendum on the entrance of the United States into the League of Nations, the result of which is a personal defeat for President Wilson."

La Liberte says: "American common sense has condemned Utopia in all its forms. From an international point of view the American election day was a bad day for Socialism and the society of nations, the consequences of which will be felt throughout the world."

The Intransigeant says: "From the French point of view it is a success. Senator Harding has often professed friendship for France, declaring that France would find in him an ally. He will not relinquish the traditions which bind the new world with France."

Regarding Tariffs.

The Journal des Debats says: "The Republican party, fundamentally protectionist, regards tariffs not as an instrument of reprisals but as one of protection. Such an attitude is disquieting to us."

The Petit Parisien says: "Two questions dominate the situation created by the election of the Republicans so far as France is concerned. One is the Versailles treaty and the League of Nations and the other the question of tariffs.

"The first question is settled irrevocably, but Senator Harding's declaration at Chicago in the course of his campaign is not reassuring for French manufacturers and exporters, as he advocated a revision of the tariff and an increase in the duties on American imports from Europe."

High Praise to Harding.

Other newspapers here declare the election of Senator Harding was a triumph, give high praise to his personality and recall he has always asserted great sympathy for France.

Editors are unanimous in remarking that the election clearly condemns the policy of President Wilson and settles definitely the situation existing between the administrative and legislative departments of the government. They assert this situation has "completely paralyzed American international policy" and express the conviction that the result of the election will in no way prejudice Franco-American friendship.

"By his love of order and the brightness of his character," declares the Matin, "Senator Harding deserves the confidence of the French people."

Hope is expressed by the Echo de Paris that "the discussion which will be started on relations between the United States and the League of Nations will provide occasion to repair some of the faults committed at Versailles."

Swiss Comment.

Berne, Nov. 3.—The Swiss newspapers today comment sympathetically on the election of Senator Harding. The Bund considers Harding's victory "the first natural reaction against the autocratic tendencies and international policy of President Wilson."

The American people, the newspaper adds, "do not wish a pronounced presidential policy. They are desirous of giving back power to congress, thus returning to a real democracy."

Married by Judge Bliss.

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Samuel Bass and Hilda Maki, both of Virginia, were married by Judge Lafayette Bliss yesterday.

RATS, MICE, COCKROACHES MUST BE KILLED

To Help Prevent the Spread of Diseases From Infected Places.

The Federal, State and Municipal authorities throughout the entire country have decided that the people everywhere must co-operate in the killing of Rats, Mice, Cockroaches, Waterbugs, Ants and other pests.

It has been scientifically proven that the above mentioned pests are directly responsible for the spreading of Bubonic Plague and other dreadful diseases from infected places. During the past 12 years millions of boxes of Stearns' Electric Paste have been used successfully for the killing of Rats, Mice, Cockroaches, etc.

Get a box now of this guaranteed exterminator and use it according to directions which are printed in 15 languages. It is ready for use; better than traps; does not blow into the food like powders; 2 ounce box 35c; 15 ounce box $1.50; should be enough to kill from 50 to 400 rats. For over 15 years U. S. Government authorities have been repeating their orders for both sizes of STEARNS' ELECTRIC RAT AND ROACH PASTE.

APPETITE IS GOOD NOW AND STOMACH TROUBLE IS ENDED

Iowa Nurse Tells How She Regained Health After Months of Discouragement.

The importance of building up the blood in the treatment of stomach trouble is convincingly shown by the experience of Mrs. Margaret O'Brien of Nashua, Iowa, whose complete recovery should give encouragement to those who suffer from indigestion. "I had a severe attack of the grip," relates Mrs. O'Brien who is a nurse, "and the disease left me with thin blood and feeble circulation.

"I didn't have any appetite and had stomach distress after eating. My sleep did not seem to rest me and I was cold all the time. Sometimes my hands were numb and at other times they felt as though they were asleep. I had very little color and was so weak that it was a great effort for me to do anything. I suffered in this way for six months without getting any relief.

"Then I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and, as I had heard some of my friends speak highly of them, I gave the pills a trial. After I had taken the remedy for two weeks I was able to sleep better. Then my appetite returned and I found that I could eat heartily without danger of stomach distress. I feel much stronger now, my color has improved and my circulation is so good that I do not feel numb or cold. I can honestly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to those in need of a tonic."

There is no tonic for the stomach that is not a tonic for every part of the body. As the blood goes everywhere, an improvement in its condition quickly results in strengthening weak organs. Rich, red blood is absolutely necessary to digestion. If your stomach is weak and you are troubled with flatulence, sour risings in the throat, a feeling of pressure about the heart and palpitation, try the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

A booklet, "What to Eat and How to Eat" which tells about this treatment, will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 60 cents per box.

A WOMAN DOCTOR

says, "Eugenics is a necessary factor in the future of the race. The average American girl is unfit for motherhood." This may be true, but if weak and ailing girls passing from girlhood to womanhood would only rely, as thousands do, upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—that simple remedy made from roots and herbs—to restore the system to a normal healthy condition, it would cause many ills from which they suffer to disappear, so that motherhood might become the joy of their lives.—Advertisement.

Society and Women's Clubs

A STRONG feature in the fashions of the moment, which is doubtless an outcome of the Czecho-Slovak movement is craze for combinations of black and white. This is another thing which goes to prove the far-reaching effects of a fashion rich in ideas. Launching such a style is like throwing a pebble into a pond. The circles widen continually. Each maker of the clothes gets her individual impression.

Very lovely new dresses for tea dances are being developed in black with white embroideries, or in white with black. At the top of the page is seen one of the most interesting frocks of this type. It has the new long sleeves, the high stock collar and the black embroidery on white.

TELLS FUNCTION OF ELEMENTARY WORK

Columbia Instructor Discusses Educational Topics at Meeting of Teachers.

That the function of the elementary school work should be to grasp the children's natural impulses and use them in developing a higher plan of judgment and efficient habits which will better serve them in the fields of higher education, was the theme of a talk made before 1,000 teachers of the city schools at Central high school auditorium yesterday afternoon by Miss Patty Hill of Columbia university.

One of Miss Hill's main ideas is to have the kindergarten and first two grades equipped with movable furniture better to allow for games, for carpenter work, dramatics and exhibitions made by the children and to give a more normal activity through the day. Miss Hill is very strong in her opinion that a room, which may be called a play room, should be provided for the use of these three grades where pets may be cared for and where physical apparatus may be provided for the development of the child's body. The students working under Miss Hill have, within the last two years, designed most appropriate and attractive rooms where education may be carried on in a natural and stimulating way.

Reminding women that whatever they seek in the way of legislation they can have, since they have the full elective franchise, and further reminding them that the "Health of the child means the wealth of the nation," Miss Hill urged women to use their influence and political power in bringing about such laws as will make for better facilities in the public schools for developing the physical as well as the intellectual life.

The greatest benefits to the child from training such as she advocates, was declared by Miss Hill to be the ability to learn how to take and how to give criticism, the development of the individuality of each subject, and a healthy spirit of co-operation among young members of society.

STOP CATARRH! OPEN NOSTRILS AND HEAD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Relieves Head-Colds at Once.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh, just get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

Ah! how good it feels. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, no more hawking, snuffling, blowing; no more headache, dryness or struggling for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head colds and catarrh need. It's a delight.—Advertisement.

WEDDINGS AND ENGAGEMENTS

The marriage of Miss Agnes Rolow of Des Moines, Iowa, and Richard O'Neill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick O'Neill of this city, was solemnized at 9 o'clock yesterday morning at Sacred Heart cathedral. Father Begley read the service. Mrs. Joseph Feaks, a sister of Mr. O'Neill, and Mr. Feaks were the attendants. The bride wore a blue tricotine suit with gray squirrel trimming and a beaver hat to match. Her corsage bouquet was of bride roses. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bridegroom's parents, 516 Second avenue east. Mr. O'Neill met his bride when he was a sergeant at Camp Dodge. After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill will be at home at 516 Second avenue east.

Efficient Housekeeping

By Laura A. Kirkman.

PUMPKIN PIE AS THE DINNER DESSERT.

WHETHER or not a family cares for pie as a dessert the year round, the average family cannot resist squash and pumpkin pies in the fall, when the vegetables are freshly ripened and at their best. Mr. "Tired Business Man" will forget his weariness when confronted with such dinner menus as the following, with one of these delicious vegetable pies as the climax:

Hash With Pickle Relish.
Scalloped Tomatoes. Cauliflower.
Coffee. Old Fashioned Squash Pie.

Old Fashioned Squash Pie—2 cups squash boiled and rubbed through a sieve, 1 tablespoon of flour mixed with the squash, 2 cups granulated sugar, 3 eggs, 1 quart milk scalded with a piece of butter size of an egg, dissolved in it, and ground cinnamon and nutmeg to suit individual taste. Mix all together and pour into a pastry-lined pie tin. This recipe will make 2 pies.

Meat Loaf With Tomato Catsup.
Onions au Gratin. Boiled Potatoes.
Coffee. Grandma's Pumpkin Pie.

Grandma's Pumpkin Pie—1 egg, 1 cup seived pumpkin, 1 tablespoon flour, 2 tablespoons molasses, sugar to taste, a little ground ginger (about 1-3 teaspoon) and milk enough to fill up a deep pie plate. Sprinkle cinnamon on top of pie when ready for oven. (This is a very old recipe, taken word-for-word from an ancestral "cookery book," and will be found delicious). Three-quarters of a pint of milk will be found the right amount for this recipe.

A more economical recipe for squash pie (calling for two eggs) is the following:

Squash Pie No. 2—2 cups cooked, sifted squash, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon ginger, 3 cups scalded milk, 2 eggs. Add the seasonings to the squash, beating them in well. Combine the milk and the eggs (slightly beaten); add this to the first mixture and turn all into a deep pie plate which you have lined with pastry.

How to Bake Squash and Pumpkin Pie—The oven for all pies should be at first fairly hot, in order to set the crust sufficiently so that the filling will not soak in. Squash and pumpkin pies—in fact, any pie containing eggs—should be baked in a very moderate oven after the crust is once set; for if the oven temperature is not reduced after the filling has heated through, the filling is apt to boil and will then separate and a watery pie will be the result. Squash, pumpkin and custard pies should be baked until they are firm in the center, or when a knife, if inserted, will come out clean; this will be about forty minutes.

As will be noted, the two dinner menus given above both have a light meat dish. This is possible when a pie containing egg (or any other egg dessert) is included in the menu, the egg supplementing the light meat in the protein content of the meal.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

AT THE THEATERS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

ORPHEUM—Victor Moore-Emma Littlefield and company; other acts.
NEW GRAND—Quaker Village Follies; other features.

NEW GRAND—Five acts of more than ordinary merit, and a motion picture program abounding with entertainment make up the show which opens a three-day engagement at the New Grand this afternoon.

An act which deserves the designation "extraordinary" of its type is Quaker Village Follies, one of the two headlined offerings. "A frolic of songs and dances," refreshing and novel is descriptive of the entertainment which four players, three of them girls, formerly prominent in Broadway musical comedy, will present. The Medlin Twins have been featured with many musical shows and have come into more newspaper prominence through their exact likeness to each other. Eva Gardner is a clever impersonator who avoids the stereotyped styles, and Hal Ring, the comedian, is a good-looking chap with a jazzy air about him. The offering with its bright costuming, and its elaborate settings is redolent of Broadway, it is said.

Eugene Emmett should become a Duluth favorite with his first appearance in his story songs, offered as the other headlined act of the bill. His songs are of the sort that McCormack made famous. Like that popular singer, he was born in Ireland; and even had some of the same instructors, so he would be justified in calling himself "The McCormack of Vaudeville." He contents himself, however, with the title, "The Irish Minstrel."

Chic and Tiny Harvey promise an amusing diversion filled with songs, laugh-inducing patter and pretty dances.

"Dark Men's Foolishness" is the designation which Gilmore and Castle have chosen for their black-face comedy offering. Paul and Pauline will present a routine of novelty and original feats on the flying rings.

"An Inch From Doom," the ninth of the "Hidden Dangers" stories is the photoplay feaure, with a good comedy, the Grand News Weekly and other pictures to complete the bill.

ORPHEUM—Victor Moore is back in the spoken drama and is at the Duluth Orpheum. After becoming one of the most popular headliners in the two-a-day, Mr. Moore, became the big star in musical comedy and then a screen favorite. A classic is a classic whether, it is written or played and undoubtedly Mr. Moore made the hick variety comedy, "Change Your Act or Back to the Woods," a comedy classic. It was this part that caused George M. Cohan to write a play and make Moore the star. This was "45 Minutes From Broadway," in which as "Kid Burns" he scored heavily. He scored so heavily in this part that Mr. Cohan wrote a piece especially for him called "The Talk of New York." The screen offered a duke's ransom for Mr. Moore's services and Mr. Moore became a film star. As before, he has with him Emma Littlefield, who as Em Hopkum the other half of the team, has helped to make "Change Your Act" a comedy classic.

Big Welcome for Sousa.

Duluth will give a hearty reception to Lieut. John Philip Sousa and his band when they arrive in this city Saturday at 10:30 a. m. by special train. The march king will be met at the station here by a number of prominent Duluthians, including Mayor T. W. Hugo, President Ryerson of the Rotary club, President Ahlen of the Kiwanis club and A. H. Dunning of the Lions' club.

Sousa will celebrate his sixty-sixth birthday Saturday and fully 5,000 children from Duluth and many nearby cities and towns will greet him at the Armory in the afternoon. The kiddies will be entertained in the afternoon and the grown-ups at night.

PHOTOPLAYS

NEW GARRICK—Pauline Frederick in "Madame X."
STRAND—"Humoresque," with Alma Rubens.
ZELDA—Shirley Mason in "Merely Mary Ann."
NEW LYRIC—Emma Dunn in "Old Lady 31."

NEW GARRICK—Pauline Frederick in "Madame X" and Harold Lloyd in "High and Dizzy," the current featured attractions at the New Garrick, continue to be the talk of amusement-loving Duluth. The one, a drama of mother-love abounding in pathos; the other, a comedy with few, if any, equals of its type, the program is one of fine balance, making a show that will please the most fastidious. It will be impossible to meet the demands that these pictures be held over longer than the end of the present week, despite the insistence of those who would like to attend again or send their friends, but could not do so this week. These pictures have been so closely booked that it will be impossible to get additional time here for months.

Charles Ray in his latest production, "Peaceful Valley," a picturization of Sol Smith Russell's great stage success, will be the next featured attraction, opening Sunday.

STRAND—Vera Gordon, the actress who makes such a tenderly appealing figure of the mother in "Humoresque," was engaged to play the role as the result of a lucky concidence. Miss Gordon is an enthusiastic traveller and has explored practically every corner of the globe. She combines business with pleasure, accepting theatrical engagements abroad in order to become acquainted with foreign lands.

Miss Gordon, just returning from one of her periodical trips abroad, was descending the steamer gangplank when Frank Borzage, director of "Humoresque" who was looking for a friend arriving on the same ship, spied her. Borzage was at that time picking players for the different roles in the picture. He saw at once that Miss Gordon was the ideal type for "Mama Kantor." He approached her with the proposition. The result was that Miss Gordon appeared at the Cosmopolitan studio the next morning ready for work.

She enjoyed an extensive experience on the stage previous to her debut in pictures, playing leading roles in "The Land of the Free" and "The Gentle Wife." "Humoresque" will be the feature attraction at the Strand theater all week.

ZELDA—The production of such a great stage success as Israel Zangwill's "Merely Mary Ann" as a motion picture is a screen event of prime importance. The first presentation in this city of the film version of this famous play took place last night at the Zelda theater. The production is by Fox Film corporation and Shirley Mason is the star. Mary Ann, the poor little London "slavey," is a character that might have been created especially for Miss Mason, so well does it fit her quaint charm. The story of her adventures is told on the screen in a manner that brings out all the emotional force of the play's situations. No more delightful love story than that of Mary Ann and Lancelot has been told.

NEW LYRIC—Emma Dunn, known the world over as the greatest living delineator of "mother" roles, has the feminine lead in "Old Lady 31," the same role she created when Rachel Crother's play was presented on the stage, and with a remarkable supporting cast of character players she makes this production, now at the New Lyric, a remarkably entertaining offering. Henry Harmon, who had the title part in the play, is also seen in his original role in the picture, which is an absorbing story of devotion, a picture in which one may see one's mother mirrored. The hero—and when one sees the picture it is easy to agree he is all of that—enters an old lady's home, the only man among thirty women, to avoid being separated from his wife, when they lose all and are compelled to become subjects of charity. He is listed as "Old Lady 31," and the attention he gets as well as the jealousies he arouses add many comedy touches. A good comedy feature, with other short subjects, complete the show, which will run up to and including tomorrow night. Tom Mix in "Three Gold Coins" is the feature starting Saturday.

Makes Harding Scoop.

The New Garrick made a Harding scoop last night by showing the first pictures of "Harding Elected President" in a special addition received for its news weekly. President-elect Harding, with his father and many other relatives, are shown.

LARGE WOMAN VOTE IS CAST IN AITKIN

Aitkin, Minn., Nov. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Hazel Foley Hughes was the first woman to vote in Aitkin Tuesday morning. There were 672 votes polled in the village, and 303 were women.

Two of the five serving on the election board were women, Miss Iva Poston, county superintendent of schools, and Miss Rilla Falconer, chief clerk in the register of deeds office. The men were D. A. Scott, H. W. Haugen and Howard Cluff.

"TINKER BOB" STORIES

By CARLYSLE H. HOLCOMB

MR. RAT GATHERS ANOTHER BUNDLE.

"Oh, Beautiful Creature of my Desire," said Tinker Bob the King, "take us to the place where Mr. Loggerhead is just now, for I must see for myself just what this fellow is doing."

Red Fox and the king were off together all in a minute. Talk about your thrills! Red Fox had been in some tight places and many times had almost lost his life, but he never had any thrill that was as wonderful as this. Sailing through the air was something new to him and for once he sat close to the king, for he knew that Tinker Bob was not afraid.

"It will only be a moment till we shall see that fellow, wherever he is," said Tinker. "Look, there is Jerry the Jay. He doesn't know anything about where Mr. Loggerhead is, but he would like to know."

Then there came a sound in the ear of the king that told him that they were close by where Mr. Loggerhead was wkorking. Suddenly the Beautiful Creature of the King's Desire stopped under a large beech tree in the midst of the forest. Both Red Fox and the king were silent.

Then they heard a beechnut drop, and from a large clump of grass came old Mr. Rat and picked it up and carried it away. Another beechnut fell, and another, and Mr. Rat gathered them all. Then there came a word from above: "Have you enough?" Then there was an answer from below; it was a very squeeky, voice that answered, too: "Yes, I have quite enough." It was Mr. Rat that made the reply.

Down from the top of the great beech tree came Mr. Loggerhead. Out from the bunch of grass came Mr. Rat. Says Mr. Loggerhead to Mr. Rat, "I'm in a lot of trouble."

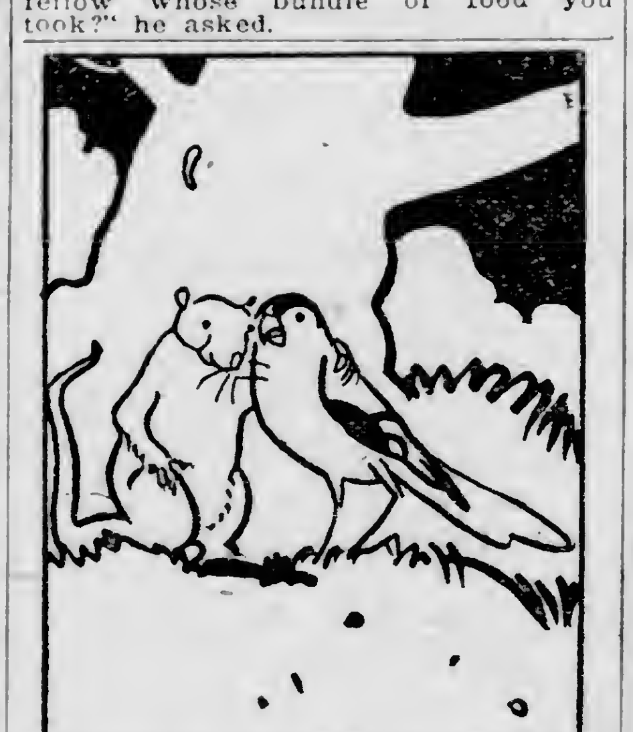
Says Mr. Rat to Mr. Loggerhead, "Pray tell me what your trouble is."

"Oh, the king has said that I shall find food for a little, worthless mouse who lives in the tree."

"But why should the king say such a thing as that without cause?"

"Oh, I might as well tell you all, Mr. Rat. You see, I was hungry and I took his bundle of food from him and he bit me on the leg."

"A bundle of food!" exclaimed Mr. Rat. "And what was the name of this fellow whose bundle of food you took?" he asked.



I might as well tell you all, Mr. Rat.

"Oh, I don't know much about him, I guess. The king called him Rufus."

"Rufus!" cried Mr. Rat in a rage. "And Rufus is my grandson." Then poor Mr. Loggerhead didn't know what to say.

Then he happened to think: "Look here," said Mr. Loggerhead, and he pulled his feathers back, "see where he bit me with his teeth."

"Oh, my, what a bite!" said Mr. Rat. "Just for that I will give him another bundle that I have gathered. Then you will not have to do it. Maybe you don't know that you gathered the first bundle which I gave him." Then Mr. Rat ran into a hole.

Negauneeite Picks Strawberries.

Negaunee, Mich., Nov. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Hauserman visited his garden at the rear of his home on East Main street last Sunday morning and found that his strawberry plants were still producing. He picked a quart of ripe berries and yesterday they were served to the members of his family.

STOMACH TROUBLE AFFECTED HIS HEART

Could Hardly Breathe—Eats Anything Now and Does His Farm Work.

"For years I suffered with indigestion, constipation and accumulation of gas which affected my heart at times so I could hardly get my breath. I lived on raw eggs, toasted bread and hot water, and still suffered. I tried several doctors for three years, but since taking Milks Emulsion I have improved so that I can do my own farm and store work. Can eat most anything, have gained 10 pounds and everybody speaks of how it has helped me."—A. Henley, Rio Vista, Va., R. 1, Box 137.

Indigestion is seldom cured by digestive tablets assisting the stomach digest food. They, like physics, pills, etc., make slaves of the stomach.

Milks Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to those whom sickness has weakened, and is a powerful aid in resisting and repairing the effects of wasting diseases. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved. It produces remarkable results in colds, coughs and bronchial asthma.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. Truly wonderful for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 75c and $1.50 per bottle. The Milks Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold by druggists everywhere.

LITTLE DOING IN POLICE COURT; FEW CASES UP

There was little business at police court this morning.

The case of George Schlecht, president of the Minnesota Forest Fire Sufferers' association, who is charged with carrying concealed weapons, was to have come up this morning, but as it is being investigated by the grand jury, which is now in session, the case was continued until Nov. 6.

Thomas Olson's case, charged with being drunk and disorderly, was set for Nov. 11, when he will have his hearing. Arnold Bebnow, charged with a violation of the illegitimacy act, was to have had his hearing this morning, but it was continued to later in the day.

Four drunks were found guilty and assessed according to the merits of their cases. August Slibo, Randall McEachran and Otto Muori contributed $22 each for their fun and Jacob Peterson drew a little higher premium for his spree and donated $27.50 as his share.

Burney Kurosky, charged with selling adulterated milk, was to have his hearing at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

RABBI TO SPEAK HERE ON FRIDAY

Dr. Israel Lebendiger of New York, graduate of the rabbinical college of Lunz, Russia, and also a graduate of the Jewish Theological seminary of New York city, now visiting in Duluth, will speak at the Duluth Hebrew Institute, Talmud Tora hall, 310-312 East Third street, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. He will speak on a live subject vitally affecting the Jews of Duluth. He will speak in English. The public is invited.

On Sunday evening at 8 o'clock the Duluth Zionist district will hold a general meeting at which the annual election of officers will be held. A program consisting of speeches, musical entertainment and tableaux, depicting Jewish life, both of the past and present in Palestine, have been arranged for. Dr. Lebendiger will be one of the principal speakers at this meeting.

SOCIALISM WILL FLOURISH UNDER HARDING, SAYS DEBS

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 4.—"There never was any doubt about the result of Tuesday's election," Eugene V. Debs, Socialist candidate for president, said in a statement yesterday.

"The fate of the Democratic party was sealed at the Versailles peace conference. One thing was made clear by the election returns. President Wilson, Attorney General Palmer and Postmaster General Burleson now know what the American people think of their despotic administration.

"But, unfortunately, the people have not profited by past experience. They need look for no improvement in conditions as a result of the election. Wall Street is still in the saddle under Harding as it was under Wilson.

"Politically speaking, the American people have the cheerful habit of jumping from the frying pan into the fire and back again."

The Socialist nominee added that "Socialism will flourish like a green bay tree under the Harding administration."

THE N. M. D. A. AT DULUTH.

The Northern Minnesota Development association will hold its annual meeting in Duluth Wednesday, November 17.

It will be an important meeting. The legislature will meet soon, and Northern Minnesota always is vitally interested in issues that come before that body. Either it is called upon to push needed legislation over the mountain of prejudice and misunderstanding which the legislature reflects, or it is called upon to defend itself against hostile legislation. And usually it has to do both.

The campaign before the legislature, therefore, should be thought out thoroughly and thoroughly planned in advance. That is one of the principal pieces of business to come before this meeting. In order that there may be ample time to discuss whatever may come up for the good of Northern Minnesota, the formal program has been made shorter than usual, though it still remains a program of interesting and stimulating talks.

The Northern Minnesota Development association is as strong and effective today as it ever was, "and then some." Matt Koll, the secretary, announces that by the end of the year it will be out of debt, which is encouraging and helpful news.

Every county and every community in Northern Minnesota should be represented at this meeting by its best boosters armed with their best and most vigorously constructive ideas. Duluth has a warm welcome for them, and will be prepared to make their stay as interesting and pleasant as it can.

THE ERIE CANAL WON'T DO.

New York, as a part of its fight against the Duluth-to-tidewater plan, says: "Why not use our Erie canal?" Which, of course, would still bring the business to New York, and would increase instead of lessening the congestion there.

Well, it has been tried. Mr. Stockman of Duluth has testified that this summer he made experimental shipments of flour by way of the Erie canal—to his regret. The flour was eighteen days on the way from Buffalo to New York. It missed the vessel it should have taken to Europe, thus subjecting the shipper to claims for damages not yet adjusted.

Moreover, when you add the insurance necessary on the canal but not on the railroad, it costs a little more to ship by the canal than it does by lake and rail.

No, the Erie won't do, and it never will do. The New York World told the truth the other day when it said: "These Middle Western states * * * have waited many years for New York and its Erie canal to provide the route they need and it has not been provided, nor can it be provided save at a cost vastly in excess of what is needed to open the St. Lawrence route, which is the natural route."

MAKE THEM ALL DISCLOSE.

Wayne B. Wheeler of the Anti-Saloon league has protested against being compelled to file a public accounting of the money spent in the league's campaign to elect dry members of the congress.

The Nonpartisan league of North Dakota, Minnesota and elsewhere has taken the stand that because it is not a political party but an organization of farmers for mutual benefit, it does not have to make any statement of its campaign expenditures.

Now the fact is that it is just as essential that such agencies, operating specifically to influence elections and legislative programs, shall be required to publish complete statements of the funds they receive and disburse as it is that a political party or party candidate shall be required to make such a disclosure.

It makes no difference what the aims of such organization may be. If the aim is for the public welfare, the organization holding it should not hesitate to disclose, but should, on the other hand, be eager to offer a good example for its effect on other organizations that may not be so unselfish in their aims.

If a dry organization can spend money for political purposes without making a public report of where it gets its money and how it spends it, then manifestly a wet organization is entitled to the same right. When a dry organization contends for exemption from the law requiring publicity of campaign expenditures, it is engaged in the ugly business of making a case for the exemption of its enemies.

> God's justice, tardy though it > prove, perchance,
> Rests never on the track until it > reach > Delinquency.
> —Browning.

And if a farmers' organization, spending money in politics, should be exempt from disclosing the facts about its campaign expenditures, then a bankers' organization or a stockbrokers' organization must also be exempt.

Both the Anti-Saloon league and the Nonpartisan league are wrong. They, and all organizations spending money to influence political results, should be compelled to disclose. If the law does not now specifically require it, it should be amended so that it WILL require it.

MINNESOTA COMES OUT RIGHT SIDE UP AGAIN.

Minnesota again demonstrated its sanity and common sense by forgetting partisanship on state issues and overwhelmingly routing the forces of misguided discontent that had rallied under the Townley banner.

The triumphant election of J. A. O. Preus as governor is not only a sign that the voters understood the situation thoroughly, but it is a fine tribute to the clean career of Mr. Preus in the public life of this state.

Did people become unduly excited about "Townleyism"? The overwhelming character of its repudiation might make it seem so; and yet perhaps if people hadn't become excited about it the result might have been otherwise.

Townleyism seems not to have done well at all. Figuring women's votes, it has not at all increased its strength despite the new support it was supposed to be getting, and to some extent did get, from labor in the cities. It seems to have carried only seventeen out of the eighty-six counties, and these were all in the old Populist strongholds of the western part of the state except two or three counties where anti-war nationalities are peculiarly strong, and Lake county, which is a Socialist stronghold. Legislative returns, though still meager at this writing, indicate that Townleyism has made no new inroads on the lawmaking body.

Particularly pleasing are the victories of Justice Dibell and Attorney General Hilton over Nonpartisan league opponents.

The thing to do now seems to be to dispose finally of Townleyism in this state. That is not to be done by assuming that Tuesday's victory settles it. The best way to do it is to go ahead and find just what the farmer is justly complaining about, and then fix it. It can be fixed, whatever it may be, without embarking in the Townley experiments in state capitalism; and one of the most promising things about Mr. Preus is that he is pledged to a constructive effort to do this. It can be done without revolutionary methods, and that's the way it should be done. But it SHOULD be done, because doing it is the final method of throwing out Townleyism. Even if Townleyism is no great menace, still it is a nuisance to be stirred up by it every so often, and it will be a relief to get it finally disposed of by depriving it of its ammunition.

* * * *

The re-election of Judge Cant and Judge Fesler, though any other result was unthinkable, is highly gratifying, and it was done by majorities that make it plain that the voters knew just what they were doing.

The election of Clarence R. Magney to the third place is handsome evidence of the respect and affection in which he is held. He is a big and largehearted citizen who will, we feel sure, be a credit to the district bench and bring strength to it.

* * * *

At this writing the congressional issue in this district is in some doubt, though the probabilites are that Mr. Larson has won. If that is true, the fact that, congress being Republican, it will be just as well to have a Republican to represent the district there is a consideration to be remembered. Mr. Larson made a clean, vigorous campaign, and should prove a credit to his party.

If Mr. Carss is beaten, still the vote he got is a fine tribute to his standing and the character of his service in congress. He made a gallant fight, and even to come so close in the midst of a landslide that carried everything with it was doing mighty well. His service in congress is highly creditable to labor, and if labor offered more such candidates it would win oftener.

* * * *

One of the pleasant by-products of the Republican landslide is that it put Victor Berger out of the running and relieved the coming congress of the annoyance of having to throw him out. The voters have done that, and they are the ones that should do such things wherever possible. Incidentally, the same landslide put Socialism out of business in Milwaukee for the first time in many years, and unless that means that voters of Socialist tendencies are finding the Republicans satisfactory, which would be puzzling, that is a clarifying thing to happen.

But talking about political puzzles, will somebody explain why the districts that went strongest for Townley's radicals went so strongly for Mr. Harding?

The Ideal and the Material

By Savoyard.

Washington, Nov. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Woodrow Wilson owes it to his country and to civilization, to the Democratic party and to himself, to truth and to literature, to write a history of his administration of the presidency of the United States the eight years, 1913-1921. He knows that history as no other man knows it, and as a master of historical narrative this country has never produced his match. And above all Woodrow Wilson is blessed with the gift of truthful speech, a quality as valuable as it is rare. Even his enemies, bitter and malignant to extreme degree, admit that Mr. Wilson is a man of giant intellect and they unconsciously compliment him when they sneer at the beauty, vigor and power of his eloquence, spoken or written.

If I may be forgiven what looks like a paradox, I will say that in the esteem of the vulgar herd Woodrow Wilson loses because of his very strength. I mean to say that he has so great contempt for a lie, he is so assured of the ultimate triumph of truth, that he is careless of the indictment malice has drawn against him and submitted to trial by a jury composed of ignorance, of stupidity and of prejudice. Mr. Wilson has at hand and can uplift and wield, as though it were a hazel wand, the club of Hercules and he owes it to us who love him to employ that bludgeon, now and then, when he comes to tell the story of his administration. I am vulgar enough sometimes to regret that Woodrow Wilson does not possess some of the egoism with which the late Theodore Roosevelt was so richly endowed. Had he been so gifted he would have been his own champion as Roosevelt was his own, and many of the lies told about him would have been hurled back on the liars to their confusion and rout.

When I think of the ideal as contrasted with the material I am reminded of an incident that occurred in my own life in 1916. I'll begin at the beginning.

The late William H. Newman, who was president of the New York Central railroad, was my cousin, our fathers being brothers. He was born in Virginia and I in Kentucky. When he was a child his father moved to Barren county, Ky., and located at Edmonton, now the county seat of Metcalfe county. I was an only surviving child of my parents and he was the youngest of a family of seven. After my father's death I became one of his father's household. We ate at the same table, slept in the same bed, attended the same school, studied the same lessons, were in love with the same girls, engaged in the same sports, read the same books.

When W. H. Newman was a young man of about 22 the late R. B. Hall of Kentucky became the owner of a railroad, the name of which I have forgotten, extending from Shreveport, La., to Marshall, Tex., about seventy miles in length. Young Newman was given charge of that road and managed it for years. He made a special study of freight rates, frequently sitting up the entire night so absorbed was he in the work. I have heard railroad men say that he was especially accomplished in this branch of the profession and was phenomenally successful in drawing to his lines traffic at profitable rates.

Later he was with Gould's lines under Hoxie at St. Louis. Thence he went to Chicago and was with the Chicago & Northwestern which he left to go to St. Paul or Minneapolis where he was with the Great Northern. Then he became president of the Lake Shore and soon thereafter he was president of the New York Central.

* * *

Now to get back. In 1916 I was in New York and called on him. After talk of old times we dropped into politics. Both of us were Democrats, and I an enthusiastic Wilson man. He said he intended to vote for him, but did not have much love for him. Thereupon I took the floor and, in speech doubtless more emphatic and dogmatic than ornate, I pronounced a glowing eulogy on my favorite. He listened with polite impatience till I had finished, when he delivered himself thus:

> Humph. The two greatest men this country has produced were James J. Hill and J. Pierpont Morgan.

I collapsed. I was speechless. He was serene and thoroughly convinced that he was correct in his view.

* * *

There were the practical and the sentimental in contrast. Perhaps both of us were right. The ideal should yield fruit that is practical, and the practical is dross unless it is the child of the ideal. Both together working in harmonious concord and brotherly love will make for the victory of civilization.

But in the political campaign just closed the material was grossly sensual, a stranger, an alien and an enemy of the ideal.

One of Gene Field's Pranks

Melville E. Stone in Collier's Weekly: Eugene Field and I were seated in a Chicago theater near the stage, and "East Lynne," or some equally tear-forcing play was being produced. At the moment of high tension, when there was profound silence throughout the house, there burst out a loud "Ha! ha! ha!" and then Field turned to a quiet old gentleman seated by his side and silently denounced him with a look of amazement and condemnation. The audience took it up and all recognized the poor old fellow as the culprit. He blushed and, when the curtain fell, quietly took his hat and slipped out, and did not return. Field, who was almost a ventriloquist, was the real offender.

Surprises

Washington Star: "Do you think Gladys was surprised when I proposed to her?" inquired the happy youth.

"About as surprised," answered Miss Cayenne, "as a candidate who has received formal notification that he has been nominated."

Rippling Rhymes

Landlords

I am looking for a shelter for my dachshund and my wife, and I canter, helter-skelter, through the city's noise and strife. I would rent some humble attic two miles higher than the street, but the landlord plutocratic names a price I cannot meet. I would rent a rusty basement underneath a squalid flat, but the landlord, from his casement, names a price that lifts my hat. Oh, the landlord is a pelter who would scalp me with his knife, and I wander, seeking shelter, with my dachshund and my wife. Up and down the streets I trundle, with my money in my hand, but my paltry little bundle doesn't seem in much demand; through the town I've roamed and rubbered, and I hunt for lodgings still, but one cannot rent a cupboard with a fifty-dollar bill. And the landlord, fat and greasy, pays no heed to my despair, to my haggard cheeks and creasey, to the snow that streaks my hair. He has no respect for sorrow; If I wish to rent a berth, I must go and steal or borrow more than his old coop is worth. When in summer heat I swelter, when the winter storms are rife, I must vainly seek for shelter, with my dachshund and my wife; and some morning you will find us lying in an alley dead, with our trail of smoke behind us, and a bitter sky o'erhead.

The Old-Time Sunday

From the Omaha Bee.

It is a bright Sabbath morning in early autumn in a comfortable village homestead built in 1850, with full length porches in front and rear. The time is along about 1882. A hot breakfast is simmering on the big kitchen range.

According to its every-day custom, the family has assembled in the big "sitting" room. Grandpa has the family Bible on his knees. He reads a few verses, and all sink to their knees. His morning family prayer, uttered with little variation for forty years, is repeated. Uncle Tom and Billy keep one or two jumps ahead of grandpa until it is finished.

After breakfast the Sunday school bell rings and all but grandma are off to the little brown church in the vale. At the Sunday school are found the intelligence, virtue and stability of almost the entire village —200 or more men, women and children—in delightful association. At the close of the school, Uncle Tom and Billy return home, where two great skillets full of brown fried chicken are sizzling. On the table in the sitting room is a prodigious glass punch bowl full of delicious rambo and seek-no-further apples. On the mantel are cigars and lamp-lighters. In the grate is a pleasant fire. And there are books and magazines and newspapers and comfortable easy rocking chairs.

After church comes dinner—and such a dinner! Fried chicken and gravy, snowy mashed potatoes, cold sliced tomatoes, late string beans, hot biscuits, yellow butter, apple butter, plum preserves, queen of pudding garnished with grape jelly and raisins, swimming in rich cream, white cake, pumpkin pie and finally, a bowl of grapes and sugar pears.

After dinner grandma is off for a nap, Uncle Tom for a ramble, and Billy to take his girl for a buggy ride along glorious country lanes and over pine-clad hills. Happy hours! As evening approaches all are again at home. There awaits them a heaping dishpan of hot, tender popcorn in the back oven. Soon supper is ready—hot coffee, cold chicken, buttered toast and jelly, newly made pickles, and the never-failing cake and fruit.

Again the church bell rings. Billy goes to take his girl to the services. Grandma adjusts her spectacles to read her Bible, humming:

> All in a dark and shady grove,
> There cooed a lonely dove, or some other quaint old-time hymn. Grandpa and Aunt Mary are off to church, and Uncle Tom, surrounded with newspapers, a cigar in his mouth, takes his comfort before the fire.

By 9 o'clock the family circle is again complete and one by one its units retire. Another Sunday is over.

All this before telephones, trolley cars, automobiles or moving pictures were dreamed of. Blessed Sundays they were—bright spots in village life, where reigned simple tastes, good will and general content, along with abundant, inexpensive and perfectly cooked food.

Blessed is the man who can look back to such Sundays after his youth is spent!

American "Souses" in Europe

Frederick Palmer in Collier's Weekly: It is the drinking by Americans "making up for lost time" which is the most disgusting aspect of our travel abroad to the sober American and the French; an aspect "that almost makes me a prohibitionist," as a confirmed "souse" remarked with a furry accent the morning after his first liquid evening in Paris. There is a rush to the bar instantly the Trans-Atlantic liner reaches the three-mile limit. All the way across drink flows. On the homeward journey the orgy becomes more hectic.

"Have another! You're in for a long dry spell," is the irresistible invitation which leads to excess a man who had taken only an occasional drink before prohibition. Confirmed drinkers become gloomier every day that brings them nearer to the three-mile limit, and take more drinks to drown their gloom. After the three-mile limit bottles of champagne are hidden under the pillows of staterooms to be consumed between quarantine and the pier, and at the purser's office appears, before landing, a notice saying that the old rule that a passenger might take a quart of spirits into the country duty free no longer holds. He may not even take a pocket flask unless it is empty of alcoholic contents.

Most of the tourists are, of course, going to France to see the battle fields, and not to see Paris or to get a drink; but many will study Paris more than the battle fields. Paris, for play purposes, is itself again as the tourist knew it of old. More guides than ever are offering to show you the "sights." The cabarets of Montmartre, and all the other resorts where travelers go to see Paris and see one another, and think they are seeing France, are in full swing, and reap a harvest by their cunning. Parisians whose business it is to profit by the presence of visitors give the visitors the kind of Paris they want in the summer months when workaday Frenchmen, no less than ourselves, seek their own diversions in weekends and holidays in the country.

Armenia

First of the Christian nations; the first of us all to feel
The fire of infidel hatred, the weight of the pagan heel;
Faithful down the ages tending the light that burned,
Tortured and trodden therefor, spat on and slain and spurned;
Branded for others' vices, robbed of your rightful fame,
Clinging to Truth in a truthless land in the name of the ancient Name;
Generous, courteous, gentle, patient under the yoke,
Decent (hemmed in a harem land ye were ever a one-wife folk);
Royal and brave and ancient—haply an hour has struck
When the new fad-fangled peoples shall weary of raking muck,
And turning from coward counsels and loathing the parish lies,
In shame and sackcloth offer up the only sacrifice.
Then thou who hast been neglected, who hast called o'er a world in vain
To the deaf deceitful traders' ears in tune to the voice of gain,
Thou Cinderella nation, starved that our faults might live,
When we come with a hand outstretched at last—accept it, and forgive!

—Talbot Mundy, "The Eye of Zeitoon."

Tests

Writer's Monthly: Ex-Ambassador Walter Hines Page was formerly one of the editors of World's Work and, like all editors, was obliged to refuse a great many stories. A lady once wrote him:

"Sir: You sent back last week a story of mine. I know that you did not read the story. For as a test I had pasted together pages 18, 19 and 20, and the story came back with these pages still pasted; and so I know you are a fraud and turn down stories without reading same."

Mr. Page wrote back:

"Madam: At breakfast when I open an egg I don't have to eat the whole egg to discover it is bad."

That Guilty Feeling

Birmingham Age-Herald: "I've often been struck by the extreme hauteur of salesladies. Don't you suppose merchants suffer from it?"

"I know one who does. He tells me he feels like sneaking into the rear door of his establishment because he suspects that his personal appearance does not meet with the approval of his clerks."

Health Talks

How to Prevent Adenoids

Why do so many children have enlarged tonsils and enlarged adenoids? And can we do anything to prevent these conditions?

The adenoid body is a mass of tissue identical in character with that of the tonsils, and is sometimes called the third or pharyngeal tonsil. It would better be called the nasal tonsil. When the adenoid body undergoes permanent thickening or enlargement (hypertrophy, as doctors call it) the child has "adenoids." But let us bear in mind that a healthy child has fairly large tonsils and adenoid body, and that the adenoid tissue or round cell tissue which makes up the tonsils, the adenoid body, and to a considerable degree the vermiform appendix in young persons, has a function, namely, the function of opposing bacterial infections.

The half-baked, uneducated but shrewdly calculating purveyors of plausibility who offer the guillible public all sorts of strange new-fangled treatments purporting to be the "only correct treatment" cite the fact I have just presented to support their crafty opposition to any and all tonsil and adenoid operations. A few of them really know no better; most of them offer no objection to the necessary operation when the patient happens to be one in whom their interest is other than commercial.

Normal tonsils and adenoids serve the auto-protective function in childhood. But when tonsils or adenoids become diseased, they can no longer function and they become a menace to the patient's health and life. Conservation of diseased tonsils and adenoids is akin to saving the rotten apple in the barrel.

Every coryza (simple "cold," as the untaught say), every sore throat, in childhood, being of bacterial origin, makes a call for the auto-protective function of the tonsils and adenoid body. These structures temporarily enlarge or swell while the battle against the germs is on. After the battle is over and recovery ensues, the tonsils and adenoid body tend to resume their original natural state. Tend to do so, I said. If the insult is frequently repeated, if the child is ignorantly and criminally exposed to such infections as coryza and sore throat, the tonsils and adenoid body in time take on a permanent enlargement or hypertrophy. That is the simple explanation of a far too common affliction of early life.

The prevention of diseased tonsils and adenoids is therefore the prevention of what the ignorant and obstinate persist in calling "colds."

Every child with even the most trifling coryza or sore throat should be kept from school and from personal contact with other children.

The foul air of the overheated school room, the crowding together of children, and the ignoring (if not the ignorance) of the first principles of prophylaxis in the schoolroom are important factors of adenoids.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Valvular Heart Disease.

1. What is valvular heart disease? 2. Will a strain bring it on? 3. Are there pains in the chest when you have it? 4. Will it prove fatal? 5. Can anything be done for it? (Mrs. J. C.)

Answer: 1. Valvular heart disease is distortion of a heart valve, usually produced by the scar which forms after inflammation of the lining of the heart. 2. Strain will not cause it. 3. Usually no pain in the chest is noticed. 4. Valvular disease is rarely fatal. 5. Much can be done for it.

Don't Dope the Children.

My children, aged 5 and 7, need some kidney medicine. There are so many kinds. Which would you advise? (Mrs. C. W. C.)

Answer: Out of a love for children in general I would advise none. I can assure you that no alleged "kidney medicine" will do the children one bit of good, and most likely any such stuff will do harm. If you mean the children wet the bed, that is in no way indicative of any kidney trouble.

If that is the case, send a stamped addressed envelope for suggestions for controlling the trouble. It is usually a problem of kindly discipline rather than medication.

Albumin in Urine.

Is albumin in the urine always a sign of Bright's disease? (Mrs. W. H.)

Answer: No. It is often due to other causes. For instance, a cold bath, severe exertion, a very hearty meal, and various inflammatory or suppurative conditions may produce albumin in the urine.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinius, the Sunshine Man, Dayton, Ohio.

God of all comfort and Father of all mercies, Thou art the fountain of everlasting life! We would obtain joy and gladness that sorrow and sighing may flee away. Remember, O Lord, all of the interests of our lives. Guard those whom we love, whether near or far, from all danger and ill. Guide them and us upon the untried pathway of this new day. Bring us to the eventide without sin and without shame. We pray for our beloved nation and for all the peoples of earth. May Thy divine love be shed abroad in all human hearts. Uphold the missionaries of the Cross at home and abroad. Overthrow all oppression and injustice and hasten, we beseech Thee, the coming of the Kingdom of Thy dear Son, our Savior. Hear, O Father, the cries of our hearts as well as the words of our mouths; forgive all our sins and save us with an everlasting salvation for Jesus' sake. Amen.—William Hiram Foulkes, D. D.

Endowing Motherhood

Joplin News-Herald: Men have talked, poets have sung, artists have painted, sculptors have glorified the dignity of motherhood, and let it go at that.

It has remained for New South Wales to create the first "Ministry of Motherhood" in the world. One of the first acts of the newly elected labor government was the creation of such a cabinet office, charged with the duty of making provision for mothers and children who are forced to enter industry to make a livelihood.

One of the duties of the new ministry is to administer the law endowing motherhood. New South Wales thinks that if a mother bears a large number of children, she has performed the most valuable service possible to the state, and she is to be compensated by endowment.

Instead of talking about "race suicide" and deploring small families, New South Wales has decided to do something practical about it—if not to make it worth while to raise large families, at least not to penalize them.

Definite details of the proposed new law have not been worked out, but it is tentatively proposed that a workingman's family having eight children, for instance, would have all but the first two subsidized in the form of an endowment paid to the mother, the money for which purpose is to be obtained from a graduated tax on incomes, to the extent of some $25,000,000 anually.

It is a logical extension of the principle on which the public schools were established—that the community is and should be responsible for the welfare of its children.

A Wise Reflection

Canton News: There would be more prosperity if a lot of folks would quit scolding the rich and try to find out how they got that way.

Columbia, S. C., Record: We trust, however, that women will not be so dangerous in politics as they are in automobiles.

Around North Dakota With the Pen Pushers

Breezy Comments on Current Topics by State's Live Newspapers.

A Month for Thanksgiving

Bismarck Tribune: As it comes, people look upon November as a month of shrill, gusty winds, spitting snow, and whirling leaves, a bleak, dire and doleful brother in the year's family of twelve children.

Why isn't it a month of happiness and good cheer? It is filled with good things. November is the month of Thanksgiving, which is to be celebrated in goodly style on Thursday, the 25th of this month. November smacks of turkey and cranberry sauce, and of football and chrysanthemums. November, both in city and country, ought to be a glad season. The keen air makes one move the faster. The blood tingles and one feels it is good just to be alive.

The Place for Immigrants

Devils Lake Journal: For many years before the great war, a majority of all immigrants settled in the congested and squalid sections of the larger cities. There they eked out precarious livings and came to know little of the real American. Last week, of the 11,527 foreigners who landed in New York, the greater number left immediately for farming districts in the Far West or for the smaller industrial centers scattered about the states. Very few remained in the metropolis, and of those who did remain, a majority were self-reliant Irish girls who intended to enter domestic service.

Another Opportunity

Mandon Pioneer: Wisconsin reports a short cranberry crop; Rhode Island says turkeys are scarce. The profiteers are getting ready for Thangsgiving.

Capital the Great Developer

Fargo Forum: North Dakota is still a borrowing state and will be for a generation or more to come. It needs new capital and plenty of it. It needs more money to encourage better farming. Diversified farming calls for capital in generous amounts. Any farmer can scratch the surface of the soil and gamble in wheat on a slender margin, but if he wants to farm properly and if he wants to get into stock and diversified farming, he must have capital.

An Important Difference

Grand Forks Herald: Wherever it has exhibited itself in practical operation, Socialism has shown itself to be the enemy of co-operation. Very often the two terms are used interchangeably, and many Socialistic theories are also co-operative theories. But in actual operation the two do not work together. Every Socialistic experiment undertaken on a large scale has quickly exhibited itself in the form of a class movement. Not one has taken on the democratic form which includes the entire citizenship of a community, a form which is essential to true co-operation.

$200,000,000 for Candy

Grafton Record: The people of the United States have a sweet tooth. According to government statistics they ate up $200,000,000 worth of candy during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1920. A people who will spend that sum for sweets certainly are not down-trodden as the Socialists would have you believe.

An Observation

New York Mail: Since men's coats have been made with tight sleeves, poker games are much safer.

It Will!

Detroit News: Won't it seem like old times to accept another portion of the beefsteak without a feeling that you are impoverishing your host?

If It Keeps Up

Indianapolis News: If this price-cutting continues they will be giving away automobiles as premiums with gasoline.

Twenty Years Ago

MINNESOTA MAN HAS GAINED 26 POUNDS

"I Am in Fine Health," Says Cominis After Taking Tanlac—Had Been Going Down Hill Six Years.

"Yes, sir, one hundred and fourteen pounds is all I weighed when I began taking Tanlac, but now I tip the scales at one hundred and forty, even." This remarkable statement was made recently by Leo Cominis, popular employe of the Imperial Candy Co. at [illegible] Hennepin avenue, Minneapolis.

"For nearly six years I had been bothered with an awful case of indigestion and had reached the point where I was almost afraid to eat at all. I didn't know what it was to feel hungry and I went down in weight so much that I wondered where it would all end.

"I had cramping spells that nearly killed me and many a time I didn't think I could pull through. Gas formed awful bad and it just looked like my stomach bothered me in one way or another all the time. Then my back ached terribly and instead of getting any better I seemed to be gradually growing worse.

"Finally I began taking Tanlac and it fit my case so well that I can't tell now there was ever anything at all the matter with me. My appetite has come back bigger than ever and it makes no difference what I eat, I am never bothered with stomach trouble any more. My back does not hurt now, either, and I have gained twenty-six pounds. I am in fine health once more and am glad to go on record as endorsing Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Duluth at the W. A. Abbett drug stores under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative. Also the leading druggist in every town throughout the Northwest. Wm. THE OPEN COURT

Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about topics of general interest, but discussion of sectarian, religious differences is barred. Letters must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.

All letters must be written on one side of the paper only.

The Herald does not publish original verse. Contributions of this nature that are submitted for the editor's perusal must be accompanied by a stamped and addressed envelope, if their return is desired. Otherwise no manuscript will be returned.

THOUGHT RULES LIFE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Twelve years ago you published an article in your paper on the "Building of Character;" you compared the building of a character to the erection of a building. I have used the illustration many times since then with good effect. I desire to continue the idea still a little further.

"As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he," this not only embraces the whole of a man's being but it reaches out to every condition of life. A man is what he thinks; his life and character are the sum of all his thoughts.

Acts are the blossoms of thoughts and joy and suffering are its fruits, and man gains the better foliage of his own life. Man is made or unmade by himself and not by another and also master of his own thoughts and molder of his character and destiny. Any man is where he is by the law of his own being. The thoughts which he had built into his own character hath brought him there or is the result, that cannot lie, and when he hath learned this then he becomes the rightful master of himself.

The soul attracts that which it secretly harbors, good thoughts bringeth good fruits, bad thoughts produce bad; this is a law of nature. The outer world shapes itself to the inner world of thought.

Circumstances do not make the man, it reveals him to himself.

Man does not attract that which he wants but that which he is; their most inward desires and thoughts are fed by their own food, be it foul or clean. It is not what a man wishes and prays for that he receives but that which he justly earns; bad thoughts never bring good results any more than good thoughts produce bad results. Man understands all this in the natural world, and he becomes a man when he begins to learn the hidden justice which regulates his life. A man cannot keep thought secret, it crystallizes into action of life.

A particular train of thought presented, be it good or bad, cannot fail to produce its results on character and circumstances; man can choose his thoughts but not his circumstances. Nature helps man to the gratification of his thoughts which he most encourages.

The body is the servant of the mind.

Peace and health are rooted in thought. Sickly thoughts will express themselves through a sickly body. Fear has killed a man as readily as a bullet; strength and happiness will build up the body in vigor and grace. Man will have impure blood as long as he has impure thoughts. Out of a clean heart will flow a clean life. Change of diet will not help a man that does not change his thoughts. Clean thoughts make habits. If you would protect your bodies guard your mind. A beautiful face does not come by chance but from beautiful thoughts. To think well of all, to be cheerful with all, to learn to find the good in all, such unselfish thoughts are the very portals of heaven.

Thoughts must be linked with purpose. Aimlessness is a vice and must not continue if we would be clear of destruction and should make this purpose supreme duty. This is the royal road to self-control. Strength can only be developed by effort and practice.

Let us cherish our visions, our ideals, the music that stirs our heart, the beauty that forms in our minds and the loveliness that drapes our purest thoughts. If we remain true to them our world will at last be built.

ANOTHER MOTHER-IN-LAW.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Regarding a piece in your Open Court on 'A Mother-in-law's Trials," I feel sorry for a mother-in-law that has done right to be treated so hatefully. But there are thousands of mothers-in-law who are not worthy of praise. A daughter-in-law can sew and wash and scrub and clean and do all kinds of work for dear mother-in-law, and, yes, get the worse word in her mouth. This I know from experience, and that is not all; even try to break up a family.

How can a daughter-in-law respect such a mother-in-law? Son can chase with other women and low-class girls, spend his money on them; all is O. K. Daughter-in-law can stay home, attend to garden and canning, cut wood, cut hay, lug wood out of the woods on her back, keep her children clean and in school when there is school and get only what she eats. Let her stand and talk to any one a few minutes, oh, then that is horrid! But son can do as he pleases and mother-in-law just a nagging at son to keep the fire of trouble burning. Good son. But God bless a mother-in-law that will be kind to her son's wife, for she certainly deserves a blessing. She sure has mine.

THE IRISH QUESTION.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Allow me to quote a few of the lines that fell from the pen of Bernard O'Reilly some thirty-five years ago upon returning to his native land after an absence of fifty-three years. They prove that hope was as green then as it is today in the Irish heart.

"No Irish-American who has followed with anything like a kindly interest, the sufferings and struggles of the Irish at home during the last fifty years, but must have asked himself if these sufferings were never to end, or if such struggles were, at length, to be crowned by long-prayed-for success.

"Yes, we have been waiting, in our free homes beyond the Atlantic, for the end of these awful trials, prolonged century after century down to the present year, and borne with a fortitude and a hopefulness, which speaks more eloquently than inspired voice or pen for the heroic temper of the Irish soul and the bravery and truth of the people who were battling for the cause of the martyr nation.

"I have come back after many years absence to my native country to see with my own eyes the land and the people, and to do what I might toward helping on that sacred cause at a time when every day and hour is pregnant with the fate of the nation.

"Before leaving New York, I thought I knew Ireland as well as most men of my years and position, whose lives have been mostly spent in laboring among her exiled children; and I flattered myself with believing that I had a fair conception and appreciation of our people's qualities.

"The study of Ireland, present and past, on her own soil, has revealed to me a moral greatness of which I could have had no adequate notion.

"Seeing what this brave, bright, intellectual, and indomitable old race have endured and survived, how much, through all the wear and grinding of ages, they have preserved of the noblest features of a great national character; seeing, here in Ireland, how fresh and pure in heart they are, how buoyant and hopeful still; how ardently they love the faith brought to them by St. Patrick, and how invincibly they cling to the certainty of beholding their own loved Erin a nation; the conviction forces itself upon me that such a people must be free, and in the near future, and that before them lies a long lease of national life, a long era of prosperity and happiness, as befits a people still young after thirty centuries of historical existence."

SCORES PROFITEERING.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The coal octopus has a strangle hold on the consumers' pocketbook. Federal authorities are investigating and it is sincerely hoped they will stop all unlawful profiteering and kill off all unnecessary leeches. Wheat, corn and oats have been coming down the toboggan slide and an anxious and suffering public now look for all the products and by-products of these grains to find a much lower level.

The farmer, the producer at present prices paid for these grains, does not get value, as the high cost of wages, implements and other things has also hit him heavily. But it is the middlemen, many of them in the profiteering game who should be eliminated as much as possible. The consumer has to pay for all. Our sweet friend sugar and the humble potato are getting down to a level suiting the public's pocketbook, notwithstanding prognostications of some of our would-be profiteers. Clothing, shoes and other commodities are finding lower price levels.

Regarding profiteers in any line in these United States, they are enemies of this great republic, and also of humanity. No matter how much loyalty they might profess. By their methods they breed discontent and misery, adding thousands of recruits to the radical elements who would overthrow this government were they able to do so and put it in the same class with Bolshevik Russia.

Thousands of men, women and children have and do suffer from the lack of proper food, clothing, fuel and other necessaries owing to unnecessary high prices. A profiteer is a human fungus, a blight on humanity, and his ill-gotten gains will avail him nothing when he dies.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Herald to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner, or that ask for advice on legal or medical questions.

To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the person asking it. This is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

Reader, Duluth: It has been asserted that Mr. Harding was divorced from his first wife; is it true?

Ans.: No, Mr. Harding has had but one wife to whom he was married in 1891.

D. W. B., Superior, Wis.: What are the interest days on all Liberty bonds, and when do they mature?

Ans.: First, June 15 and Dec. 15; 1947. Second, Nov. 15 and May 15; 1942-1947. Third, Sept. 15 and March 15; 1928. Fourth, April 15 and Oct. 15; 1933-38. Fifth, Dec. 15 and June 15; 1923.

G. Z.: Please settle this difference of opinion. Was a citizen of Norway who had taken out his first papers in this country subject to the draft, either for service on this side or overseas?

Ans.: Yes, he was subject to draft. If he claimed exemption on the grounds of being an alien the law decreed that the renouncement was permanent and he be forever barred from citizenship in the United States.

E. P., Brimson, Minn.: Will you please answer the following question: Could a girl of 15 get a hunting license?

Ans.: Yes, any person 14 years or more of age may be issued a hunting license.

FOURTEEN SECTIONS IN SCOTLAND FOR LICENSE

London, Nov. 4.—(Canadian Press.)—Returns up to last midnight showed three areas in Scotland in which voting took place yesterday on local option as having polled dry—Sanquhar, a rural constituency, and Kilsyth and Kirkintilloch mining centers. Fourteen other sections voted for no change from the present license status. They included Grangemouth, Bridge of Allan, Dunoon, Lanark, Helensburg, Barrhead, Bonnybrigge, Loanhead and Stirling.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

Written for The Herald By Rev. J. S. Kirtley, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: NOV. 7.

Matthew vi, 19-34: Principles of Christian Living.

CONNECTION.

We have another lesson from that wonderful talk by the Master called the "Sermon on the Mount." He always goes down to the roots of the matter. Any one who likes clear thinking and crystal clear teaching can get what he wants in its perfection by listening to Jesus whenever He speaks on any subject. Any one who wants to learn how to live can get exactly what he needs from the teachings of Christ. In this sermon He moves straight on through the vital subjects of prayer, almsgiving and fasting to two points of very special interest in this money-mad and nervous age.

THE LESSON.

I.

About Money. 19-24.

"Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon the earth, where moth and rust consume, and where thieves break through and steal; but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth consume, and where thieves do not break through nor steal; for where thy treasure is, there will thy heart be also. The lamp of the body is the eye; if therefore thine eye be single, thy whole body shall be full of light. But if thine eye be evil, thy whole body shall be full of darkness. If therefore the light that is in thee be darkness, how great is the darkness! No man can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon."

1. HEART.—The heart follows its treasures, whether they are in heaven or on earth or in the ground. Three things may be said about money. It can be made or inherited by the million and yet not be one's chief treasure,—not that it always is. Often one is deceived as to his motives and purposes in seeking it. Second, it can be converted into the highest and holiest thing on earth—into mind and heart and hope and comfort and peace and sympathy and love—when those who possess it use it for those ends, in a Christ-like way. Paul said we must all be industrious and make money so that we shall have something to give to those who are in want. But they may want education and gospel and opportunity as well as bread and meat and clothes. Third, it can be laid up in heaven, when we use it so as to fit people for heaven, as Jesus assures us, in the parable of the shrewd steward, that we can so use it that the objects of our kindly service will be waiting to welcome us to our eternal home. The love of money is a root of every kind of evil.

2. EYE.—The eye may have a dim vision for truth and love and honor, when it has looked too long at one false object. It may have a double vision when it tries to look at two objects at a time, money and God. Money may dim the view of God. The "evil eye" was first of all a miserly eye. If one tries to keep an appreciative eye on God and money equally, they do not come to a common focal point and blend in one object. The eye is no longer single. Conscience and love and unselfishness are surrendering to enemies. The mind is darkened as it tries to look out in that abnormal fashion.

3. HEAD.—A double-headed affair is a monstrosity, even if the two heads are partners. If one recognizes God as his master, he can only think of money as an instrument with which he can render some kind of service to God. If money is his master, he has no taste for God. If it is a servant, we can use it to please Him as Matthew, Zaccheus, Mary and Martha and Lazarus did. It requires only a small amount of money to master some people.

II.

About Anxiety. 25-34.

"Therefore I say unto you, be not anxious for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than the food, and the body than the raiment? Behold the birds of the heaven, that they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; and your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are not ye of much more value than they? And which of you by being anxious can add one cubit unto the measure of his life? And why are ye anxious concerning raiment? Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin; yet I say unto you that even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. But if God doth so clothe the grass of the field, which today is, and tomorrow is cast into the oven, shall He not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith? Be not, therefore, anxious, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed? For after all these things do the Gentiles seek; for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these. But seek ye first His kingdom and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you. Be not, therefore, anxious for the morrow, for the morrow will be anxious for itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof."

1. UNFILIAL.—God is Father; therefore we need not be distressed. He supplies the wants of birds and flowers; can He neglect His children? He provides for them, though they do not sew nor reap nor gather into barns; could He fail to take care of His children when they do sow and reap and gather? He cares for the birds when they exert their little powers of forethought, as in migrating to suitable climates at the right season and in building nests; will He not care for His children when they exert their greater powers of forethought, adaptation of means to ends and skillful use of opportunity? Let the sowing, reaping and gathering go hopefully, trustfully on.

The flowers which abounded in wild profusion in Palestine, of which the lily was the type, grew into a beauty even more splendid than that which adorned Solomon when he came forth in his royal state, although they did not toil nor spin. Their glory is a growth from within; his an addition from without. Theirs is part of themselves; his was purely external. Theirs was perfect, the fruit of life; his imperfect, the work of men's hands. That is what God does for soulless flowers that do nothing for themselves, that live out a short day and are withered; how can He fail to do the needed thing for His children, who have souls, who have means of doing much for themselves and who will live on through the eternities?

2. INJURIOUS.—Fretful anxiety enervates by destroying faith, hope, love, unselfishness and developing distrust, despair, resentment toward God and man.

3. HEATHENISH.—The heathen do not see beyond the present, they fail to see God in the present and do not think of Him as Father. With our treasures in His care and with our wise and loving Father's hand upon us we cannot descend to the level of the heathen.

4. USELESS.—Two reasons make all unhappy forebodings sinfully useless. One is that we can infallibly secure all things needed anyhow—by seeking first the kingdom of God and His righteousness. God in His righteousness guarantees everything else, as the larger includes the lesser. The striving and the agony will be not about the future, but about subjecting our obstinate and stupid selves to the sway of God. In that primary search for the first things we show the wisdom that will work for tomorrow and content with our Father's arrangements that make the morrow a success.

The other reason is that no amount of anxiety can change the future.

We cannot tell what it will be; the dreaded storm may not break upon us at all; the unexpected may come from unexpected quarters. Dread of it will not prevent its coming; will diminish the pleasures of the present, will unfit for doing the duties of the present. The morrow will not only bring its own troubles, but it will bring the grace that will strengthen us to meet those troubles. "Every day brings its own troubles and to anticipate is but to double them." It is sufficient to leave each day's trouble in the day to which it belongs, without borrowing it to add to the troubles of this day. "The worst misfortunes are those which never arrive." We weaken our power to bear today's burdens when we put our stupid shoulders under tomorrow. God never overloads, but our anxiety does. Forethought is right, but not foreboding.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

Wealth is the slave of a wise man the master of a fool.—Seneca.

Learn and practice the art of the Celestial chemistry: Not, like the mediaeval alchemist, seeking to transmute all things into gold, but like Christ Himself, transmuting earth's gold into heaven's charities. Serve God—God only—by a skillful, generous, Christian use of mammon, and then even mammon, unrighteous as it is, will serve you, turning the recipients of your bounties into heavenly welcomers on the day of judgment.—Boardman.

The escape from the service of mammon, therefore, is not through negations and self-denials, not through voluntary poverty and renunciation of property, but through serving God in His kingdom of righteousness. It is not idleness to which Jesus calls His own, but a diligence which is no longer controlled by motives furnished by mammon.—Thompson.

2. Should there be a legal limit to the accumulation of wealth?
3. What would be the immediate effect of consecrating all our wealth to God?
4. Why does calm confidence in God lead to industry and forethought?

BEATS GASOLINE AT 15 CENTS A GALLON

New Invention Makes Fords Run 34 Miles on Gallon of Gasoline and Start Easy in Coldest Weather; Other Cars Show Proportionate Savings.

A new carburetor which cuts down gasoline consumption of any motor, including the Ford and reduces gasoline bills from one-third to one-half is the proud achievement of the Air Friction Carburetor Company, 891 Madison St., Dayton, Ohio. This remarkable invention not only increases the power of all motors from 30 to 50 per cent but enables everyone to run slow on high gear. It also makes it easy to start a Ford or any other car in the coldest weather without previously warming the motor. With it you can use the very cheapest grade of gasoline or half gasoline and half kerosene and still get more power and more mileage than you now get from the highest test gasoline. Many Ford owners say they now get as high as 45 to 50 miles to a gallon of gasoline. So sure are the manufacturers of the immense saving their new carburetor will make that they offer to send it on 30 days' trial to every car owner. As it can be put on or taken off in a few minutes by anyone, all readers of this paper who want to try it should send their name, address and make of car to the manufacturers at once. They also want local agents to whom they offer exceptionally large profits. Write them today.—Advertisement.

The underlying reason for well fitting clothes

No tailor can overcome the handicap of underwear that bunches, binds or wrinkles. Well fitting clothes must have a foundation of well fitting underwear.

Richmond Union Suits supply this foundation perfectly for they are as skillfully cut and fashioned as the clothes themselves. They never intrude upon your presence. You put on a suit of Richmonds and forget it.

Every Richmond Union Suit is cut with the patented left-dress, closed-crotch in the same manner as your tailor cuts a pair of trousers. Snug fit, maximum comfort and long wear are assured through the wide thigh gore. Patch reinforcements are unnecessary.

This is only ONE of EIGHT exclusive Richmond features. Ask the salesman to show you the other seven.

GOPHER PEAT BEING MINED

Vast Deposits Area in State Expected to Cut Fuel Costs.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 4.—Fuel experts here, including several associated with state institutions, believe Minnesota's worries over the fuel problem will be greatly lessened in the near future through the conversion of peat into fuel.

Peat, these engineers say, commonly is known as an accumulation of vegetable matter which has been preserved from decay by constant immersion in water, but which is a substance represented by a stage between wood and lignite, a low grade of coal. The oxygen content of wood is 40 per cent; of peat, 30 per cent; of lignite, 20 per cent; bituminous, or soft, coal, 10 per cent, and anthracite, or hard, coal, 3 per cent.

Still more significant, the engineers point out, is the cost of this fuel. It probably will be available for industrial concerns burning bituminous coal for less than half the price of soft coal.

Being Converted Into Fuel.

Peat is now being mined and converted into fuel for the first time in Minnesota, and possibly for the first time in the United States. Vast areas of the state, which the geological survey estimates at 7,000,000 acres, are blanketed with peat bogs, and contain a potential supply of more than 6,500,000,000 tons of dry peat, sufficient to last 1,000 years.

The development of the peat industry was prevented by two causes, both of which have been overcome—inability to remove peat from the ground by capable machinery and the need of suitable equipment to prepare it economically in condensed form for fuel.

The first obstacle was done away with by the invention of a machine that digs the peat, macerates it and spreads it out on the ground in strips to dry. The second impediment was removed by the construction by a local company of a crusher plant here to pulverize the peat into powdered form.

Tests have been made with powdered peat by engineers at the University of Minnesota, and results have shown that but 10 per cent more pulverized peat is required to give the same heat as powdered coal, while a ton of the powdered peat equals the work of practically two tons of coal hand-fired. But the cheapness of the peat offsets this.

One Plant at Duluth.

Pulverizing plants are to be constructed by the fuel company, which built the crusher building here, at St. Paul, Duluth and other advantageous points throughout the state as soon as construction bids and plans can be consummated, it is announced. The local plant has a capacity for turning out 500 tons of dry peat a day, and this amount will be increased when added facilities are installed.

"We cannot take out enough peat this fall to help the fuel situation materially," said F. E. Bryan, president of the company which operates the crusher plant here, "but all the machines that can be made will be put into the bogs next year."

Enough peat will be ready for burning as fuel before next winter, however, to materially ease any coal shortage should one exist at that time, Mr. Bryan believes. In 1925, he explained, if no hindrances arise to prevent the contemplated construction of other crusher establishments in the state, Minnesota will be independent of outside sources for fuel for industrial establishments and will have an exportable surplus.

The cost of the pulverized peat, Mr. Bryan estimated, would be under $5 a ton at the crusher plants.

FRANKLIN PENNY IS FOUND ON HOMESTEAD

Dover, Mass., Nov. 4.—A Franklin penny, the first copper coin to be authorized by congress, has been found on the homestead of one of the first settlers here. It was struck in 1787 and is one of a few that were coined.

The penny took its name from Benjamin Franklin because of the inclusion in its design of the homely admonition, "Mind your business," after a suggestion by him that coins should serve purposes other than those of legal tender.

On one side thirteen circles appear linked together, a small circle in the middle with the words "United States" around it, and in the center "We are one." On the other side is a dial with the hours indicated, a meridian sun above it, on one side of which is the word "Fugio" and on the other the date "1787." Below the dial appears the Franklin phrase, "Mind your business."

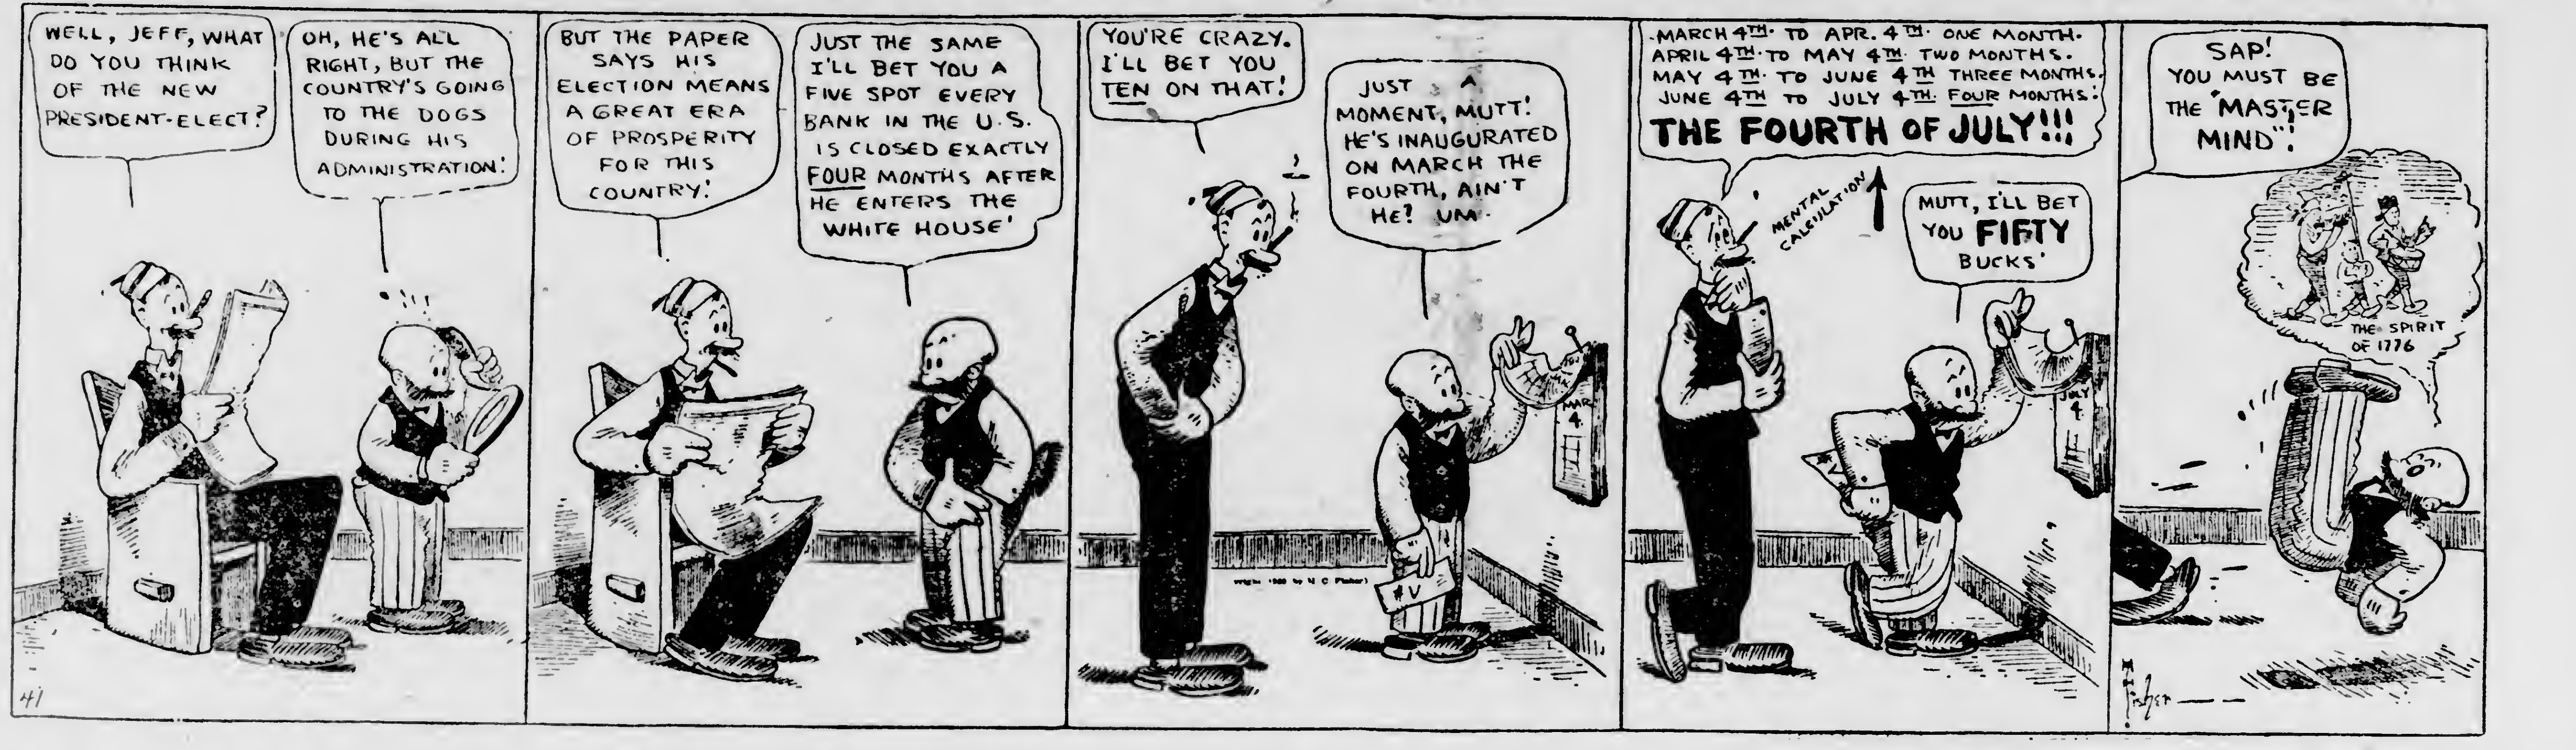
MUTT AND JEFF—Mutt Had as Much Chance as a White Sox Fan in 1919.

By Bud Fisher



WELL, JEFF, WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THE NEW PRESIDENT-ELECT?
OH, HE'S ALL RIGHT, BUT THE COUNTRY'S GOING TO THE DOGS DURING HIS ADMINISTRATION!
BUT THE PAPER SAYS HIS ELECTION MEANS A GREAT ERA OF PROSPERITY FOR THIS COUNTRY!
JUST THE SAME I'LL BET YOU A FIVE SPOT EVERY BANK IN THE U.S. IS CLOSED EXACTLY FOUR MONTHS AFTER HE ENTERS THE WHITE HOUSE!
YOU'RE CRAZY. I'LL BET YOU TEN ON THAT!
JUST A MOMENT, MUTT! HE'S INAUGURATED ON MARCH THE FOURTH, AIN'T HE? UM
MAR 4
$V
MARCH 4TH TO APR. 4TH ONE MONTH. APRIL 4TH TO MAY 4TH TWO MONTHS. MAY 4TH TO JUNE 4TH THREE MONTHS. JUNE 4TH TO JULY 4TH FOUR MONTHS: THE FOURTH OF JULY!!!
MENTAL CALCULATION
MUTT, I'LL BET YOU FIFTY BUCKS!
JULY 4
SAP! YOU MUST BE THE "MASTER MIND"!

THREE BOWLING LEAGUES SHOOT

Open Hearth Team of Steel Plant Makes Grand Showing.

Eighteen teams in the three local bowling leagues got action on the drives last evening, the Steel Plant players staging their games at Morgan Park, the City league contesting at the Grand and the Commercial teams performing at Gray's.

The Steel Plant league, which really is of major caliber, made the best showing of the evening, high scores and consistent shooting being featured. The Open Hearth team, in taking three straight from the Mechanics, piled up a grand total of 2,768 which was high for the night and also picked off another evening record of 970 for a single game team count. Jack Mayberry of the Open Hearth five lugged off all of the individual records, taking the single mark with 244 and the three-game total with the very good count of 629.

In the City league games the Gray Juniors took every one of three games from the Piedmont club, the West End five defeated West Duluth three in a row and the Wieland Shoes took the odd game from the C. O. F.

In the Commercial league the Grays copped the odd game from the Clydes, the Puradoras took two games from the Palace Billiard Hall men, the Three Winners defeated the Lake View Store quint in two games and Swanstrom & Erickson won the odd game from Floan & Leveros.

The scores in all three leagues follow:

LEGION HOCKEY TEAM ORGANIZED

Twenty-Four Players to Start Training Next Monday.

Prospects for a favorable hockey season in Duluth this coming winter were evidenced last evening when twenty-four well known local puck chasers were enrolled at a meeting of the athletic committee of the local American Legion post which was held at legion headquarters.

Plans for the coming season were opened at last evening's session when it was decided to place the recruits in training next Monday evening at the Y. M. C. A. gym. The preparation will consist of daily exercises which will place the candidates in the best of physical condition for the long grind which they will have to face in the heavy schedule of games to come after ice forms.

Andy Grenner, trainer of the Duluth City football eleven and for years a conditioner of hockey players, will take charge of the recruits in their preparatory work.

The players who signed up last evening follow: Cavanaugh, H. Owens, Gow, Tinstad, Bastein, Borgeson, Couture, Lundstrom, Watt, Roberts, Anderson, Nott, J. Owens, A. Olson, G. Olson, Nelson, Stahl, Berg, Donald, Barkell, Irving, Clark, J. Clark and Lindberg.

KNOCKOUT CARD FOR MITT FANS

Five Slashing Bouts Are Framed for Next Duluth A. C. Show.

Fur will fly in full pelt sizes at the next show of the Duluth A. C., which will be staged at the New Armory on Friday evening, Nov. 12, for the club matchmaker has just completed framing a set of five scheduled mills which will furnish plenty of swat. Like the last two biff, bang bills which the D. A. C. has put on, the card is packed with slugging, fighting boys each brim full of confidence that he can knock his opponent for a goal.

The feature bout, in which Kid Alberts, prominent Jewish lightweight, will tackle Neil Allison, the pride of Morgan Park, is a blood battle which should furnish a heap of fireworks. This mill has been in the making for over a year and now that it has been clinched the fans are delighted. Earlier plans looked to bringing in Richie Mitchell of Milwaukee to box either Alberts or Allison but the fans said nay. "Give us Alberts and Allison in the same ring," came the cry from the multitude and the din and racket was so loud that the club officials said: Amen!, right out loud.

Intense feeling among the fans is centered in this quarrel, which forecasts a packed arena. Right now Allison is favored in the betting to stop Alberts inside of ten rounds. There was plenty of this kind of wagering offered last Monday but with the coming to the front of the Alberts followers the Allison money has been greatly reduced. Even money which was offered on the Morgan Park boy to stop his opponent has drifted to odds of 1 to 2 and present indications denote that the odds will broaden even more as battle day rolls around.

Alberts is training harder than ever before in his career for his meeting with Allison for he realizes that it will be the most dangerous fight in which he has ever participated. He is confident that he will not only be on his feet when the final bell tinkles, but that he will be awarded the fight on a decision. Alberts is not building any shells from which to battle. He intends to go right to the center of the ring and mix things, toe to toe, with the Morgan Park slugger. This is rather surprising to the fans who fervently expected that Alberts would stage an entirely defensive fight.

Battling Hugo of Minneapolis, a pupil of Jimmy Potts, has signed to box Kid Billings of Superior in the other half of the double windup. Potts has had Hugo in training for over a year and only recently brought him out into the professional game. In his first start this fall Hugo defeated Gus Bloomberg, well-known Minneapolis welterweight. He is said to be a clever boxer and stiff puncher. Billings has been in training over in Superior for eight weeks, giving particular attention to his wind and a reduction of poundage. He is down to 145 pounds right now.

Ed Franti, the slashing, ripping lightweight of Bovey, has been matched to box Harry Boyle of Philadelphia and Al Freske, a St. Paul middleweight, has been signed to take on Ruddy Stovern of Proctor. The latter are middleweights.

It is probable that Bob Johnson, local heavyweight, will meet Kid Clancy in a scheduled six-round bout.
